

EXHIBIT AT LIBRARY

Call at the public library and see the exhibit the D. A. R. have there of ancient curios. Pewter porridge dish, 175 years old, loaned by Mrs. Fisher; pearl inlaid picture, four generations old, owned by Mrs. John McCann; pewter tea-pot, coffee pot and sugar bowl all over 100 years old loaned by Mrs. John E. Daly; first fluid lamp used in Grand Rapids given to library by Mrs. May Rumsey; hand made horn spoon, over 125 years old, also shawl that was loaned by Mrs. O. Denis; very old Chinese shoes, loaned by Mrs. Geo. Baker; ox shoes; very old embroidered pin cushion, hand carved "knot" for razor holder by Mrs. J. Farris; candle moulds used in 1850 by Mrs. Joseph Wood; lantern used by Mrs. Nancy Smith in early 1850; lantern used by Mrs. Geo. Zentler in early 1850; the first boat made in Grand Rapids by Wm. Balderson.

No charges. If you have anything that you will be glad to borrow them of interest let the committee know, for a few weeks. All are welcome.

LOTS SELLING NICELY

Mr. Powers, who has charge of the sale of lots in Morning side addition, reports that sales have been as rapid as could be expected during the past couple of weeks, considering the weather. Owing to the fact that there was considerable rain, there have been days when but few visited the addition, but this can only be expected at this time of the year, but when the weather has been nice there has been a lively movement of real estate up in that section. One new home is going up on the addition, and Mr. Powers states that contracts have been let for five more houses, the erection of which will probably commence in the spring. This new addition to the city is one of the best locations for building purposes to be found within the city limits, and there is no question but what there will be quite a settlement there within a short time.

Mrs. M. Buerger of Jackson is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. Kell.

ROBERTS' RECORD AS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Because I am a candidate for a second term as District Attorney, I submit the following summary, taken from the official records, showing the results of my work during the last two years as District Attorney of Wood County, and respectfully call the same to the attention of the voters:

Total number of cases in which I appeared as District Attorney	209
In Circuit Court	45
Of those cases, verdict or plea of guilty	36
Cases lost	2
Cases dismissed or settled under statute	6
Cases now pending	1

Cases in Municipal and Justice Courts, in which I appeared	164
Of those cases, verdict or plea of guilty	103
Cases lost	6
Cases settled under statute, or dismissed for any cause	32
Cases where defendant not found, or warrant not returned, or now pending	23

Of all the cases in which I appeared, excluding those now pending, 75 per cent resulted in either convictions or pleas of guilty. Of all the cases in which I appeared which were brought to a determination before a court, convictions or pleas of guilty were secured in 94 per cent.

If, in your opinion, this record shows efficient service to the people of Wood county, I respectfully solicit your vote for a second term.

JOHN ROBERTS,

District Attorney of Wood County.

GOING DOWN

In choosing my new ground floor location I feel sure that the move will meet with the hearty approval of my patrons.

Am also installing considerable New Equipment and have spared neither effort nor expense to reach the highest point of efficiency.

Have plenty of daylight for work under the usual conditions and am also fully prepared to meet any and all emergencies, when the said daylight may not be available. With my 10,000 candle-power electrical illumination any daylight effect may be duplicated.

I expect to be settled in new quarters about the 2nd or 3rd of November. Let me suggest at this time that you make arrangements soon for Christmas work.

"Your friends can buy anything you can give them except your photograph," and remember, that any day is a good day as we are absolutely independent of daylight.

Yours for better photography,

O. R. MOORE

New location, Baker Building

Opposite First National Bank

RICHFIELD BOY LOST

LIFE WHILE HUNTING

Marshfield Herald: George Hunt, aged 19, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt of the town of Richfield, died yesterday from the effects of a gun shot wound he received while hunting the day previous. He was standing on a stump and his gun fell from his hands exploding when it struck the ground. The whole charge of shot entered the groin penetrating into the stomach.

DID SOME ADVERTISING

The students of the Lincoln High school assembled at their grounds on Friday evening and indulged in some racket that was calculated to wake up the dead ones and let them know that there was a high school in the city and that they were going to have a football game the following day. After waking up those that live in the Fourth ward, they formed in line, and with the aid of their band, marched to the west side where they paraded the streets and did what little they could to make it interesting for the inhabitants. It seems that the plan worked all right, for there was one of the largest crowds out the day following to see the football game that has ever been seen in this city. All of which goes to show that it pays to advertise.

HOLD DISTRICT CONVENTION

The Woman's Relief Corps held a convention for this district in this city last week Saturday, there being about twenty delegates in attendance at the meeting. Sessions were held during the afternoon and evening, the members of the Grand Army being invited to the evening session, which took on the nature of a social session. Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

President—Mrs. Eagan of Wauwatosa.
Senior vice president—Mrs. Vicar of Hainfield.
Junior vice president—Mrs. Hanson of Blaine.
Treasurer—Mrs. Sheldon of Stevens Point.
Secretary—Mrs. Stillwell of Wauwatosa.

GAVE A FAREWELL PARTY

The employees of the Biron mill gave a farewell party at the Biron club house on Sunday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Owen Love, who left this week for Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. Love was presented with a gold watch and a silver spoon, and a silver salad spoon as a token of the regard and esteem in which the people up at Biron held their departing friends.

YOUNG LADY REGAINS SPEECH

Almond News: Miss Lulu Tanks, who has been unable to speak above a whisper since January, has regained her power of speech. Her case has been a peculiar one and after consulting several physicians without getting any help she went to Grand Rapids, where she has been taking treatment from Dr. Ruckle. She returned from there Monday and is very happy to know that the difficulty has been overcome.

The James Case family and Mr. and Mrs. Will Provost drove to Mosinee on Monday and attended the wedding of their nephew, Raymond Sharkey, to Miss Nora Barbetta. It was a very pretty wedding and was largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Molitor of Little Chute arrived in the city on Tuesday to visit a short time with Mrs. Peter Dietrich, who is a sister to Mr. Molitor. Mr. and Mrs. Molitor were on their wedding trip, having been married at Appleton on Monday, and from here they went to Rudolph to visit with Mrs. Henry Joosten, another sister of Mr. Molitor.

Before You Buy Your Watch

Come in and see our big stock of all grades' and styles' ladies' and gents' watches. Also a large assortment of Wrist Watches.

REICHEL

West Side

WOODROW WILSON

President of the United States

"HE HAS KEPT US OUT OF WAR"

This is the face of a man strong, courageous, patient and kindly, a man—

Always alert to the aspirations of his fellow-man and sympathetic toward their fulfillment;

Never complacent toward the encroachments of privilege nor tolerant of social wrong;

Always seeking to enhance the dignity of labor and better the state of the toiler;

Never lending an ear to the sophistry of exploitation or the blandishments of expediency;

Always patient to hear and weigh, to appraise and analyze, and passionate to find the way of right;

Never premature in purpose nor prejudiced in judgment, and never headlong in decision—

Such is WOODROW WILSON.

LIVE STOCK EXHIBITION

The International Live Stock Exposition will be held at the Union Stock Yards in Chicago on December 2 to 5, 1916. This is an annual event that has increased in importance from year to year as the exhibits have grown in number and the attendance has increased, until at the present time it has become an event that many look forward to with a great deal of pleasure. There is no doubt but what the attendance will be greater this year than ever before.

Dr. L. C. Pasternick of Stevens Point was in the city on Tuesday evening to attend the Bachelor's Ball at the Elks club.

RIG STRUCK BY AUTO

A rig being driven by Alvin Rhode on Friday afternoon was struck by an automobile east of town, the result being that the occupants of the rig were thrown out and the buggy demolished. The other occupant of the rig was Miss Evelyn Palmer. The car was being driven by Gilbert Ellis of Hancock, and it was a very lucky matter that the young people were not injured. When the auto struck the rig the horse became frightened and ran away, and was not found until the next morning. The young people in the buggy were brought to this city by R. A. Weeks who happened along in his car soon after the accident occurred.

J. STUART BLACKTON and ALBERT E. SMITH

Present

The Battle Cry of Peace

IN 9 REELS

Featuring

Chas. Richman and Other Eminent Vitograph Stars

DALY'S OPERA HOUSE

Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 8th and 9th

"THE BATTLE CRY OF PEACE"—Synopsis:

Hudson Maxim, international authority on arms and ammunition, delivers a lecture graphically describing America's defenseless condition. John Harrison, inspired by Maxim's disclosures and realizing the awful consequences to which our national unpreparedness may lead, resolves to consecrate his every effort to the cause of adequate defense. He is engaged to Virginia Vandergrieff, whose father is an advocate of national disarmament and "Peace at any Price." John makes a fruitless effort to show Vandergrieff the fallacy of his stand. Vandergrieff's friend, Emano, ostensibly a peace propagandist, but in reality a foreign spy, is the head of a band of conspirators plotting the invasion of America. The invaders approach New York. The news reaches a huge peace meeting at which Vandergrieff is a speaker. In the midst of this meeting a shell crashes thru the walls of the building. The battleships of the enemy, out of range of the guns of Forts Hamilton, Hancock and Wadsworth, are able to bombard New York.

Shells are devastating the buildings in the downtown district. Homes are desecrated; citizens slain without mercy. Terror reigns. John's mother and sister are killed. Vandergrieff is shot in the street. John is lynched in defense of the girl he loves. As a climax to the horror, Virginia's mother, to avoid disgrace at the hands of the enemy, kills her two daughters and herself.

An allegorical masterpiece is shown contrasting Columbia, crushed, bleeding and trampled upon by a merciless foe with Columbia as she should be—proud, commanding, supreme.

"Yes, there shall be peace—but peace with plenty—peace with honor."

Show starts at 8:15 25c, 35c and a few at 50c
Reserved seats at Abel & Podawiltz

Matinee at 4.00 O'clock on Wednesday

HIGH PRICES PREVAIL FOR MANY VEGETABLES

"Special crop" farmers and others who "always plant more vegetables than they need" are happy this year because of greatly advanced prices.

Just a brief review of recent market quotations in the "green goods" line shows at once how marked is the upward trend. Whether it will soar still higher as winter sets in remains to be seen.

Wisconsin cabbage growers are receiving about $35 a ton, as against $6 to $10 a ton last year. A steady advance has been noted in the onion market. Growers are getting at wholesale from 75 cents to $1.50 a bushel for first grade. Squash is rated now at about $40 a ton, while turnips are selling at from $2 to $2.50 a barrel. Three grades of navy beans, the marrowfat, medium, and pea, are quoted at $5.70 a bushel—a price not recorded in recent years. The prevalence of "anthracnose" disease and the hot weather, which kept the beans from setting properly, is said to be one of the causes for the high prices.

The high price of vegetables in general is given by J. R. Hopler of the University of Wisconsin, as one of the causes for increased potato prices. "Last year's average" of low prices prevailed in the vegetable market," explains Mr. Hopler, "and as a result many growers quit raising vegetables, which sent prices up again this season. Probably next year will see another reaction to low prices following a larger crop, induced by better market conditions this fall."

WILL INSTALL SULPHUR BATHS
Dr. J. K. Goodrich, the osteopath, has contracted with the Kruse system for the installation of a system of sulphur baths in his building next to his office, and it is expected that they will be in working order by the middle of November.

The Kruse system is something out of the ordinary, and is said to take the place of the ordinary Turkish bath by having all of the advantages of the Turkish bath with none of the disadvantages. They are something the same as the Turkish bath, only that they have the advantage of not weakening the patient as does the Turkish bath. This is possible from the fact that it is not necessary to use such an excessive heat with the new baths as is customary with the old fashioned kind, and the results are just as beneficial.

At the St. Louis exposition this form of bath received the first award over all kinds entered and they have been endorsed by the medical profession wherever they are known. Dr. Goodrich is having apartments fixed up for two bath rooms and there will be apartments for both ladies and gentlemen.

ELKS HAVE BIG TIME

About two hundred people responded to the invitations sent out by the Elks for their Halloween party on Tuesday evening, and to say that everybody had a good time is putting it in a very mild manner. The evening's entertainment was started by a banquet at 7:30, which was under the direction of the unmarried men of the club, and was carried out in a manner that was most satisfactory to all concerned.

After the banquet the guests repaired to the lodge room where they were entertained by a number of Scotch dialect songs and humorous sketches by Mr. Hunter of Milwaukee, who is quite an adept in his line and whose line of humor was appreciated by all. After this the party indulged in dancing for a number of hours, and a very pleasant time was had for all present.

SOME GOOD POTATO YIELDS

It is reported that some farmers about Iola are harvesting good yields of potatoes and it is estimated that the average will be seventy-five bushels. A good story is told of a farmer northwest of that village who finished unloading after the banks were closed and he was to Blankenship's store to get the check cashed for the load. As the check was for $102.07 they were not able to cash it after making their deposits and some comment was made as to the size of the check. The farmer answered that he hauled big loads as he had some potatoes to haul, having twenty-seven acres that averaged 160 bushels per acre.—Wauwape Post.

ORDER A NEW TRUCK

The Mott & Wood company, who sell pasteurized milk, cream and butter to the people of Grand Rapids, have placed an order for another Ford delivery truck and it is expected that the wagon will be here in the near future.

The company is meeting with remarkable success in this work, and they are apparently filling a want that has existed for some time, as they started out at the beginning of the month with only a score of customers and at the end of the month they had in the neighborhood of two hundred.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY

Leo Patrenets of Vesper was arrested for forgery on Saturday and was subsequently brought to this city where he was given a hearing, and where he was subsequently admitted his guilt. He was sent to the industrial school at Waukesha, being only 13 years of age.

The young fellow signed the name of T. J. White to a check, which he took to the bank at Vesper, but which the cashier refused to cash.

DEATH OF DONALD BOSSERT

Donald, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bossert, died on Monday morning after a short illness from summer complaint. Deceased was three years old last July and was a bright little fellow, and his loss is one that the parents feel keenly, and they have the sympathy of the community in their affliction. The funeral was held this afternoon; Rev. Locke conducting the services.

ADJUDGED INSANE

Mary Wenzel of Marshfield, was brought to this city on Monday and after an examination before the county judge was adjudged insane and was taken to Oshkosh the same day where she was placed in the asylum. It is hoped that with proper treatment the lady will in time recover her reason.

Chas. Natwick purchased of Martin Jacobson, the first of the week, the new home just completed on 4th Street south. The Misses Mela and Anna Natwick will occupy the property.

PLAYED A TIE GAME

Stevens Point and its friends were over on Saturday to play football with the local team, and the fact that they put in the entire time so-sawing back and forth across the field without either side scoring, would indicate that the two teams were evenly matched.

It did seem as if the referee was trying to see how close to the middle of the field that he could keep the play, as every time either team made any pronounced gain it was penalized for some offense or other. As the boys took their punishment without a kick it was apparent that they appreciated the fact that they deserved it.

Stevens Point made one drive for the goal that looked like a winner as they continued to buck the line time after time until they were within a few feet of the Grand Rapids goal, when just as success was apparently to crown their efforts, the referee sent them back about ten yards and it was all over.

The Grand Rapids boys also had a close call to making a touchdown during the game, so that honors in this respect were about even. The visitors pushed the ball up on the twenty-yard line and tried for a drop kick during the first part of the game, but missed, and the result was that the game ended 0 to 0.

WANTS BIG DAMAGES

Stevens Point Journal: Leo Grocholski of the town of Sharon has started a suit against Michael Kluck of the same town asking $10,000 damages for alleged slander. The case is the outcome of a school district row. Both men reside in District No. 6, and Kluck is director and Grocholski clerk of the school board. Grocholski's allegations include two counts. In the first he claims that Kluck said Grocholski took some lumber belonging to the school district. In the other he says that Kluck declared Grocholski was an embezzler and he would put Grocholski where he did Baronowski or in the penitentiary.

Papers in the action have already been served on Mr. Kluck who has engaged Nelson & Hanna as his attorneys. A. L. Sniogowski is attorney for plaintiff.

HURT ON CELLAR STEPS

A. C. Otto injured himself in quite a painful manner Tuesday evening by falling down the cellar stairs. He had gone to the back of the drug store after something, and, not noticing that the cellar door was open, he stepped into the opening. He managed to catch himself before going all the way down, and though he escaped without any broken bones, he strained his back quite severely and has since been laid up.

DEFENDANT WINS CASE

In the case of Joseph Rick against the Chicago & Northwestern Ry. Co., tried out in circuit court during the past week, the jury found for the defendant railroad.

The case was one for damages claimed by the plaintiff for flooding his land, which the plaintiff claimed was caused by the railroad company not having sufficient culverts to carry away the water.

MERRILL WILL PLAY HERE

It is expected that Merrill and Grand Rapids will try conclusions on the gridiron next Saturday afternoon if nothing occurs to queer the proposition. Merrill is said to have a good team, and if it has, there should be a good game. Should the weather be favorable, there will undoubtedly be a large turnout.

NEW HOME STARTED

Walter Wood now has his new home under construction on Washington avenue. The building is six 51, and will be two stories high, constructed of Carey concrete blocks and brick and will be modern in every respect. A. F. Dillmyre has the contract for erecting the building.

Mrs. Rogers Mott visited in Milwaukee several days this week.

WILSON IN LEAD IN POPULAR VOTE

For some time past the Rexall Stores all over the country have been conducting a straw vote and the results published from day to day. The voting occurs at 8000 drug stores and are from every state in the Union. The latest bulletin, received this morning by Mr. Otto, proprietor of the Rexall Store in this city, shows Mr. Wilson to be ahead both in the popular vote and the electoral vote. The total vote cast is 171,559 for Hughes and 240,349 for Wilson.

These votes are so distributed that of the total 531 electoral votes, Wilson receives 281 and Hughes 250. Number of electoral votes necessary to elect, 266.

The vote in Wisconsin up to date shows 451 for Wilson and 4344 for Hughes, and if straw votes show which way the wind blows, this would indicate that Wisconsin was pretty evenly divided with the odds in favor of the democratic candidate. Illinois and Indiana are for Hughes, as is Minnesota, altho the vote is pretty even in the latter state.

WILL START DELIVERY SOON

The matter of starting in on the co-operative delivery scheme has been rounded up so that it is expected that it can be put in operation by next Monday if nothing comes up that cannot be foreseen at the present time. Practically all the merchants of the city are in on the plan, and it is expected that the matter of delivering goods will be handled in a manner that will give better satisfaction to the people of the city than ever before.

Don Johnson, who has charge of the matter, is rapidly getting things rounded into shape and at 10 o'clock on Monday morning, the plan is to do all the delivering for the merchants of the city from one central station, so that people who order goods will know just about what time the delivery will start and what time it will reach their house.

It is expected that better service can be given the customers of the different stores and also that it will be cheaper to the merchants than it is for each one to maintain a separate delivery.

WON A PRIZE

J. S. Lapham of Nekoosa was among the prize winners in the Chicago Herald fishing contest, the affair having closed last week. Mr. Lapham caught a German Brown trout in the Lynn creek which weighed 3 pounds and 2 ounces and was 19 1/2 inches long, which he entered in the contest and captured second prize for this sort of fish. The first prize was won by a man from Richland Center, who caught one that weighed 4 pounds and was 21 inches in length.

ADVERTISED MAIL

List of advertised mail at Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, October 30, 1916.
Ladies—Miss Elizabeth Anderson; Mrs. Kate Clark; Miss Gladys Grant; Mrs. John Schweitzer; Mrs. Moses Summers.
Gentlemen—Mr. Raymond Cochran; Mr. W. Janschke; Grant Lawton; Mr. Carl Peterson.

SECOND TEAM WINS

The second team of the Lincoln high school went to Wauwatosa on Friday afternoon and played a game of football with the boys over there, and there was apparently not much to the game in the way of a hard struggle, for the locals came home with a score of 58 to 13 in their favor.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Elvess school, one mile east of Sonoma Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

GASOLINE

61 TEST

16.4 CENTS PER GAL.

EUGENE MILLER

A LARGE AND COMPLETE LINE

Rubber Footwear

Now Ready—at Old Prices

BALL BAND

Lumbermen's Overs

Red and White

With or Without Tops

Will Wear Longest

There are few things more disagreeable than cold, damp or wet feet, and wet feet often cause serious illness. It is wise to be prepared for bad weather, which is likely to come most any day now, by getting what you need in Ball Brand Rubber Footwear.

The Longest Wear - - - The Most Reasonable Prices

Smith & Luzenski

WEST SIDE SHOE STORE

EXHIBIT AT LIBRARY

Call at the public library and see the exhibit the D. A. R. have there of ancient curios. Powder perigee dish, 175 years old, loaned by Mrs. Fisher; pearl inlaid picture, four generations old, owned by Mrs. John McCann; pewter tea-pot, coffee pot and sugar bowl all over 100 years old loaned by Mrs. John E. Daly; flat gold lamp used in Grand Rapids given to library by Mrs. May Humsey; hand made horn spoon, over 125 years old, also shawl that ago, loaned by Mrs. O. Deak; very old Chinese shoes, loaned by Mrs. Geo. Baker; ox shoes; very old embroidered pin cushion, hand carved "knot" for razor holder by Mrs. J. Parrish; candle moulds used in 1850 by Mrs. Joseph Wood; lantern used by Mrs. Nancy Smith in early 1860; lantern used by Mrs. Geo. Zentler in early 1860; the first boot made in Grand Rapids by Wm. Halderson.

No charges. If you have anything they will be glad to borrow them of interest let the committee know, for a few weeks. All are welcome.

(Authorized and paid for by John Roberts, $4.40 per issue)

ROBERTS' RECORD AS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Because I am a candidate for a second term as District Attorney, I submit the following summary, taken from the official records, showing the results of my work during the last two years as District Attorney of Wood County, and respectfully call the same to the attention of the voters:

Total number of cases in which I appeared as District Attorney	209
In Circuit Court	45
Of those cases, verdict or plea of guilty	36
Cases lost	2
Cases dismissed or settled under statute	6
Cases now pending	1
Cases in Municipal and Justice Courts, in which I appeared	164
Of those cases, verdict or plea of guilty	103
Cases lost	6
Cases settled under statute, or dismissed for any cause	32
Cases where defendant not found, or warrant not returned, or now pending	23

Of all the cases in which I appeared, excluding those now pending, 75 per cent resulted in either convictions or pleas of guilty. Of all the cases in which I appeared which were brought to a determination before a court, convictions or pleas of guilty were secured in 94 per cent.

If, in your opinion, this record shows efficient service to the people of Wood county, I respectfully solicit your vote for a second term.

JOHN ROBERTS,

District Attorney of Wood County.

You Can't Begin too Soon

—to bring the influence of music into the lives of your children. Why not begin now—by investing in the Cable-Nelson Pianos? See one here today.

Tone, action, design and matchless finish will win you immediately.

Seven separate and distinct coats of varnish make these pianos lastingly beautiful.

The sound-board is one of the big features of the Cable-Nelson. It is made of Olympic Spruce which is almost identical with the Spruce of the Tyrol Alps used in Italian violin making. Hence the rich, pure, singing tone for which Cable-Nelson is famous. The price is right, too. The only pianos that can be bought at a saving without a corresponding sacrifice of service. Come in and try a

CABLE-NEELSON

MRS. GEO. FORRAND, Agt.
323, 8th Ave. N.
Grand Rapids, Wis.

LOTS SELLING NICELY

Mr. Powers, who has charge of the sale of lots in Morning side addition, reports that sales have been as rapid as could be expected during the past couple of weeks considering the weather. Owing to the fact that there has been considerable rain, there have been days when but few visits have been made to the lots, but when the weather has been nice there has been a lively movement of real estate up in that section. One new house is going up on the addition, and Mr. Powers states that contracts have been let for five more houses, the erection of which will probably commence in the spring. This new addition to the city is one of the best locations for building purposes to be found within the city limits, and there is no question but what there will be quite a settlement there within a short time.

Mrs. M. Buerger of Jackson is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. Kell.

GOING DOWN

In choosing my new ground floor location I feel sure that the move will meet with the hearty approval of my patrons.

Am also installing considerable New Equipment and have spared neither effort nor expense to reach the highest point of efficiency.

Have plenty of daylight for work under the usual conditions and am also fully prepared to meet any and all emergencies, when the said daylight may not be available. With my 10,000 candle-power electrical illumination my daylight effect may be duplicated.

I expect to be settled in new quarters about the 2nd or 3rd of November. Let me suggest at this time that you make arrangements soon for Christmas work.

Your friends can buy anything you can give them except your photograph, and remember that any day is a good day as we are absolutely independent of daylight.

Yours for better photography,
O. R. MOORE
New location, Baker Building
Opposite First National Bank

RICHFIELD BOY LOSTS

LIFE WHILE HUNTING

Marshall Herald: George Hunt, aged 19, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt of the town of Richfield, died yesterday from the effects of a gun shot wound he received while hunting the day previous. He was standing on a stump and his gun fell from his hands exploding when it struck the ground. The whole charge of shot entered the groin penetrating into the stomach.

DID SOME ADVERTISING

The students of the Lincoln High school assembled at their grounds on Friday evening and indulged in some racket that was calculated to wake up the dead ones and let them know that there was a high school in the city and that they were going to have a football game the following day. After waking up those that live in the Fourth ward, they formed in line, and with the aid of their hands, reached to the west side where they paraded the streets and did what little they could to make it interesting for the inhabitants. It seems that the plan worked all right, for there was one of the largest crowds out the day following to see the football game that has ever been seen in this city. All of which goes to show that it pays to advertise.

HOLD DISTRICT CONVENTION

The Woman's Relief Corps held a convention for this district in this city last week Saturday, there being about twenty delegates in attendance at the meeting. Sessions were held during the afternoon and evening, the members of the Grand Army being invited to the evening session, which took on the nature of a social session. Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

President—Mrs. Eagan of Wauwatosa.
Society vice president—Mrs. Vlear of Plainfield.
Junior vice president—Mrs. Hanson of Blaine.
Treasurer—Mrs. Sheldon of Stevens Point.
Secretary—Mrs. Stillwell of Wauwatosa.

GAVE A FAREWELL PARTY

The employees of the Biron mill gave a farewell party at the Biron club house on Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Owen Love, who left this week for Cincinnati, Ohio, Mr. Love was presented with a gold watch and Mrs. Love with a silver watch as a token of the regard and esteem in which the people up at Biron held their departing friends.

YOUNG LADY REGAINS SPEECH

Almond News: Miss Lulu Tanks, who has been unable to speak above a whisper since January, has regained her power of speech. Her case has been a peculiar one and after consulting several physicians without getting any help she went to Grand Rapids, where she has been taking treatments from Dr. Ruckel. She returned from there Monday and is very happy to know that the difficulty has been overcome.

The James Case family and Mr. and Mrs. Will Provost drove to Mosinee on Monday and attended the wedding of their nephew, Raymond Sharkey, to Miss Nora Barabotto. It was a very pretty wedding and was largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Molitor of Little Chute arrived in the city on Tuesday to visit a short time with Mrs. Peter Diederich, who is a sister to Mr. Molitor. Mr. and Mrs. Molitor were on their wedding trip, having been married at Appleton on Monday, and from here they went to Rudolph to visit with Mrs. Henry Joosten, another sister of Mr. Molitor.

Before You Buy Your Watch

Come in and see our big stock of all grades and styles of ladies' and gents' watches. Also a large assortment of Wrist Watches.

REICHEL
West Side

Show starts at 8:15 25c, 35c and a few at 50c
Reserved seats at Abel & Podawiltz
Matinee at 4.00 O'clock on Wednesday

THE BATTLE CRY OF PEACE

IN 9 REELS

Chas. Richman and Other Eminent Vitograph Stars

DALY'S OPERA HOUSE
Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 8th and 9th

THE BATTLE CRY OF PEACE—Synopsis:
Hudson Maxim, international authority on arms and ammunition, delivers a lecture graphically describing America's defenseless condition. John Hamilton, inspired by Maxim's disclosures and realizing the awful consequences to which our national unpreparedness may lead, resolves to consecrate his every effort to the cause of adequate defense. He is engaged to Virginia Vandergrieff, whose father is an advocate of national disarmament and "Peace at any Price." John makes a fruitless effort to show Vandergrieff the fallacy of his stand. Vandergrieff's friend, Emanuel, ostensibly a peace propagandist, but in reality a foreign spy, is the head of a band of conspirators plotting the invasion of America. The invaders approach New York. The news reaches a huge peace meeting at which Vandergrieff is a speaker. In the midst of this meeting a shell crashes thru the walls of the building. The battleships of the enemy, out of range of the guns of Fort Hamilton, Hancock and Wadsworth, are able to bombard New York.

Shells are devastating the buildings in the downtown district. Homes are desecrated; citizens slain without mercy. Terror reigns. John's mother and sister are killed. Vandergrieff is shot in the street. John is bayoneted in defense of the girl he loves. As a climax to the horror, Virginia's mother, to avoid disgrace at the hands of the enemy, kills her two daughters and herself.

An allegorical masterpiece is shown contrasting Columbia, crushed, bleeding and trampled upon by a merciless foe with Columbia as she should be—proud, commanding, supreme.

"Yes, there shall be peace—but peace with plenty—peace with honor."

WOODROW WILSON
President of the United States

"HE HAS KEPT US OUT OF WAR"

This is the face of a man strong, courageous, patient and kindly, a man—

Always alert to the aspirations of his fellow-man and sympathetic toward their fulfillment;

Never complacent toward the encroachments of privilege nor tolerant of social wrong;

Always seeking to enhance the dignity of labor and better the state of the toiler;

Never lending an ear to the sophistry of exploitation or the blandishments of expediency;

Always patient to hear and weigh, to appraise and analyze, and passionate to find the way of right;

Never premature in purpose nor prejudiced in judgment, and never headlong in decision—

Such is WOODROW WILSON.

LIVE STOCK EXHIBITION

The International Live Stock Exposition will be held at the Union Stock Yards in Chicago on December 2 to 9, 1916. This is an annual event that has increased in importance from year to year as the exhibits have grown in number and the attendance has increased. At the present time it has become an event that many look forward to with a great deal of pleasure. There is no doubt but what the attendance will be greater this year than ever before.

Dr. L. G. Pastorick of Stevens Point was in the city on Tuesday evening to attend the Bachelor's Ball at the Elks club.

RIG STRUCK BY AUTO

A rig being driven by Alvin Rhode on Friday afternoon was struck by an automobile east of town, the result being that the occupants of the rig were thrown out and the buggy demolished. The other occupant of the rig was Miss Evelyn Palmer. The car was being driven by Gilbert Wright of Hancock, and it was a very lucky matter that the young people were not injured. When the auto struck the rig the horse became frightened and ran away, and was not found until the next morning. This young people in the buggy were brought to this city by R. A. Weeks who happened along in his car soon after the accident occurred.

SOME GOOD POTATO YIELDS

It is reported that some farmers about Tola are harvesting good yields of potatoes and it is estimated that the average will be seventy-five bushels. A good story is told of a farmer northwest of that village who finished unloading after the banks were closed and he went to Blandson's store to get the check cashed for the load. As the check was for $20.07 they were not able to cash it after making their deposits and some comment was made as to the size of the check. The farmer answered that he had hauled big loads as he had some potatoes to haul, having twenty-seven acres that averaged 160 bushels per acre.—Wauwatosa Post.

ORDER A NEW TRUCK

The Mott & Wood company, who sell pasteurized milk, cream and butter to the people of Grand Rapids, have placed an order for another Ford delivery truck and it is expected that the wagon will be here in the near future.

The company is meeting with remarkable success in this work, and they are apparently filling a want that has existed for some time, as they started out at the beginning of the month with only a score of customers and at the end of the month they were in the neighborhood of two hundred.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY

Leo Paternets of Vesper was arrested for forgery on Saturday and was subsequently brought to this city where he was given a hearing, and where he subsequently admitted his guilt. He was sent to the industrial school at Wauskesha, being only 13 years of age.

The young fellow signed the name of T. J. White on a check, which he took to the bank at Vesper, but which the cashier refused to cash.

DEATH OF DONALD BOSSEIT

Donald, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bosseit, died on Monday morning after a short illness from summer complaint. Donald was three years old last July and was a bright little fellow, and his loss is one that the parents feel keenly, and they have the sympathy of the community in their affliction. The funeral was held this afternoon. Rev. Locke conducting the services.

ADJUDGED INSANE

Mary Wenzel of Marshallfield, was brought to this city on Monday and after an examination before the county judge was adjudged insane and was taken to Oshkosh the same day where she was placed in the asylum. It is hoped that with proper treatment the lady will in time recover her reason.

Chas. Natwick purchased of Martin Jacobson the first of the week, the new home just completed on 4th Street south. The Misses Meta and Anna Natwick will occupy the property.

HIGH PRICES PREVAIL FOR MANY VEGETABLES

"Special crop" farmers and others who always plant more vegetables than they need are happy this year because of greatly advanced prices.

Just a brief review of recent market quotations in the "green goods" line shows at once how marked is the upward trend. Whether it will soar still higher as winter sets in remains to be seen.

Wisconsin cabbage growers are receiving about $35 a ton, as against $6 to $10 a ton last year. A steady advance has been noted in the onion market. Growers are getting at wholesale from 75 cents to $1.50 a bushel for first grade. Squash is rated now at about $40 a ton, while turnips are selling at from $2 to $2.50 a barrel. Three grades of navy beans, the marrowfat, melthum, and pea, are quoted at $5.70 a bushel—a price not recorded in recent years. The prevalence of "anthracnose" disease and the hot weather, which kept the beans from setting properly, is said to be one of the causes for the high prices.

The high price of vegetables in general is given by J. R. Hepler of the University of Wisconsin, as one of the causes for increased potato prices. "Last year 'average' to 'low' prices prevailed in the vegetable market," explains Mr. Hepler, "and as a result many growers quit raising vegetables, which sent prices up again this season. Probably next year will see another reaction to low prices following a larger crop, induced by better market conditions this fall."

WILL INSTALL SULPHUR BATHS

Dr. J. K. Goodrich, the osteopath, has contracted with the Kruse system for the installation of a system of sulphur baths in his building next to his office, and it is expected that the system will be in working order by the middle of November.

The Kruse system is something out of the ordinary, and is said to take the place of the ordinary Turkish bath by having all of the advantages of the Turkish bath with none of the disadvantages. They are something the same as the Turkish bath, only that they have the advantage of not weakening the patient as does the Turkish bath. This is possible from the fact that it is not necessary to use such an excessive heat with the new baths as is customary with the old fashioned kind, and the results are just as beneficial.

At the St. Louis exposition this form of bath received the first award over all kinds entered and they have been endorsed by the medical profession wherever they are known. Dr. Goodrich is having apartments fixed up for two and three rooms, and there will be apartments for both ladies and gentlemen.

ELKS HAVE BIG TIME

About two hundred people responded to the invitations sent out by the Elks for their Halloween party on Tuesday evening, and to say that everybody had a good time is putting it in a very mild manner. The evening's entertainment was started by a banquet at 7:30, which was under the direction of the unannounced men of the club, and was carried out in a manner that was most satisfactory to all concerned.

After the banquet the guests repaired to the lodge room where they were entertained by a number of Scotch, dialect songs and humorous sketches by Mr. Hunter of Milwaukee, who is quite an adept in his line and whose line of humor was appreciated by all. After this the party indulged in dancing for a number of hours, and a very pleasant time was had for all present.

NEW HOME STARTED

Walter Wood now has his new home under construction on Washington avenue. The building is 31x51, and will be two stories high, constructed of Carey concrete blocks and brick, and will be modern in every respect. A. F. Billings has the contract for erecting the building.

MRS. ROGERS MOTT VISITED IN MILWAUKEE

Mrs. Rogers Mott visited in Milwaukee several days this week.

PLAYED A TIE GAME

Stevens Point and its friends were over on Saturday to play football with the local team, and the fact that they put in the entire time seeing back and forth across the field without either side scoring, would indicate that the two teams were evenly matched.

It did seem as if the referee was trying to see how close to the middle of the field that he could keep the play, as every time either team made any pronounced gain it was penalized for some offense or other. As the boys ran their punishment without a kick it was apparent that they appreciated the fact that they deserved it.

Stevens Point made one drive for the goal that looked like a winner as they continued to buck the line time after time until they were within a few feet of the Grand Rapids goal, when just as success was apparently to crown their efforts, the referee set them back about ten yards and it was all over.

The Grand Rapids boys also had a close call to making a touchdown during the game, so that honors in this respect were about even. The visitors pushed the ball up to the twenty-yard line and tried for a drop kick during the first part of the game, but missed, and the result was that the game ended 0 to 0.

WANTS BIG DAMAGES

Stevens Point Journal: Leo Grocholski of the town of Sharon has started a suit against Michael Kluck of the same town asking $10,000 damages for alleged slander. The case is the outcome of a school district row. Both men reside in District No. 6, and Kluck is director and Grocholski clerk of the school board.

Grocholski's allegations include two counts. In the first he claims that Kluck said Grocholski took some lumber belonging to the school district. In the other he says that Kluck declared Grocholski was an embezzler and he would put Grocholski where he did Baronowski or in the penitentiary.

Papers in the action have already been served on Mr. Kluck who has engaged Nelson & Hannan as his attorneys. A. L. Smongeski is attorney for plaintiff.

HURT ON CELLAR STAIRS

A. C. Otto injured himself in quite a painful manner Tuesday evening by falling down the cellar stairs. He had gone to the back of the drug store after something, and not noticing that the cellar door was open, he stepped into the opening. He managed to catch himself before going all the way down, and though he escaped without any broken bones, he strained his back quite severely and has since been laid up.

DEPENDANT WINS CASE

In the case of Joseph Rick against the Chicago & Northwestern Ry. Co., tried out in circuit court during the past week, the jury found for the defendant railroad.

The case was one for damages claimed by the plaintiff for flooding his land, which the plaintiff claimed was caused by the railroad company not having sufficient culverts to carry away the water.

MERRILL WILL PLAY HERE

It is expected that Merrill and Grand Rapids will try conclusions on the gridiron next Saturday afternoon if nothing occurs to queer the proposition. Merrill is said to have a good team, and if it has, there should be a good game. Should the weather be favorable, there will undoubtedly be a large turnout.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SECOND TEAM WINS

The second team of the Lincoln high school went to Wauwatosa on Friday afternoon and played a game of football with the boys over there, and there was apparently not much to the game in the way of a hard struggle, for the locals came home with a score of 58 to 13 in their favor.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

SHADOW SOCIAL

Everybody invited to attend the shadow social and program to be given at the Klevene school, one mile east of Seneca Corners. Ladies are requested to bring baskets.

GASOLINE

61 TEST

16.4 CENTS PER GAL.

EUGENE MILLER

A LARGE AND COMPLETE LINE

Rubber Footwear

Now Ready—at Old Prices

BALL BAND

Lumbermen's Overs

Red and White

With or Without Tops

Will Wear Longest

There are few things more disagreeable than cold, damp or wet feet, and wet feet often cause serious illness. It is wise to be prepared for bad weather, which is likely to come most any day now, by getting what you need in Ball Brand Rubber Footwear.

The Longest Wear - - - The Most Reasonable Prices

Smith & Luzenski

WEST SIDE SHOE STORE

Uncle Sam: Detective

By WILLIAM ATHERTON DU PUY

The Elusive Fugitive

Copyright by W. G. Chapman

True stories of the Great Federal Detective Agency, the Bureau of Information, U. S. Dept. of Justice.

When one individual in a great world goes forth secretly to hide himself and a second man starts forth to find him, it would appear that all the advantage was with the fugitive. Particularly would this seem to be the case when the man in flight is of a high degree of intelligence and is thoroughly informed as to the methods that will be employed in the pursuit.

Yet the detective who knows his business and who sticks to the trail month after month nearly always turns up his man. He may do this by following one, one after another, the probability in the case. There is almost no man who will refrain from performing some one of those every day actions that it is not natural he should take. There is almost no man who will flee without leaving a trail behind him. If he is the criminal genius who succeeds in doing all these things, there is the element of chance that will turn up some bit of information that will put the vigilant sleuth on his track. For there are many pulses upon which the detective finger may rest long after the criminal gets to feel as secure as to become careless. Particularly is this true of the sleuths of the federal government, whose instructions are never to abandon the pursuit of an escaped criminal.

There is the case of Alexander Berlinger, for instance. He was a prince of frauds, a man of exceptional ability, a cosmopolitan, one who knew detective methods, a man with money. He had a month the start of Billy Gard, the federal department of justice. He knew that the special agent was after him. He appreciated the danger of a long term in prison if he were caught.

Would you think, under the circumstances, that the detective in the case could make sufficient splash among the tides of humanity that surge around a great world to disturb the tranquillity of Berlinger? Let us see how the case developed.

Gard had the advantage of having got a "spot on" Berlinger. That is to say, he had seen him. Berlinger was a customs broker. His business was to act as agent for American purchasers and European dealers. He knew his Europe and he knew New York. The details of customs regulations and duties to be paid were an open book to him. He spoke many languages and had customers among the wealthiest people in America.

It was when a mere suspicion arose as to the fidelity with which he was paying his duties that Billy Gard, on some pretext, went to see him. A large, upstanding, white-haired man he was—unusually handsome and dominant.

"May I ask," said Gard, "if you think table linens of good quality could be procured from Ireland within six weeks? My sister is opening an establishment at that time and is not satisfied with the offerings here."

"Who is your sister?" asked Berlinger, rather more directly than a customer would expect to be questioned by a broker.

"Mrs. Jonathan Moulton," said the special agent glibly, giving the name of a woman friend. "She lives in Seventy-second street."

"Do you mind if I call her for a confirmation of your inquiry?" said the broker, still noncommittal.

"Such a request is not usually addressed to a prospective customer," said Gard, appearing a bit nettled, "but I have no objection whatever."

As a matter of fact the special agent was very much disconcerted. He had foreseen the possibility of having to use the name of some individual who might afterward be called upon to verify the genuineness of his interest in linen. Mrs. Moulton was a good friend who would be entirely willing to help him in a little deception of this sort, but he had not as yet coached her as to the part she might be called upon to play. He had thought there would be plenty of time later if it became necessary to identify the supposed customer. But Berlinger was evidently suspicious of bright young men who called upon him. He evidently knew that he was under investigation. Gard, the particular type, if the broker insisted on calling his alleged sister, was not at home.

But luck was not with him. Mrs. Moulton herself answered the telephone.

"May I ask," said the broker, "if you will give me the name of the young man whom you have commissioned to buy linens for you?"

The manner in which the question was put, Gard realized, gave Mrs. Moulton no intimation of the situation. He knew she was sufficiently clever to be entirely noncommittal if the broker had mentioned his name. But Berlinger was too shrewd for this.

"You have authorized no one to buy for you?" the broker was saying. "You are not in the market for linens at all? I see. There must have been some mistake."

Berlinger turned to his caller. "Young Mr. Detective," he said, "I am sorry your work is a bit amateurish."

May I present you with your hat? I trust there will be no occasion for our acquaintance to develop further."

The case against Berlinger did not come to a crisis immediately. It was two months later that the customs agents reported that he was gone and fact that a fugitive must eat and sleep is a great help to a detective. All the hotels in a city may be canvassed and are likely to yield results. It was at a little family hotel in the suburbs that a gray-haired man of distinction had passed a week. He had been gone nine days. Yes, he had a trunk. The porter knew that it had gone to a certain station. The ticket agent thought he remembered selling the man whose picture was shown him a ticket to Chicago. Dave White was the conductor on the train to that point on the day in question and remembered the gray-haired man.

In Chicago the trail grew warmer. The fugitive had been at the Auditorium but four days earlier, but the porters were unable to recall any of the details of his going away. The special agent asked to see the room Berlinger had occupied. It was occupied by another guest, but Gard was allowed to explain himself to the successor of the fugitive and was given permission to search the room. A close examination of it developed but one clue. Sticking inside a waste basket were three fragments of a letterhead that had been torn into small pieces. One of these fragments showed part of the picture of another hotel. An arrow, drawn in ink, pointed to a certain window.

Gard took the fragments of the picture of the hotel to a travel agent and searched for the house that would compare with it. Eventually he found the duplicate, and it was a Chicago hotel.

He hurried to it, after showing his credentials to the house detective, information was freely supplied. The room in question was occupied by a woman and had been so occupied for two weeks. She was a handsome and stylish red-haired woman of thirty-five. She had been carefully watched for a reason that presently developed.

"Has she received any callers?" asked the special agent.

"But one person, a man, has visited her," answered the house detective. "What sort of a man?" asked Gard.

"A large man with gray hair," said the house detective. "He is in her room now."

"Will you go up with me immediately?" ejaculated the special agent. "I must not fail to see this man."

"Assuredly," was the response, and they caught the next elevator.

The car they took was an express and was not to stop until it reached the eleventh floor. The next to it was a local, stopping at all floors. The express, going up with the detectives aboard, slackened its speed at the eighth floor where the operator gave some message to the boy on the local which had stopped there to take on a passenger. The cars were of an open-work structure and the passengers in one could see quite plainly those on the other as they passed. As the express passed Gard looked through at those riding on the other car. Imagine his consternation when, not two feet from him, he saw the man for whom he had been searching for months.

As he gazed through the checked steel slats of the car, he saw the close enough to have put out his hand and said it on his hand had nothing intervened. Berlinger faced him and, as the car passed, he and the special agent gazed directly into the eyes of each other. This was for but an instant and both cars were in motion again. The detective was being borne rapidly toward the top of the building and the fugitive less rapidly toward the ground.

"There is my man on the other elevator," Gard whispered hurriedly to the house detective. "Have the boy reverse and run down again."

The message was given to the operator, who obeyed instantly and some excuse was made to the passengers on the car. The local had been stopping at each floor and the express passed it and barely reached the ground floor first. There the two detectives stepped out and waited for the coming of the other car.

A moment later it arrived, much crowded, and began to disgorge itself. The two officers waited in instant readiness to capture the man, whom they had seen at the eighth floor. But the car was emptied and he was not among the passengers.

"Where did the big gray-haired man get off?" the boy was asked.

"Third floor, sir," he replied.

"You bar the exits," Gard said to the house detective, "and I will get back to the third."

On that floor the hallman said that the white-haired gentleman had run down the steps to the second. Gard followed, but was able to find no one on that floor who had seen the fugitive. He ran hastily about looking for possible exits, and then instituted a thorough search. He investigated every possible avenue of escape and hastened downstairs to his ally to help cut off the line of retreat. Every possible barrier was put up and the house was well gone over. The gray-haired fugitive had, however, eluded pursuit.

Gard immediately called upon the Chicago police to throw out a dragnet and a general alarm, and this was done. All railway stations were watched with particular care. None of which was of any avail, as Berlinger was never reported to have been seen again in Chicago. Nor was Gard able to get so much as the glimmer of a trace of him nor a suggestion as to where he might have gone.

It was a task of infinite patience that brought Special Agent William H. Gard to London two months later on the trail of a woman whom he had traced half around the world. The "Titan" guest of the Chicago hotel, the wife of the fugitive broker, here installed herself for a while and lived in a manner that amounted to absolute seclusion.

Then she went to Paris. There she took rooms in a quiet side street and seemed to settle down with some idea of permanence. There was nothing to indicate that she lived differently from any other woman who was alone in the world and sought quiet. She went out for a long walk every afternoon, purchased the necessities of her establishment or books, of which she seemed to read great numbers.

Special Agent Gard established a close watch over the house in which she lived. This was easy because there was but a front entrance and apartments opposite looked out upon the street. He determined that no body should enter this house without being observed. He asked the Paris police to provide him with two reliable men who could watch with him in shifts from the quarters he rented across the street.

A vigil of two weeks revealed absolutely nothing. With the exception of the servant who came at noon each day and remained not more than four hours, no living creature entered the house. In all that two weeks the postman left no mail. Billy Gard seemed to be up against a blank wall. He held, however, that if a man kept that he asked the woman detective to install a dictaphone beneath the table in the sunny little dining room just off the apartment of the locked door. This was easy of accomplishment during the hour of the afternoon stroll of the mistress of the house. The wires of the dictaphone were run across the street and into the watch tower rooms of the special agent.

When the dinner hour approached that evening Billy Gard sat patiently with the headpiece of the dictaphone securely in place. The first sound that he caught from across the street was that of feet, supposedly those of the woman of the "Titan" hair, passing back and forth about the room, then an occasional snatch of a song while she worked. He gathered that she was arranging for the evening meal, the servant having gone home hours before.

Ten minutes passed and then there came over the wire a sound that might have been a bit surprising to the observer of this ultra quiet household, the watcher at the entrance through which none had passed unobserved since the day it was rented, had not the listener already developed a theory.

"Well, Margaret," said a full-throated man's voice, as transmitted by the dictaphone, "this is not so bad. I never dreamed that you had the house wifely instincts. There would make it a little more difficult to arrange with your own hands. I am beginning to think that the man is lucky who cannot afford servants."

"And don't you know," said a woman's voice, "I never enjoyed anything more in my life. For almost the only time I can remember I have a definite occupation. I have to provide our creature comforts. I haven't been so happy in years. I really don't care how long they keep us cooped up."

"I will confess," said the man, "that the novelty has worn off of the view into the courtyard. But it might be worse. For a while they kept on thinking quite regularly of striped the lockstep which are part of a life even more confining than this. And here I have you. I am quite content to wait for the atmosphere to clear."

"But I am very sure we are still being watched," said the woman. "I always feel that I am being followed when I go out."

"Very likely," said the man. "But no detective will pursue fruitless quests indefinitely. Even though they know you are here, they will ultimately lose interest in a surveillance that yields nothing. We can afford to wait. The time will come when we can escape with safety."

"When it is all over," she responded, "I do wish that we could find a way to let those detectives know that you were here under their very noses all the time."

Billy Gard, it may here be set down, was most anxious to learn how this had been possible. He had followed Margaret Berlinger to the house when she had first come to see it. He had been notified immediately when she had rented it. From that moment he had watched every detail of her taking possession; had, with the aid of his men, seen everything that had gone into the house. Yet Berlinger had installed himself without his knowledge and had been living there all the time.

"It would have been impossible without Archie," Berlinger was saying. "A man in a position like mine needs, upon occasion, someone he can trust to do little things for him. We may quarrel with blood relatives all our lives, but they have the advantage of being safe to trust in time of trouble. It is a very small thing to send a man to a real agent for a key, to inspect lodgings and to send him back with the key after they are inspected. But England was lying on his table. He opened it, wondering a little who his correspondent might be. Denton had left England in youth, had been kicked out, he was wont to say, as a ne'er-do-well, and he had long since severed all connections with his family."

"He read the letter and looked at the inclosure you had attached to the table. He read back against the wall, gnawing his lip."

Fate had dealt him a sorry stroke. For it was a draft for $70,000, which his uncle had left him. And $40,000 would more than cover his defalcations.

With thirty thousand he could realize his aim of retiring from work and starting that Florida plantation of his which he had dreamed.

He had just time to hide the letter when his wife came in.

"Harold," she began, and hesitated. "Harold, I want to have a talk with you. Things can't go on as they have been going."

"No," answered Harold mechanically, placing a different significance upon her words in his own mind. "Children ought to be reared on a matter of long time without asking an explanation. Little Dora had a pet chicken which was a cripple, having had its toes frozen off, and its name got to be 'Lamey.' For years Dora wondered what connection there was between this pet and her nightly prayer, 'Now I lay me down to sleep.'—Christian Herald.

Not Exactly.

"Now that feuds have practically ceased in this region," said the speaker, "I presume you have, figuratively speaking, beaten your pistols into plowing hooks?" "Nonsense!" replied Mr. G. Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark. "In the first place, we don't raise prunes and, in the second place, you never know when a dead feud will begin to set up and take notice."—Kansas City Star.

Livery of Toll.

"I suppose your boy Josh is too proud to put on overalls?" "No, he ain't," replied Farmer Corns. "He put on overalls the other evening and went to a masquerade disguised as a farmhand."

A Demand for the Genuine.

"Do you think the public enjoys being humbugged?" "Possibly," replied Senator Sorghum. "But the people who are smart enough to accomplish the feat are getting scarcer every year."

Such Awfulness.

"I can always tell a single woman from a married one," remarked Helmy. "And yet," rejoined Omar, "you can't tell a single woman from a wife."

Monopoly.

"That man prides himself on being a conversationalist." "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "He's never so happy as when he makes a string of people miss their trains while he monopolizes the bureau of information."

Earliest Clocks.

The earliest clocks built in the balance model of those in use today, viz.: a train of wheels actuated by a spring or weight and provided with a governor which regulates the speed of movement. In modern evolution suggests that, though the fashions of humor change with the generations, humor itself abides forever. So long as man experiences the incongruities of life, humor will remain an ever sweet and flowing fountain.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

That man prides himself on being a conversationalist.

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "He's never so happy as when he makes a string of people miss their trains while he monopolizes the bureau of information."

Earliest Clocks.

The earliest clocks built in the balance model of those in use today, viz.: a train of wheels actuated by a spring or weight and provided with a governor which regulates the speed of movement. In modern evolution suggests that, though the fashions of humor change with the generations, humor itself abides forever. So long as man experiences the incongruities of life, humor will remain an ever sweet and flowing fountain.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

That man prides himself on being a conversationalist.

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "He's never so happy as when he makes a string of people miss their trains while he monopolizes the bureau of information."

Earliest Clocks.

The earliest clocks built in the balance model of those in use today, viz.: a train of wheels actuated by a spring or weight and provided with a governor which regulates the speed of movement. In modern evolution suggests that, though the fashions of humor change with the generations, humor itself abides forever. So long as man experiences the incongruities of life, humor will remain an ever sweet and flowing fountain.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

SHEER LUCK

By FRANK FILSON

(Copyright, 1915, by W. G. Chapman.)

In the train on his way back to the suburb in which he lived Harold Denton reflected bitterly that all his troubles had arisen from a sentence spoken by his wife.

"I don't see why you can't make money as easily as other men."

That had been two years before, when Denton was a bank clerk on a salary of $35. Today he was still a bank clerk, on a salary of $37.50. But he was accounted one of the leading citizens of the town.

Mrs. Denton had given out, as, indeed, her husband had told her, that Harold held a very responsible position in the city bank. He lived on a scale of about $125 weekly. And he actually spent $125 weekly, for he had been defrauding the bank systematically for 18 months.

His wife knew nothing, of course. She thought the manager had recognized her husband's solid worth. She thought their automobile came out of his salary, and her clothes, and the three maids, and the bountiful table, the club subscription, and all the rest of the tout ensemble which had contributed to her happiness. And Harold Denton reflected bitterly that he had no more than before he began his criminal career.

Things had been approaching a climax of late. Suspicion had been aroused, and an expert auditor was to begin going through the books on the morning. Steel, the manager, was like a thunderstorm all day. The president had called in the accountant against his judgment; he himself had not quite decided when he reached the bank.

He noticed an atmosphere of subdued excitement as he went to put on his office clothes. Men were whispering and looking furtively toward him. But Harold had shut himself off from the friendship of men, as every man must when he devotes himself to the violation of moral laws, and nobody came forward to speak to him.

He was just entering the cage when the manager's boy came up. "The president wants to see you in his private room, Mr. Denton," he said.

Harold Denton mechanically changed his coat again. The crisis was upon him, and he had not yet made up his mind. And he was conscious only of a wild impulse to fly.

He went out of the cage and into the corridor. The watchman was looking at him. On his right lay the president's room, ahead of him only the street, with the cars rumbling down it. He chose to make a bolt he could probably get away. Then he suddenly remembered. The draft was in his pocket and unopened. If he ran away he would run away penniless.

For just an instant he hesitated, and then, snatching his shoulders, he entered the president's room.

"I know why you have sent for me, Mr. Sawyer," he began.

The president, who was at his desk alone, looked up at him. He bore traces of a severe struggle. "A terrible thing," he said. "A terrible thing, Mr. Denton."

"A commonplace of our business," sneered Harold.

"You haven't heard? Steel committed suicide this morning, after writing a letter confessing that he had defrauded and robbed the bank of an unknown amount. A terrible thing, Mr. Denton. I want you to go over the books with the auditor and help him."

Somewhat Denton found himself in the bank again. He was saved; and all that remained now was to manage, as he could manage, to replace the amount he had stolen.

As he changed his coat for the third time the irony of the thing began to cut into his soul. And then he found his tears falling upon the paper. And above all, he had a vision of his wife restored to him, and their fortunate future.

Reader Will Find That to Prevent Tripping He Has Got to Go Slowly.

If a man rises before sunrise to see that his son rises in good time, it is quite possible that he may see the son rise before the sun rises.

If the son rises before sunrise to take a rise out of the old man, it can be said truthfully that the rising sun will shine upon the son setting out to do what ares in the son's mind before the sun rises.

Would you say—"the fowl run" or "the fowl run"? When the fowl run far, from the fowl run, the farmer run farther to get on the far side of the fowl, and the farmer's father run farther still.

"Don't run so fast, father," shouted the farmer, "or you'll frighten the fowl, and that will only make it run farther and get farther from the fowl run!"

Four men in fur coats went far from Fort to find their fortunes. Four men in fur coats, they walked well and got forward amazingly.

"But why did we bring these furs?" said one. "Better far have left our four furs in Fort, and we should have got far forwarded on the road to fortune. If only, instead of four furs, we had brought four fiddles, we might have had our four tunes (fortunes) here and now!"—London Answers.

Sunset in the Forest.

The sun was setting upon one of the most grassy places of the forest. . . . Hundreds of broad-leaved, stemmed, wide-branched oaks, the march of the Roman soldier, draped their gnarled arms over a thick carpet of the most delicious greenward, in some places they were intermingled with beeches, hollies and copsewood of various descriptions, so closely as to totally intercept the level beams of the sinking sun; in others they receded from each other, forming those long sweeping vistas, in the intricacy of which the eye delights to lose itself, while imagination considers them as the paths to yet wilder scenes ofylvan solitude. Here the rays of the sun shot a broken and discolored light, that partially hung upon the shattered boughs and mossy trunks of the trees, and there they illuminated in brilliant patches the portions of turf—toward they made their way.—Sir Walter Scott.

About the Planets.

The albedo or reflecting power of the planets is believed to give a hint as to their physical condition. In a table prepared by Prof. H. N. Russell, the albedo of the moon is given as 0.07; Mercury, 0.08; Venus, 0.59; Mars, 0.15; Jupiter, 0.62; Saturn, 0.69; Uranus, 0.63; and Neptune, 0.73. The earth's albedo, measured from the earthshine on the moon, has been placed as high as 0.89, though a new calculation indicates 0.49. The four large planets have high albedo on account of their cloud-laden atmosphere; that of Mercury, with practically no atmosphere, is low.

They Saw the Cow.

A woman with a family of children recently moved from the heart of a city to one of the suburbs, where they found various new educational opportunities. One day a neighbor came all walking back from the edge of town and asked whether they had been out in the country. "Yes," said the woman, "the man who brings our butter said he had a cow out there and I took the children out to see it."

Germs and Money.

"It's all right, doc. Your intentions are good, we know, in saying that borrowed articles spread disease. We can consistently refuse to lend a chap money, out of regard for his health. But how about making a touch? Or what about the chap who already owes and has declared a moratorium until money is made germ-proof?"—Chicago Daily News.

Optimistic Thought.

Charity cannot dwell with a mean and narrow spirit.

USES HER "SOUL STORY" IN SUIT

Elderly Husband of Young Bride Sues For Annulment of Marriage.

BLISS FOR SIX WEEKS

Wealthy Herman T. Asche Declares Wife's Novelties Proves She Married Him Only For His Money—"Man of Mystery."

New York.—A "novelty confession" entitled "Justice," alleged to have been written by nineteen-year-old Mrs. Asta Asche, an esthetic dancer, is the basis of a suit for annulment of marriage which has just been filed here by her husband, Herman T. Asche, a wealthy importer, forty years old. The couple's marriage fifty last of just six weeks—the reward of nine years' patient waiting on Asche's part, for he fell in love with Asta when she was a child of nine years.

Now Asche charges that Asta's heart never belonged to him, but burned in loyal love for a young artist. It was to the latter—so for the "man of mystery" in the strange case—that the novelty confession of the beautiful young bride was penned. In it she reveals, according to her husband's affidavit, that her marriage to him was merely a plot to get his money and that she had been his wife only in name, so that she might return to the young artist as she had left him.

Marital Joys Soon Ended.

On the day of the proposed wedding the husband-to-be went to the home of Asta's grandmother in Brooklyn. The dancer had promised to be there, but Asche says he found she had run away. He learned from the grandmother that Asta "was too nervous," and not being able to stand the strain of the wedding ceremony, had gone to New Haven. The elderly lover, mortified to New Haven, found Asta, but was told she wanted a week to "find her mind." When she found her mind, she decided to become Mrs. Asche.

The pair honeymooned in the South for a couple of weeks and then returned to the magnificent apartment on Riverside drive, which Asche had provided for his bride. An affidavit by Mrs. Asche's lady's maid described how happy the newlyweds were.

But love's paradise was short-lived. One day Asta left her husband a little "frowny" note and departed for New Haven.

The novelty "Justice" was written after Mrs. Asche returned to New York and went to live in an apartment in Brooklyn. In the story, Asta, calling herself "Olivia Standish," describes her own appearance and character so perfectly that Asche declares he recognized her at once. As they had lived together in real life only six weeks, so had "Olivia Standish" lived with her rich husband, "Herman Kruger," only six weeks.

Heroine "Played for High Stakes."

The heroine is described as a girl, not only beautiful, but "more than that." Although "fully aware of the power of her beauty over all men, she refused an unsolicited body because she realized that with that as an asset she could play for higher stakes." "I got what I want—money," she says. "He (the elderly husband) gets in return youth and woman. It seems quite fair to me." But she couldn't stand the bargain over six weeks.

Both of the principals are well-connected. Mrs. Asche's father, Andrew Connor, is a noted sculptor. The Asche family is one of the most prominent in Scandinavia. Asche's father was formerly postmaster general of Norway, and his brother is at present chief justice of Norway.

SHE PREFERS JAIL TO FARM

But Woman Asserts She Still Loves Husband and Children She Deserted.

Denver, Col.—Farm life may appeal to some folk, but jail life seems preferable to Mrs. Agnes C. Adams, twenty-five years old, who deserted her husband and four children recently rather than stay longer on her husband's truck farm in Jefferson county. Mrs. Adams was arrested by Humane Officer Morton David. Given the alternative of returning to the farm or facing a charge of deserting her children she replied:

"If you go back, I love my husband and my children," she told Police Matron Davis, "but I simply can't endure life on that farm any longer."

Love's Paradise Was Short-Lived.

by Mrs. Asche's lady's maid described how happy the newlyweds were.

But love's paradise was short-lived. One day Asta left her husband a little "frowny" note and departed for New Haven.

The novelty "Justice" was written after Mrs. Asche returned to New York and went to live in an apartment in Brooklyn. In the story, Asta, calling herself "Olivia Standish," describes her own appearance and character so perfectly that Asche declares he recognized her at once. As they had lived together in real life only six weeks, so had "Olivia Standish" lived with her rich husband, "Herman Kruger," only six weeks.

Heroine "Played for High Stakes."

The heroine is described as a girl, not only beautiful, but "more than that." Although "fully aware of the power of her beauty over

Uncle Sam: Detective

By WILLIAM AHTERTON DU PUY

The Elusive Fugitive

True stories of the Great Federal Detective Agency, the Bureau of Information, U. S. Dept. of Justice.

Copyright by W. O. Chapman

When one individual in a great world goes forth secretly to hide himself and a second man starts forth to find him, it would appear that all the advantage was with the fugitive. Particularly when this man is of a high degree of intelligence and is thoroughly informed as to the methods that will be employed in the pursuit.

Yet the detective who knows his business and who sticks to the trail month after month nearly always turns up his man. He may do this by following out, one after another, the probabilities in the case. There is almost no man who will refrain from performing some one of those every-day actions that it is not natural he should take. There is almost no man who will flee without leaving a trail behind him. If he is the criminal genius who succeeds in doing all these things, there is the element of chance that will turn up some bit of information that will put the vigilant sleuth on his track. For there are many ploys upon which the detective finger may rest long after the criminal gets to feel so secure as to become careless. Particularly is this true of the sleuths of the federal government, whose instructions are never to abandon the pursuit of an escaped criminal.

There is the case of Alexander Berliner, for instance. He was a prince of frauds, a man of exceptional ability, a cosmopolitan, one who knew the methods, a man with money. He had a month the start of Billy Gard of the federal department of justice. He knew that the special agent was after him. He appreciated the danger of a long term in prison if he were caught.

Would you think, under the circumstances, that the detective in the case could make sufficient splash among the tides of humanity that surge around a great world to disturb the tranquility of Berliner? Let us see how the case developed.

Gard had the advantage of having got a "spot on" Berliner. That is to say, he had seen him. Berliner was a customs broker. His business was to act as agent for American purchasers and European dealers. He knew his Europe and he knew New York. The details of customs regulations and duties to be paid were an open book to him. He spoke many languages and had customers among the wealthiest people in America.

It was when a mere suspicion arose as to the fidelity with which he was paying his duties that Billy Gard, on some pretext, went to see him. A large, upstanding, white-haired man he was—usually handsome and dominant.

"May I ask," said Gard, "if you think table lines of good quality could be procured from Ireland within six weeks? My sister is opening an establishment at that time and is not satisfied with the offerings here."

"Who is your sister?" asked Berliner, rather more directly than a customer would expect to be questioned by a broker.

"Mrs. Jonathan Moulton," said the special agent glibly, giving the name of a woman friend. "She lives in Seventy-second street."

"Do you mind if I call her for a confirmation of your inquiry?" said the broker, still noncommittal.

"Such a request is not usually addressed to a prospective customer," said Gard, appearing a bit nettled, "but I have no objection whatever."

As a matter of fact the special agent was very much disconcerted. He had foreseen the possibility of having to use the name of some individual who might afterward be called upon to verify the genuineness of his interest in lines. Mrs. Moulton was a good friend who would be entirely willing to help him in a little deception of this sort, but he had not as yet coached her as to the part she might be called upon to play. He had thought there would be plenty of time later if it became necessary to identify the supposed customer. But Berliner was evidently suspicious of the bright young man who called upon him. He evidently knew that upon him under investigation. Gard's instigation of the broker insisted on calling his alleged sister, was that he would find that she was not at home.

But luck was not with him. Mrs. Moulton herself answered the telephone.

"May I ask," said the broker, "if you will give me the name of the young man whom you have commissioned to buy linens for you?"

The manner in which the question was put, Gard realized, gave Mrs. Moulton no intimation of the situation. He knew she was sufficiently clever to be entirely noncommittal if the broker had mentioned his name. But Berliner was too shrewd for this.

"You have authorized no one to buy for you?" the broker was saying. "You are not in the market for linens at all? I see. There must have been some mistake."

Berliner turned to his caller.

"Young Mr. Detective," he said, unobtrusively, "your work is a bit amateurish. May I present you with your hat? I trust there will be no occasion for our acquaintance to develop further."

The case against Berliner did not come to a crisis immediately. It was two months later that the customs agents reported that he was gone and fact that a fugitive must eat and sleep is a great help to a detective. All the hotels in a city may be canvassed and are likely to yield results. It was at a little family hostelry in the suburbs that a gray-haired man of distinction had passed a week. He had been gone nine days. Yes, he had a trunk. The porter knew that it had gone to a certain station. The ticket agent thought he remembered selling the man whose picture was shown him a ticket to Chicago. Dave White was the conductor on the train to that point on the day in question and remembered the gray-haired man.

In Chicago the trail grew warmer. The fugitive had been at the Auditorium but four days earlier, but the porters were unable to recall any of the details of his going away. The special agent asked to see the room Berliner had occupied. It was occupied by another guest, but Gard was allowed to explain himself to the successor of the fugitive and was given permission to search the room. A close examination of it developed but one clue. Sticking inside a waste basket were three fragments of a letterhead that had been torn into small pieces. One of these fragments showed part of the picture of another hotel. An arrow, drawn in ink, pointed to a certain window.

Gard took the fragments of the picture of the hotel to a traveler's guide and searched for the house that corresponded with it. Eventually he found the duplicate, and it was a Chicago hostelry. He hurried to it. After showing his credentials to the house detective, information was freely supplied. The room in question was occupied by a woman and had been so occupied for two weeks. She was a handsome and stylish red-haired woman of thirty-five. She had been carefully watched for a reason that presently developed.

"Has she received any callers?" asked the special agent.

"But one person, a man, has visited her," answered the house detective.

"What sort of a man?" asked Gard.

"A large man with gray hair," said the house detective. "He is in her room now."

"Will you go up with me immediately?" ejaculated the special agent. "I must not fail to see this man."

"Assuredly," was the response, and they caught the next elevator.

The car they took was an express and was not to stop until it reached followed, but was able to find no one on that floor who had seen the fugitive. He ran hastily about looking for possible exits, and then instituted a thorough search. He investigated every possible avenue of escape and hastened downstairs to his ally to help cut off the line of retreat. Every possible barrier was put up and the house was well gone over. The gray-haired fugitive had, however, eluded pursuit.

Gard immediately called upon the Chicago police to throw out a dragnet and a general alarm, and this was done. All railway stations were watched with particular care. None of which was of any avail, as Berliner was never reported to have been seen again in Chicago. Nor was Gard able to get so much as the glimmer of a trace of him nor a suggestion as to where he might have gone.

It was a task of infinite patience that brought Special Agent William H. Gard to London two months later on the trail of a woman whom he had traced half around the world. The Titian-haired guest of the Chicago hotel, the wife of the fugitive broker, here installed herself for a while and lived in a manner that amounted to absolute seclusion.

Then she went to Paris. There she took rooms in a quiet side street and seemed to settle down with some idea of permanence. There was nothing in her mode of life that would indicate that she lived differently from any other woman who was alone in the world and sought quiet. She went out for a long walk every afternoon, purchased the necessities of her establishment or books, of which she seemed to read great numbers.

Special Agent Gard established a close watch over the house in which she lived. This was easy because there was but a front entrance and apartments opposite looked out upon the street. He determined that no body should enter this house without being observed. He asked the Paris police to provide him with two reliable men who could watch with him in shifts from the quarters he rented across the street.

A vigil of two weeks revealed absolutely nothing. With the exception of the servant who came at noon each day and remained not more than four hours, no living creature entered the house. In all that two weeks the postman left no mail. Billy Gard seemed to be up against a blank wall. He held, however, that if a man kept that he asked the woman detective to install a dictagraph beneath the table in the sunny little dining room just off the apartment of the locked door. This was easy of accomplishment during the hour of the afternoon stroll of the mistress of the house. The wires of the dictagraph were run across the street and into the watch tower rooms of the special agent.

When the dinner hour approached that evening Billy Gard sat patiently with the dictagraph of the dictagraph securely in place. The first sound that he caught from across the street was that of feet, supposedly those of the woman of the Titian hair, passing back and forth upon the room, while an occasional snatch of a song while she worked. He gathered that she was arranging for the evening meal, the servant having gone home hours before.

Ten minutes passed and then there came over the wire a sound that might have been a bit surprising to the observer of this ultra quiet household, the watcher at the entrance through which none had passed unseen since the day it was rented, had not the listener already developed a theory.

"Well, Margaret," said a full-throated man's voice, as transmitted by the dictagraph, "this is not so bad. I never dreamed that you had the housewife instincts that would make it possible for you to arrange with your own hands the dainty dinners we are having. I am beginning to think that the man is lucky who cannot afford servants."

"And don't you know," said a woman's voice, "I never enjoyed anything more in my life. For almost the only time I can remember I have a definite occupation. I have to provide our creature comforts. I haven't been so happy in years. I really don't care how long they keep us cooped up."

"I will confess," said the man, "that the novelty has worn off of the view into the courtyard. But it might be worse. For a while they had me thinking quite regularly of striped suits and the lockstep which are part of a life even more confining than this. And here I have you. I am quite content to wait for the atmosphere to clear."

"But I am very sure we are still being watched," said the woman. "I always feel that I am being followed when I go out."

"Very likely," said the man. "But no detective will pursue fruitless quests indefinitely. Even though they know you are here, they will ultimately lose interest in a surveillance that yields nothing. We can afford to wait. The time will come when we can steal away in safety."

"When it is all over," she responded. "I do wish that we could find a way to let those detectives know that you were here under their very noses all the time."

Billy Gard, it may be set down, was most anxious to learn how this had been possible. He had followed Margaret Berliner to the house when she had first come to see it. He had been notified immediately when she had watched every detail of her taking possession; had, with the aid of his men, seen everything that had gone into the house. Yet Berliner had installed herself without his knowledge and had been living there all the time.

"It would have been impossible without Archie," Berliner was saying. "A man in a position like mine needs, upon occasion, someone he can trust to do little things for him. We may quarrel with blood relatives all our lives, but they have the advantage of being safe to trust in time of trouble. It is a very small thing to send a man to a rent agent for a key to inspect lodgings and to send him back with the key after they are inspected. But had I not been able to trust Archie absolutely I would not have been able to get in here a day ahead of you and this snug little arrangement would not have been possible."

It was because of what he here overheard that Special Agent Gard, assisted by Coleman of the Paris office and the police of that city, considerably waited until Mrs. Berliner went shopping the following day and were admitted by the woman detective, who was at the time washing the accumulated dishes of the household. They so surrounded the locked door as to make escape impossible and then announced their presence. Gard told Berliner, through the locked door, of the situation that existed on the outside. He suggested that the easiest way was to unbolts the entrance, thereby saving the necessity of breaking it down. Whereupon the customs broker walked out and surrendered, and a very tedious fugitive case was brought to a successful conclusion.

This One Limps. Children often puzzle over a matter a long time without asking an explanation. Little Dora had a pet chicken which was a cripple, having had its toes frozen off, and its name got to be "Lamey." For years Dora wondered what connection there was between this pet and her nightly prayer, "Now I lay me down to sleep."—Christian Herald.

Not Exactly. "Now that feuds have practically ceased in this region," said the spectacled tourist, "I presume you have, figuratively speaking, beaten your pistols into pruning hooks." "None!" replied Mr. Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark. "In the first place, we don't raise prunes yet, and in the second place you never know when a dead feud will begin to set up and take notice."—Kansas City Star.

Lively of Toll. "I suppose your boy Josh is too proud to put on overalls?" "No, he ain't," replied Farmer Corn-tossel. "He put on overalls the other evening 'an' went to a nansquerade disguised as a farmhand."

A Demand for the Genuine. "Do you think the public enjoys being humbugged?" "Possibly," replied Senator Smough. "But the people who are smart enough to accomplish the feat are getting scarcer every year."

Such Awfulness. "I can always tell a single woman from a married one," remarked Helmy. "And yet," rejoined Omar, "you once took a single woman for a wife."

Earliest Clocks. The earliest clocks built in the balance model of those in use today, viz.: a train of wheels actuated by a spring or weight and provided with a governor which regulates the speed of movement. Its modern evolution suggests that, though the fashions of humor change with the generations, humor itself abides forever. So long as man experiences the incongruities of life, humor will remain an ever sweet and flowing fountain.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Monopoly. "That man prides himself on being a conversationalist," "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "He's never so happy as when he makes a string of people miss their trains while he monopolizes the bureau of information."

Article Somewhat Scarce. "Contentment abides with the truth," says an old adage; but very few men are in a position to touch for the truth of it.

SHEER LUCK

By FRANK FILSON

(Copyright, 1916, by W. G. Chapman.)

In the train on his way back to the suburb in which he lived Harold Denton reflected bitterly that all his troubles had arisen from a sentence spoken by his wife.

"I don't see why you can't make money as easily as other men."

That had been two years before, when Denton was a bank clerk on a salary of $35. Today he was still a bank clerk, on a salary of $37.50. But he was accounted one of the leading citizens of the town.

Mrs. Denton had given out, as, indeed, her husband had told her, that Harold held a very responsible position in the city bank. He lived on a scale of about $125 weekly. And he actually spent $125 weekly, for he had been defrauding the bank systematically for 18 months.

His wife knew nothing, of course. She thought the manager had recognized her husband's solid worth. She thought their automobile came out of his salary, and her clothes, and the three maids, and the beautiful table, the club subscription, and all the rest of the tout ensemble which had contributed to her happiness. And Harold Denton reflected bitterly that he had no more than before he began his criminal career.

Things had been approaching a climax of late. Suspicion had been aroused, and an expert auditor was to begin going through the books on the morrow. Steel, the manager, was like a thunderstorm all day. The president had called in the accountant against his judgment; he himself had spent hours on the books, and he seemed to regard the president's act as a reflection on him.

Denton was wondering what to do. His idea had been that, when discovery became inevitable, he would go to Florida and leave Mrs. Denton to seek a divorce. Of course, she would divorce him. She was that type of woman. He had long since been disillusioned about their happiness, or the possibility of it.

When he got home a letter from England was lying on his table. He opened it, wondering a little who his correspondent might be. Denton had left England in youth, had been kicked out, he was wont to say, as a ne'er-do-well, and he had long since severed all connections with his family.

(He read the letter and looked at the enclosure that fluttered to the table. He reeled back against the wall, gasping.)

Fate had dealt him a sorry stroke. Here it was a draft for $70,000, which his uncle had left him. And $40,000 would more than cover his defalcations.

With thirty thousand he could realize his aim of getting out from work and starting that Florida plantation of which he had dreamed.

He had just time to hide the letter when his wife came in.

"Harold," she began, and hesitated. "Harold, I want to have a talk with you. Things can't go on as they have been going."

"No," answered Harold mechanically, placing a different significance upon her words as his own mind.

"Harold, you and I used to care for each other in the old days—before this money came between us. I wish we could be as we used to be."

"But this is your life," he said, sweeping his hand round the luxuriously furnished room.

"No, Harold. I admit I used to wish we were as rich as others of our friends. But when I saw that you believed I only cared for wealth, I—well, I pretended. Harold, I would rather have you and that plantation we spoke of than anything on earth."

He stared at her incredulously. "You mean that?" he stammered.

"But he saw she did, for she was weeping in his arms. And a wonderful reconciliation descended between them, as if from heaven.

"You shall have it," he said solemnly, raising his hand. "I am going to get out of the rut. I have thought it over for a long time, my dear."

"Let it be soon," she answered piteously.

On the next day he took the train with his scheme fully matured. He would make a clean breast of the matter to Steel, offering to make good if the bank would abstain from prosecuting him. And he would take his thirty thousand and get out of it all, with his wife, to Florida.

But would Steel and the president consent? They were hard men, and he would have to play his cards warily. He pondered over the perplexing situation in the train, and he had not quite decided when he reached the bank.

He noticed an atmosphere of subdued excitement as he went to put on his office coat. Men were whispering and looking furtively toward him. But Harold had shut himself off from the friendship of men, as every man must when he devotes himself to the violation of moral laws, and nobody came forward to speak to him.

He was just entering the cage when the manager's boy came up. "The president wants to see you in his private room, Mr. Denton," he said.

Harold Denton mechanically changed his coat again. The crisis was upon him, and he had not yet made up his mind. And he was conscious only of a wild impulse to fly.

He went out of the cage and into the corridor. The watchman was looking at him. On his right lay the president's room, ahead of him only the watchman and the glass door, and then the street, with the cars rumbling down in a blaze of sunshine. If he chose to make a bolt he could probably get away. Then he suddenly remembered. The draft was in his pocket and unopened. If he ran away he would run away penniless.

For just an instant he hesitated, and then, squaring his shoulders, he entered the president's room.

"I know why you have sent for me, Mr. Sawyer," he began.

The president, who was at his desk alone, looked up at him. He bore traces of a severe struggle. "A terrible thing," he said. "A terrible thing, Mr. Denton."

"A commonplace of our business," sneered Harold.

The president thumped his fist upon the table. "No, sir," he said. "A very infrequent thing. And to think it should have been Steel! I trusted him implicitly."

"Steel?" gasped Harold.

"You haven't heard? Steel committed suicide this morning, after writing a letter confessing that he had defrauded and robbed the bank of an unknown amount. A terrible thing, Mr. Denton. I want you to go over the books with the auditor and help him."

Somewhat Denton found himself in the bank again. He was saved; and all that remained now was to manage, as he could manage, to replace the amount he had stolen.

As he changed his coat for the third time the irony of the thing began to cut into his soul. And then he found his tears falling upon the paper. And above all, he had a vision of his wife restored to him, and their fortunate future.

USES HER "SOUL STORY" IN SUIT

Elderly Husband of Young Bride Sues For Annulment of Marriage.

BLISS FOR SIX WEEKS

Wealthy Herman T. Asche Declares Wife's Novelties Proves She Married Him Only For His Money—"Man of Mystery."

New York.—A "novelty confession" entitled "Justice," alleged to have been written by nineteen-year-old Mrs. Asta Asche, an esthetic dancer, is the basis of a suit for annulment of marriage which has just been filed here by her husband, Herman T. Asche, a wealthy importer, forty years old. The couple's marriage bliss lasted just six weeks—the reward in nine years' patient waiting on Asche's part, for he fell in love with Asta when she was a child of nine years.

Now Asche charges that Asta's heart never belonged to him, but burned in loyal love for a young artist. It was to the latter—so far the "man of mystery" in the strange case—that the novelties confession of the beautiful young bride was penned. In it she reveals, according to her husband's affidavit, that her marriage to him was merely a plot to get his money and that she had been his wife only in name, so that she might return to the young artist who had left him.

Marital Joys Soon Ended.

On the day of the proposed wedding the husband-to-be went to the home of Asta's grandmother in Brooklyn. The dancer had promised to be there, but Asche says he found she had run away. He learned from the grandmother that Asta "was too nervous," and not being able to stand the strain of the wedding ceremony, had gone to New Haven. The elderly lover, who had been in New Haven, found Asta, but was told she wanted a week to "find her mind." When she found her mind she decided to become Mrs. Asche.

The pair honeymooned in the South for a couple of weeks and then returned to the magnificent apartment on Riverside drive which Asche had provided for his bride. An affidavit by Mrs. Asche's lady's maid described how happy the newlyweds were.

But love's paradise was short-lived. One day Asta left her husband a little "farewell" note and departed for New Haven.

The novelties "Justice" was written after Mrs. Asche returned to New York and went to live in an apartment in Brooklyn. In the story, Asta, describing herself "Olivia Standish," describes her own appearance and character so perfectly that Asche declares he recognized her at once. As they had lived together in real life only six weeks, so had "Olivia Standish" lived with her rich husband, "Herman Kruger," only six weeks.

Heroine "Played for High Stakes."

The heroine is described as a girl not only beautiful, but "more than that." Although "fully aware of the power of her beauty over all men, she retained an unsullied beauty because she realized that with that as an asset she could play for higher stakes." "I get what I want—money," she says. "He (the elderly husband) gets in return youth and woman. It seems quite fair to me." But she couldn't stand the bargain over six weeks.

Both of the principals are well-connected. Mrs. Asche's father, Andrew Connor, is a noted sculptor. The Asche family is one of the most prominent in Scandinavia. Asche's father was formerly postmaster general of Norway, and his brother is at present chief justice of Norway.

SHE PREFERS JAIL TO FARM

But Woman Asserts She Still Loves Husband and Children She Deserted.

Denver, Col.—Farm life may appeal to some folk, but jail life seems preferable to Mrs. Agnes C. Adams, twenty-five years old, who deserted her husband and four children recently rather than stay longer on her husband's truck farm in Jefferson county. Mrs. Adams was arrested by Humane Officer Morton Davis. Given the alternative of returning to the farm or facing a charge of deserting her children she replied:

"I won't go back. I love my husband and my children too," she told Police Matron Davis, "but I simply can't endure life on that farm any longer."

Germs and Money.

It's all right, doc, your intentions are good, we know, in saying that borrowed articles spread disease. We can consistently refuse to lend a chap money, out of regard for his health. But how about making a touch? Or what about the chap who already owes and has declared a moratorium until money is made germ-proof?—Chicago Daily News.

Optimistic Thought.

Charity cannot dwell with a mean and narrow spirit.

"YOUNG MR. DETECTIVE, YOUR WORK IS A BIT AMATEURISH."

the eleventh floor. The next to it was a local, stopping at all floors. The express, going up with the detectives aboard, slackened its speed at the eighth floor while its operator gave some message to the boy on the local which had stopped there to take on a passenger. The cars were of an open-work structure and the passengers in one could see quite plainly those on the other as they passed. As the express passed Gard looked through at those riding on the other car. Imagine his consternation when, not two feet from him, he saw the man for whom he had been searching for months. As he gazed through the checked steel slats of the car side he was close enough to have put out his hand and laid it on his man had nothing intervened. Berliner faced him and, as the car passed, he and the special agent gazed directly into the eyes of each other. This was for but an instant and both cars were in motion again. The detective was being borne rapidly toward the top of the building and the fugitive less rapidly toward the ground.

"There is my man on the other elevator," Gard whispered hurriedly to the house detective. "Have the boy reverse and run down again."

The message was given to the operator, who obeyed instantly and some excuse was made to the passengers on the car. The local had been stopping at each floor and the express passed it and barely reached the ground floor first. There the two detectives stepped out and waited for the coming of the other car.

A moment later it arrived, much crowded, and began to disgorge itself. The two officers waited in instant readiness to capture the man whom they had seen at the eighth floor. But the car was empty and he was not among the passengers.

"Where did the big gray-haired man get off?" the boy was asked.

"Third floor, sir," he replied.

"You bar the exits," Gard said to the house detective, "and I will get back to the third."

On that floor the hallman said that the white-haired gentleman had run down the steps to the second. Gard awoke on the most hopeless job for a sufficient length of time some clue was sure to develop or some idea present itself that would lead toward results. Gard investigated the maid who worked the daily short shift in the quarters of the red-haired woman from America. He found her a placid and stupid creature who knew nothing but had intelligence sufficient for her purpose. Incidentally he found that she had secured her place through an employment agency located at a considerable distance. He immediately made use of this information.

The special agent, through the Paris police force, secured the cooperation of the employment bureau. A position that paid much better was offered to the servant of Mrs. Berliner. It was, quite naturally, accepted. That lady, finding herself without a servant, returned to the agency that had formerly provided her with one who was entirely satisfactory. She asked for a second maid.

The employment bureau immediately supplied her demand. The woman who was sent was, in secret, more than she seemed to be. She was connected with the Paris police department and was a detective of some cleverness. Almost immediately she took up her new activities.

Three days later she reported to Agent Gard from America. She had found in her red-haired mistress a woman who led a quiet life that seemed in no way irregular, who followed a normal routine of housekeeping, walking, shopping. She seemed to have no acquaintances. But one thing irregular appeared in the whole establishment. There was one room in the rear of the suite which remained locked. The mistress had stated that it was a storage room. This seemed somewhat strange, as it must look out upon the interior court and therefore be the most attractive room of them all. It seemed peculiar that such a room should be used for storage and, even so, that it should be locked up.

Gard put together the two facts—the locked room and the short hours of the servant—and drew a conclusion. It was as the result of this conclusion of the intellect or of wit. The resultant merriment is more a quiet and continuous chuckle, a glow through all the arteries of the spirit, than an electric shock that tingles all along our nerves and then is gone.

The new humor is natural, and bubbles spontaneously from the normal experiences of life. It seizes one with resistless longing for laughter. Its honest fashioning of human existence into literature runs the humorous gamut from chuckle or smile to inextinguishable laughter or actual orgies of merriment. Its modern evolution suggests that, though the fashions of humor change with the generations, humor itself abides forever. So long as man experiences the incongruities of life, humor will remain an ever sweet and flowing fountain.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Such Awfulness. "I can always tell a single woman from a married one," remarked Helmy. "And yet," rejoined Omar, "you once took a single woman for a wife."

Earliest Clocks. The earliest clocks built in the balance model of those in use today, viz.: a train of wheels actuated by a spring or weight and provided with a governor which regulates the speed of movement. Its modern evolution suggests that, though the fashions of humor change with the generations, humor itself abides forever. So long as man experiences the incongruities of life, humor will remain an ever sweet and flowing fountain.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Monopoly. "That man prides himself on being a conversationalist," "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "He's never so happy as when he makes a string of people miss their trains while he monopolizes the bureau of information."

Article Somewhat Scarce. "Contentment abides with the truth," says an old adage; but very few men are in a position to touch for the truth of it.

Optimistic Thought. Charity cannot dwell with a mean and narrow spirit.

Germs and Money. It's all right, doc, your intentions are good, we know, in saying that borrowed articles spread disease. We can consistently refuse to lend a chap money, out of regard for his health. But how about making a touch? Or what about the chap who already owes and has declared a moratorium until money is made germ-proof?—Chicago Daily News.

Optimistic Thought. Charity cannot dwell with a mean and narrow spirit.

Germs and Money. It's all right, doc, your intentions are good, we know, in saying that borrowed articles spread disease. We can consistently refuse to lend a chap money, out of regard for his health. But how about making a touch? Or what about the chap who already owes and has declared a moratorium until money is made germ-proof?—Chicago Daily News.

Optimistic Thought. Charity cannot dwell with a mean and narrow spirit.

Germs and Money. It's all right, doc, your intentions are good, we know, in saying that borrowed articles spread disease. We can consistently refuse to lend a chap money, out of regard for his health. But how about making a touch? Or what about the chap who already owes and has declared a moratorium until money is made germ

1997, 1998, 1999, 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019, 2020, 2021, 2022, 2023, 2024, 2025, 2026, 2027, 2028, 2029, 2030, 2031, 2032, 2033, 2034, 2035, 2036, 2037, 2038, 2039, 2040, 2041, 2042, 2043, 2044, 2045, 2046, 2047, 2048, 2049, 2050, 2051, 2052, 2053, 2054, 2055, 2056, 2057, 2058, 2059, 2060, 2061, 2062, 2063, 2064, 2065, 2066, 2067, 2068, 2069, 2070, 2071, 2072, 2073, 2074, 2075, 2076, 2077, 2078, 2079, 2080, 2081, 2082, 2083, 2084, 2085, 2086, 2087, 2088, 2089, 2090, 2091, 2092, 2093, 2094, 2095, 2096, 2097, 2098, 2099, 2100, 2101, 2102, 2103, 2104, 2105, 2106, 2107, 2108, 2109, 2110, 2111, 2112, 2113, 2114, 2115, 2116, 2117, 2118, 2119, 2120, 2121, 2122, 2123, 2124, 2125, 2126, 2127, 2128, 2129, 2130, 2131, 2132, 2133, 2134, 2135, 2136, 2137, 2138, 2139, 2140, 2141, 2142, 2143, 2144, 2145, 2146, 2147, 2148, 2149, 2150, 2151, 2152, 2153, 2154, 2155, 2156, 2157, 2158, 2159, 2160, 2161, 2162, 2163, 2164, 2165, 2166, 2167, 2168, 2169, 2170, 2171, 2172, 2173, 2174, 2175, 2176, 2177, 2178, 2179, 2180, 2181, 2182, 2183, 2184, 2185, 2186, 2187, 2188, 2189, 2190, 2191, 2192, 2193, 2194, 2195, 2196, 2197, 2198, 2199, 2200, 2201, 2202, 2203, 2204, 2205, 2206, 2207, 2208, 2209, 2210, 2211, 2212, 2213, 2214, 2215, 2216, 2217, 2218, 2219, 2220, 2221, 2222, 2223, 2224, 2225, 2226, 2227, 2228, 2229, 2230, 2231, 2232, 2233, 2234, 2235, 2236, 2237, 2238, 2239, 2240, 2241, 2242, 2243, 2244, 2245, 2246, 2247, 2248, 2249, 2250, 2251, 2252, 2253, 2254, 2255, 2256, 2257, 2258, 2259, 2260, 2261, 2262, 2263, 2264, 2265, 2266, 2267, 2268, 2269, 2270, 2271, 2272, 2273, 2274, 2275, 2276, 2277, 2278, 2279, 2280, 2281, 2282, 2283, 2284, 2285, 2286, 2287, 2288, 2289, 2290, 2291, 2292, 2293, 2294, 2295, 2296, 2297, 2298, 2299, 2300, 2301, 2302, 2303, 2304, 2305, 2306, 2307, 2308, 2309, 2310, 2311, 2312, 2313, 2314, 2315, 2316, 2317, 2318, 2319, 2320, 2321, 2322, 2323, 2324, 2325, 2326, 2327, 2328, 2329, 2330, 2331, 2332, 2333, 2334, 2335, 2336, 2337, 2338, 2339, 2340, 2341, 2342, 2343, 2344, 2345, 2346, 2347, 2348, 2349, 2350, 2351, 2352, 2353, 2354, 2355, 2356, 2357, 2358, 2359, 2360, 2361, 2362, 2363, 2364, 2365, 2366, 2367, 2368, 2369, 2370, 2371, 2372, 2373, 2374, 2375, 2376, 2377, 2378, 2379, 2380, 2381, 2382, 2383, 2384, 2385, 2386, 2387, 2388, 2389, 2390, 2391, 2392, 2393, 2394, 2395, 2396, 2397, 2398, 2399, 2400, 2401, 2402, 2403, 2404, 2405, 2406, 2407, 2408, 2409, 2410, 2411, 2412, 2413, 2414, 2415, 2416, 2417, 2418, 2419, 2420, 2421, 2422, 2423, 2424, 2425, 2426, 2427, 2428, 2429, 2430, 2431, 2432, 2433, 2434, 2435, 2436, 2437, 2438, 2439, 2440, 2441, 2442, 2443, 2444, 2445, 2446, 2447, 2448, 2449, 2450, 2451, 2452, 2453, 2454, 2455, 2456, 2457, 2458, 2459, 2460, 2461, 2462, 2463, 2464, 2465, 2466, 2467, 2468, 2469, 2470, 2471, 2472, 2473, 2474, 2475, 2476, 2477, 2478, 2479, 2480, 2481, 2482, 2483, 2484, 2485, 2486, 2487, 2488, 2489, 2490, 2491, 2492, 2493, 2494, 2495, 2496, 2497, 2498, 2499, 2500, 2501, 2502, 2503, 2504, 2505, 2506, 2507, 2508, 2509, 2510, 2511, 2512, 2513, 2514, 2515, 2516, 2517, 2518, 2519, 2520, 2521, 2522, 2523, 2524, 2525, 2526, 2527, 2528, 2529, 2530, 2531, 2532, 2533, 2534, 2535, 2536, 2537, 2538, 2539, 2540, 2541, 2542, 2543, 2544, 2545, 2546, 2547, 2548, 2549, 2550, 2551, 2552, 2553, 2554, 2555, 2556, 2557, 2558, 2559, 2560, 2561, 2562, 2563, 2564, 2565, 2566, 2567, 2568, 2569, 2570, 2571, 2572, 2573, 2574, 2575, 2576, 2577, 2578, 2579, 2580, 2581, 2582, 2583, 2584, 2585, 2586, 2587, 2588, 2589, 2590, 2591, 2592, 2593, 2594, 2595, 2596, 2597, 2598, 2599, 2600, 2601, 2602, 2603, 2604, 2605, 2606, 2607, 2608, 2609, 2610, 2611, 2612, 2613, 2614, 2615, 2616, 2617, 2618, 2619, 2620, 2621, 2622, 2623, 2624, 2625, 2626, 2627, 2628, 2629, 2630, 2631, 2632, 2633, 2634, 2635, 2636, 2637, 2638, 2639, 2640, 2641, 2642, 2643, 2644, 2645, 2646, 2647, 2648, 2649, 2650, 2651, 2652, 2653, 2654, 2655, 2656, 2657, 2658, 2659, 2660, 2661, 2662, 2663, 2664, 2665, 2666, 2667, 2668, 2669, 2670, 2671, 2672, 2673, 2674, 2675, 2676, 2677, 2678, 26

GRAND RAPIDS TRIBUNE

Thursday, November 2, 1916

Published by W. A. Drumb and A. B. Sutor.

Entered at the postoffice at Grand Rapids, Wis., as 2nd class mail matter.

Subscription Price—Per year, $1.50; 6 mo. 75c; 3 mo. 40c; if paid in advance.

Published Every Wednesday at Grand Rapids, Wood County, Wisconsin.

Telephone Number 824

ADVERTISING RATES
Resolutions, each 75c
Card of Thanks, each 25c
Transient Readers, per line 10c
Obituary Poetry, per line 5c
Full Entertainment, per line 5c
Display Ad Rates 15c per inch.

Advertisement—Authorized and paid for by Carl C. Hoebe at the rate of 5c per line.

To the Voters of the 24th Senate District of Wisconsin:

At the solicitation of neighbors and friends I have consented to become a candidate for the office of State Senator, and like other men in like situation, wish to win out by your votes.

The district is large and I do not have the money and time to make a house to house canvass and meet you personally and talk to you as man to man, as I would like to do.

You have a right as intelligent men, to know who you are voting for. To know what he believes in, and what his course of action will be as your servant in the office that you place him by your vote.

Years ago my parents came from Germany, settling in the town of Lowell, Dodge county, Wisconsin, where I was raised on a farm, knowing full well the labor and trials that beset the man who produces that which others may eat. But talk to you from my old home in 1902, I located in Greenwood, Clark county, and engaged in the hardware business and farming, and by hard work and constant care, have established a fair, growing business.

I am married, having a wife and four children.

If a man's beliefs you may judge what his actions will be. I believe in the United States for a United People; the Declaration of Independence as proclaimed by the founders of the Republic and crystallized in the Constitution of the United States; that the people are rulers of this country, and they alone; that every man who holds office from the president to the president is the servant of the people, of all the people, and not the servant of any race, class or creed. That every servant of the people should give the dollar's worth of service for every one hundred cents collected as taxes from the people.

I believe in Protection. That protection which is an offering to the God of Humanity and not a sacrifice to the God of Mammon. That protection that builds for the future welfare of all the people and not for present gain to a class, combination, or a few of the people only.

I would protect the property rights of all the people from misappropriation or subversion by or for the interest of any class or individuals. I heartily endorse that protection which our servants at Washington have recently enacted in the Child Labor law, a law that means more to the future well-being of this country than all of the so-called "Protection Acts" passed since 1865. I believe in the building of good roads for the benefit of the farmer and merchant alike; in the advancement and up-building of farming industry of the state by liberal appropriation of money for that purpose, but would safeguard the expending of such money so that every dollar expended would result in benefit to all.

I may be a little old-fashioned, but I believe in the Golden Rule, to "do unto others as I would that others should do unto me." I believe that the legislature of Wisconsin should pass no act in the nature of a step backward to repeal any progressive law that has been passed and found beneficial for all the people.

I believe with Lincoln that this government of ours is "a government of the people, by the people and for the people" and I will be guided by that idea if elected to serve you.

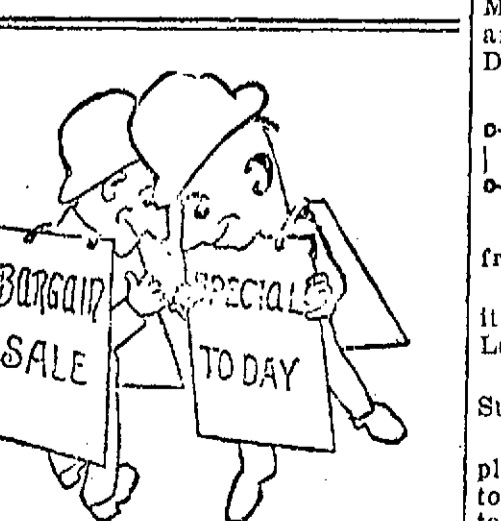

Yours for the right,

CARL C. HOEBE.

D. D. CONWAY

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Law, Loans and Collections. We have $2,000 which will be loaned at a low rate of interest. Office over First National Bank, East Side, Grand Rapids, Wis.

SPECIAL TODAY AND EVERY DAY

VICTORIA is the very best flour in the state and we want every housewife to know that if she cares for really good bread and cake and pastry see must use VICTORIA.

Grand Rapids Milling Co.

REASONS FOR RE-ELECTION OF WILSON

1. Because he has kept the peace.
2. Because he has abolished invisible government, dispersed the corrupt lobby and restored the government to the hands of the governed.
3. Because he preforms construction to destruction.
4. Because he has secured the reduction of the tariff, not upward but downward, to a competitive basis.
5. Because he has secured the adoption of a dumping clause to protect American labor, capital and business against the possibility of cut-throat competition when the European war is over.
6. Because he has secured the imposition of an income tax, obliging wealth to share with want the burdens as well as the blessings of the government.
7. Because he has secured the establishment of a non-partisan tariff commission, so that hereafter the tariff may be revised, whether upward or downward, upon scientific principles and in the light of all the facts.
8. Because he has been a friend of legitimate business.
9. Because he has secured the establishment of a Federal Reserve system, dethroning the money trust, democratizing credit and reassuring the future against recurrence of banking and currency panics.
10. Because he has secured the establishment of a Federal Trade Commission to suppress unfair competition and to protect and promote honest business and to safeguard law abiding business men against needless and vexatious litigation.
11. Because he has effected the abolition of tying contracts, interlocked directorates and holding companies, the tap roots of monopoly.
12. Because he has been a friend of the farmer.
13. Because he has secured the establishment of a system of rural credits designed to emancipate and to enfranchise the farmer in the business world.
14. Because under his administration a system of licensed and bonded warehouses has been authorized which will assist to make the farmer a master of his own business and his own destiny.
15. Because under his administration measures have been passed looking to the establishment of official standards and grades of cotton and grain, thus safeguarding the market against manipulation.
16. Because he has approved a measure providing for the establishment of a system of highways, through state and federal co-operation, which will, when completed, according to the estimate of experts, save the farmers more than one million dollars between the rising and setting of every day's sun.
17. Because he stands upon a platform which promises the prosecution of plans "to make agriculture more profitable, and country life more healthful, comfortable and attractive."
18. Because he has been a friend of the wage earner.
19. Because he has approved a measure declaring that human labor shall not be dealt with as a mere commodity in the market place.
20. Because he has approved a measure abolishing the writ of injunction as an instrument of judicial tyranny, securing to labor the right to a trial by jury in cases of constructive contempt.
21. Because he has approved the Workmen's Compensation Act making the United States a model employer and an example to all other employers.
22. Because he has approved the Seamen's Act, liberating the tollers of the sea from involuntary servitude, protecting them against imprisonment for debt and criminal prosecution for the mere breach of a civil contract.
23. Because he urged and signed the Eight-hour Act, which crystallized the enlightened judgment of mankind into the law of the land in accordance with the progressive platform of 1912 and the democratic platform of 1916, and in accordance with the matured conviction that the man who toils should be allowed to enjoy a fair share of the treasure and the leisure and the pleasure which should be the portion of civilized men in a civilized society.
24. Because he has said, "suffer little children to come out of the mills and the mills and the sweat-shops."
25. Because he believes in the conservation of human resources as well as in the conservation of natural resources.
26. Because he has made the principles of social and industrial justice a reality rather than an ideal something more than a mere vision of unfulfilled desire.
27. Because by taking the American people into his confidence he has deserved the confidence of the American people.
28. Because by upholding and maintaining international law when great warring nations sought to disregard it, he has performed a monumental service to civilization and humanity and to future ages.
29. Because he is a good man as well as a great President.

The republican papers are having quite a time these days telling us that President Wilson had nothing to do with keeping this country out of the war. First they admitted that he did keep us out of the war, but said that it was at the cost of our honor. Then finding that the public did not seem to be particularly concerned about this honor business, not half as much as they were about being kept out of the war, they came out with the assertion that the president had nothing to do with it, anyway. Next they will be telling us that there hasn't been any war, so how could the president have anything to do with keeping us out of it.

PHILIPP AND HIGH SALARIES

The number of salaried officials in the state government is greater today under Governor Philipp's "economy" administration than under any previous administration. Non-salaried boards have been displaced by salaried boards. The salaries of many existing officials have been raised and the limit of salaries for state employees formerly $5,000 annually, has been raised to $6,000. Two entirely new positions have been created at that salary. About these facts there can be no dispute, as no attempt has been made, nor can it be made successfully to disprove them. It is therefore necessary to go any further into detail.

KILLED BY A HORSE

Earl Dugman was killed at Plainfield Wednesday when one of his horses kicked him in the head. Mr. Dugman was an agent of the Standard Oil Co. at Plainfield. He was in the barn at his home attending his team about 12:45 o'clock Wednesday noon when the animal kicked him. The injured man was carried into the house and died almost immediately after. He was about 35 years of age. Mr. and Mrs. Dugman were married about five years ago. They have no children.

Dugman was to meet a couple of auditors of the Standard Oil Co. Wednesday morning it is stated. He postponed the interview two or three times during the forenoon and finally the auditors went to his home. Mrs. Dugman went out to the barn to call him and found the building locked. However, she succeeded in entering and discovered her husband lying on the floor. What was believed to be the mark of a horse's shoe was visible on the side of his head and the other side was crushed, apparently where he struck the floor or other hard object after being kicked. Mrs. Dugman at once gave the alarm and the two auditors carried Mr. Dugman into the house.

FLOVER ROAD

Miss Anna Walters is visiting friends in Stevens Point this week. Mrs. M. Compton of Beloit is visiting at the home of her brother, Louis Fello, this week. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fello spent Sunday at Mehan.

The boys from here who are employed at the Biron mill, and drove to and from their work, are now able to procure board in Biron. The many friends of Grandma Wenzel are sorry to hear that she is still in poor health. We all hope for her speedy recovery.

D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema
for 15 years the standard remedy for all skin diseases. A liquid used externally. Instant relief from itching. See and ask for it. Back if the first bottle does not cure you. Ask also about D. D. Soap.

J. E. DALY, DRUGGIST.

SHERRY.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Sweazy are at home again. Mrs. Sweazy, Sr. is also back from her visit at Chicago and Milwaukee.

Miss Jennie Evans spent the week end at her home in Sherry, returning to her studies at Wausau Monday morning.

Miss Hazel Parks was home from Stevens Point over Sunday and entertained Glenn Bennett, a former student friend at Lawrence College. Miss Ida Davis was a guest at the Harry Thomas home on Friday and Saturday.

Miss Grace Ellis was in Marshfield on business Friday and Saturday. She visited the hospital to see Miss Bond and found her doing very well. Beginning with next Sunday, November 5 services at the Presbyterian church will be as follows: Sabbath service at 10 o'clock; preaching service at 11 o'clock and Christian Endeavor at 7:30 p. m. We hope that every one will note these changes and that the church has not yet been installed but we hope that by next Sunday everything will be in readiness.

The Frank Parks family drove to Marshfield Saturday in their car. Horace Huron of Rock Island, Illinois, was in town last Thursday in the interest of the Modern Woodmen. He gave a most pleasing entertainment, and he is well worth listening to.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will serve dinner in the newly equipped basement of their church next Thursday, election day. Quite a number from here went to Vesper last Saturday night to the supper and fair at that place. A big crowd was present and had a good time.

RUDOLPH

Mr. and Mrs. Bat Sharkey, Mr. Mose Sharkey and daughter and Mrs. Maud Robbins departed Sunday noon for Neosho to attend the wedding on Monday of Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sharkey.

Miss Louise Spalenka of Stevens Point came down Saturday evening to visit her sisters. Mrs. Frank Schellbourn returned home Monday evening from the hospital in Grand Rapids where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. She is feeling real well and is able to be up and around.

There will be no school in our graded school from Wednesday noon until next Monday, as on Wednesday the teachers leave for Milwaukee to attend a teachers' convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Garret Kersten were tendered a farewell party at their home Tuesday evening. Over forty guests were present, and all enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Mr. and Mrs. Kersten will move onto a farm near Sigel.

Miss Mary Kujawa entertained about thirty young people at her home Monday evening at a Halloween party. Miss Dora Vadnais of Grand Rapids came up to attend the party, also Miss Louise Spalenka of Stevens Point.

Mr. and Mrs. John Joosten and daughter Dehila autoed to Grand Rapids Saturday on shopping errands.

Miss Clara Hubing of Neillsville surprised her sister, Mrs. F. S. Root by coming to see her Monday.

Miss Ruth Kinney spent Sunday and Monday in Neosho.

Miss Louise Imig has been out of school this week with an attack of tonsillitis.

Frank Rivers of Red Granite spent the past week with his brother.

Miss Dena Timmerman spent the week end in Grand Rapids.

Miss Pearl Clark who is attending school in Grand Rapids spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Ratelle was shopping in Grand Rapids Saturday. About fifty persons partook of a goose dinner Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Vadnais. After dinner card playing was indulged in, nine tables being in use. After the session it was found that Nick Ratelle and Jesse Provost had each won sixteen games. The cards were out to decide the winner and Mr. Provost was winner on the cut. Myron Reinhart was awarded the consolation prize.

Mrs. Albert Peterson of Sigel will arrive here Wednesday from Mosinee where she has spent a week with her sister, Mrs. Frank Goley.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Timmerman and John Bates of Grand Rapids, spent Sunday at the Theo. Timmerman home.

Misses Gladys Ratelle and Lillie Larson were Grand Rapids visitors Wednesday afternoon.

MARKET REPORT.

Spring Chickens12
Hens11
Roosters8
Ducks11
Geese11
Turkeys14
Beef6
Hides16
Wool1.30
Potatoes1.10
Hay, Timothy1.14
Pork, dressed1.12
Rye1.20
Oats44
Patent Flour$10.55
Butter27-30
Eggs30
Rye Flour$8.10

STOMACH AGONIES

DUE TO POISON

One Dose of Remedy Sweeps Pain Away—Hundreds of Thousands Restored.

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is, unlike any other. It sweeps the bile and poisonous catarrhal secretions from the system. Soothes and allays inflammation in the intestinal tract—the cause of serious and fatal ailments, such as gall stones, appendicitis, acute indigestion, cancer and ulcers of the stomach and intestines, yellow jaundice, constipation, gastritis, auto-intoxication, etc., etc. In every locality there are grateful people who owe their complete recovery to Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. Thousands say it has saved them from the knife. The most thorough system cleanser known. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. FREE booklet on Stomach Ailments. Address Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, Chicago. Better yet, obtain a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy from Otto's Pharmacy, or any reliable druggist. He will refund your money if it fails.

NEW ROME

Husking corn is the order of the day.

Miss Nina Christenson visited with Miss Freda Hoefst over Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. E. J. Hoefst left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. Frank Steiner of Mauston is visiting at the John Witthelm and Mrs. Hannah Mennier homes.

Mrs. Jenkins of Grand Rapids is staying at the O. J. Leu home.

Mrs. P. Wirtz had a tombstone erected Monday over the grave of her husband.

O. J. Leu has sold a team of horses to F. W. Ellsworth of Vesper. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brockman of Sunday, October 22, a daughter.

Miss Nina Christenson spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Freda Hoefst.

ALTDORF

Mrs. Frank Steiner of Mauston is visiting at the John Witthelm and Mrs. Hannah Mennier homes.

Mrs. Jenkins of Grand Rapids is staying at the O. J. Leu home.

Mrs. P. Wirtz had a tombstone erected Monday over the grave of her husband.

O. J. Leu has sold a team of horses to F. W. Ellsworth of Vesper. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brockman of Sunday, October 22, a daughter.

Miss Nina Christenson spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Freda Hoefst.

CITY POINT

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jacobson of Montana, are visiting his parents at Dewhurst. Henry has not been home for eight years.

Prof. O. G. Malde of Crammou, transacted business at the Bliss marsh last Thursday.

Galloway & Jensen received their new Ford last week.

Peter Nelson celebrated his 21st birthday Saturday evening by a little party. Games were played and refreshments served.

Cecil Hoover of Pittsville called at the I. Nelson home Saturday evening.

I. Nelson transacted business in Grand Rapids last week.

Mrs. Geo. Galloway entertained the Ladies' Aid society Saturday afternoon.

Joseph Butterfield who has made his home with Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Anderson the past month, left for Milwaukee last Thursday with his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Staffon and son and Miss LeMay were business callers at Pittsville Saturday.

Miss Idelle Knutson and Leone LeMay visited at the A. J. Amundson home recently.

Miss Stella Paulson departed for Lake Geneva after a two months vacation.

C. L. Jenson was a business visitor in Pittsville last Saturday.

A man will rear like a wounded lion on Saturday afternoon when his wife asks for $2 extra for household expenses. Then he will stay out until midnight and blow in twelve bucks and think nothing of it.

LEGAL BLANKS FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

SARATOGA

Mrs. K. F. Knutson is spending a few weeks in Wyville, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. John Wagner.

Miss Emma Manner who is attending the Stevens Point Normal, spent Sunday at the Geo. Peterson home.

Miss Hayward, Miss Kito and Miss Lance of Grand Rapids gave an excellent program in the Union church Friday evening, which was greatly enjoyed all.

C. W. Lundberg went to Arph Saturday, returning Monday.

Dorothy Lundberg left Tuesday for Chicago where she will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jacobson of Montana, are visiting his parents at Dewhurst. Henry has not been home for eight years.

Prof. O. G. Malde of Crammou, transacted business at the Bliss marsh last Thursday.

Galloway & Jensen received their new Ford last week.

Peter Nelson celebrated his 21st birthday Saturday evening by a little party. Games were played and refreshments served.

Cecil Hoover of Pittsville called at the I. Nelson home Saturday evening.

I. Nelson transacted business in Grand Rapids last week.

Mrs. Geo. Galloway entertained the Ladies' Aid society Saturday afternoon.

Joseph Butterfield who has made his home with Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Anderson the past month, left for Milwaukee last Thursday with his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Staffon and son and Miss LeMay were business callers at Pittsville Saturday.

Miss Idelle Knutson and Leone LeMay visited at the A. J. Amundson home recently.

Miss Stella Paulson departed for Lake Geneva after a two months vacation.

C. L. Jenson was a business visitor in Pittsville last Saturday.

A man will rear like a wounded lion on Saturday afternoon when his wife asks for $2 extra for household expenses. Then he will stay out until midnight and blow in twelve bucks and think nothing of it.

LEGAL BLANKS FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK IN BED MOST OF TIME

Her Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Indianapolis, Indiana.—"My health was so poor and my constitution so run down, that I could not work. I was thin, pale and weak, weighed but 109 pounds and was in bed most of the time. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and five months later I weighed 133 pounds. I do all the housework and washing for eleven and I can truthfully say Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a godsend to me for I would have been in my grave today but for it. I would tell all women suffering as I was to try your valuable remedy."—Mrs. WM. GREEN, 332 S. Addison Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

There is hardly a woman who has not found health by using this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy. If there is anything about which you would like special advice, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

The Wretchedness of Constipation

Can quickly be overcome by CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. Purely vegetable—act surely and gently on the liver. Cure Biliousness, Headache, Dizziness, Indigestion. They do their duty. SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE. Genuine must bear Signature W. L. Douglas

PLANT OF PECULIAR SHAPE

Strange Vegetable That Grows in Peru Bears Close Resemblance to a Sheep.

A curious plant growing in Peru is known to the natives as "Yareta" or "vegetable sheep." It grows abundantly among rocks at high altitudes along the Andes of Bolivia and Peru, where it constitutes a conspicuous feature in the landscape because of its peculiar manner of developing the so-called "pasture," or cushion formation. The "yareta" forms hillocks or small mounds often three feet high and sometimes several feet in diameter. Moreover, the entire mound is made up of a single plant, not of a colony of individuals, and it attains this enormous size and extreme compactness by a process of repeated branching, so that the ultimate branches are closely crowded and the outer surface is continuous.

The flowers of the "yareta" are very thin, only about one-eighth of an inch long, and are borne in small clusters near the tips of the branches. The fruit resembles a miniature caraway seed. The natives use the plant as fuel.—Popular Science Monthly.

HOW TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Itching and Irritation of the Scalp With Cuticura. Trial Free.

On retiring lightly touch spots of dandruff, itching and burning with Cuticura Ointment. Next morning shampoo thoroughly with Cuticura Soap and hot water. These super-creamy emollients do much to keep the scalp clean and healthy and to promote hair growth. Free sample each by mail with Book. Address postcard, Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Tested. "What makes you so sure the Mexicans are courageous and indifferent to pain?" "I've seen them eat chile con carne and tamales and thing of that sort."

In northern India sheep are used as beasts of burden. They carry a load of 20 pounds each.

Pimples, boils, eruptions, dry up and disappear with Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In tablets or liquid.—Adv.

Pennsylvania will plant black cherry trees in the state reserves to provide food for birds.

Japanese are said to have invented matches that will light perfectly even when wet.

Isn't a lost boy a wail from home?

Is Work Too Hard?

Many kinds of work wear out the kidneys, and kidney trouble makes any kind of work hard. It brings morning lameness, backache, headache, nervousness, rheumatism and urinary troubles. If your work is confining, strains the back, or exposes you to extreme heat or cold or damp, it's well to keep the kidneys active. Doan's Kidney Pills are reliable and safe. Thousands recommend them.

A Wisconsin Case

John Green, 121 Pine St., Green Bay, Wis., says: "My back aches constantly and I had sharp pains through my sides when I lifted or stooped. The kidneys were full of sediment and very painful in passage. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and two boxes cured me. I am glad to praise this medicine."

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N.Y.

PATENTS

WATSON E. COLEMAN, Washington, D.C. Sole U.S. Patent Office. References: See records.

APPENDICITIS

If you have been threatened or have GALLBLADDER INFLAMMATION, GAS or PAINS in the right side, write at once to Watson E. Coleman, 110 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. He will advise you.

W. N. U., MILWAUKEE, NO. 44-1716.

FIGHTING MAN IS ADMIRER

Successful Military Record Has Put Many a Candidate Into Office in the United States.

"An interesting and possibly pertinent fact to be remembered in considering national sentiment is that the successful warrior has cast his spell over us as he has over other nations since the dawn of history. The United States is a country devoted to ideals of peace, but war presidents elected by the people would have governed about half the time had not death intervened. Peace, like heaven, seems indeed a hypothetical state of bliss, laudable and longed-for in theory, but secretly feared as doubly dull to live in. In his Autobiography, General Scott sets forth the idea that men at heart adore fighting, and to prove it asserts that he had been told by Revolutionary worthies that Jefferson, brilliant and successful though he was, felt himself discredited and ill at ease in the presence of Washington, not because of Washington's calm dignity and great wisdom, but because of his military record, and that it was this 'painful sense of inferiority' that forced him into political opposition. It is an interesting theory; and it must be confessed that we find a military record a valuable asset in any walk of life. It would make curious reading could a table be compiled that would show how many candidates for office, from coroner to president, have been helped up the political ladder by bayonet and carbine.

"Perhaps the real reason is that successful military record presupposes fearlessness and ability to strike out from the shoulder, qualities that have always had their fascination for us. We have done not a little in the way of hero-worship in the United States, but we have done much more in worshipping the heroic spirit, and the admiration of which we have been lavishing has been most freely offered before the shrine of pure motive and high ideal."—Century Magazine.

Prospectors.

One of the magazines has been retelling the romantic story of the prospector. He goes forth, loaded with flour, beans and high hopes. There are a thousand chances against his finding a thing worth while. But he may, and that is what comforts him for his hardships, happen upon a bonanza and be enabled to end his days as one of the sudden rich. In the Midwest and the East we have our prospectors. They are known as hunters. Every year at this season they hasten into the woods, the mountains and the neglected waste places. They have axes, tents, long knives, cooking utensils of highly expensive design, strange costumes, field glasses, canteens and stuff in cans. Also they have what the prospector does not have to carry, namely, licenses. They may not bag a particle of game. But, again—lunatic!—they may bring down a settler's cow, a valuable friend, a guide—even a deer. As between the prospector of the western type or of that of the East, the far Westerner seems to have advantages. He doesn't have to mourn at so many funerals.—Toledo Blade.

Poetry and Magazines.

Not long ago a cheap weekly inadvertently printed some imitative verse backwards, without impairing either the sense or the movement! He who would gather an anthology of meaningless, meterless, rhymeless poetry should, however, confine his quest to the periodicals for which the newsstand receives 25 cents or more. The gods have reserved for the library tables of the cultured few the beauties of our new poetry. The reading public which enjoys the pseudo-scientific instruction and the thrilling fiction of the 10-cent magazine still labors under the childish impression that ragtime rhythm is the first essential of true poetry. A red-blooded westerner of this second class wrote to the editor of a magazine of the first class withdrawing his name from the subscription list. "Your poetry," he remarked, "is rotten. If you would only listen to reason and try to learn how to make a magazine, but you easterners know it all so—! what's the use?"—Atlantic.

Visions.

They come, sometimes, without our knowing what brings them. There is always a cause, but we are not always conscious of it. I have had some Sabbath mornings that rose upon me with healing in their wings, after a troubled week. I can scarcely tell why I was troubled, but the mind's fruit was not sweet. Yet, when the Sabbath morning came, I no sooner looked down upon the bay and across at my morning signal—the star on Trinity church, symbol of the star that hung over the spot where the child Jesus lay—than I felt that it was an elect morning. And when I went into the street, all the trees—if it was summer—were murmuring to me; all the birds were singing to me; everything was kindred to me. All my soul rejoiced; I do not know why. . . . But undoubtedly there was some cause operating which was in consonance with the laws of the mind; and when the morning came, with its propitious conjunction of circumstances, these results took place.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Aluminum in Dutch Guiana.

In the past there has been considerable excitement in Dutch Guiana, due to the discovery of large deposits of bauxite on the Surinam river, some four hours journey from Paramaribo. It is from this clay-like aluminum ferrous hydroxide that aluminum is made, and the discovery of the rich fields of clay has stirred up many prospectors. One company has taken possession of the hill deposits, but engineers hold that the clay is probably located at various depths. It can be easily transported, as several broad navigable rivers flow through this district, which will probably be developed rapidly. The government is very careful in issuing authorizations to prospect, and these rights are reserved for Netherlands, Surinamers or companies established in the Netherlands or in Surinam.

Depressing.

We have our moments of depression, as we move thoughtfully about the streets, observing the tendencies of the age, when we feel like abandoning our campaign for the restoration of pantheism and centering all our energies upon a desperate effort to influence the girls to keep on what little they still wear.—Columbus (O.) Journal.

Quantitative Analysis.

Although a half-loaf is better than no bread, one is traditionally opposed to paying a who's litney for it.

Making the Farm House Comfortable in Winter

There are several different styles of house-heating plants on the market, the cheapness and convenience of which make it unnecessary for farm houses to be without a heating system which means comfort for the household

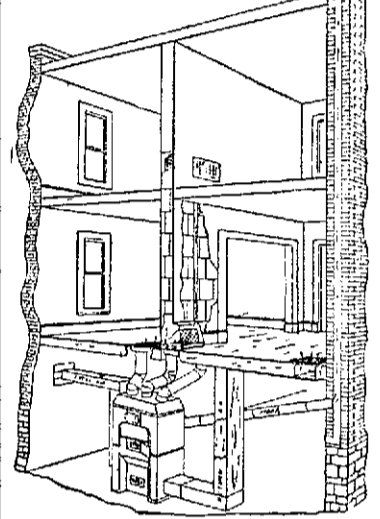

By J. L. Mowry
University of Minnesota

Y EARS of progress have developed at least six styles of house-heating installations, aside from the old-fashioned first method, the fireplace, where from 30 to 90 per cent of the heat generated went up the chimney—where your shins roasted while your back froze.

Real progress was made when the grate fire was moved to the center of the room and increased in this case, from 200 per cent. At the same time the size of the flue was reduced 75 per cent, and the large loss of heat characteristic of the open-grate fire was eliminated.

Another step was made when the stove was moved to the cellar, and a jacket placed around it which opened through the floor to the room above.

With the neck of this jacket divided into two or more parts a hot-air furnace is produced which will heat two or more rooms, one for each pipe. Later improvements gave us the hot-water and steam systems; and these now find some competition in the vapor system.

Hot-Air Furnace.

A combination of hot air with either hot water, steam or vapor, known as a combination system, is now often used. The outside of a stove becomes hot from the fire within which heats the air in contact with it. This air in turn becomes lighter, rises, and is replaced by cold air from below and at the sides. This displacement of warm air by cold air continues, and produces currents. The room can be made comfortable with a stove when it is not too cold outside. If very cold outside, say ten degrees below, the current of air will become so cold while passing down the cold walls that the stove cannot heat the room comfortably.

A sheet iron jacket, with neither top nor bottom, set up from the floor, will increase the rapidity of air circulation, since only the air within the jacket is heated. This air gets hotter and rises faster, thus making a more rapid circulation and a more effective heat.

A Furnace.

A stove with a jacket, placed in the cellar, becomes a furnace. A brick wall may be substituted for the steel jacket. A return flue through the floor some distance from the furnace, makes the system complete. Such a scheme is used for many churches, schools and assembly rooms, where the basement can be used as a furnace room.

When this furnace is set a little lower in the ground and the neck divided into several small pipes, it may be used to heat several rooms. Heat is conducted to the second-floor rooms by rectangular pipes set in the walls between the studs. Over each opening in the floor or walls is a register of perforated cast iron.

In each pipe leading from a furnace is a damper, so that any pipe may be closed at will. There is a return air duct, to be used when the weather is too cold to allow the heated and used air to pass out of the house. The rooms are full of air at all times, and more air cannot be forced into them by the small pressure exerted by the warm air in the pipes below. In order to get this warm air into the rooms a way must be provided for the cold air to get out. This is done by means of a return air duct, which may open into a chimney and allow the air to pass out; or under the furnace and permit the air to be Weather Changes in Montana.

A reader in Belknap, Mont., sends us a letter concerning the sudden weather changes in that country, which, in view of the phenomenally wet season, will interest readers elsewhere. "In this valley of Clark's park on the Columbia on Saturday, June 17, it was 98 degrees on our porch. Monday following it began to blow up with clouds from the northwest and a cold wave. On Monday night and Tuesday it turned to snow and snowed as hard as I ever saw it in the winter

Coin-Worked Electric Fans.

There is now on the market an electric fan which can be operated only by placing a coin in its slot, whereupon it operates for a certain length of time, according to the amount of current which the owner desires to supply for the money paid, says the Scientific American Magazine. When a coin is dropped into the slot a clock mechanism is wound up in the base of the fan. For a nickel, for instance, the fan may operate one hour, either constantly or intermittently, according to the wishes of the user. Several coins can be dropped in at one time, insuring several hours' use of the fan.

He Thought It Over.

Mr. Early was an elderly bachelor. He had grown weary of living alone and determined to marry. For a long time he had known the widow Kimball, and he asked her to be his wife. The question was a complete surprise to her, and her reply was a confused "No."

After reflecting a few days, however,

Hot Water.

All pipes, in cellar and in walls, should be covered with asbestos paper to protect the pipes and to save heat. A damper in every pipe and also in the smoke flue will aid materially in controlling and distributing heat. Chimney flues should be 10 to 16 inches or larger.

A hot-water system is only a slight elaboration of the principle. Enlarge the base to inclose the fire, and reduce the size of the tube or pipe between the fire and the rooms to be heated, and make that part of the circuit in the rooms large, to give enough radiating surface. The main body, cast in sections for convenience in handling, is often made quite irregular, in order to expose more surface to the fire. Water is conducted through a large pipe, from which smaller pipes connect with one end of the radiator in each room. The other end of the radiator is connected to a large return pipe, which enters the heater at the grate level. This allows for a more rapid circulation than if a single pipe were used for each radiator.

Allowance must be made for the expansion of the water. This is done by placing an open tank in the attic, or in a second-floor room above the top of the highest radiator, and connecting with the system at some convenient point. The system may be filled through this tank if there is no pressure system at hand.

This is called the open-tank hot-water system. If the tank were capped tight, and little or no water reached the tank, there would be a quantity of air confined which would be compressed, because the water in the heater, pipes and radiators expands when heated. This is the closed tank or semi-closed system. The advantage is a higher temperature of the water before the boiling point is reached. The higher temperature will allow of smaller pipes and smaller radiators, and the practice is to install a smaller heater also. The cost of installation will consequently be less.

Objections to this system are: The need of safety devices, which may fail, and harder firing, which requires more fuel.

The vapor or vacuum system is a comparatively recent development. It is the opposite in principle of the closed-tank hot-water system as the air is exhausted from the pipes and radiators and water stands in the Vapor or Vacuum System.

The cost of a hot-water system for a six-room house will be about $275 or $300. It will cost about two-thirds more than hot air, but hot-air outfits will last from three to six times as long, with no expense or upkeep.

The cost of a hot-water system will be about $35 or $50 for radiators, $130 for the heater, and about $65 for installation. Any farmer who is at all handy as a mechanic can do the work, leaving $210 for the plant, compared with $175 for hot air.

A hot-air system may give reasonably satisfactory results in small buildings, but for large houses and under most conditions either steam or hot water is unhesitatingly recommended. The higher cost is more than offset, in a few years, by a saving of fuel and better results.

Nothing has been said about steam systems. Little need be said. They are like water systems in makeup, except that the expansion tank is closed. There is no water in the radiators, only in the heater. There is no circulation until the water in the boiler is boiling, and there is pressure in the pipes and radiators. This pressure, while not intended to be heavy, may become so if not watched carefully. This is impossible in the average home. In the mill, factory, or large flat building, there is reason for keeping a man on duty constantly, but not so in the home.

By the process of elimination, it can safely be claimed that steam is not safe, and hot air is not satisfactory to any degree; while hot water, not perfect because it costs too much, is the best system of the three for heating a home.

Combination System.

A combination system—a combination of hot water and hot air—is the ideal system. However, instead of using a standard hot-air furnace, with a coil in the firebox for heating the water (similar to that used in a kitchen range), it is much better to place a large radiator or coil of common pipe in a box in the cellar, which is open to the room above and to the outside air. This system may be installed at an additional cost of $25, and provides a fresh-air supply at all times. It is claimed, and with much reason, that ventilation is not necessary in the average house; that the air in the rooms is changed often enough to meet all requirements, except when an unusual number of people are present. It is true that, with an average winter wind blowing at ten miles per hour, the air in the rooms will change about every half hour. This is certainly all that is required for the average family. This rate of change can be increased 50 per cent by opening a door to the see-

Hot-Water System.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

Hot-Water System.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

Hot-Water System.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

Hot-Water System.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

Hot-Water System.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

Choosing Fuel.

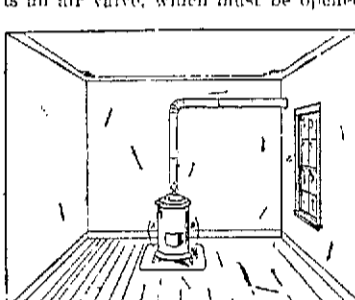

For hard coal a deep firebox gives best results. Hard coal burns soft and requires less air than soft coal or wood, and the deep fire serves as a check on the air. Soft coal and wood burn best in a thin layer over a larger surface, and of course will require more frequent firing. All-round steam and hot-water boilers are made for hard coal. A sectional boiler may be lengthened by adding sections and the size of the firebox be thereby increased.

In round hot-water boilers, two styles are offered; one with a flat-top firebox, and one with water arms. The one with the flat top is much more easily cleaned than the one having water arms, and the heating coil is much more easily installed. The latter style is intended to give more heating surface in the firebox, but this feature is more than offset by the advantages mentioned.

In placing any of these heaters the clean-out doors should not be backed up against a chimney or partition.

Radiators.

The radiators are of cast or sheet iron, made up in sections, which may be placed together to give the required amount of radiating surface. The standard size is 38 inches high, three-column, and contains 5 square feet of radiating surface. A four-column 38-inch radiator contains 8 square feet of radiating surface. They sell for 18 to 20 cents a square foot. Each radiator has a valve at one end to cut off the water. In this valve is a pinhole, through which circulation will continue and thus prevent freezing when the radiator is cut off. At the top of each radiator, at one end, is an air valve, which must be opened while filling the system, in order to let the air out, else the water cannot get in. When water flows from the valve it may be closed. This valve should be opened from time to time after filling the system, to let out air that has separated from the water and gathered in the top of the radiator. The small chamber of air will very effectively check the circulation through the radiator and it will not heat.

Circulation of Air Produced by a Stove.

The Arrows Indicate the Direction of the Air Currents.

Cost.

The cost of a hot-water system for a six-room house will be about $275 or $300. It will cost about two-thirds more than hot air, but hot-air outfits will last from three to six times as long, with no expense or upkeep.

The cost of a hot-water system will be about $35 or $50 for radiators, $130 for the heater, and about $65 for installation. Any farmer who is at all handy as a mechanic can do the work, leaving $210 for the plant, compared with $175 for hot air.

A hot-air system may give reasonably satisfactory results in small buildings, but for large houses and under most conditions either steam or hot water is unhesitatingly recommended. The higher cost is more than offset, in a few years, by a saving of fuel and better results.

Nothing has been said about steam systems. Little need be said. They are like water systems in makeup, except that the expansion tank is closed. There is no water in the radiators, only in the heater. There is no circulation until the water in the boiler is boiling, and there is pressure in the pipes and radiators. This pressure, while not intended to be heavy, may become so if not watched carefully. This is impossible in the average home. In the mill, factory, or large flat building, there is reason for keeping a man on duty constantly, but not so in the home.

By the process of elimination, it can safely be claimed that steam is not safe, and hot air is not satisfactory to any degree; while hot water, not perfect because it costs too much, is the best system of the three for heating a home.

Combination System.

A combination system—a combination of hot water and hot air—is the ideal system. However, instead of using a standard hot-air furnace, with a coil in the firebox for heating the water (similar to that used in a kitchen range), it is much better to place a large radiator or coil of common pipe in a box in the cellar, which is open to the room above and to the outside air. This system may be installed at an additional cost of $25, and provides a fresh-air supply at all times. It is claimed, and with much reason, that ventilation is not necessary in the average house; that the air in the rooms is changed often enough to meet all requirements, except when an unusual number of people are present. It is true that, with an average winter wind blowing at ten miles per hour, the air in the rooms will change about every half hour. This is certainly all that is required for the average family. This rate of change can be increased 50 per cent by opening a door to the see-

Hot-Water System.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

Hot-Water System.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

Hot-Water System.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

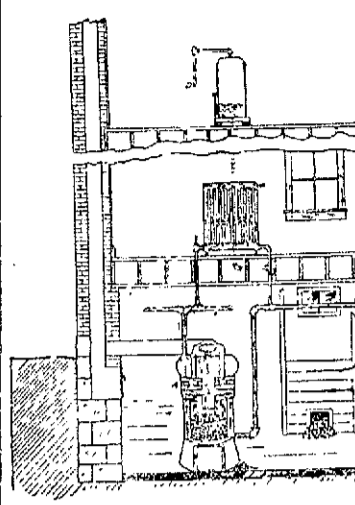

Hot-Water System.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

Hot-Water System.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

Hot-Water System.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct. A fireplace is an ideal return air duct.

ing and, in order to operate this ventilation scheme in mild or still weather, it will be found necessary to have a return air duct. A

TO ERADICATE BEDBUGS
Practical Information on Dealing with this Household Pest

Those who are troubled by bedbugs will find practical information as to how to deal effectively with these pests in "Bedbugs," recently published by the department. In this bulletin C. L. Marlett, of the Bureau of Entomology, makes clear the habits of these insects which have a bearing on their eradication, and suggests a number of simple household measures, as well as more radical methods of getting rid of them. The author calls attention especially to the fact that these insects will migrate from an unoccupied to an inhabited house and points out that the fact that they ordinarily hide in the daytime makes it necessary to apply the insecticide in cracks in walls and floor and crevices under wall paper, where the insects ordinarily are concealed and by their eggs. Information as to the use of kerosene oil is also given, and it is pointed out that this oil should be especially useful to those intending to move into houses long unoccupied.

Of the simpler remedies the entomologist says that benzene, kerosene or other lighter petroleum oils introduced into crevices by means of a brush or syringe are perhaps the most efficient. The bulletin also gives directions for fumigation with sulphur or other chemicals, which will be found convenient and effective in cases of general infestation.

Those who have been bitten will find applications of peroxide of hydrogen useful in allaying irritation. Tincture of iodine, in its ordinary or double strength, is also a good counter-irritant for use in cases of bites, mosquitoes, bedbugs or other insect bites. Iodine, however, should be used with caution on the tender skin of small children and on those who are affected with or disposed to eczematous disorders.

The bulletin will be supplied free by the department as long as the supply lasts.

RUDOLPH

(Too late for last week.)
Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Bernard and two children called at the home of Mrs. Bernard's father last Wednesday afternoon. Wilbur had brought a load of furniture up for Mark Johnson and they took the opportunity to visit for a few hours.

Edwin Carder, who has spent the past couple of years with his father-in-law, Anton Dutil, has now moved onto a farm near the Warren cheese factory in the town of Carson.

The Star Band of Rudolph gave a dance last Thursday evening, which was very well attended and a fine time reported.

Jack Johnson has sold his farm to parties from DePere. Mr. Johnson will move his family to Grand Rapids for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clark spent last week in Fond du Lac.

Nick Ratelle sold another lot 50x182 feet to R. A. Wagers the past week, which makes Mr. Wager's property 182x182 feet.

Edw. Phillips of Grand Rapids was doing some surveying here the past week. It seems that all surveyors make out that our male road is not properly laid out, and therefore makes a difference to the property owners.

The 8th, 9th and 10th grades of the consolidated school met at the school house on last Wednesday evening and formed a reading circle which will meet every Wednesday evening hereafter. Arthur Piltz was elected president and Miss Gladys Hatfield secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Grotteau of Avon, South Dakota arrived this week and will live on the Valen farm.

George W. Baker and sons Royal and Vilas of Grand Rapids were here Sunday rabbit hunting with Lloyd Ratelle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed DeBach and four children of Stevens Point arrived last Saturday noon. Mr. DeBach returned the same afternoon. Mrs. DeBach and children are spending the week at the Peter Akey home. They will shortly move to Fond du Lac.

Mr. Jones of Park Falls spent the latter part of last week with his daughter, Mrs. R. A. Wagers.

Henry Piltz of Mukwonago is visiting relatives here.

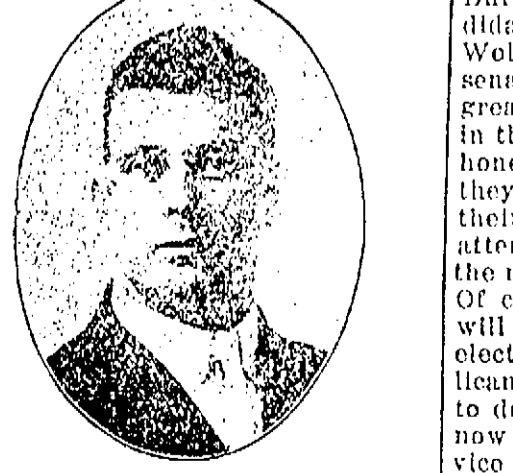

JOSEPH WHEIR, Jr.

Candidate for County Treasurer on the Democrat Ticket

Mr. Wheir was born in Wood county and has been a resident of this city practically all his life. He is one of the business men of Grand Rapids and has held the office of City Treasurer, and is standing on his record.

He will appreciate your vote on election day, November 7th.

HENRY EBBE

For Register of Deeds

In the town where he lived for more than thirty (30) years there is no man better known or appreciated for his social and business qualities than Henry Ebbe. Born and raised on a farm in the town of Lincoln, he has always been found a leader in the ranks of progressive citizenship. He has served his town as town chairman and his record is an open book. Mr. Ebbe has been very judicious in his efforts to discharge his duties efficiently and added to this is a cheerful and courteous manner, a sound business training and a man who is elected will run the office of Register of Deeds for the benefit of the people of the county.

THE CHANGE OF TIME

Attorney General W. C. Owen, in his campaign speeches for re-election is urging the republicans of Wisconsin to vote for Gov. Philipp for re-election.

Mr. Owen either has a poor memory or he is a hypocrite and is trying to delude the voters of the state, or he is trying to have the voters support Mr. Philipp to be assured of his own re-election.

It looks bad, on the face of it, after the utterances made by the attorney general during the last primary campaign.

Speaking at Black River Falls during the recent primary, Mr. Owen said: "Judge Philipp stands before the people of the state as a false prophet, and one whose political word has gone to PROTEST."

This is a far cry from the words uttered by Mr. Owen in 1904 to the voters to "save" the state from democracy by voting for the present governor. But there is nothing strange in this attempt to hoodwink the trusting voters of Wisconsin. The trick is using the same line of endeavor and so are the other republican candidates and speakers to capture to obtain, by any means possible, the votes of the people. Hypocrisy is the keynote of the addresses made by Mr. Philipp and Mr. Owen, and if the voter chooses to vote for such men to put them back in office rather than for the candidates on the democratic ticket, it is the lookout of the voter.

In another address last February in speaking of the appointment by Mr. Philipp, of M. P. Rosenberry to the Supreme Court, Mr. Owen said: "He (Gov. Philipp) used the power of appointment, not in the interest of, nor to represent the sentiment of the citizens of the state, but to promote his individual political fortunes. This appointment was conceived in secret and given birth in the dead of night. The people awoke in the morning to find that over night a Justice of the Supreme Court had resigned and his successor had been appointed. This people were ignorant."

Of course they were ignorant. Mr. Owen never spoke truer words in his life, even if now he asks the voters to forget those words and to vote for Mr. Philipp to "save" the state from four Williams, the democratic candidate for governor, and the other democratic candidates.

But there are voters in Wisconsin who have awakened to the deceit and hypocrisy not only of Mr. Philipp but also to that of the attorney general.

Sometimes it takes a long time before the people wake up—before their eyes are opened to the fact that they are being "smoothed over" with the sugar of deception and treachery—that they are used as the cat's paw to pull the chestnuts out of the fire so that Mr. Philipp and his staunch adherents, the railroads and corporations, can eat them. But the cat's paw has claws, as November 7, election day, will prove, and it won't be the democratic party that will be scratched.

Mr. Owen said further: "One would naturally suppose that the great question of insurance regulation would not be the leading candidate of a legislature pretending the utmost solicitude for the overburdened and tax-ridden citizenship of this state. A bill was introduced into the legislature providing for the regulation of the insurance rate charged in this state, and that bill was defeated and voted down by the very men who loudly protested their sympathetic solicitude and interest in the welfare of the citizens of this state."

Talk about these men reducing the tax burdens of this state. Talk about their great desires to relieve those whom they claim are already overburdened. The trouble was that it was not the kind of relief that this administration believes in. This was relief for the people of the state of Wisconsin, but at the expense of certain special interests which are always able to command the sympathy and the ear of those men.

Is this sufficient for the voter or must he be struck with a club to wake him up?

These are the truthful utterances of Attorney General W. C. Owen who now asks that the voters of Wisconsin to have faith in him and Philipp, and to re-elect them both so that the great state of Wisconsin may be "saved" from a democratic administration.

Mr. Owen went on further to state "that the same men who opposed the bill to regulate and reduce rates of fire insurance companies, voted to give the Northwestern Mutual Fire Insurance Company of a portion of its taxes, voted to give banks the choice of being taxed in two methods, whichever would be cheaper to the bank; voted to reduce the corporation tax so that he could go to the state to permit young boys to work in stone quarries; voted to emasculate the Corrupt Practices act of this state; voted to hamstring the state tax commission and to render nugatory the machinery for the collection of the income tax."

Concluding his arraignment of Philipp and his administration, Mr. Owen said: "By their works ye shall know them, and by their attitude of these various matters of legislation it shall be judged whether the people of the state of Wisconsin want them to dominate and control governmental affairs."

If these facts were true last February they certainly must be true in November. Now what is the voter going to do about it? Does he want Philipp and his cohorts at Madison to dominate and control governmental affairs?

No wonder Mr. Philipp, at the time, refused to have anything to do with Mr. Owen. The question is, will Mr. Philipp have anything to do with Mr. Owen now? Of course he will, for is not the republican party in need of harmony at this time? But Williams, the democratic candidate for governor, and William F. Wolfe, candidate for United States senator, are making a campaign, the greatest and most efficient ever made in the state. They are speaking with honesty, manliness and sincerity and they are winning over the voters to their cause. Their campaign is being attended with so much success that the republicans have become alarmed. Of course Messrs. Philipp and Owen will shake hands—until after the election, at least—because the republican bosses have sent out the word to do so. Of course Mr. Owen, from now on, will eulogize Mr. Philipp and vice versa. Mr. Philipp may eulogize Mr. Owen. It makes no difference to them whether they are sincere to each other so long as they can cajole the voter and get his vote. If they are elected, Mr. Owen may experience another quail of conscience and tell the truth once more about Mr. Philipp. And the truth about Mr. Philipp.

It is a long time that has no turn and it is long that Mr. Philipp has crossed the Rubicon and has burned his bridges behind him.

W. Melvin Ruckle, M. D.
Practice Limited To
EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT
Glasses fitted correctly. Ear and eye surgery, Riverview Hospital. Office in Wood County Bank Building. Telephone No. 254.

ELECTION NOTICE

Office of County Clerk.
September 25th, 1916.
To the Electors of Wood County:
NOTICE is hereby given that a General Election is to be held in the several towns, wards, villages and election precincts in the county of Wood, on the 7th day of November, 1916, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, together with the question submitted to a vote, in the sample ballot below.

Information to Voters.
The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters:

(a) A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have endorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

(b) If a voter wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party he shall make a cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the party column, or he may vote for the candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the name of each candidate for elector whom he wished to vote. If a voter some of the candidates of the party have been elected or a name shall be written in or a cross mark be placed in the square at the right of the name or names of candidates in another column. If the voter does not wish to vote for all the candidates nominated by one party, he shall mark his ballot by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote, or by inserting or writing in the name of the candidate.

(c) A voter may vote for an entire group of candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the party column, or he may vote for the candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the name of each candidate for elector whom he wished to vote. If a voter does not wish to vote for any one or more candidates for presidential electors in the group, he may erase the name of such candidate or candidates and may write in the name or names of the person, or persons for whom he desires to vote, and the cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) at the head of the party column shall count as a vote for each of the candidates in such column. If a voter does not wish to vote for any candidates for president or vice president or for any presidential electors, whose names appear upon the ballot, he may insert or write in the names of the candidates for president and vice president, and presidential electors to a number equal to the number of electors to be elected, in the appropriate spaces in the blank column at the right of the ballot.

(d) A voter may vote upon a question submitted to a vote of the people by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the answer which he intends to give.

(e) The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.

(f) After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed endorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen.

Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.

(g) A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.

(h) The following is a facsimile of the official ballot:

Official Presidential Ballot

If you desire to vote for all of the presidential electors of one party, make a cross (X) or other mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the party column. If you desire to vote for particular persons without regard to party, mark in the square after the name of the elector for whom you desire to vote, or write any name that you wish to vote for in the proper place.

DEMOCRAT	PROHIBITION	REPUBLICAN	SOCIAL DEMOCRAT	SOCIAL LABOR	INDEPENDENT
<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
For President— WOODROW WILSON	For President— J. FRANK HANLY	For President— CHARLES E. HUGHES	For President— ALLAN BENSON	For President—	For President—
For Vice President— THOMAS R. MARSHALL	For Vice President— IRA LANDRITH	For Vice President— CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS	For Vice President— GEORGE KIRKPATRICK	For Vice President—	For Vice President—
Electors for President and Vice-President.	Electors for President and Vice-President.	Electors for President and Vice-President.	Electors for President and Vice-President.	Electors for President and Vice-President.	Electors for President and Vice-President.
JUDGE JOHN C. KAREL.....	ANTHONY J. BENJAMIN.....	L. K. BAKER.....	OSCAR AMERINGER.....
JUDGE J. E. DODGE.....	FRANK R. DERRICK.....	JOHN S. MEDARY.....	EDWARD SIEGLER.....
HENRY MOEHLLENPAH.....	CHAS. SCHLAER.....	WILLIAM W. STORMS.....	JAMES VINT.....
CHAS. H. WEISSE.....	JASPER DEXTER.....	WALTER J. KOHLER.....	ED. D. DEUSS.....
JUDGE ALDRO JENKS.....	HERBERT S. SIGGELKO.....	FRANK SMITH.....	JOHN CHILSON.....
W. J. KERSHAW.....	LOUIS M. SAGEN.....	JAMES T. DROUGHT.....	A. J. MELMS.....
VINCENT J. SCHOENECKER.....	WM. R. NETHERCUT.....	FRED C. PRITZLAFF.....	JOHN DOERFLER, SR.....
OTTO C. WERNECKE.....	ALMON F. COLLINS.....	H. D. LAUSON.....	ROBERT SCHUTTLER.....
J. H. CERNAHAN.....	OLIVER NEEDHAM.....	O. G. MUNSON.....	D. V. LAWELL.....
L. J. PASTERNECKI.....	PLINY F. MEYERS.....	L. M. ALEXANDER.....	CURTIS A. BOORMAN.....
ANDREW R. McDONALD.....	CHARLES E. BADGER.....	G. A. WALTER, JR.....	G. M. SCHMITZ.....
JOHN R. MATTHEWS.....	WALDEMAR AGER.....	O. K. HAWLEY.....	CHARLES H. OLSON.....
J. A. HOBE.....	DAVID W. EMERSON.....	A. H. STANGE.....	OTTO F. EICK.....

OFFICIAL BALLOT

If you desire to vote an entire party ticket for state, congressional, legislative and county offices make a cross (X) or other mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the ballot. If you desire to vote for particular persons without regard to party, mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom you desire to vote if it be there, or write any name that you wish to vote for, in the proper place.

DEMOCRAT	PROHIBITION	REPUBLICAN	SOCIAL DEMOCRAT	SOCIAL LABOR	INDEPENDENT
<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Governor—	Governor—	Governor—	Governor—	Governor—	Governor—
BURT WILLIAMS.....	GEORGE McKERROW.....	EMANUEL L. PHILIPP.....	RAE WEAVER.....
Lieutenant Governor—	Lieutenant Governor—	Lieutenant Governor—	Lieutenant Governor—	Lieutenant Governor—	Lieutenant Governor—
JOHN CUDAHY.....	CHARLES H. MOTT.....	EDWARD F. DITHMAR.....	ELLIS B. HARRIS.....
Secretary of State—	Secretary of State—	Secretary of State—	Secretary of State—	Secretary of State—	Secretary of State—
EDWIN C. JONES.....	WILL E. MACK.....	MERLIN HULL.....	GEORGE HAMPEL.....
State Treasurer—	State Treasurer—	State Treasurer—	State Treasurer—	State Treasurer—	State Treasurer—
JOHN G. REUTEMAN.....	JOHN A. BERG.....	HENRY JOHNSON.....	CLARENCE A. SACKETT.....
Attorney-General—	Attorney-General—	Attorney-General—	Attorney-General—	Attorney-General—	Attorney-General—
THOMAS H. RYAN.....	BYRON E. VAN KEUREN.....	WALTER C. OWEN.....	GERRIT T. THORN.....
United States Senator—	United States Senator—	United States Senator—	United States Senator—	United States Senator—	United States Senator—
WM. F. WOLFE.....	CHARLES L. HILL.....	ROBERT M. LaFOLLETTE.....	RICHARD ELSNER.....
Member of Congress—	Member of Congress—	Member of Congress—	Member of Congress—	Member of Congress—	Member of Congress—
JOHN KALMES.....		EDWARD E. BROWNE.....	CHARLES KIESNER.....
State Senator—	State Senator—	State Senator—	State Senator—	State Senator—	State Senator—
CARL C. HOEHNE.....		ISAAC P. WITTER.....
Member of Assembly—	Member of Assembly—	Member of Assembly—	Member of Assembly—	Member of Assembly—	Member of Assembly—
LAMBERT MICHAELS.....		BYRON WHITTINGHAM.....
County Clerk—	County Clerk—	County Clerk—	County Clerk—	County Clerk—	County Clerk—
WM. T. NOBLES.....		SAM CHURCH.....
County Treasurer—	County Treasurer—	County Treasurer—	County Treasurer—	County Treasurer—	County Treasurer—
JOSEPH P. WHEIR.....		CLAUS JOHNSON.....
Sheriff—	Sheriff—	Sheriff—	Sheriff—	Sheriff—	Sheriff—
FRED BEELL.....		JOHN NORMINGTON.....
Coroner—	Coroner—	Coroner—	Coroner—	Coroner—	Coroner—
		HERMAN H. HELKE.....
Clerk of the Circuit Court—	Clerk of the Circuit Court—	Clerk of the Circuit Court—	Clerk of the Circuit Court—	Clerk of the Circuit Court—	Clerk of the Circuit Court—
CHARLES KRASKE.....		A. B. BEVER.....
District Attorney—	District Attorney—	District Attorney—	District Attorney—	District Attorney—	District Attorney—
C. B. EDWARDS.....		JOHN ROBERTS.....
Register of Deeds—	Register of Deeds—	Register of Deeds—	Register of Deeds—	Register of Deeds—	Register of Deeds—
JOHN HOFFMAN.....		HENRY EBBE.....
Surveyor—	Surveyor—	Surveyor—	Surveyor—	Surveyor—	Surveyor—
		JOHN SEVERNS.....

WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK

IN BED MOST OF TIME

Her Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Indianapolis, Indiana.—"My health was so poor and my constitution so run down that I could not work. I was thin, pale and weak, weighed but 109 pounds and was in bed most of the time. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and five months later I weighed 133 pounds. I do all the housework and washing for eleven and I can truthfully say Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a godsend to me for I would have been in my grave today but for it. I would tell all women suffering as I was to try your valuable remedy."—Mrs. Wm. Green, 332 S. Addison Street, Indianapolis, Indiana. There is hardly a neighborhood in this country, wherein some woman has not found health by using this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy.

The Wretchedness of Constipation

Can quickly be overcome by CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Purely vegetable—entirely on the liver. Cure biliousness, indigestion, headache, dizziness, nervousness, and all the troubles of the bowels. They do their duty. SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE. Genuine must bear Signature.

PLANT OF PECULIAR SHAPE

Strange Vegetable That Grows in Peru bears Close Resemblance to a Sheep.

A curious plant growing in Peru is known to the natives as "Yareta" or "vegetable sheep." It grows abundantly among rocks at high altitudes along the Andes of Bolivia and Peru, where it constitutes a conspicuous feature in the landscape because of its peculiar manner of developing the so-called "hoof," or cushion formation.

The "Yareta" forms hillocks or small mounds often three feet high and sometimes several feet in diameter. Moreover, the entire mound is made up of a single plant, not of a colony of individuals, and it attains this enormous size and extreme compactness by a process of repeated branching, so that the ultimate branches are closely crowded and the outer surface is continuous.

The flowers of the "Yareta" are very thin, only about one-fourth of an inch long and are borne in small clusters near the tips of the branches. The fruit resembles a miniature caraway seed. The natives use the plant as fuel.—Popular Science Monthly.

HOW TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Itching and Irritation of the Scalp With Cuticura. Trial Free.

On retiring lightly touch spots of dandruff itching and burning with Cuticura Ointment. Next morning shampoo thoroughly with Cuticura Soap and hot water. These super-creamy emollients do much to keep the scalp clean and healthy and to promote hair growth.

Free sample each by mail with Book. Address postcard, Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Tested. "What makes you so sure the Mexicans are courageous and indifferently to pain?" "I've seen them eat little corn cakes and tamales and thing of that sort."

In northern India sheep are used as beasts of burden. They carry a load of 20 pounds each.

Purple, hails, carabasses, dry up and disappear with Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In tablets or liquid.—Adv.

Pennsylvania will plant black cherry trees in the state reserves to provide food for birds.

Japanese are said to have invented matches that will light perfectly even when wet.

Isn't a lost boy a wail from home?

Is Work Too Hard?

Many kinds of work wear out the kidneys, and kidney trouble makes any kind of work hard. It brings morning lassitude, backache, headache, nervousness, rheumatism and urinary troubles. If your work is confining, strains the back, or exposes you to extreme heat or cold or damp, it's well to keep the kidneys active. Doan's Kidney Pills are reliable and safe. Thousands recommend them.

A Wisconsin Case

John Gleason, 121 Pine Street, Green Bay, Wis., says: "My back aches constantly and I had sharp pains through my sides when I lifted or stooped. The kidney secretions were full of sediment and very painful in passing. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and two boxes cured me. I am glad to state this medicine."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 50c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N.Y.

PATENTS
"ROUGH ON RATS" Ends Rats, Mice, Bugs, etc. Write for full particulars. FREE LITERATURE. 217 N. 2nd St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

APPENDICITIS
If you have been threatened or have GALLBLADDER trouble, write for full particulars. FREE LITERATURE. 217 N. 2nd St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

W. N. U., MILWAUKEE, MO. 44-1416.

FIGHTING MAN IS ADMIRER

Successful Military Record Has Put Many a Candidate Into Office in the United States.

"An interesting and possibly pertinent fact to be remembered in considering national sentiment is that the successful warrior has cast his spell over us as he has over other nations since the dawn of history. The United States is a country devoted to the idea of peace, but war presidents elected by the people would have governed about half the time had not death intervened. Peace, like heaven, seems indeed a hypothetical state of bliss, laudable and longed-for in theory, but secretly feared as deadly dull to live in. In his autobiography, General Scott sets forth the idea that men at heart adore fighting, and to prove it asserts that he had been told by Revolutionary war veterans that Jefferson, brilliant and successful though he was, felt himself discredited and ill at ease in the presence of Washington, not because of Washington's calm dignity and great wisdom, but because of his military record, and that it was this 'palpable sense of inferiority' that forced him into political opposition. It is an interesting theory; and it must be confessed that a hint of a military record is a valuable asset in any walk of life. It would make curious reading could a table be compiled that would show how many candidates for office, from corner to president, have been helped up the political ladder by buy-out and carbine.

"Perhaps the real reason is that successful military record presupposes aggressiveness and ability to strike on the shoulder, qualities that have always had their fascination for us. We have been a nation of warriors, and we have done much more in worshipping the heroic spirit, and the admiration of which we have been lavish has been most freely offered before the shrine of pure motive and high ideal."—Century Magazine.

Prospectors. One of the magazines has been retelling the romantic story of the prospector. He goes forth, loaded with tools, beans and high hopes. There are a thousand chances against his finding a thing worth while. But he finds, and that is what comforts him for his hardships, happen upon a bonanza and be entitled to end his days as one of the sudden rich.

In the Midwest and the East we have our prospectors. They are known as deer hunters. Every year at this season they hasten into the woods, the mountains and the neglected waste places. They have guns, tents, long knives, cooking utensils of highly expensive design, strange costumes, field glasses, rough medicine and stuff in general. Also they have what the prospector does not have to carry, namely, license. They may not bag a particle of game. But, again—burrab! they may bring down a settler's cow, a valuable friend, a guide—even a deer.

As between a prospector of the western type or of that of the East, the far Westerner seems to have advantages. He doesn't have to mourn at so many funerals.—Toledo Blade.

Poetry and Magazines. Not long ago a cheap weekly inadvertently printed some hoist verse backwards, without impairing either the sense or the movement! He who would gather an anthology of meaningless, meterless, rhymeless poetry should, however, confine his quest to the periodicals for which the poet receives 25 cents or more. The gods have reserved for the library tables of the cultured few the beauties of our new poetry. The reading public which enjoys the pseudo-scientific instruction and the thrilling fiction of the 10-cent magazine still labors under the childish impression that ragtime rhythm is the first essential of true poetry. A red-blooded westerner of this second class wrote to the editor of a magazine that first class withdrawing his name from the subscription list. "Your poetry," he remarked, "is rotten. If you would only listen to reason and try to learn how to make a magazine, but you easterners know it all so—! what's the use?"—Atlantic.

Visions. They come, sometimes, without our knowing what brings them. There is always a cause, but we are not always conscious of it. I have had some Sabbath mornings that rose upon me with healing in their wings, after a troubled week. I can scarcely tell why I was troubled, but the midst of the Sabbath morning came, I no longer looked down upon the bay and across the morning signal, but the star that hung over the spot where the child Jesus lay—then I felt that it was an elect morning. And when I went into the street, all the trees—if it was summer—were murmuring to me; all the birds were singing to me; everything was kindred to me. All my soul rejoiced; I do not know why. But undoubtedly there was some cause which was in consonance with the laws of the mind; and when the morning came, with its propitious conjunction of circumstances, these results took place.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Aluminum in Dutch Guiana. In the past there has been considerable excitement in Dutch Guiana, due to the discovery of large deposits of bauxite on the Surinam river, some four hours journey from Paramaribo. It is from this clay-like aluminum ore that aluminum is made, and the discovery of the rich fields of clay has stirred up many prospectors.

One company has taken possession of the hill deposits, but engineers hold that the clay is probably located at the foot of the hill, and can be easily transported, as several broad, navigable rivers run near this district, which will probably be developed rapidly. The government is very careful in issuing authorizations to prospect, and these rights are reserved for Netherlands, Surinamers or companies established in the Netherlands or in Surinam.

Depressing. We have our moments of depression, as we move thoughtfully about the streets, observing the tendencies of the age, when we feel like abandoning our campaign for the restoration of penitents and centering all our energies upon a desperate effort to influence the girls to keep on their little they still wear.—Columbus (O.) Journal.

Quantitative Analysis. Although a half-ounce is better than no bread, one is traditionally opposed to paying a whole penny for it.

Making the Farm House Comfortable in Winter

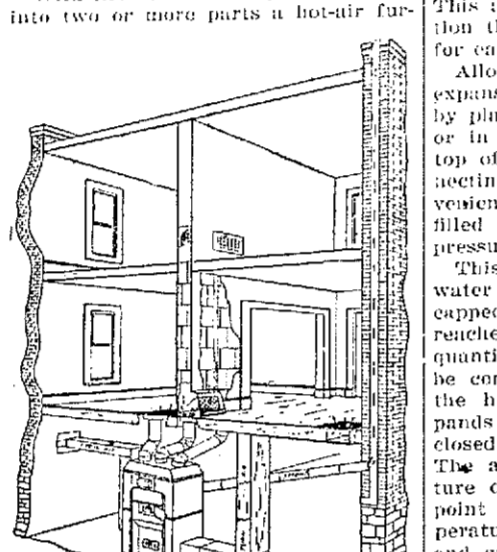

There are several different styles of house-heating plants on the market, the cheapness and convenience of which make it unnecessary for farm houses to be without a heating system which means comfort for the household.

By J. L. Mowry
University of Minnesota

YEAHS of progress have developed at least six styles of house-heating installations, aside from the old-fashioned first method, the fireplace, where from 50 to 90 per cent of the heat generated went up the chimney—where your shins roasted while your back froze.

Real progress was made when the grate fire was moved to the center of the room and incased in thin cast iron or sheet iron, giving us the stove and increasing the radiating surface 200 per cent. At the same time the size of the flue was reduced 75 per cent, and the large loss of heat characteristic of the open-grate fire was eliminated.

Another step was made when the stove was moved to the cellar, and a jacket placed around it which opened through the floor to the room above. With the neck of this jacket divided into two or more parts a hot-air fan-nace is produced which will heat two or more rooms, one for each pipe.

Hot-Air Furnace.

Later improvements gave us the hot-water and steam systems; and these now find some competition in the vapor system.

A combination of hot air with either hot water or steam, known as a combination system, is now often used.

The outside of a stove becomes hot from the fire within which heats the air in contact with it. This air in turn becomes lighter, rises, and is replaced by cold air from below and at the sides. This displacement of warm air by cold air continues, and the process is repeated until the room is made comfortable with a stove when it is not too cold outside. If very cold outside, say ten degrees below, the current of air will become so cold while passing down the cold walls that the stove cannot heat the room comfortably.

A sheet iron jacket, with neither top nor bottom, set up from the door, will increase the rapidity of air circulation, since only the air within the jacket is heated. This air gets hot and rises faster, thus making a more rapid circulation and a more effective heat.

A furnace. A stove with a jacket, placed in the cellar, becomes a furnace. A brick wall may be substituted for the steel jacket. A return flue through the floor some distance from the furnace, makes the system complete. Such a scheme is used for many churches, schools and assembly rooms, where the basement can be used as a furnace room.

When this furnace is set a little lower in the ground and the neck divided, into several small pipes, it may be used to heat several rooms. Heat is conducted to the second-floor rooms by rectangular pipes set in the walls between the studs. Over each opening in the floor or walls is a register of perforated cast iron.

In each pipe leading from a furnace is a damper, so that any pipe may be closed at will. There is a return air duct to be used when the weather is too cold to allow the heated air to pass out of the house. The rooms are full of air at all times, and more air cannot be forced into them by the small pressure, exerted by the warm air in the pipes below. In order to get this warm air into the rooms a way must be provided for the cold air to get out. This is done by means of a return air duct, which may open into a chimney and allow the air to pass out; or under the furnace and permit the air to be Weather Changes in Montana. A reader in Belknap, Mont., sends us a letter concerning the sudden weather changes in that country. "In view of the phenomenally severe season, will interest readers elsewhere: 'In this valley of Clark's park of the Columbia on Saturday, June 17, it was 95 degrees on our porch. Monday following it began to blow up black clouds from the northwest with a cold wave. On Monday night and Tuesday it turned to snow and snowed as hard as I ever saw it in the winter time till about four o'clock, then it melted. My son and I saw what was in store for our fruit trees. We went out and around and shook them. We tried to prop them up, but our young orchard, that was just coming into bearing, had to go. It kept on snowing all night—mountains, hills, valleys under a blanket of white. The gardens were completely covered. All kinds of berries were broken. Our fruit trees are lying in ruins. Others have suffered heavier loss in their orchards than we. Thus far we have never had

of the user. Several coins can be dropped in at one time, insuring several hours' use of the fan.

He Thought It Over. Mr. Early was an elderly bachelor. He had grown weary of living alone and determined to marry. For a long time he had known the widow Kimball, and he asked her to be his wife. The question was a complete surprise to her, and her reply was a confused "No."

After reflecting a few days, however, reheated and returned to the room. When this done the fresh-air duct may be closed or partly closed.

The burning of the air in order to get heat sufficient to warm the rooms, limits the usefulness of this style of heating to small houses, and generally to one floor. To be successful, the furnace must be large and the pipes from 50 to 100 per cent larger than are ordinarily used.

All pipes, in cellar and in walls, should be covered with asbestos paper to protect the pipes and to save heat. A dampener in the flue or pipe below the fire and the rooms to be heated, and make that part of the circuit in the rooms large, to give enough radiating surface. The main body, cast in sections for convenience in handling, is often made quite irregular, in order to expose more surface to the fire. Water is conducted through a large pipe, from which smaller pipes connect with one end of the radiator in each room. The other end of the radiator is connected to a large return pipe, which enters the heater at the grate level. This allows for a more rapid circulation than if a single pipe were used for each radiator.

Allowance must be made for the expansion of the water. This is done by placing an open tank in the attic, or in a second-floor room above the top of the highest radiator, and connecting with the system at some convenient point. The system may be filled through this tank if there is no pressure system at hand.

This is called the open-tank hot-water system. If the tank were capped tight, and little or no water reached the tank, there would be a quantity of air confined which would be compressed, because the water in the heater, pipes and radiators expands when heated. This is the closed tank or seal-tank system. The advantage is a higher temperature of the water before the boiling point is reached. The higher temperature will allow of smaller pipes and smaller radiators, and the practice is to install a smaller heater also. The cost of installation will consequently be less.

Objections to this system are: The need of safety devices, which may fail, and harder firing, which requires more fuel.

Vapor or Vacuum System. The vapor or vacuum system is a comparatively recent development. It is the opposite in principle of the closed-tank hot-water system as the air is exhausted from the pipes and radiators and water stands in the while filling the system, in order to let the air out, else the water cannot get in. When water flows from the valve it may be closed. This valve should be opened from time to time after filling the system, to let out air that has separated from the water and gathered in the top of the radiator. The small chamber of air will very effectively check the circulation through the radiator and it will not heat.

Cost. The cost of a hot-water system for a six-room house will be about $275 or $300. It will cost about two-thirds more than hot air, but hot-air outfits last only from 7 to 9 years, with yearly repairs, while the hot-water system will last from three to six times as long, with no expense or upkeep.

The cost of a hot-water system will be about $85 or $90 for radiators, $130 for the heater, and about $65 for installation. Any farmer who is at all handy as a mechanic can do the work, leaving $210 for the plant, compared with $175 for hot air.

A hot-air system may give reasonably satisfactory results in small buildings, but for large houses and under most conditions either steam or hot water is unquestionably recommended. The higher cost is more than offset in a few years, by a saving of fuel and better results.

Nothing has been said about steam systems. Little need be said. They are like water systems in makeup, except that the expansion tank is closed. There is no water in the radiators, only air in the heater. There is no circulation until the water in the boiler is boiling, and there is pressure in the pipes and radiators. This pressure, while not intended to be heavy, may become so if not watched carefully. This is impossible in the average home. In the mill, factory, or large flat building, there is reason for keeping a man on duty constantly, but not so in the process of elimination, it can safely be claimed that steam is not safe, and hot air is not satisfactory to any degree; while hot water, not perfect because it costs too much, is the best system of the three for heating a home.

Combination System. A combination system—a combination of hot water and hot air—is the best system. However, instead of using a standard hot-air furnace, with a coil in the firebox for heating the water (similar to that used in a kitchen range), it is much better to place a large radiator or a coil of common pipe in a box in the cellar, which is open to the room above and to the outside air. This system may be installed at an additional cost of $25, and provides a fresh-air supply at all times. It is claimed, and with much reason, that ventilation is not necessary in the average house; that the air in the rooms is changed often enough to meet all requirements, except when an unusual number of people are present. It is true that, with an average winter wind blowing at ten miles per hour, the air in the rooms will change about every half hour. This is certainly all that is required for the average family. This rate of change can be increased 50 per cent by opening a door to the see to the vacuum and it will become a steam system pure and simple. Choosing Fuel. For hard coal a deep firebox gives best results. Hard coal burns slowly and requires less air than soft coal, and the deep firebox serves as a check on the air. Soft coal and wood burn best in a thin layer over a larger surface, and of course will require more frequent firing. All-round steam and hot-water boilers are made for hard coal. A sectional boiler may be lengthened by adding sections and the size of the firebox be thereby increased.

In round hot-water boilers, two styles are offered; one with a flat-top firebox, and one with water arms. The one with the flat top is much more easily cleaned than the one having water arms, and the heating coil is much more easily installed. The latter style is intended to give more heating surface in the firebox, but this feature is more than offset by the advantages mentioned.

In placing any of these heaters the clean-out doors should not be backed up against a chimney or partition. Radiators. The radiators are of cast or sheet iron, made up in sections, which may be placed together to give the required amount of radiating surface. The standard size is 38 inches high, three-column, and contains 5 square feet of radiating surface. A four-column, 28-inch radiator, contains 8 square feet of radiating surface. They sell for 18 to 20 cents a square foot. Each radiator has a valve at one end to cut off the water. In this valve is a pinhole, through which circulation will continue and thus prevent freezing when the radiator is cut off. At the top of each radiator, at one end, is an air valve, which must be opened enough to meet all requirements, except when an unusual number of people are present. It is true that, with an average winter wind blowing at ten miles per hour, the air in the rooms will change about every half hour. This is certainly all that is required for the average family. This rate of change can be increased 50 per cent by opening a door to the see to the vacuum and it will become a steam system pure and simple. Choosing Fuel. For hard coal a deep firebox gives best results. Hard coal burns slowly and requires less air than soft coal, and the deep firebox serves as a check on the air. Soft coal and wood burn best in a thin layer over a larger surface, and of course will require more frequent firing. All-round steam and hot-water boilers are made for hard coal. A sectional boiler may be lengthened by adding sections and the size of the firebox be thereby increased.

In round hot-water boilers, two styles are offered; one with a flat-top firebox, and one with water arms. The one with the flat top is much more easily cleaned than the one having water arms, and the heating coil is much more easily installed. The latter style is intended to give more heating surface in the firebox, but this feature is more than offset by the advantages mentioned.

enough to meet all requirements, except when an unusual number of people are present. It is true that, with an average winter wind blowing at ten miles per hour, the air in the rooms will change about every half hour. This is certainly all that is required for the average family. This rate of change can be increased 50 per cent by opening a door to the see to the vacuum and it will become a steam system pure and simple. Choosing Fuel. For hard coal a deep firebox gives best results. Hard coal burns slowly and requires less air than soft coal, and the deep firebox serves as a check on the air. Soft coal and wood burn best in a thin layer over a larger surface, and of course will require more frequent firing. All-round steam and hot-water boilers are made for hard coal. A sectional boiler may be lengthened by adding sections and the size of the firebox be thereby increased.

In round hot-water boilers, two styles are offered; one with a flat-top firebox, and one with water arms. The one with the flat top is much more easily cleaned than the one having water arms, and the heating coil is much more easily installed. The latter style is intended to give more heating surface in the firebox, but this feature is more than offset by the advantages mentioned.

In placing any of these heaters the clean-out doors should not be backed up against a chimney or partition. Radiators. The radiators are of cast or sheet iron, made up in sections, which may be placed together to give the required amount of radiating surface. The standard size is 38 inches high, three-column, and contains 5 square feet of radiating surface. A four-column, 28-inch radiator, contains 8 square feet of radiating surface. They sell for 18 to 20 cents a square foot. Each radiator has a valve at one end to cut off the water. In this valve is a pinhole, through which circulation will continue and thus prevent freezing when the radiator is cut off. At the top of each radiator, at one end, is an air valve, which must be opened enough to meet all requirements, except when an unusual number of people are present. It is true that, with an average winter wind blowing at ten miles per hour, the air in the rooms will change about every half hour. This is certainly all that is required for the average family. This rate of change can be increased 50 per cent by opening a door to the see to the vacuum and it will become a steam system pure and simple. Choosing Fuel. For hard coal a deep firebox gives best results. Hard coal burns slowly and requires less air than soft coal, and the deep firebox serves as a check on the air. Soft coal and wood burn best in a thin layer over a larger surface, and of course will require more frequent firing. All-round steam and hot-water boilers are made for hard coal. A sectional boiler may be lengthened by adding sections and the size of the firebox be thereby increased.

In round hot-water boilers, two styles are offered; one with a flat-top firebox, and one with water arms. The one with the flat top is much more easily cleaned than the one having water arms, and the heating coil is much more easily installed. The latter style is intended to give more heating surface in the firebox, but this feature is more than offset by the advantages mentioned.

In placing any of these heaters the clean-out doors should not be backed up against a chimney or partition. Radiators. The radiators are of cast or sheet iron, made up in sections, which may be placed together to give the required amount of radiating surface. The standard size is 38 inches high, three-column, and contains 5 square feet of radiating surface. A four-column, 28-inch radiator, contains 8 square feet of radiating surface. They sell for 18 to 20 cents a square foot. Each radiator has a valve at one end to cut off the water. In this valve is a pinhole, through which circulation will continue and thus prevent freezing when the radiator is cut off. At the top of each radiator, at one end, is an air valve, which must be opened enough to meet all requirements, except when an unusual number of people are present. It is true that, with an average winter wind blowing at ten miles per hour, the air in the rooms will change about every half hour. This is certainly all that is required for the average family. This rate of change can be increased 50 per cent by opening a door to the see to the vacuum and it will become a steam system pure and simple. Choosing Fuel. For hard coal a deep firebox gives best results. Hard coal burns slowly and requires less air than soft coal, and the deep firebox serves as a check on the air. Soft coal and wood burn best in a thin layer over a larger surface, and of course will require more frequent firing. All-round steam and hot-water boilers are made for hard coal. A sectional boiler may be lengthened by adding sections and the size of the firebox be thereby increased.

In round hot-water boilers, two styles are offered; one with a flat-top firebox, and one with water arms. The one with the flat top is much more easily cleaned than the one having water arms, and the heating coil is much more easily installed. The latter style is intended to give more heating surface in the firebox, but this feature is more than offset by the advantages mentioned.

In placing any of these heaters the clean-out doors should not be backed up against a chimney or partition. Radiators. The radiators are of cast or sheet iron, made up in sections, which may be placed together to give the required amount of radiating surface. The standard size is 38 inches high, three-column, and contains 5 square feet of radiating surface. A four-column, 28-inch radiator, contains 8 square feet of radiating surface. They sell for 18 to 20 cents a square foot. Each radiator has a valve at one end to cut off the water. In this valve is a pinhole, through which circulation will continue and thus prevent freezing when the radiator is cut off. At the top of each radiator, at one end, is an air valve, which must be opened enough to meet all requirements, except when an unusual number of people are present. It is true that, with an average winter wind blowing at ten miles per hour, the air in the rooms will change about every half hour. This is certainly all that is required for the average family. This rate of change can be increased 50 per cent by opening a door to the see to the vacuum and it will become a steam system pure and simple. Choosing Fuel. For hard coal a deep firebox gives best results. Hard coal burns slowly and requires less air than soft coal, and the deep firebox serves as a check on the air. Soft coal and wood burn best in a thin layer over a larger surface, and of course will require more frequent firing. All-round steam and hot-water boilers are made for hard coal. A sectional boiler may be lengthened by adding sections and the size of the firebox be thereby increased.

In round hot-water boilers, two styles are offered; one with a flat-top firebox, and one with water arms. The one with the flat top is much more easily cleaned than the one having water arms, and the heating coil is much more easily installed. The latter style is intended to give more heating surface in the firebox, but this feature is more than offset by the advantages mentioned.

In placing any of these heaters the clean-out doors should not be backed up against a chimney or partition. Radiators. The radiators are of cast or sheet iron, made up in sections, which may be placed together to give the required amount of radiating surface. The standard size is 38 inches high, three-column, and contains 5 square feet of radiating surface. A four-column, 28-inch radiator, contains 8 square feet of radiating surface. They sell for 18 to 20 cents a square foot. Each radiator has a valve at one end to cut off the water. In this valve is a pinhole, through which circulation will continue and thus prevent freezing when the radiator is cut off. At the top of each radiator, at one end, is an air valve, which must be opened enough to meet all requirements, except when an unusual number of people are present. It is true that, with an average winter wind blowing at ten miles per hour, the air in the rooms will change about every half hour. This is certainly all that is required for the average family. This rate of change can be increased 50 per cent by opening a door to the see to the vacuum and it will become a steam system pure and simple. Choosing Fuel. For hard coal a deep firebox gives best results. Hard coal burns slowly and requires less air than soft coal, and the deep firebox serves as a check on the air. Soft coal and wood burn best in a thin layer over a larger surface, and of course will require more frequent firing. All-round steam and hot-water boilers are made for hard coal. A sectional boiler may be lengthened by adding sections and the size of the firebox be thereby increased.

In round hot-water boilers, two styles are offered; one with a flat-top firebox, and one with water arms. The one with the flat top is much more easily cleaned than the one having water arms, and the heating coil is much more easily installed. The latter style is intended to give more heating surface in the firebox, but this feature is more than offset by the advantages mentioned.

To Live Long!

A recipe given by a famous physician for long life was: "Keep the kidneys in good order." Try to avoid poisons that otherwise clog the kidneys. Avoid eating meat as much as possible; avoid too much salt, alcohol, tea. Drink plenty of water.

For those past middle life, for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation, as backache, swelling "water," or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, "gravel," joints, stiffness, and aches at the drug store. This is a wonderful eliminator of uric acid and was discovered by Dr. Pierce of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. If your druggist does not keep it send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for trial package and you will know that it is thirty-seven times more potent than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

Weighty Reasons. Cruel Publisher—I regret that we cannot possibly publish your novel, madam! Society Novelist—Why? Is it too long? Cruel Publisher—Yes; it is too long, too broad and also too thick—Passing Show.

Cynics and pessimists have a hard row to hoe in this busy old world. Even sickness is well when it ends well.

Modern Parable. When you can't see straight ahead it's because you're about to turn a corner.

As Defined. Little Lenned. What's philosophy, paw? Paw. Philosophy, son, is something that enables a millionaire to realize that it is no disgrace to be poor.

W. L. DOUGLAS
"THE SHOE THAT HOLDS ITS SHAPE"
$3.00 $3.50 $4.00 $4.50 $5.00 AND OVER
Save Money by Wearing W. L. Douglas shoes. The Best Known Shoes in the World.

W. L. Douglas name and the retail price stamped on the bottom.

LOOK FOR W. L. DOUGLAS shoes and the retail price stamped on the bottom.

W. L. DOUGLAS shoes and the retail price stamped on the bottom.

W. L. DOUGLAS shoes and the retail price stamped on the bottom.

W. L. DOUGLAS shoes and the retail price stamped on the bottom.

W. L. DOUGLAS shoes and the retail price stamped on the bottom.

W. L. DOUGLAS shoes and the retail price stamped on the bottom.

W. L. DOUGLAS shoes and the retail price stamped on the bottom.

W. L. DOUGLAS shoes and the retail price stamped on the bottom.

W. L. DOUGLAS shoes and the retail price stamped on the bottom.

W. L. DOUGLAS shoes and the retail price stamped on the bottom.

WOULD TESTIFY

Green Bay, Wis.—"About ten years ago I was very ill and very run-down. A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Pierce's 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I took it, and it cured me. I have been healthy ever since. I am never ailing, only with sick headaches, and I use '

Do You Remember

When you were a little fellow at school—remember how proud and independent you felt the few times you knew your lesson—even loved your teacher?

'Twas pretty hard to stop playing to study—but it didn't take long, and you were happier all day. Things haven't changed much.

You are still in school—but ARE YOU studying the lessons of your business life? The problems are pretty hard—the hours are long but most teachers are patient and really want to help you. LEARN the lesson of SAVING—it's the ABC of BUSINESS and X Y Z of HAPPINESS.

There is something about a BANK ACCOUNT that just naturally makes you feel good all over.

The Citizens National Bank

Grand Rapids, Wis.

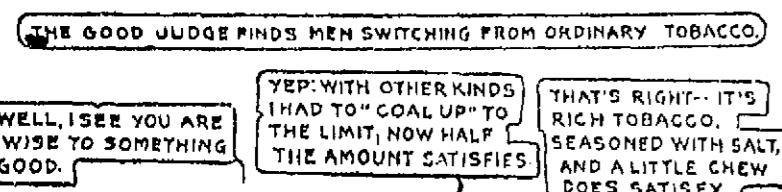

Of Course You'll Build a Separate Shed for The New Automobile

You wouldn't think of exposing that fine finish and upholstery to the dust from the hay in the mow. You'll find it economy to build a shed. We have the right kind of lumber.

W. A. Marling Lumber Co.

M. G. GORDON, Manager

WHEN a gentleman gets acquainted through and through with W-B CUT Chewing, he finds that the common sense of it helps him across a feature of ordinary tobacco he never did like. The shreds of tobacco give up the tobacco satisfaction without so much grinding and spitting—the salt helps bring out the good tobacco taste—and because it's rich tobacco, a small chew lasts and satisfies.

Made by WEYMAN-BRUTON COMPANY, 50 Union Square, New York City

"SHURE PHILIPP RAYDOOCCED TH' TAXES--AV TH' CORPORASHUNS"

SEZ GILHOOLEY, THE JANITOR

"I see by th' papers, Doolin, that Mather Philipp Raydooced th' taxes night," said Gilhooley to his friend Doolin, the blacksmith.

"It wuz a grate spach--for th' Raypooblicans and th' Raypooblican newspapers," said Doolin, "but, Mike, any waa wid th' tip av th' blarney on his tongue kin git up and say any thing at all--if he is addressin' his friends, and rayvelve a fine rayvelphun. But 'tis a diffrint thing, it mo tell ye, to stand up in a hall filled wid people who don't care a hiddler's stiek about yer affiliashun or yer folio speeches, but want to know what ye did wid their money while ye wor in office and why ye didn't kape th' promiss ye made to kape down their taxes."

"Shure, Doolin, ye bate th' devil," said Gilhooley. "Faith, 'tis a poor Raypooblican ye are, so it is. Shure if ye read th' Raypooblican papers ye wud hev found out that Philipp did raydooced th' taxes--ay th' insurance and railroad companies, th' corporashuns, banks and pooble utilities. I'mt that enuff for ye, ye omadhaun? D'ye explat that th' governor is goin' to play favorties wid ye or yer loike? Faith, I'm ashamed av ye, Doolin, and ye from th' same county in Oireland that I'm from, meself. D'ye think for waa minit that we elicit a Raypooblican gunvor for th' benefit av th' pooble? If that wor true, where wud th' corporashuns and th' other big buccos come in? D'ye believe for a second, that they are expected to pay taxes and other little ordinary things loike ye and meself? Don't ye know that ye shud be glad yer livin' and that ye hev a job?"

"Ye kin jibe me all ye loike, Gilhooley," said Doolin, "about me bein' a Raypooblican, but I tell ye that I'm th' wud that par ty. Shure, I'm th' fool to hev bin votin' th' Raypooblican ticket all those years. I wuz loike many others who wor influenced by th' palaver and th' fine speeches av thim Raypooblican buccos, but now I've come to me sence, ather may hard years av tollin' and beggarin' meself to kape me little home over me head. Shure it's ivry elletshun I hev bin hearin' promises to lower me taxes but, be gorra, it's got so now that I'm afeared I'll hev to let me home go--aither all those years strivin' to pay th' interest on th' mortgage and th' taxes--and go to payin' rint, agin. It's th' Dimmiter ticket I'll vote, for be th' powers av Brian Boru, th' Dimmiter cudn't be worse thim th' administrashuns we hev had for over th' last twenty years."

"I happened to be in Walky-shaw, th' night av th' 'kaynoto' speech av Philipp," said Gilhooley, "and I wint in thur coorosity to hear him.

"Outside th' hall ye shud hev seen th' ottymorals rowl up to th' dure and a man there to open th' dures loike they do wihin th' swell eassesty goes to th' turrible trouble to driss and go to th' opory. Thim ottymorals beels wor lined up down th' strato as far as I cud look and ivry waa av th' owners wuz shinin' wid dimmled loike th' frest on a Novimber mornin'."

"Inside th' hall ye cud see th' diffrence betune th' rich corporashun laddybuccos and th' poor deluded could fool av a worrkiman who wuz edged in over in th' th' rners av th' hall, wid not a mother's sowl payin' any attintshun to him. Th' buccos wor filled wid smilin' ladies almost smothered wid dimmled and beyutiful furs while their male companys wor shinin' loike small electric lights from th' far re dimmled and shinin' out av their shir t' buccos that rose up and slapped thim in their flagonies ivry toime they moved."

"Wud ye see that illustrashun av wealth at a Dimmiter matin', Doolin, I ask ye? Wud ye see that fine assimblage av rich buccos at a Raypooblican gatherin', aither, th' rich buccos wor not explictin' sumthin'?"

"Did they go there to be entertained, I ask ye? Or did they go because they wanted to show their apprayshashun av what Mather Philipp did for thim durin' th' last two years and which he intends to do agin, if thim rich corporashun buccos kin put him thur?"

"Gunvor Philipp kem out on th' stage loike an imp-eror, that he is not, dressed in his best suit and as he slowly overkem th' rayvelance av his stummick muscles and bowed loike as if he hed ate too much at th' fests guy to him a shir t' toime before, by his rich admitters prinst, th' pooble in th' buccos and th' Raypooblican buccos on th' stage guy t' signal and began to applaud as if it wuz Pristidit Wilson about to spake. And thim th' poor spaipeens sittin' away over in th' cor ner loike a sick cat--mould ye, Doolin, th' poor fools av worrkiman min, wor th' dupes av th' applauders and they lined in clappin' for what, th' devil knows, and he won't tell."

"I am for th' pooble, all th' time and sum av th' time and not any av th' time," sez me bould Philipp. "Ye shud hev hurrad th' applause and ye shud hev seen thim buccos in th' buccos and th' buccos on th' stage wink at each other. Th' poor sumps over in th' cor ner swelled up like a pisoned pig at th' floogint words av th' spaker and if ye'll believe me, Doolin, it med me sick."

"I raydooced th' taxes and I'll raydooced thim sum more wihin I'm ellected in Novimber as I know I will be," said me irrepresible Mather Philipp. At this, th' gunvor lafed a little, tho he thried to hide th' smile, and th' buccos par rles and th' sumps on th' stage guy aich other th' nudge. Don't ye git me pint, Doolin. He sed he raydooced th' taxes--but for who? Wuz it for ye or meself--or for th' buccos that nudged aich other?"

"Thim he wint on talkin' about commishuns, omishuns, fishins and ivryting but confessions, until I hed to smile at th' way th' average man kin be fooled."

"But he won't fool me nor many other Raypooblicans that I know," said Doolin. "I've hed me lison and I know wihin I'm litted, but Mather Philipp won't put over th' shape producer on me, as th' pugilists call it, this comin' elletshun, ye may believe me, Mike."

"Amin to that," said Gilhooley.

Let Our Laundry Do Monday's Work

The easiest way, the most satisfactory way to rid yourself of the toil and bother of doing the family washing, is to send it to our laundry.

We wash your clothes clean and white. We do the work better than you could at home--and better than a washwoman would do it.

We return the clothes promptly--no matter what the weather, and we charge only a small sum for the work.

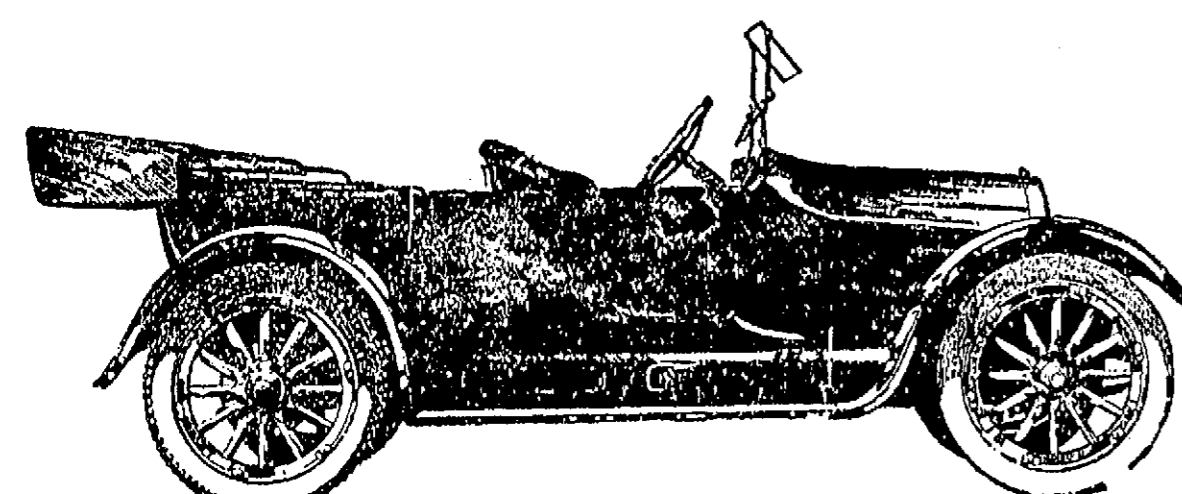

Your bed and table linen, towels and other flat work are all ironed and folded, ready for use.

Try our service next week.

NORMINGTON BROS.

Phone 387

First Ave. South

31 1/2 Horsepower
New Series
Overland
Model 75 B
$635
Roadster $520
F.O.B. Toledo

Amazingly Comfortable

They like its power--it's the world's most powerful low priced car.

Everybody concedes its beauty.

It wins on economy.

But its roomy seats, deep upholstery and easy riding cantilever springs--

These things make it so amazingly comfortable that people can hardly believe their senses.

You wouldn't think that a small, light, economical, low priced car could be so comfortable.

But come in and let us prove it to you.

NASH HARDWARE CO., GRAND RAPIDS, WIS.
Telephone 325

The Willys-Overland Company, Toledo, Ohio.
"Made in U.S.A."

BIRON

The work on the new dam at the mill is nearly completed. Alex Haydock and H. McSwain were at Sarnell, Minnesota, the past week on business. Miss Jessie Gaffney who is teaching school at Finley, visited with her parents Saturday and Sunday.

Ed Abel is back to work again after a month's lay-off on account of sickness.

John Abel has moved his family into the club house, he having taken charge of that building.

The paper mill is building an elevated track which will be used to convey pulp from the mill to the yard.

Miss Genevieve Gaffney who is teaching school at Milladore, spent Sunday at home here.

Harry Gilman was at Plover, a few days the past week.

A surprise party was given at the club house Sunday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Love, who expect to leave here soon.

A good many from this town took in the show at the Daily Theatre in Grand Rapids last week.

Chas. Schmidt, the cigarmaker, is working in the mill.

Miss Ellen Demars of Grand Rapids spent Sunday with friends here.

Raymond Green, agent Sunday in Rudolph with his family.

SIGEL

Mrs. Kate Combs of Honey Creek visited at the home of her son, Geo. Combs, the past week at Grand Rapids.

H. H. Hils, who has been gate keeper on the Lawson estate at Green Lake the past summer, returned to his home last week for the winter.

Miss Caroline Larson who attends training school at Grand Rapids, spent the last of the week with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Anderson entertained at a Christmas party at their home Sunday.

Andrew Walter of Almond is spending the week at the home of Mrs. Kate Walter.

Saturday was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Seth Whitman and a number of her friends gave her a surprise party in the afternoon. A delicious lunch was served.

Miss Verna Worlund of Grand Rapids spent Sunday with Miss Anna Kronholm.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sandstrom held an auction sale at their home on Tuesday. Mr. Sandstrom and family will soon depart for Ironwood, Michigan, where they will reside.

Miss Mabel Larson who is employed in the Clark home in Grand Rapids, spent Saturday and Sunday with home folks.

Misses Anna, Ella and Ruth Henderson of Grand Rapids spent Sunday of last week with relatives here.

Julius Matthews had a valuable coil badly cut in a barb wire fence last Friday.

EAST NEW ROME

A number from this city attended the dance at the Walter Ross home on Friday evening of last week, and report having a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lundquist spent Sunday evening of last week at the Holtz home.

Laurence Irwin was a Grand Rapids visitor on Monday.

Miss Georgia Ross spent Saturday and Sunday with home folks.

Laurence Irwin was a caller at the Holtz home on Sunday evening.

Don Decker, Don Decker, Robt. Reid, Joe Busch, John Potts, J. S. Irwin and the Misses Georgia Ross, Hazel Snyder and Violet Reid, were among those who attended the school convention at Friendship last Thursday.

Mrs. Elbe Cordis and children spent Sunday at the J. S. Irwin home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reid were Plainfield visitors on Monday.

Martin Carlson is the proud owner of a Ford coupe.

Mrs. Fred Lee is spending a few days with her mother who has been very ill.

The Misses Irene Matthews and Mabel Holtz left for Waupaca on Tuesday.

PLEASANT HILL

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Holmes and children of Grand Rapids spent the day here Sunday with Mrs. Holmes' parents.

Wm. Stroupe's team walked home without him Saturday evening while he was helping H. Johnson load a car of rutabagas. We are glad to say he was not bewildered and found horses and wagon safe at home later.

Several of our people attended the funeral of Geo. Hunt Monday. He formerly lived with his parents on the Brookside farm. His parents have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Mrs. Gladys McManners and children and Miss Helen Lein left Friday for their home at Black River Falls.

Fred Fox had a collision with Al Smith at Pittsville Saturday and both cars were somewhat damaged.

George Zautner, who injured one of his arms recently was taken to the hospital at Marshfield Monday for treatment. The injured member did not get along as it should, which made hospital treatment and attention necessary.

Mrs. Otto Kellman spent Sunday with Mrs. Thos. Platts at Pittsville.

The following program will be given at the church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, November 5, 1916:

- Song.....Choir
- Responsive service.
- Prayer by Harold Pining.
- Song.....Choir
- Recitation.....Peter Hansen
- Recitation.....Florence Robertson
- Recitation.....Sylvia Stroepe
- Dialogue....."Vote for Us"
- Song....."Water Pure and Free"
- Recitation.....Goldie Stroepe
- Recitation.....Ruth Erdman
- Recitation.....Ollie Holcomb
- Solo.....Audrey Brooks
- Recitation.....Alpha Likes
- Recitation.....Myrtle Fox
- Song.....Hilda Seibenhan
- Song.....Sylvia and Goldie Stroepe
- Reading.....Mrs. O. Holcomb
- Dialogue....."When I am a Man"
- Song.....Seven boys
- Recitation.....Clarence Brooks
- Address....."The Results of Prohibition"
- P. H. Likes
- Silver offering for Temperance Cause
- Song.....Choir
- Everybody is invited.

Drs. FAIRFIELD, BARTRAN & CO.
CLINIC BUILDING
DR. W. E. FAIRFIELD
DR. W. E. BARTRAN
Surgons

DR. J. J. ROBB
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
DR. R. L. COWLES
DR. W. E. LEAPER
Internists
E. WHITE
Pathologist

GREEN BAY, WISCONSIN

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PROBATE OF WILL

State of Wisconsin, County of Wood, ss.
In the matter of the last Will and Testament of Julius Leif, deceased.
WHEREAS, An instrument in writing, purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Julius Leif, deceased, late of the County of Wood, State of Wisconsin, has been filed in this office; AND WHEREAS, Application has been made by Louis Leif and Hugo P. Leif, praying that the same be proven and admitted to probate according to the laws of this state, and that letters testamentary be granted thereon according to law; I, J. S. CONWAY, County Judge, do hereby certify that said application has been heard before this Court, at a term held at the Court House in the City of Grand Rapids, on the 17th day of October, A. D. 1916, at 10 o'clock A. M., and that the same has been admitted to probate and letters testamentary granted thereon, and that the time and place appointed for hearing said application be given to all persons interested in the estate of Julius Leif, deceased, a copy of this order for three weeks successively, to-wit: the 17th, 24th and 31st days of October, 1916, in said County, printed and published in said County, previous to said hearing.

Dated September 20th, 1916.
By the Court: W. J. CONWAY, County Judge.

J. J. Jeffrey, Attorney for Estate.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, WOOD COUNTY IN COUNTY COURT

In re Estate of Frank A. Kloster, deceased.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at the term of said Court to be held on the fourth day of November, 1916, at the Court House in the City of Grand Rapids, County of Wood, State of Wisconsin, there will be heard and considered, the application of Mac Kloster to admit to probate the last Will and Testament of Frank A. Kloster, late of the town of Sherry in said county, deceased, and for the appointment of executor.

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that at the term of said Court to be held at said Court House on the fourth day of November, 1916, there will be heard, considered and admitted all claims against said Frank A. Kloster deceased, and NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that all such claims for examination and allowance must be presented to said Court at said term of said Court, and said Court will be held in the City of Grand Rapids in said county, and state, on or before the 20th day of February, A. D. 1917, or he barred.

Dated this 17th day of October A. D. 1916.
By the Court: W. J. CONWAY, County Judge.

D. D. Conway, Attorney.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, IN COUNTY COURT FOR WOOD COUNTY

In re Estate of Minnie Thim, Deceased.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at the special term of said Court to be held on the 28th day of November, A. D. 1916, at the Court House in the City of Grand Rapids, County of Wood and State of Wisconsin, there will be heard and considered the application of Reinhold Thim, Sophia Hayes, Thessa Geisler, Estella Thim and Carrie Thim, heirs and co-heirs, to admit to probate the last Will and Testament of said Minnie Thim, late of the City of Grand Rapids, in said County of Wood, State of Wisconsin, and for the appointment of executor.

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that all such claims for examination and allowance must be presented to said Court at said term of said Court, and said Court will be held in the City of Grand Rapids, in said County of Wood, and State of Wisconsin, on or before the 28th day of November, A. D. 1916.

Dated October 24, 1916.
By the Court: W. J. CONWAY, County Judge.

CHAS. E. BEHRER, Attorney.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, COUNTY COURT WOOD COUNTY

In the Matter of the Last Will and Testament of Julius Leif, deceased.

An instrument in writing purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Julius Leif of the County of Wood, State of Wisconsin, County of Wood, State of Wisconsin, has been filed in this office.

AND WHEREAS, Application has been made by Louis Leif of said county having presented to said Court a petition in writing, duly verified, representing and claiming that said Julius Leif had fully and lawfully executed said will, and praying that a time be appointed for the hearing of said will and that letters of Administration with Will annexed be granted to said Louis Leif.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That all claims and demands against said Julius Leif, deceased, be presented to said Court at said term of said Court, and said Court will be held in the City of Grand Rapids, in said County of Wood, and State of Wisconsin, on or before the 28th day of November, A. D. 1916.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That all claims and demands against said Julius Leif, deceased, be presented to said Court at said term of said Court, and said Court will be held in the City of Grand Rapids, in said County of Wood, and State of Wisconsin, on or before the 28th day of November, A. D. 1916.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That notice hereof be given to all persons interested, by publication hereof for three successive weeks in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a newspaper published in said county, and that application be made within fifteen days from the date hereof, to-wit: the 17th day of October A. D. 1916.

By the Court: W. J. CONWAY, County Judge.

J. J. Jeffrey, Attorney for Petitioner.

NOTICE OF GENERAL ELECTION

State of Wisconsin, County of Wood, ss.
Notice is hereby given that at a general election to be held in the several towns, wards, villages and election districts of the State of Wisconsin, on the first Tuesday succeeding the first Monday of November, A. D. 1916, being the seventh day of said month, the following officers are to be elected:

A GOVERNOR, in place of Emanuel L. Phillips, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1917.

A VICE GOVERNOR, in place of John S. Donald, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1917.

A STATE TREASURER, in place of Henry Johnson, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, 1917.

A COUNTY CLERK, in place of William T. Nobles, whose term of office will expire on the 1st Monday of January, 1917.

A COUNTY TREASURER, in place of Nate Anderson, whose term of office will expire on the 1st Monday of January, 1917.

A SHERIFF, in place of C. W. Blount, whose term of office will expire on the 1st Monday of January, 1917.

A CORONER, in place of H. H. Voss, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, 1917.

A CLERK OF THE CIRCUIT COURT, in place of A. B. Bever, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, 1917.

A DISTRICT ATTORNEY in place of John Hovinen, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, 1917.

A REGISTER OF DEEDS, in place of John Hoffman, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, 1917.

A SURVEYOR in place of G. W. Seyers, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, 1917.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my seal, at the Court House, in the City of Grand Rapids, this 16th day of September, A. D. 1916.

Wm. T. Nobles, Clerk.

A. H. PACHE, D. C.,
Chiropractor.

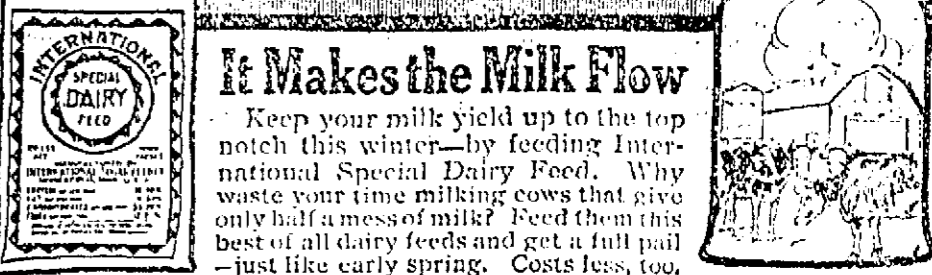

Room 7, MacKinnon Block.
Consultation Hours: 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5, 7 to 9 p. m.

Lady Attendants.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Office 885, Res. phone 886

Like Pasture in Winter

Keep your milk yield up to the top notch this winter--by feeding International Special Dairy Feed. Why waste your time milking cows that give only a meager yield? Feed them this best of all dairy feeds and get a full pail--just like early spring. Costs less, too.

International Special Dairy Feed

A scientific grain ration that keeps every cow working at top speed. Contains primo milk feeds, cotton-seed meal, molasses, etc. A perfectly balanced ration that increases the appetite and produces milk at the lowest cost per gallon. Costs you less per ton than straight grain. Try a single ton. Watch the milk check grow and feed bill drop.

Headquarters for Dairymen
Quality cattle at competitive prices. We can beat anyone in town on high quality goods for dairymen and livestock growers. Come here for advertising goods that are sure to please. We handle only the best and guarantee everything we sell to be first class. Get your telephone messages here when you come to town.

McKERCHER & ROSSIER CO., Flour and Feed
Grand Rapids, Wis.

We Want You To Get This

Every meal you eat would be unsatisfactory without some kind of beverage. We don't know what you are drinking with your meals, but if you haven't tried do so today. It is the favorite table beverage of hundreds because it's appetizing, invigorating and health-giving.

Grand Rapids Beer

Order a Case Today

GRAND RAPIDS BREWING CO.

24 Bottles for $1.15 Phone 177

HEMLOCK

"This is the forest primeval, The murmuring pines and the HEMLOCKS"--

Thus says Longfellow in the famous American poem, "Evangeline."

From before the days of "Evangeline," HEMLOCK, year on year through more than two centuries, has been one of the standard building lumpers of America. That's why it is called "Old Faithful" HEMLOCK.

Test it. It will be faithful to YOU.

KELLOGG BROS. LUMBER CO.

Everything in Quality Lumber and Building Material

Grand Rapids, Wis.

Better Baking

With 5 pounds of coal, costing one cent, or two sticks of cord-wood you can bake four large loaves of bread and two pans of biscuit, cook a family meal and heat six gallons of water in the JOY ECLIPSE. This range is very economical of fuel and burns either hard coal, soft coal, or wood successfully. The JOY is not only economical to operate, but its first cost is very reasonable.

ECLIPSE

CAST RANGE

The Eclipse way forces the heat to pass under all six lids before escaping. When cooking or ironing in the summer the entire top of the range can be kept hot without heating the oven. This is not possible in other ranges.

On ordinary ranges the flames skip half the top, pass almost directly out the flue and only three lids are hot enough for cooking. You really have only half a range.

We have a limited supply of attractive booklets giving practical recipes, and VALUABLE INFORMATION on the proper care and operation of your range. Call and secure a copy before they are all gone.

Fred Piltz Hardware Co., Rudolph, Wis.

Thursday, November 2, 1916

Published by W. A. Drumb and A. B. Sator.

Entered at the postoffice at Grand Rapids, Wis., as 2nd class mail matter.

Subscription Price—Per year, $1.50; 6 mo. 75c; 3 mo. 40c; if paid in advance.

Published Every Wednesday at Grand Rapids, Wood County, Wisconsin.
Telephone Number 324

ADVERTISING RATES

Resolutions, each75c
Card of Thanks, each25c
Transient Readers, per line.....10c
Obituary Poetry, per line.....10c
Paid Entertainments, per line.....5c
Display Ad Rates 15c per inch.

Advertisement—Authorized and paid for by Carl C. Hoehne at the rate of 5c per line.

To the Voters of the 24th Senate District of Wisconsin:

At the solicitation of neighbors and friends I have consented to become a candidate for the office of State Senator, and like other men in like situation, wish to win out by your votes.

The district is large and I do not have the money and time to make a house to house canvass and meet you personally and talk to you as man to man, as I would like to do.

You have a right as intelligent men, to know who you are voting for. To know what he believes in, and what his course of action will be as your servant in the office that you place him by your vote.

Years ago my parents came from Germany, settling in the town of Lowell, Dodge county, Wisconsin, where I was raised on a farm, knowing full well the labor and trials that beset the man who produces that others may eat. Removing from my old home in 1902, I located in Greenwood, Clark county, and engaged in the hardware business and farming, and by hard work and constant care, have established a fair, growing business.

I am married, having a wife and four children.

By a man's beliefs you may judge what his actions will be. I believe in the United States for a United People; the Declaration of Independence as proclaimed by the founders of the Republic and crystallized in the Constitution of the United States; that the people are rulers of this country, and they alone; that every man who holds office from the pathmaster to the president is the servant of the people, of all the people, and not the servant of any race, class or creed. That every servant of the people should give the dollar's worth of service for every one hundred cents collected as taxes from the people.

I believe in Protection. That protection which is an offering to the God of Humanity and not a sacrifice to the God of Mammon. That protection that builds for the future welfare of all the people and not for present gain to a class, combination, or a few of the people only.

I would protect the property rights of all the people from misappropriation or subversion by or for the interest of any class or individuals. I heartily endorse that protection which our servants in Wisconsin have recently enacted in the Child Labor law, a law that means more to the future well-being of this country than all of the so-called "Protection Acts" passed since 1865. I believe in the building of good roads for the benefit of the farmer and merchant alike; in the advancement and up-building of farming industry of the state by liberal appropriation of money for that purpose, but would safeguard the expending of such money so that every dollar expended would result in benefit to all.

I may be a little old-fashioned, but I believe in the Golden Rule, to "do unto others as I would that others should do unto me." I believe that the legislature of Wisconsin should pass no act in the nature of a step backward to repeal any progressive law that has been passed and found beneficial for all the people.

I believe with Lincoln that this government of ours is "a government of the people, by the people and for the people" and I will be guided by that idea if elected to serve you.

Yours for the right,

CARL C. HOEHNE.

D. D. CONWAY

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Law, Loans and Collections. We have $1,000 which will be loaned at a low rate of interest. Office over First National Bank, East Side, Grand Rapids, Wis.

SPECIAL TODAY AND EVERY DAY

VICTORIA is the very best flour in the state and we want every housewife to know that if she cares for really good bread and cake and pastry see must use VICTORIA.

Grand Rapids Milling Co.,

REASONS FOR RE-ELECTION OF WILSON

1. Because he has kept the peace.
2. Because he has abolished invisible government, dispersed the corrupt lobby and restored the government to the hands of the governed.
3. Because he prefers construction to destruction.
4. Because he has secured the reduction of the tariff, not upward but downward, to a competitive basis.
5. Because he has secured the adoption of a dumping clause to protect American labor, capital and business against the possibility of cut-throat competition when the European war is over.
6. Because he has secured the imposition of an income tax, obliging wealth to share with the burdens as well as the blessings of the government.
7. Because he has secured the establishment of a non-partisan tariff commission, so that hereafter the tariff may be revised, whether upward or downward, upon scientific principles and in the light of all the facts.
8. Because he has been a friend of legitimate business.
9. Because he has secured the establishment of a Federal Reserve system, detroning the money trust, democratizing credit and reassuring the future against recurrence of banking and currency panics.
10. Because he has secured the establishment of a Federal Trade Commission to suppress unfair competition and to protect and promote honest business and to safeguard law abiding business men against needless and vexatious litigation.
11. Because he has effected the abolition of tying contracts, interlocked directorates and holding companies, the tap roots of monopoly.
12. Because he has been a friend of the farmer.
13. Because he has secured the establishment of a system of rural credits designed to emancipate and to enfranchise the farmer in the business world.
14. Because under his administration a system of licensed and bonded warehouses has been authorized which will assist to make the farmer a master of his own business and his own destiny.
15. Because under his administration measures have been passed looking to the establishment of official standards and grades of cotton and grain, thus safeguarding the market against manipulation.
16. Because he has approved a measure providing for the establishment of a system of highways, through state and federal co-operation, which will, when completed, according to the estimate of experts, save the farmers more than one million dollars between the rising and setting of every day's sun.
17. Because he stands upon a platform which promises the prosecution of plans "to make agriculture more profitable, and country life more healthful, comfortable and attractive."
18. Because he has been a friend of the wage earner.
19. Because he has approved a measure declaring that human labor shall not be dealt with as a mere commodity in the market place.
20. Because he has approved a measure abolishing the writ of injunction as an instrument of judicial tyranny, securing to labor the right to a trial by jury in cases of constructive contempt.
21. Because he has approved the Workmen's Compensation Act making the United States a model employer and an example to all other employers.
22. Because he has approved the Seamen's Act, liberating the toilers of the sea from involuntary servitude, protecting them against imprisonment for debt and criminal prosecution for the mere breach of a civil contract.
23. Because he urged and signed the Eight-hour Act, which crystallized the enlightened judgment of mankind into the law of the land in accordance with the progressive platform of 1912 and the democratic platform of 1916, and in accordance with the matured conviction that the man who toils should be allowed to enjoy a fair share of the treasure and the leisure and the pleasure which should be the portion of civilized men in a civilized society.
24. Because he has said, "suffer little children to come out of the mines and the mills and the sweat-shops."
25. Because he believes in the conservation of human resources as well as in the conservation of natural resources.
26. Because he has made the principles of social and industrial justice a reality rather than an ideal something more than a mere vision of unfulfilled desire.
27. Because by taking the American people into his confidence he has deserved the confidence of the American people.
28. Because by upholding and maintaining international law when great warring nations sought to disregard it, he has performed a monumental service to civilization and humanity and to future ages.
29. Because he is a good man as well as a great President.

The republican papers are having quite a time these days telling us that President Wilson had nothing to do with keeping this country out of the war. First they admitted that he did keep us out of the war, but said that it was at the cost of our honor. Then finding that the public did not seem to be particularly concerned about this honor business, not half as much as they were about being out of the scrap, they came out with the assertion that the president had nothing to do with it, anyway. Next they will be telling us that there hasn't been any war, so how could the president have anything to do with keeping us out of it.

PHILIPP AND HIGH SALARIES

The number of salaried officials in the state government is greater today under Governor Philipp's "economical" administration than under any previous administration. Non-salaried boards have been displaced by salaried boards. The salaries of many existing officials have been raised and the limit of salaries for state employees formerly $5,000 annually, has been raised to $6,000, two entirely new positions being created at that salary. About these there is no dispute, as no attempt has been made, nor can it be made successfully to disprove them. It is therefore unnecessary to go any further into detail.

KILLED BY A HORSE

Earl Dugman was killed at Plainfield Wednesday when one of his horses kicked him in the head. Mr. Dugman was an agent of the Standard Oil Co. at Plainfield. He was in the barn at his home attending his team about 12:45 o'clock Wednesday noon when the animal kicked him. The injured man was carried into the house and died almost immediately after. He was about 35 years of age. Mr. and Mrs. Dugman were married about five years ago. They have no children. Dugman was to meet a couple of auditors of the Standard Oil Co. Wednesday morning. It is said. He postponed the interview two or three times during the forenoon and finally the auditors went to his home. Mrs. Dugman went out to the barn to call him and found the building locked. However, she succeeded in entering and discovered her husband lying on the floor. What was believed to be the mark of a horse's shoe was visible on the side of his head and the other side was crushed, apparently where he struck the floor or other object after being kicked. Mrs. Dugman at once gave the alarm and the two auditors carried Mr. Dugman into the house.

PLOVER ROAD

Miss Anna Walters is visiting friends in Stevens Point this week. Mrs. M. Compton of Beloit is visiting at the home of her brother, Louie Fello, this week. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fello spent Sunday at Meehan. The boys from here who are employed at the Biron mill, and drove to and from their work, are now able to procure board in Biron. The many friends of Grandma Winzel are so glad that she is still in poor health. We all hope for her speedy recovery.

D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema
For 15 years the standard remedy for all skin diseases. A liquid used externally. Entire relief from itch, 25c, 50c and $1.00. Your money back if the first bottle does not bring you relief. Ask also about D.D.D. Soap.

J. E. DALY, DRUGGIST.

REMINGTON

Mrs. Rose Urban and Miss Thyra Hanson returned home Monday from Milwaukee. Mrs. Frank Pribbinow who has been visiting her mother and other relatives here, returned to her home at Grand Rapids Saturday. Gust Rutz has gone to Iowa to visit with relatives. Miss Ethel Hand is entertaining her cousin, Miss Dely of Hoodsburg. The many friends of Mrs. Wm. Plunkett of New Lisbon will be sorry to learn of her serious illness. Mrs. F. W. Roulee and son of Pittsville visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lowe Friday and Saturday last week. Mr. and Mrs. George E. Lowe of St. Paul were guests at the home of his brother, C. S. Lowe several days this week.

On Saturday, October 28, at half past 12 o'clock, John McGlynn, an old and respected resident of our town passed away. He had been in poor health for the past two years. The funeral occurred Tuesday was held at the Methodist church and was largely attended. Rev. Peckham preached the funeral sermon. The deceased leaves to mourn him a widow and eight children. Mr. McGlynn was born at Madison and was 61 years of age at the time of his death. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the community in their great sorrow.

CARD OF THANKS

To the friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, and for the floral offerings.

Mrs. John McGlynn and Family.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Casey and Family.

KEELNER

O. Brockway who has been working on a dredge near Floodwood, Minn., returned home last week. Miss Anna Lagging of Milwaukee returned home Saturday. Miss Minnie Knipple of Milwaukee attended the Buss-Ziege wedding. Mrs. M. M. Tiffing and children of Tonawanda visited part of last week at the Munroe home. R. Anderson who has been visiting at the Hjertstedt home, returned to Chicago Wednesday. Martin Buss of Milwaukee returned home Tuesday. Emil Hjertstedt left for Chicago on Wednesday to visit for a short time. Monday evening occurred the death of Jesse, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Worden. The baby had only been ill a few days. The funeral was held from the house on Tuesday and the remains were taken to Plainfield for burial. John Dytter left for Floodwood, Minn., to work on a dredging outfit. Last Thursday at the Lutheran church occurred the marriage of Miss Leona Buss, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buss, to Arthur Zuege. After the ceremony a large crowd of friends gathered at the home of the bride where a wedding feast was served. Their many friends wish them much joy and prosperity. Isabelle, the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blood was united in marriage to Mr. Alvin Wilson. Rev. C. A. Meilicke performed the ceremony, after which a wedding dinner was served to a few relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Thompson spent a day this week with the D Ramsey family at Saratoga. There was no school here Friday as Miss Podawiltz attended institute at Stevens Point. Bert Worden and family of Vesper spent the first part of the week at the Jess Worden home. August Person who has been visiting with Mrs. N. Anderson returned to Waukegan, Illinois, Wednesday.

SHERREY

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Sweeney are at home again. Mrs. Sweeney, Sr. is also back from her visit at Chicago and Milwaukee.

Miss Jennie Evans spent the week end at her home in Sherry, returning to her studies at Wausau Monday morning.

Miss Hazel Parks was home from Stevens Point over Sunday and entertained Glenn Bennett, a former student friend of Lawrence College. Miss Lela Davis was a guest at the Harry Thomas home on Friday and Saturday.

Miss Grace Ellis was in Marshfield on business Friday and Saturday. She visited the hospital to see Miss Boardman found her in the newly equipped basement of their church next Thursday, election day. Quite a number from here went to Vesper last Saturday night to the supper and fair at that place. A big crowd was present and had a good time.

The Frank Parks family drove to Marshfield Saturday in their car. Mrs. Grace Herson of Rock Island, Illinois, was in town last Thursday in the interest of the Modern Woodmen. He gave a most pleasing entertainment, and he is well worth listening to.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will serve dinner in the newly equipped basement of their church next Thursday, election day. Quite a number from here went to Vesper last Saturday night to the supper and fair at that place. A big crowd was present and had a good time.

RUDOLPH

Mr. and Mrs. Bat Sharkey, Mr. Mose Sharkey and daughter and Mrs. Maud Robbins departed Sunday noon for Mosinee to attend the wedding on Monday of Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sharkey.

Miss Louise Spalenka of Stevens Point came down Saturday evening to visit her sisters.

Mrs. Frank Schelfhout returned home Monday evening from the hospital in Grand Rapids where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. She is feeling real well and is able to be up and around.

There will be no school in our graded school from Wednesday noon until next Monday, as on Wednesday the teachers leave for Milwaukee to attend a teachers' convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Garret Kersten were tendered a farewell party at their home Tuesday evening. Over forty guests were present, and all enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Mr. and Mrs. Kersten will move onto a farm near Sigel.

Miss Mary Kujawa entertained about thirty young people at her home Monday evening at a Halloween party. Miss Dora Vadnais of Grand Rapids came up to attend the party, also Miss Louise Spalenka of Stevens Point.

Mrs. A. J. Kujawa was a Grand Rapids shopper Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Joosten and daughter Debila autoed to Grand Rapids Saturday on shopping errands.

Miss Clara Hubing of Neillsville surprised her sister, Mrs. F. S. Root by coming to see her Monday.

Miss Ruth Kinney spent Sunday and Monday in Nekeosa.

Miss Louise Imig has been out of school this week with an attack of tonsillitis.

Frank Rivers of Red Granite spent the past week with his brother.

Miss Dena Timmerman spent the week end in Grand Rapids.

Miss Pearl Clark who is attending school in Grand Rapids spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Ratelle was shopping in Grand Rapids Saturday. About fifty persons partook of a goose dinner Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Vadnais. After dinner card playing was indulged in, nine tables being in use. After the session it was found that Nick Ratelle and Jesse Provost had each won sixteen games. The cards were cut to decide the winner and Mr. Provost was winner on the cut. Myron Reinhart was awarded the consolation prize.

Mrs. Albert Peterson of Sigel will arrive here Wednesday from Mosinee where she has spent a week with her sister, Mrs. Frank Gokey.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Timmerman and John Bates of Grand Rapids, spent Sunday at the Theo. Timmerman home.

Misses Gladys Ratelle and Lillie Larson were Grand Rapids visitors Wednesday afternoon.

MARKET REPORT.

Spring Chickens12
Hens11
Roosters8
Ducks11
Geese11
Turkeys14
Eggs5
Hides16
Veal12 1/2
Potatoes$1.30
Hay, timothy14
Pork, dressed11 1/2
Rye1.20
Wheat10.65
Patent Flour27-31
Butter30
Eggs30
Rye Flour$1.10

STOMACH AGONIES

DUE TO POISON

One Dose of Remedy Sweeps Pain Away—Hundreds of Thousands Restored.

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is unlike any other. It sweeps the bile and poisonous catarrhal secretions from the system. Soothes and allays inflammation in the intestinal tract—the cause of serious and fatal ailments, such as gall stones, appendicitis, acute indigestion, cancer and ulcers of the stomach and intestines, yellow jaundice, constipation, gas-titis, auto-intoxication, etc., etc. In every locality there are grateful people who owe their complete recovery to Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. Thousands say it has saved them from the knife. The most thorough system cleanser known. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. FREE booklet on Stomach Ailments. Address Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, Chicago. Better yet, obtain a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy from Otto's Pharmacy, or any reliable druggist, who will refund your money if it fails.

NEW ROME

Husking corn is the order of the day.

Miss Nina Christenson visited with Miss Freda Hoelt over Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

MILWAUKEE

Willie Patfield is working for Jim Webb this week husking corn.

Chas. Amundson and family spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Amundson.

Lowell Finch spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

The F. C. Patefield family spent Sunday evening at the J. D. Webb home.

E. A. Finch is laying the foundation for a new house.

Mrs. Frank Steiner of Mauston is visiting at the John Wilhelm and Mrs. Hannah Menner homes.

Mrs. Jenkins of Grand Rapids is staying at the O. J. Len home.

Mrs. P. Wirtz had a tombstone erected Monday over the grave of her husband.

O. J. Len has sold a team of horses to F. W. Ellsworth of Vesper.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brockman of Sunday, October 22, a daughter.

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

SARATOGA

Mrs. K. F. Knutson is spending a few weeks in Weyville, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. John Wagner.

Miss Emma Misner who is attending the Stevens Point Normal, spent Sunday at the Geo. Peterson home.

Miss Hayward, Miss Kitto and Miss Lance of Grand Rapids gave an excellent program in the Union church Friday evening, which was greatly enjoyed all.

C. W. Lundberg went to Arpin Saturday, returning Monday.

Dorothy Lundberg left Tuesday for Chicago where she will spend the winter.

Mrs. Frank Steiner of Mauston is visiting at the John Wilhelm and Mrs. Hannah Menner

LOCAL ITEMS

Dr. Frank Kieckbusch visited in Wausau Sunday.

Mrs. Geo. Forrand sold two pianos at Maunton last week.

Miss Irene Sommers and Ed Smith spent Sunday with friends in Merrill.

Mrs. Wm. Hamm of Milwaukee is visiting with relatives and friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Schnabel have returned from a visit with relatives at Neenah.

Mrs. Peter Urbanowski of Stevens Point is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Klappa.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Sharkey of Junction City are among the business visitors in the city on last Friday.

—We handle Abstracts of Title, Loans, Collections, Real Estate and Fire Insurance. Come in and see us. Ed Pomeroyville. Office in the MacKinnon block. 31

WANT COLUMN

MARILYN HUFFLE.—30-30, 1898 model, new and in perfect condition. Will sell for $12. Also cartridges for sale. Phone 234.

FOR RENT.—House at 428-N-12th St., by Peter Schuetz, R. 5, Grand Rapids, Wis. 21

FOUND.—Auto tire. Owner may have same by calling Tribune office.

WANTED.—Experienced girl for general housework in family of two. No washing. Mrs. R. M. Rogers. Phone 868.

FOR SALE.—Four-cylinder Hupmobile in good running order, for $125 if taken at once. Fred Sawicki, City.

WANTED.—Young girl for candy case. Saturday only. Howard's Variety Store.

LOST.—Black and white fox terrier, Oct. 9, answers to the name of Babe. Finder notify John Schwenk, Phone 52.

FOR RENT.—Suite of modern offices over Dairy's Drug Store.

FOR RENT.—Suite of rooms suitable for office or living rooms, over Otto's Drug Store. Inquire of Ed Pomeroyville. 31

FOR SALE.—Registered Guernsey bull calf, 4 weeks old. Kronholm Bros. Stock Farm, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. R. D. 4.

LOST.—Four calves, 3 black and white and 1 black. Ed Verhulst, R. D. 5, Grand Rapids, Wis.

WANTED.—House and lot in exchange for 60-acre farm. Call Telephone 1018.

FOR RENT.—House at 1080 Washington Ave. by Peter Schuetz, R. 5, Grand Rapids, Wis.

—118 to 217-ACRE FARM.—With improvements for sale cheap and on easy payments. Will take some Grand Rapids property in exchange. H. Amundson.

FOR RENT.—Modern 5 and 6 room flats with bath, janitor service and hot and cold water year round, steam heat. Apply to Taylor, Scott & Daly.

FOR SALE.—Driving horse. Emil Henke, 18th Ave. North.

W. E. WHEELAN

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Office in Daily Block, East Side. Telephone No. 243. Grand Rapids, Wis.

GEO. L. WILLIAMS

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Office in Wood Block, over Postoffice. Telephone No. 91. Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

J. R. RAGAN

Licensed Embalmer and Undertaker.

House phone No. 69, Store 313. Spafford's building, East Side. John Bremer, Residence phone No. 435.

DR. J. K. GOODRICH

OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN

Entrance west of Bank of Grand Rapids. Office hours: 9-12, 2-5, 7-8. Phone 873. Consultation Free

COGGINS, BRAZEAU & GOGGINS

ATTORNEYS AT LAW

Office in the McKinnon Block on the West Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. Telephone No. 104.

J. J. JEFFREY

LAWYER

Loans and Collections. Commercial and Probate Law. Office across from Church's Drug Store. Personal Attention Given All Work. Office phone 251. Residence 186

W. T. LYLE

Licensed Embalmer and Funeral Director.

Store on West Side. Lady Attendant if desired. Night phone 886. Day phone 885

A. J. CROWNS

ATTORNEY AT LAW

MacKinnon Block. Phone 835. Grand Rapids, Wis.

O. R. MOORE

PHOTOGRAPHER

Opposite Wood County National Bank. 25 years behind the camera but not a day behind the times.

Slump In Energy Stock

When you are nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, HEMO is a concentrated food from which you may derive the greatest amount of nutrition with the least effort of digestion. Assists digestion, relieves constipation. A food drink for meal time, between meals and upon retiring.

Makes a delicious food drink by simply adding water.

We suggest that you try a 50c package with our guarantee of satisfaction.

OTTO'S PHARMACY

Grand Rapids, Wis.

WELL DRILLING

We are prepared to do your WELL DRILLING at reasonable prices. We have two modern machines and will operate year 'round.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

CARL KRONHOLM

Phone 3E3 Rudolph

Address Grand Rapids, Wis., R. 4

Miss Ethel Sutor entertained ton of her schoolmates at a Halloween party at her home on Monday evening.

Mrs. Jos. Weinberg and daughter departed on Saturday for Superior to visit for some time with her husband.

C. P. Gross, manager of the Grand Rapids Electric Company, made a business trip to Stevens Point on Wednesday.

Frank Henry has returned from Eau Claire where he spent several days the past week on business for L. A. DeGuerre.

Rev. H. C. Logan was in Milwaukee on Friday to attend the funeral of his friend, John Moss, secretary of the Standard Paper Co.

Mrs. A. Bornick entertained a number of her friends at her home on Thursday afternoon at 4 cards. Light refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Campbell of Chicago spent Monday in the city. Mr. Campbell giving an address before the Wilson club that evening.

Martin Jackson of the town of Seneca, carrier on R. No. 2, purchased a Cable-Nelson piano the past week from Mrs. Geo. Forrand.

Earl Hill, Paul Bease and Victor Bornick were among those from here who attended the Elks Minaret show at Stevens Point on Monday evening.

Arrangements have been made by the Elks lodge to have a private wire at the club rooms on the night of election to receive the election returns.

Wesley Eberhart who is employed in the Jeffery automobile factory at Kenosha, was in the city this week to attend the funeral of his grandfather.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McCamley entertained a number of friends on Sunday afternoon, the occasion being the 37th anniversary of their wedding.

Fred Duran has sold his interests in the firm of Geo. & Duncan to his partner, Harvey Geo. This consisted in a half interest in three farms and some city property.

Officer Wm. Berk picked up two Indian boys Sunday night who ran away from the school at Rome. An officer arrived in the city Monday to take the lads back to the school.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Brazau were in Madison Saturday where they attended the football game between Chicago and Wisconsin, which resulted in a victory for Wisconsin by a score of 39 to 7.

—Navyman Sale at the Ready-to-Wear Parlor. Handsome waists and petticoats at 95c, starting Nov. 1st. R. B. Wilcox.

Fred Mosher returned on Saturday night from Trout Lake where he spent several days hunting and fishing with his brother-in-law. Fred brought home five ducks and a number of live lake trout.

Fred Nelson of Eau Claire, formerly proprietor of the Centralia House for a number of years, was in the city over Sunday visiting with friends. Fred reports everything booming up his way.

G. E. McKee, editor of the Pittsfield Record, was in the city Friday afternoon to visit with his friends about town, and that evening he attended the political gathering at the Amusement Hall to hear Senator Clapp speak.

Mary Wagner, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wagner, was operated upon for appendicitis at the Riverview hospital on Monday. At last reports the little girl was getting along as well as can be expected.

Work on the Wood County Drainage District has been completed and the dredge that has been at work on the ditch has been taken down and will be shipped to Columbus, Ohio. The work was done by the Gilmore Construction Co.

The American Carbonic Machinery company of this city has submitted bids to furnish refrigerating plants for the bathhouses at California and Tennessee, now under construction by the United States government. This company furnished the refrigerating plant for the bathhouse at Tox, which has since given the best of satisfaction.

Dave Woodruff, who has been making his home at Marshfield for some time past, was in the city on Monday calling on his friends and looking after some business matters. Mr. Woodruff has returned to Vesper where he has again taken over the management of the Vesper Wood Mfg. Co., a concern given over largely to the manufacture of caskets.

Byron Whittingham, candidate for assemblyman on the republican ticket, was among the pleasant callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday. He was accompanied by Claus Johnson and Henry Ebb, also republican candidates, who were interviewing the people in this section relative to their political beliefs and the possibility of supporting them at the coming election.

The public is herewith invited to attend the German Evangelical services in the G. A. R. hall next Sunday, November 5. Services in remembrance of the Church Reformation, beginning at the morning sermon, 10 o'clock in the morning. After service is Sunday school. Come and let your children come. G. E. Paulowit, Minister.

—The evident thing to do before your property burns is to eliminate worry by insuring in the right company with the right agent. Insist on one of our fire insurance policies. See Edward Pomeroyville, dealer in Real Estate and Insurance.

Mr. Albert Waldvogel was called to Marshfield on Wednesday by the death of his father, Christ Hopp, who has reached the age of 78 years. Mr. Hopp was stricken with pneumonia some time ago and has since never fully recovered, and eventually contracted tuberculosis which caused his death.

—John Hopp, a son of the deceased, also went up to attend the funeral of his father.

A good sized audience turned out on Friday evening to hear Moses E. Clapp speak on the political issues of the day. The speaker explained the situation from a republican standpoint, and those who heard him reported that he put up a good talk.

The meeting was called to order by Atty. John Roberts and a short address was made by Isaac P. Wittner, candidate for state senator.

Wm. Crossland of the town of Sigel was among the business callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday. Mr. Crossland says that there is a part of the road between his place and the village of Vesper where it is entirely impassable for automobiles, and that several that have tried to make the trip have become stuck in the mud and had to be pulled out.

Mr. Crossland is strongly in favor of the idea of bonding the county for the building of good roads, and then build them in a manner that they will last for a number of years and give service at all seasons. The idea of a town building a mile a year for twenty years is all right as a slogan, but the people strapped while it is being done, but at the end of the time the country is still without roads, and those that were built first have passed out of existence.

Miss Lucy Ralst of Minneapolis, is a guest at the A. B. Sutor home.

Frank Natwick has received a new Maxwell touring car the past week.

Miss Lillian White visited with relatives and friends in Merrill several days this week.

Henry Demitz and Wilbur Horschel bagged thirty ducks in the west marsh on Sunday.

Mrs. Eva Turner of Neenah has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bozoe the past week.

According to the New Lisbon Times that city is preparing to stage a big ice-cream social for next summer.

—See the new afternoon and evening dresses just received at the Ready-to-Wear Parlor. I. E. Wilcox.

Mrs. Wyman of Oshkosh arrived in the city on Tuesday evening for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Natwick.

Simon Stollmacher of the town of Sigel departed on Friday night for Milwaukee where he intends to spend the winter.

Mrs. M. A. Foote departed on Monday for Chicago where she will spend the winter with her sons, Charles and Frank.

Mrs. George W. Miller and daughter Georgina of Stevens Point were guests at the home of Mrs. Frank Kruger the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rothenstorf of Superior visited at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Kowalski on Friday and Saturday.

Herman Pagel, one of the pioneer farmers of the town of Sigel was among the pleasant callers at the Tribune office on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Riley and daughter Nora returned on Saturday from a three weeks visit at Boston, New York and Washington.

According to a Washington dispatch in Friday's Milwaukee papers, C. R. Fuller has been appointed a railway mail clerk for Wisconsin.

Martin Jacobsen has purchased two lots of R. S. Payne and Hugh Bates on Elm street, and commenced the erection of a new home the past week.

Monroe citizens will vote at the coming spring election on a $10,000 bond issue for the purchase of a site and the construction of a municipal swimming pool.

R. B. Kruger, motorman on the Grand Rapids Street Railway, has purchased two lots of Thos. Davis on 10th Ave. South, upon which he expects to build a home next year.

Mrs. Geo. R. Gardner and daughter Mabel left on Saturday for Louisville, Kentucky, where they will attend the annual session of the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star.

Andrew Mosher and crew departed on Monday for Milladore where he has the contract for the erection of a school house. Carrying concrete blocks will be the material used.

Mrs. Henry Knoll returned on Saturday from Green Bay where she had been for two weeks in a hospital, having undergone an operation for appendicitis.

Richard Doubs, one of the enterprising young farmers of the town of Rudolph, was a pleasant caller at this office last Thursday, and before departing advanced his subscription to the Tribune for another year.

—Don't forget the November Cash Sale at the Ready-to-Wear Parlor, starting Nov. 1st to 4th. I. E. Wilcox.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Love left on Tuesday for Cincinnati, Ohio, where they will make their home in the future. Mr. and Mrs. Love have many friends in this city who are sorry to see them leave, but who wish them the best success in their new home.

M. H. McSwain, master mechanic at the Diron mill, and Alex Haydock, one of the machine tenders, returned on Saturday from a weeks trip to Port Francis, Ont., International Falls, Brainerd and Sartell, Minn., where they had been to inspect the paper mills at those points.

—We have farms to exchange for city property. If you want a loan on your farm or need some fire insurance, drop in and see us. Ed Pomeroyville, the Real Estate Dealer. 31

Hancock News: Mrs. Elmer Croteau of Rudolph, visited here a week in the home of her sister, Mrs. Clyde Starks. She was accompanied home by her mother, Mrs. H. E. McCook, who spent the summer here in the Starks home. After a months visit at Rudolph she intends to return to her own home at Avon, S. Dak.

Thomas Burr, one of the old soldiers of Milwaukee where he entered the 10th Cavalry and expects to remain. Mr. Burr has been in very poor health of late and it is expected that he can be taken care of at home better than he would be here. He was accompanied to Milwaukee by his son Elmer.

Fred Pfeigle returned on Friday from Weyauwega where he had been to attend the funeral of his brother, Wm. Pfeigle, who was buried on Thursday. Deceased was a retired merchant who was born in Adams county in 1857, and had lived in this section of the state all his life, having been engaged in the mercantile business at Strong's Prairie for a good many years.

—Special Sale at the Ready-to-Wear Parlor starting Wednesday, Nov. 1st, until Saturday, Nov. 4th. Coats, Dresses, Waists and Skirts. I. E. Wilcox.

Attorney General Owen has ruled that a divorced woman is not eligible to a pension as provided by the state law. Persons who benefit by the law must be bona fide widows and have at least one child under fourteen years of age. They must also prove that they are in real need. The pensions are paid for the support of the children and cannot exceed $14.

Merrill Herald: Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Mae Holmquist, a 1918 graduate of the university and member of the Alpha Phi Delta sorority, to Arthur Hoffmeier, of Chicago. The wedding will take place December 19, at the Blackstone hotel, Chicago, where Miss Holmquist and her mother are living.

Lee B. Margray of the town of Saratoga was among the pleasant callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday. Mr. Margray had with him a penny dated of the date of 1877 and a nickel of the same time ago. The penny is of the old eagle variety and of a design that many of the present generation has never seen. Anybody that imagines that these Saratoga coins are not good producers should interview Mr. Margray on the matter, especially when potatoes are $1.35 per bushel.

AYLWARD TO BE HERE.

John Aylward, who is one of the best known democrats in the state of Wisconsin, will be in the city Friday evening to give the voters of Grand Rapids a talk on the political situation. As Mr. Aylward is a first class speaker, there is no reason why he should not be favored with a large turnout. Daly's Theatre, Friday evening.

JERO-HOLMES

Miss Lillian Jero of New Rome and Robert Holmes of Big Flats were married Tuesday at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. H. B. Johnson of this city performing the ceremony. Both of the young people are well and favorably known down in the country and will make their home near Big Flats, where the groom is engaged in farming.

GERMAN SUBMARINE WITH VALUABLE CARGO

New London, Conn., Nov. 1.—The big German submarine, the "Deutschland," has completed its second successful voyage across the Atlantic, arriving in this port today. The Deutschland left Bremen on October 10th, making the trip in just twenty-one days.

A cargo of ten million dollars' worth of chemicals and dyestuffs was brought on the United States by the Deutschland.

It is admitted that the Bremen, another submarine that started for this country August 26th, has been lost.

DEATH OF A. EBERHARDT

Albert Eberhardt, one of the old residents of this section, died on Saturday at the age of 84 years, death being due to old age.

Deceased was a native of Germany, where he was born on the 15th of July, 1834, and was consequently in his 85th year at the time of his death.

Mr. Eberhardt came to this country in 1854, and was engaged in the family of the late John A. Eberhardt, who was a member of the Wood County Post.

He is survived by three sons, Henry Eberhardt of the town of Grand Rapids, and John and Fred Eberhardt of this city.

The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon from the past side Lutheran church, Rev. R. J. Jantz conducting the services.

The partridge season closed on the first of November. Less partridges were killed this season than for a good many years.

The banns of Miss Lulu Hayes and Dr. C. T. Foote were published for the first time at St. Peter and Paul church on Wednesday.

Miss Hilda Merton of Milwaukee spent the past week at the J. E. Northington home at Byron. Miss Merton returned home today.

Miss Julia Lukasecki of Chicago arrived in the city Tuesday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Lukasecki for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. E. M. Stoddard of Merrill, former resident of Grand Rapids, spent Friday in the city, having come down as a delegate to the W. R. C. convention.

Mike Griffin of Marshfield was among the pleasant callers at the Tribune office this morning. Mr. Griffin was on his way to Port Edwards to look after some business matters.

Vesper State Center: A baby boy was born to Mrs. Claus Tjepkema on Wednesday morning. Mr. Tjepkema died about a month after their marriage which leaves the child fatherless at birth. It is an unusual occurrence.

A number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Lutz were entertained at their home Thursday evening, the occasion being Mrs. Lutz's birthday. The evening was spent in a very pleasant manner, supper being served and a general good time had by all in attendance.

According to statistics there have been more than 1000 people killed in the United States since the first of January in automobile accidents. Also something over 8000 injured by the same method. As a means of killing and maiming the populace, the automobile in America has the Zeppelin backed off the map in the raids that have been made in England, and yet, we hardly take a second look at the casualties of the auto, but look with horror on the raids of the Zeppelin. It merely illustrates how different it is if we do the thing ourselves or whether somebody else steps in and does it for us.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fahrner of Joliet, Ill., are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby at their home on Monday, October 30. Mrs. Fahrner was formerly Miss Grace Huntington of this city.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sutor at Milwaukee, October 27. Mrs. Sutor was formerly Miss Harriet Kluge of this city.

Pay by Check

For Payment At All Times

Use a check-book.

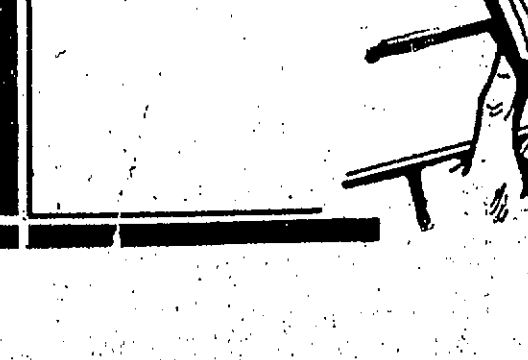

Whether you carry an account with the merchants of our city or make cash payments—the check-book offers the safest, easiest and most accurate method of payment.

A check at the end of the month or for each individual purchase gives you a legal receipt for the money paid.

A bank check is a time saver and a money saver to merchants, farmers or home-makers. We invite your account and assure you of careful attention to all your requirements.

Bank of Grand Rapids

West Side

COMMITTED TO ASYLUM

Anton Zwobinski, who was working on the section in this vicinity, was adjudged insane on Friday and taken to the asylum. Zwobinski's trouble was said to be due to drink. The man came here from Wautoma.

J. J. Northington of Stevens Point has purchased a lot on the corner of Clark and Third Streets on which he will erect a modern and up-to-date laundry, same to cost about $10,000.

Specials For Saturday, November 4th

Choice 1916 Spring Lamb
Hind Quarter Lamb	15c
Loin Roast Lamb	15c
Shoulder Roast Lamb	14c
Lamb Stew	12c
Choice Milk Fed Veal
Leg Veal Roast	15c
Loin Veal Roast	14c
Shoulder Veal Roast	13c
Veal Stew	11c
Choice Native Beef Pot Roast	12c
Choice Native Beef Rib Roast	12c
Choice Boneless Beef Roled	15c
Roast	9c
Rib Boiling Beef	14c
Choice Tender Sirloin Steak	14c
Choice Tender Porter House Steak	14c
Choice Tender Round Steak	14c
Ranch Beef Tenderloin	22c
Hamburger	12c
Loin Pork Roast	16c
Shoulder Pork Roast	16c
Fresh Pig Feet	6c
Fresh Neck Rots	6c
Fresh Spareribs	12c
Fresh Hocks	12c
Hog Liver	7c
Link Pork Sausage	15c
Bulk Pork Sausage	14c
Very Best Boiled Ham	28c
Mettwurst	15c
Summer Sausage	18c
Frankfurters Weiners	12c
Fresh Liver Sausage	11c
Ray Blood Sausage	11c
Polish Sausage	13c
No. 1 Regular Smoked Hams	17c
Very Good Bacon	19c
Very Best Bacon	21c
Swift Premium Bacon by the slab	27c
Swift Premium Ham	22c

Remember All Our Meats U. S. Inspected

New Meat Market

J. H. BRANDT, Prop.

Authorized and paid for by Claus Johnson to be paid for at the rate of $1.00 per issue.

CLAUS JOHNSON

(Resident of Wood County 50 Years)

Candidate for COUNTY TREASURER AT THE GENERAL ELECTION

November 7, 1916

Your Vote will be Appreciated

W. H. Bean of Vesper is building a new garage in connection with his livery business at Vesper.

THE ENLARGED HOMESTEAD ACT

The Interior Department at Washington designated 1,124,000 acres of new homestead land in August. These additions to lands, subject to homestead, are of what is known as non-irrigable land. Entry made thereunder entitles a homesteader to 320 acres instead of 160 acres as provided under the old homestead laws. If a settler already has 160 acres under the former homestead law, he may acquire an additional 160 acres under the "enlarged Homestead Act." A little energy on the part of local communities, may, in many cases, secure for the homesteader double the number of acres he now possesses.

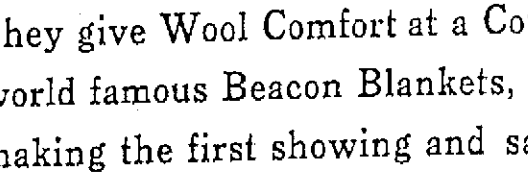

LUKE McLUKE SAYS

There are many kinds of music. One kind is when a joy rider almost runs you down and you hear one of his tires blow out after he passes you. Our idea of a Bad Egg is a fellow who isn't on speaking terms with his own conscience.

When Daughter gets a Natural photograph of herself she appears with a clean sheet draped around her torso and is gazing at the sky with a faraway look in her eyes. But a Natural picture of Mother would show her draped in a soiled wrapper and gazing at a dishpan heaped with unwashed plates and saucers.

Beautiful Beacon Blankets

They give Wool Comfort at a Cotton Price. We've secured the agency of the world famous Beacon Blankets, Robes and Couch Throws, of which we are making the first showing and sale.

Robe blankets in handsome color combination including handsome Indian patterns, 72x90 inches at.....$2.98 and $2.50

Misses and childrens robe blankets, 56x80 in. at.....$2.35

Comfortables for bed or couch cover 70x84 at $2.75

Crib blankets at.....19, 25, 35, 59c and up to $1.50

Beacon baby blankets per pair $1.25, $1.50 up $2.25.

Beacon wool finish bed blankets, 11-4, per pair from.....$2.50 to $4.50

Cotton fleeced bed blankets from.....59c to $2.00

11-4 white fleeced blanket sheets per pair.....$1.45

Wool bed blankets, special value per pair.....$5.98 In red, blue, pink, tan and grey plaids

You may want one of these handsome Beacon Blankets or Robes for a Xmas gift. Make your choice now. See the Robes this week in our window. Our next window display will show the Bed Blankets.

W. C. WEISEL

What the HOOSIER Cabinet Will Do For You

What the HOOSIER Cabinet Will Do For You

- Places for 400 articles all within arm's reach.
- 40 labor-saving features, each like a helping hand.
- The Hoosier will cut your kitchen work in half.
- Will save you miles of steps.
- Will save you hours of weary toil.
- Will make it a pleasure to cook and bake.
- Will save your energy and beauty, and keep you feeling young and strong.
- Will help you get meals quickly.
- Will help you tidy up in just a few

GRAND RAPIDS TRIBUNE

Thursday, November 2, 1916

Published by W. A. Drumb and A. B. Sutor.

Entered at the postoffice at Grand Rapids, Wis., as 2nd class mail matter.

Subscription Price—Per year, $1.50; 6 mo. 75c; 3 mo. 40c; if paid in advance.

Published Every Wednesday at Grand Rapids, Wood County, Wisconsin. Telephone Number 324

ADVERTISING RATES
Resolutions, each 75c
Card of Thanks, each 25c
Transient Readers, per line.....10c
Obituary Poetry, per line.....5c
Paid Entertainments, per line.....5c
Display Ad Rates 15c per inch.

Advertisements—Authorized and paid for by Carl C. Hoehne at the rate of 5c per line.

To the Voters of the 24th Senate District of Wisconsin:

At the solicitation of neighbors and friends, I have consented to become a candidate for the office of State Senator, and like other men in like situation, wish to win out by your votes.

The district is large and I do not have the money and time to make a house to house canvass and meet you personally and talk to you as man to man, as I would like to do.

You have a right as intelligent men, to know who you are voting for. To know what he believes in, and what his course of action will be as your servant in the office that you place him by your vote.

Years ago my parents came from Germany, settling in the town of Lowell, Dodge County, Wisconsin, where I was raised on a farm, knowing full well the labor and trials that beset the man who produces that others may eat. Removing from my old home in 1902, I located in Crookwood, Clark County, and engaged in the hardware business and farming, and by hard work and constant care, have established a fair, growing business.

I am married, having a wife and four children.

If a man's beliefs you may judge what his actions will be. I believe in the United States for a United People; the Declaration of Independence as proclaimed by the founders of the Republic and crystallized in the Constitution of the United States; that the people are rulers of this country, and they alone; that every man who holds office from the postmaster to the president is the servant of the people, of all the people, and not the servant of any race, class or creed. That every cent of the people should give the dollar's worth of service for every one hundred cents collected as taxes from the people.

I believe in Protection. That protection which is an offering to the God of Humanity and not a sacrifice to the God of Mammon. That protection that builds for the future welfare of all the people and not for present gain to a class, combination, or a few of the people only.

I would protect the property rights of all the people from misappropriation or subversion by or for the interest of any class or individuals. I heartily endorse that protection which our servants at Washington have recently enacted in the Child Labor law, a law that means more to the future well-being of this country than all of the so-called "Protection Acts" passed since 1865. I believe in the building of good roads for the benefit of the farmer and merchant alike; in the advancement and upbuilding of farming industry of the state by liberal appropriation of money for that purpose, but would safeguard the expending of such money so that every dollar expended would result in benefit to all.

I may be a little old-fashioned, but I believe in the Golden Rule, to do unto others as I would that others should do unto me. I believe that the legislature of Wisconsin should pass no act in the nature of a step backward to repeal any progressive law that has been passed and found beneficial for all the people.

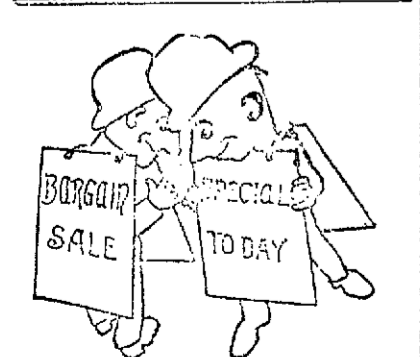

I believe with Lincoln that this government of ours is "a government of the people, by the people and for the people" and I will be guided by that idea if elected to serve you.

Yours for the right,
CARL C. HOEHNE.

D. D. CONWAY

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Law, Loans and Collections. We have $2,000 which will be loaned at a low rate of interest. Office over First National Bank, East side, Grand Rapids, Wis.

SPECIAL TODAY AND EVERY DAY

VICTORIA is the very best flour in the state and we want every housewife to know that if she cares for really good bread and cake and pastry see must use VICTORIA.

Grand Rapids Milling Co.

REASONS FOR RE-ELECTION OF WILSON

1. Because he has kept the peace.
2. Because he has abolished invisible government, dispersed the corrupt lobby and restored the government to the hands of the governed.
3. Because he prefers construction to destruction.
4. Because he has secured the reduction of the tariff, not upward but downward, to a competitive basis.
5. Because he has secured the adoption of a dumping clause to protect American labor, capital and business against the possibility of cut-throat competition when the European war is over.
6. Because he has secured the imposition of an income tax, obliging wealth to share with the burdens as well as the blessings of the government.
7. Because he has secured the establishment of a non-partisan tariff commission, so that hereafter the tariff may be revised, whether upward or downward, upon scientific principles and in the light of all the facts.
8. Because he has been a friend of legitimate business.
9. Because he has secured the establishment of a Federal Reserve system, dethroning the money trust, democratizing credit and reassuring the future against recurrence of banking and currency panics.
10. Because he has secured the establishment of a Federal Trade Commission to suppress unfair competition and to protect and promote honest business and to safeguard law abiding business men against needless and vexatious litigation.
11. Because he has effected the abolition of tying contracts, interlocked directorates and holding companies, the tap roots of monopoly.
12. Because he has been a friend of the farmer.
13. Because he has secured the establishment of a system of rural credits designed to emancipate and to enfranchise the farmer in the business world.
14. Because under his administration a system of licensed and bonded warehouses has been authorized which will assist to make the farmer a master of his own business and his own destiny.
15. Because under his administration measures have been passed looking to the establishment of official standards and grades of cotton and grain, thus safeguarding the market against manipulation.
16. Because he has approved a measure providing for the establishment of a system of highways, through state and federal co-operation, which will, when completed, according to the estimate of experts, save the farmers more than one million dollars between the rising and setting of every day's sun.
17. Because he stands upon a platform which promises the prosecution of plans "to make agriculture more profitable, and country life more healthful, comfortable and attractive."
18. Because he has been a friend of the wage earner.
19. Because he has approved a measure declaring that human labor shall not be dealt with as a mere commodity in the market place.
20. Because he has approved a measure abolishing the writ of injunction as an instrument of judicial tyranny, securing to labor the right to a trial by jury in cases of constructive contempt.
21. Because he has approved the Workmen's Compensation Act making the United States a model employer and an example to all other employers.
22. Because he has approved the Seamen's Act, liberating the toilers of the sea from involuntary servitude, protecting them against imprisonment for debt and criminal prosecution for the mere breach of a civil contract.
23. Because he urged and signed the Eight-hour Act, which crystallized the enlightened judgment of mankind into the law of the land in accordance with the progressive platform of 1912 and the democratic platform of 1916, and in accordance with the matured conviction that the man who toils should be allowed to enjoy a fair share of the treasure and the leisure and the pleasure which should be the portion of civilized men in a civilized society.
24. Because he has said, "suffer little children to come out of the mines and the mills and the sweat-shops."
25. Because he believes in the conservation of human resources as well as in the conservation of natural resources.
26. Because he has made the principles of social and industrial justice a reality rather than an ideal something more than a mere vision of unfulfilled desire.
27. Because by taking the American people into his confidence he has deserved the confidence of the American people.
28. Because by upholding and maintaining international law when great warring nations sought to disregard it, he has performed a monumental service to civilization and humanity and to future ages.
29. Because he is a good man as well as a great President.

The republican papers are having quite a time these days telling us that President Wilson had nothing to do with keeping this country out of the war. First they admitted that he did keep us out of the war, but said that it was at the cost of our honor. Then finding that the public did not seem to be particularly concerned about this honor business, not half as much as they were about being out of the scrap, they came out with the assertion that the president had nothing to do with it, anyway. Next they will be telling us that there hasn't been any war, so how could the president have anything to do with keeping us out of it.

PHILIPP AND HIGH SALARIES

The number of salaried officials in the state government is greater today under Governor Philipp's "economical" administration than under any previous administration. Non-salaried boards have been displaced by salaried boards. The salaries of many existing officials have been raised and that of new ones for the state employees formerly $5,000 annually, has been raised to $6,000, two entirely new positions being created at that salary. About these facts there can be no dispute, as no attempt has been made, nor can it be made successfully to disprove them. It is therefore unnecessary to go any further into detail.

KILLED BY A HORSE

Earl Dignan was killed at Plainfield Wednesday when one of his horses kicked him in the head. Mr. Dignan was an agent of the Standard Oil Co. at Plainfield. He was in the barn at his home attending his team when the animal kicked him. The injured man was carried into the house and died almost immediately after. He was about 35 years of age. Mr. and Mrs. Dignan were married about five years ago. They have no children.

Dignan was to meet a couple of auditors of the Standard Oil Co. Wednesday morning it is stated. He postponed the interview two or three times during the forenoon and finally the auditors went to his home. Mrs. Dignan went out to the barn to call him and found the building locked. However, she succeeded in entering and discovered her husband lying on the floor. What was believed to be the mark of a horse's shoe was visible on the side of his head and the other side was crushed, apparently where he struck the floor or other hard object after being kicked. Mrs. Dignan at once gave the alarm and the two auditors carried Mr. Dignan into the house.

PLOVER ROAD

Miss Anna Walters is visiting friends in Stevens Point this week. Mrs. M. Conpton of Beloit is visiting at the home of her brother, Louie Fello, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Fello spent Sunday at Mekehan.

The boys from here who are employed at the Biron mill, and drove to and from their work, are now able to procure board in Biron.

The many friends of Grandma Wenzel are sorry to hear that she is still in poor health. We all hope for her speedy recovery.

D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema
This is the standard remedy for all skin diseases. A liquid used externally. Instant relief from itch, sore, and pain. Your money back if the bottle does not bring you relief. Ask also about D. D. Soap.

J. E. DALY, DRUGGIST.

REMINGTON

Mrs. Rose Urban and Miss Thyra Hanson returned home Monday from Milwaukee.

Mrs. Frank Pribrinow who has been visiting her mother and other relatives here, returned to her home at Grand Rapids Saturday.

Gust Rutz has gone to Iowa to visit with relatives.

Miss Ethel Hand is entertaining her cousin, Miss Daly of Reedsburg.

The many friends of Mrs. Wm. Plunkett of New Lisbon will be sorry to learn of her serious illness.

Mrs. F. W. Roulee and son of Piquette visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lowe Friday and Saturday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Lowe of St. Paul were guests at the home of his brother, C. S. Lowe several days this week. On Saturday, October 28, at half past 12 o'clock, John McGlynn, an old and respected resident of our town, passed away. He had been in poor health for the past two years. The funeral occurred Tuesday was held at the Methodist church and was largely attended. Rev. Feckham presided at the funeral service. The deceased leaves to mourn him a widow and eight children. Mr. McGlynn was born at Madison and was 61 years of age at the time of his death. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the community in their great sorrow.

CARD OF THANKS

To the friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, and for the floral offerings.

Mrs. John McGlynn and Family.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Casey and Family.

KELLNER

O. Brockway who has been working on a dredge near Floodwood, Minn., returned home last week.

Miss AnnaLaging of Milwaukee returned home Saturday.

Miss Minnie Knipple of Milwaukee attended the Buss-Zuege wedding. Of Mrs. M. Tiffing and children of Tomahawk visited part of last week at the Biron home.

R. Anderson who has been visiting at the Hjerstedt home, returned to Chicago Wednesday.

Martin Buss of Milwaukee returned home Tuesday.

Emil Hjerstedt left for Chicago on Wednesday to visit for a short time.

Monday evening occurred the death of Jesse, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Worden. The baby had only been ill a few days. The funeral was held from the house on Tuesday and the remains were taken to Plainfield for burial.

John Dwyer left for Floodwood, Minn., to work on a dredging outfit.

Last Thursday at the Lutheran church occurred the marriage of Miss Leona Buss, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buss, to a Mr. Zuege. After the ceremony a large crowd of friends gathered at the home of the bride where a wedding feast was served. Their many friends wish them much joy and prosperity.

Isabelle, the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blood was united in marriage to Mr. Alvin Wilson. Rev. C. A. Meiloke performed the ceremony, after which a wedding dinner was served to a few relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Thompson spent a day this week with the D. Ramsey family at Saratoga.

There was no school here Friday as Miss Podwinski attended institute at Stevens Point.

Bert Worden and family of Vesper spent the first part of the week at the Jess Worden home.

Ed Person who has been visiting with Mrs. N. Anderson returned to Waukegan, Illinois, Wednesday.

SHERRY.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sweazy are at home. Mrs. Sweazy, Sr. is also back from her visit at Chicago and Milwaukee.

Miss Jennie Evans spent the week end at her home in Sherry, returning to her studies at Wausau Monday morning.

Miss Hazel Parks was home from Stevens Point over Sunday and entertained Glenn Bennett, a former student friend at Lawrence College. Miss Isla Davis was a guest at the Hart Thomas home on Friday and Saturday.

Miss Grace Ellis was in Marshfield on business Friday and Saturday. She found her hospital to see Miss Bond and found her doing very well.

Beginning with next Sunday, November 5, services at the Presbyterian church will be as follows: Sabbath school at 10 o'clock; preaching service at 7:30 p. m. We hope that every one will note these changes and come out. The furnace has not yet been installed but we hope that by next Sunday everything will be in readiness.

The Frank Parks family drove to Marshfield Saturday in their car. Horace Huron of Rock Island, Illinois, was in town last Thursday in the interest of the Modern Woodmen. He gave a most pleasing entertainment, and he is well worth listening to.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will serve dinner in the newly equipped basement of their church next Thursday, election day.

Quite a number from here went to Vesper last Saturday night to the supper and fair at that place. A big crowd was present and had a good time.

RUDOLPH

Mr. and Mrs. Bat Sharkey, Mr. Mose Sharkey and daughter and Mrs. Maud Robbins departed Sunday noon for Mosinee to attend the wedding on Monday of Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sharkey.

Miss Louise Spalenka of Stevens Point came down Saturday evening to visit her sisters.

Mrs. Frank Scheffhuth returned home Monday evening from the hospital in Grand Rapids where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. She is feeling real well and is able to be up and around.

There will be no school in our graded school from Wednesday noon until next Monday, as on Wednesday the teachers leave for Milwaukee to attend a teachers' convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Garret Koran were tendered a farewell party at their home Tuesday evening. Over forty guests were present, and all enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Mr. and Mrs. Kersten will move onto a farm near Sigel.

Miss Mary Kujawa entertained about thirty young people at her home Monday evening at a Halloween party. Miss Dora Vadnais of Grand Rapids was the guest of the party, also Miss Louise Spalenka of Stevens Point.

Mrs. A. J. Kujawa was a Grand Rapids shopper Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Joosten and daughter Dehla auted to Grand Rapids Saturday on shopping errands.

Miss Clara Hubing of Neillsville surprised her sister, Mrs. E. S. Root by coming to see her Monday.

Miss Ruth Kinney spent Sunday and Monday in Nekoosa.

Miss Louise Imig has been out of school this week with an attack of tonsillitis.

Frank Rivers of Red Granite spent the past week with his brother.

Miss Dena Timmerman spent the week end in Grand Rapids.

Miss Pearl Clark who is attending school in Grand Rapids spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Ratelle was shopping in Grand Rapids Saturday. About fifty persons partook of a house dinner Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Vadnais. After dinner card playing was indulged in, nine tables being in use. After the session it was found that Nick Ratelle and Jesse Provost had each won sixteen games. The cards were cut to decide the winner and Mr. Provost was winner on the cut. Myron Reinhart was awarded the consolation prize.

Mrs. Albert Peterson of Sigel will arrive here Wednesday from Mosinee where she has spent a week with her sister, Mrs. Frank Gokoy.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Timmerman and John Bates of Grand Rapids, spent Sunday at the Theo. Timmerman home.

Misses Gladys Ratelle and Lillie Larson were in Grand Rapids visitors Wednesday afternoon.

MARKET REPORT.

Spring Chickens12
Hens11
Roosters8
Ducks11
Geese11
Turkeys14
Beef5
Hides16
Veal12 1/2
Potatoes$1.30
Hay, timothy11 1/4
Pork, dressed1.20
Eggs27-30
Oats44
Patent Flour$10.65
Butter27-30
Rye$8.10
Rye Flour$8.10

STOMACH AGONIES

One Dose of Remedy Sweeps Pain Away—Hundreds of Thousands Restored.

Mayer's Wonderful Remedy is unlike any other. It sweeps the bile and poisonous catarrhal accretions from the system. Soothes and allays inflammation in the intestinal tract—the cause of serious and fatal ailments, such as gall stones, appendicitis, acute indigestion, cancer and ulcers of the stomach and intestines, yellow jaundice, constipation, gastritis, auto-intoxication, etc., etc. In every locality there are grateful people who owe their complete recovery to Mayer's Wonderful Remedy. Thousands say it has saved them from the knife. The most thorough system cleanser known. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. FREE booklet on Stomach Ailments. Address Geo. H. Mayer, Mfg. Chemist, Chicago. Better yet, obtain a bottle of Mayer's Wonderful Remedy from Otto's Pharmacy, or any reliable druggist, who will refund your money if it fails.

NEW ROME

Husking corn is the order of the day.

Miss Nina Christenson visited with Miss Freda Hoelt over Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. E. J. Hoelt left Saturday for Antigo to visit with relatives and attend the wedding of a friend.

Mesdames Bennie Burhite and Levi Thomas were visitors at the Mrs. E. J. Hoelt home Tuesday.

The Misses Freda Hoelt, Nina Christenson, Fern Ross and Mary Peterson attended the school board convention and teachers' institute at Friendship last Thursday.

NEW ROME

Mrs. Levi Thomas and Mrs. B. C. Burhite spent Tuesday with Miss Freda Hoelt.

Joe Zajac has traded his farm for Chicago property and expects to move there this week.

James Webb went to Nekoosa with a load of potatoes Tuesday. Potatoes are a good price for the farmer who has them.

Miss Nina Christenson spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Freda Hoelt.

Willie Patfield is working for Jim Webb this week husking corn.

Chas. Amundson and family spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Amundson.

Lowell Finch spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

The F. C. Patfield family spent Sunday evening at the J. D. Webb home.

E. A. Finch is laying the foundation for a new house.

ALTDORF

Mrs. Frank Steiner of Mauston is visiting at the John Withelm and Mrs. Hannah Mennier homes.

Mrs. Jenkins of Grand Rapids is staying at the O. J. Leu home.

Mrs. P. Wirtz had a tombstone erected Monday over the grave of her husband.

O. J. Leu has sold a team of horses to H. W. Ellsworth of Vesper.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brockman on Sunday, October 22, a daughter.

Legal Blanks for sale at this office

SARATOGA

Mrs. K. F. Knutson is spending a few weeks in Wyville, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. John Wagner.

Miss Emma Misner who is attending the Stevens Point Normal, spent Sunday at the Geo. Peterson home.

Miss Hayward, Miss Kitta and Miss Lance of Grand Rapids gave an excellent program in the Union church Friday evening, which was greatly enjoyed all.

C. W. Lundberg went to Arpin Saturday, returning Monday.

Dorothy Lundberg left Tuesday for Chicago where she will spend the winter.

CITY POINT

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jacobson of Montana, are visiting his parents at Dewhurst. Henry has not been home for eight years.

Prof. O. G. Malde of Cranmoor, transacted business at the Bliss marsh last Thursday.

Galloway & Jensen received their new Ford's last week.

Peter Nelson celebrated his 21st birthday Saturday evening by a little party. Games were played and refreshments served.

Cecil Hoover of Pittsville called at the I. Nelson home Saturday evening.

I. Nelson transacted business in Grand Rapids last week.

Mrs. Geo. Galloway entertained the Ladies' Aid society Saturday afternoon.

Joseph Butterfield who has made his home with Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Anderson the past month, left for Milwaukee last Thursday with his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Staffon and son and Miss LaMay were business callers at Pittsville Saturday.

Miss Idelle Knutson and Leone LeMay visited at the A. J. Amundson home recently.

Miss Stella Pantson departed for Lake Geneva after a two months vacation.

C. L. Jopson was a business visitor in Pittsville last Saturday.

A man will rear like a wounded lion on Saturday afternoon when he asks for $2 extra for household expenses. Then he will stay out until midnight and blow in twelve bucks and think nothing of it.

"The bank that does things for you."

Your Suit or Overcoat for Fall and Winter!

1. To the man who has in mind paying $15 for his new Fall Suit or Overcoat—well, we just want to see him and we'll both profit by the meeting.

2. To the man who has in mind paying $18 for his new Fall Suit or Overcoat—the Abel-Mullen garment is the answer.

3. To the man who has decided on expending $20 and up for his Fall outfit—in justice to yourself please investigate before buying.

We devote our entire time and energy to men's and young men's Clothing of the better grades. That's why today, while other houses (selling something of everything) are everlastingly harping on the advanced priced of woollens—the scarcity of dyes, and so forth. We are in a position (through foresight of market conditions) to give customers the same good values this Fall as a year ago, at

$15, $18, $20 AND UP

ABEL-MULLEN CO.
Grand Rapids, Wis. Nekoosa, Wis.

RAIL COMMISSION UPHELD BY COURT

AFFIRMS THAT STATE BODY HAS
RIGHT TO DETERMINE
DAM LEVELS.

WATER MUST BE LOWERED

Chippewa and Flambeau Improvement
Company Ordered to Reduce
Head at Henry Dam to
Eight and One-half Feet.

Madison — The Wisconsin supreme court has affirmed the constitutionality of the water power law conferring on the Wisconsin railroad commission authority to issue orders fixing the level of water in dams in the state.

The question arose in the case of the Chippewa and Flambeau Improvement company against the railroad commission. The company bought the so-called Henry dam at the outlet of Reel lake at the head of Manitowish river in Chippewa county. The company maintained the dam, so that the maximum head of water was fifteen feet. On complaint of owners of property near the lake, the commission issued an order providing that the maximum head of water should not, at any time, exceed eight and one-half feet. The company brought suit to have the order declared invalid. The circuit court upheld the commission and the supreme court affirmed that decision.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEE IS SHOT

"Raffles" Palmero of Janesville, Believed to Be Victim of Black Hand.

Janesville — "Raffles" Palmero, 38 years old, section foreman for the Milwaukee road, was killed with bullets in the front yard of his home. Three shots pierced his heart, three his brain and two hit him in the body.

Palmero predicted his own death. He had feared assassination for eighteen months, and repeatedly told the police "they will get me." His death is believed to be the penalty for aiding the police in trying to run down the murderer of a little girl who was killed last year. This man, who is believed to be an Italian, is still at large. A number of threatening letters were sent to Palmero by the "Black Hand" demanding that he refrain from further investigating the girl's murder, all of which he ignored. He had suspected a member of his section gang, who disappeared on the day of the girl's death.

Palmero acted as interpreter for Italians, and was a leader of the foreign colony here, although he was not Italian himself. He was married, and had two children.

The police are holding two suspects pending further investigation into the shooting.

Awarded Six Grain Prizes.

Deaver Dam — H. E. Krueger, whose farm is near this city, has received from Wichita, Kas., notice that each of six grain samples which he sent to the international wheat show at the Wichita fair and exposition were prize winners. He got first awards in the following: hard red spring wheat, durum wheat, white wheat, two romed barley, six romed barley, and hullless barley. He also got the international sweepstakes on six romed barley, his exhibit being Wisconsin pedigree barley.

Municipal Plant Losing.

Madison — Although it has been operating its electric light plant for less than a year and a half, the village of Black Creek, Outagamie county, applied to the state railroad commission for authority to increase its electric rate schedule 50 per cent. The present rate is 10 cents per kilowatt hour. The council asks that it be allowed to raise this to 16 cents per kilowatt hour.

$157,000 for Normal School.

Superior — Approximately $157,000 will be expended on the Superior Normal school during 1917 and 1918 if the recommendations of the board of normal school regents are accepted by the state central board of education and the state legislature, according to President V. E. McCaskill of the school, who has just returned from a session of the board regents at Eau Claire.

To Test Jitney Law.

Kenosha — Trial of Kenosha jitneys which will be made test cases of the state jitney regulations, have been continued until Nov. 10.

Big Game Plentiful.

Winter — Deer and wolves offer good sport to hunters near here, although deer, partridges and other fowl are scarce.

No More "Treats."

Neenah — Local grocers state that after the first of November the practice of treating their patrons when they pay their accounts will be discontinued because of the high cost of operating.

New Bank Opens.

Cascade — The new bank of Cascade opened with $60,000 on deposit. The officers are: Albert Fuenlehd, president; Adolph Rubenthal, vice-president; H. J. Darnell, cashier.

Thinks Fires Incendiary.

Kenosha — Charges of incendiarism are made in connection with two fires in houses being erected by the Kenosha Homes company to meet the demand of working men for dwellings. State fire marshals' officers are investigating.

Raise Relief Fund.

Racine — More than $3,000 was raised by the citizens of Racine for the relief of the suffering Armenians and Syrians in Europe.

Neenah Faces Litigation.

Neenah — Neenah will have to fight in court if it wants to make any change in the present street car terminal. Business men near where the cars now stop have taken legal steps to halt the change.

Clammers Get Good Prices.

Monroe — Clammers along the Rock and Pecatonica rivers are getting $31 a ton for button material, which sold for $8 a ton before the war shut off its importation from Germany.

ORGANIZE HOSE SYNDICATE

Kenosha, Sheboygan and Vermont
Plants Merged, With Headquarters in State.

Kenosha — The Chicago-Kenosha Hose company, said to be the largest stocking plant in the world, and the Sheboygan Knitting company and the Cooper Manufacturing company at Bennington, Vt., one of the largest makers of underwear in the country, have been purchased by the Black Cat Textile company, the organization of which was announced here. The company was capitalized for $3,000,000 and the stock taken by Kenosha manufacturers.

Financing of the company has been entirely in the hands of young Kenosha men, who have made a brilliant record in the manufacture of hosiery in the last few years. The new syndicate is said to be contemplating purchase of several other similar industries in different parts of the country. The purchase price of the Cooper plant is said to have been $650,000. Central offices and sales offices of the big company will be located in Kenosha. A large extension of the business of all of the plants taken over is announced by the directors of the new company.

RACINE MAN CHOSEN HEAD

W. A. Walker Named President at
Convention of Unitarians and
Universalists at Oshkosh.

Oshkosh — At the fifth joint state convention of Unitarian and Universalist churches, the following officers were elected: President, W. A. Walker, Racine; vice-president, Judge A. N. Rind, Wausau; secretary, the Rev. A. W. Altenberg, Mukwonago; treasurer, F. P. Pratt, Racine; trustees, Karl Mathie, Wausau; E. E. Rogers, Oshkosh; E. L. Spiller, La Crosse; committee of fellowship, the Rev. N. E. McLaughlin, Monroe; Miss Alice Aldridge, Markesan; the Rev. M. L. Aldridge, Markesan.

PLAN "U" CHURCH CENTER

Campaign Being Carried on to Raise Half Million Dollars to Cover
the Cost.

Madison — The campaign for a union religious center at the University to cost $500,000 is being carried on. Another $250,000 will be raised as an endowment for maintenance of the building and the carrying on of various activities. The purpose of the religious center will be to supply a place where all religious forces in the university may carry on their work. An audience which will seat 4,000 people will constitute the main part of the building. Class rooms, social rooms, offices for university pastors and quarters for the Y. M. C. A. also will be a part of the building.

Oneda Has Potato Show.

Rhineland — The third annual county "spud show" of Oneda county was held here. Talks were given by J. W. Hicks, president; J. G. Milward, president and secretary of the Wisconsin Potato Growers' association, and C. L. Pritch, Ames, Ia. Prize exhibits will be taken to the state potato show and institute.

Gets Three Year Sentence.

Racine — George Sanderhoff, alias Carl Rasmussen, 25 years of age, was sentenced to three years in the state reformatory at Green Bay for burglary. He was arrested for entering the saloon of Peter Hogard, having previously advised a partner of his that he was "going to pull off a job."

Troops Enjoying Warm Weather.

Fort Sam Houston, Tex. — The Wisconsin troops are now enjoying ideal weather. The days are warm enough to make the olive drab, cotton uniforms feel slightly burdensome, and the evenings are only a little cooler. Brisk breezes from the gulf prevail almost every hour of the day.

New Buildings for Lawrence.

Appleton — Three new buildings for Lawrence college are being planned for the Mendota institution the coming year, according to President Platts. They are: A new chapel, a gymnasium and a laboratory building. There are already sixteen buildings.

U. of W. Professor Honored.

Madison — Prof. E. M. Lebar, formerly professor of romance languages at the University of Wisconsin, has been decorated with the French cross of France because of bravery.

Papers to Make Own Stock.

Merrill — A newspaper syndicate, headed by a Chicago German daily, has offered to purchase the plant of the Grandfather Falls company and manufacture its own print paper there.

Plan Basketball Tournament.

Neenah — Plans are being outlined for Neenah and Menasha's annual Sunday school basketball tournament to be started in November.

Fire Threatens Courthouse.

Manitowish — Its fireproof construction saved the $250,000 courthouse here. A short circuit ignited brooms, shovels and other inflammables in the basement. It was not known until the next morning. The damage was slight.

To Stay South Long.

Beloit — Capt. Chester A. West, home on leave from Camp Wilson, reported that indications are that Company L and other militia detachments will remain in Mexico for a long season.

Father of Nine Dies.

Neenah — Frank Hackett, 50 years old, died of a heart attack which followed his being struck by a board thrown from a saw in the plant of the Menasha Woodenware plant. He left a wife and nine children.

Report Hunting Good.

Neenah — Local hunters returning from the upriver marshes report that hunting has improved following the recent cold weather and that the sport is at its best.

Find Rich Ore.

Hayward — Shortly after drilling for iron ore had been started on the Robert Robertson property, indications of copper and silver were discovered. Prospects of iron in this region are good.

Train Kills Team.

Kenosha — A team of horses valued at $300, belonging to J. William Miller, was killed at the Somers crossing of the Milwaukee road by a passenger train.

BADGER BRIGADE WINS NEW HONOR

STAGE FIRST OF SEMI-WEEKLY
PARADES PLANNED FOR THE TROOPS.

SELECTED BY GEN. GREEN

Wisconsin Boys Have Gala Day and
People Call Spectacle Best of
Year—Praised by Army
Officers.

Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex. — "The finest parade staged in San Antonio this year!"

This is the way residents of Fort Sam Houston and San Antonio described the brigade parade which the Wisconsin troops staged at the lower post when the first of semi-weekly brigade parades and reviews was given. When Gen. Frederick Funston, commander of the division, selected a brigade to give the first of these semi-weekly spectacles, Gen. Green immediately called on Gen. Richardson's force, because, as army officers said, "he wanted a brigade on which he could depend on short notice."

In the reviewing stand were Brig. Gen. Lorrain T. Richardson and his staff, consisting of Maj. James McCully, Ashland, brigade adjutant; First Lieut. Fred C. Best, Milwaukee; and Peter W. Witz, Sheboygan, aides. Gen. Funston, Col. Bundy and Rogers and other members of Gen. Funston's staff observed the ceremony with much pleasure. Favorable comment upon the smartness of execution of manual of arms, the quick step with which the three regiments took the field, the stature of the men and the cleanliness of their uniforms and equipment was general.

DAIRY COWS OUST STEERS

Wisconsin Dairy Cows Are Taking Place of Famous Long Horns
in Southern State.

It was a gala day for the Badgers. "They look like regulars," was an expression commonly heard on the sidewalks, which were filled with officers and men of the National guards of Maryland, New Hampshire, Virginia, Florida, West Virginia, District of Columbia, Mississippi, Kansas, Missouri, Texas, Illinois.

Badgers took their selection as a compliment, since the Wisconsin brigade is the Third brigade of the Twelfth provisional division.

WORLD IS SHORT OF WHEAT

December Soars to $1.86, Highest Since the Hutchinson Cereal in 1888.

Chicago, Sept. 27. — The world-wide shortage of wheat has forced prices on the local board of trade above the market set in the latter corner of 1808 and close to the high mark in the history of the cereal since Civil war days. December wheat soared to $1.86 and May to $1.55 on Wednesday. When Joseph W. Hutchinson, the grain dealer, forced the price of wheat up to $1.85, which was the highest mark reached since 1807 except for a corner engineered by B. P. Hutchinson ("Old Hutch") in 1888, when the record-breaking figure of $2 a bushel was touched.

HAS GOLD TO MEET DEMAND

A. C. Miller of Reserve Board Tells Bankers Country Is Prepared for Difficulties After War.

Indianapolis, Oct. 26. — The management of the gold supply of the country to meet the foreign drain which is expected after the close of the war was discussed by A. C. Miller of Washington, a member of the federal reserve board, before the Indiana State Bankers' association on Tuesday. He expressed the opinion that the United States will be able to meet all demands which will be made.

Remodel Parish Property.

Chilton — St. Augustine's church has remodelled entirely its school, equipping it with new modern furniture, at a total cost of $1,200. It is contemplated to erect a parish hall in near future.

Many to Vote by Mail.

Madison — Wisconsin residents at the national election are taking advantage of the law to allow voting by mail. County Clerk Fjelstad has received applications for 100 ballots.

Pioneer Missionary Dies.

Beloit — Dr. Henry D. Porter, Beloit college graduate in the class of 1867, for nearly forty years a leading missionary in China until the strain of the Boxer rebellion broke his health, died at La Mesa, Cal.

Madison Has 8 Cent Milk.

Madison — Milk will sell in Madison for 8 cents a quart after Nov. 1, according to announcement made by farmers and dairymen decided to get $2 a hundredweight instead of $1.60.

Sheboygan Boy Killed in Battle.

Sheboygan — Word received here says that August Kasner, 28, son of Mrs. Adam Kasner of Sheboygan, a lieutenant in the United States army in Haiti, was killed at the battle of San Domingo.

Industrial Teachers Convene.

Stevens Point — Forty industrial teachers attended the district convention held here. The next meeting will be held in Wausau in December.

Cotton Soars, Then Drops.

New York, Oct. 27. — A sensational break in the cotton market on Wednesday carried prices down $4.50 a bale, after an early advance above the 20-cent level, which was the highest price since the Civil war.

McNamara Parole Sought.

San Francisco, Oct. 27. — Parole for John J. McNamara, who was involved in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building in 1910 probably will be asked Saturday from the state board of prison directors.

Bank Official Is Arrested.

New York, Oct. 28. — Henry J. Doregel, for years assistant cashier of the Central and Iron National bank, was arrested by federal authorities, charged with having robbed the bank of $92,000.

Kaiser Plans Somme Blow.

Paris, Oct. 26. — Kaiser Wilhelm is reported to have arrived at the Bapaume front on Tuesday to supervise preparations for a heavy German counter-offensive north of the Somme, the Liberte reported.

Sportman Robbed of $100,000.

New York, Oct. 26. — A robbery by "chloroform thieves" of jewelry valued at $100,000 from the Roslyn, L. I., home of Frank Gray Griswold, sportsman and race-horse owner, was reported to the police here on Tuesday.

WOOLING HIM

FRENCH CAPTURE FORT PEOPLE FLEE MEXICO

ALSO TAKE VILLAGE OF DOUAIU-
MONT, SAYS PARIS STATEMENT.

Attack on Front of Four and One-Third Miles—Pierce Poe's Lines
Depth Two Miles.

Paris, Oct. 23. — In a powerful series of attacks on the Verdun front the French have captured the village and fort of Douaumont, advancing beyond the Thiaumont work and farm, and occupied also the Handromont quarries north of Verdun, according to the bulletin issued on Tuesday by the war office. The prisoners captured and counted thus far number 3,400, including 100 officers. The text reads:

"On the Verdun front, after intense artillery preparation, an attack on the right bank of the Meuse was launched at 11:40 a. m. The enemy line attacked on a front of seven kilometers (four and one-third miles) was broken through everywhere to a depth which, at the center, attained a distance of three kilometers (nearly two miles)."

"The village and fort of Douaumont are in our hands."

"To the left our troops, advancing beyond the Thiaumont work and farm, rushed to Handromont quarries and established themselves along the road from Brus to Douaumont."

"On the right of the fort our line runs to the north of La Caillotte work along the western outskirts of the village of Vaux and the eastern border of Pumin wood and continues to north of Chenevols wood and the Damloup battery."

"Prisoners are pouring in. So far 3,500, including about 100 officers, have been counted. The quantity of material captured cannot yet be estimated. Our losses were small."

CANADIAN RAIL STRIKE IS OFF

Announcement Made at Winnipeg
After Road Officials and Employees Confer.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 27. — The threatened strike of conductors and trainmen of the Canadian Pacific railway ordered for Wednesday night, was called off. It was officially announced here on Wednesday after a conference between representatives of the employees and officials of the road.

$300,000,000 TO BRITAIN

Morgan & Company Make Announcement at New York—Will Bear Interest at 5 1/2 Per Cent.

New York, Oct. 27. — Official announcement was made on Wednesday by J. P. Morgan & Co. that a new British loan by American bankers, aggregating $300,000,000 had been arranged. It will bear interest at 5 1/2 per cent.

British Minesweeper Sunk.

London, Oct. 28. — The British minesweeper "Gehlis" has been torpedoed and sunk. It was announced here on Thursday afternoon. All officers and 73 men lost their lives. Only 12 men were saved.

U. S. Professor Is Honored.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28. — E. M. Lebar, formerly professor at the University of Wisconsin, has been decorated with the French war cross for bravery. He was in charge of artillery on the Somme front.

Civilians Evacuate Trieste.

Zurich, Oct. 27. — Trieste, the chief objective of the Italians on the Istrian peninsula, is being evacuated by the civilian population. Many residents of the city have already reached Switzerland.

Opens Bids for Fifty-Eight Ships.

Washington, Oct. 27. — Bids for the first 58 ships to be laid down in 1917 as part of the greater navy building program are being opened at the navy department. Congress has authorized the beginning of 68 ships in 1917.

Kaiser Plans Somme Blow.

Paris, Oct. 26. — Kaiser Wilhelm is reported to have arrived at the Bapaume front on Tuesday to supervise preparations for a heavy German counter-offensive north of the Somme, the Liberte reported.

Sportman Robbed of $100,000.

New York, Oct. 26. — A robbery by "chloroform thieves" of jewelry valued at $100,000 from the Roslyn, L. I., home of Frank Gray Griswold, sportsman and race-horse owner, was reported to the police here on Tuesday.

PLANS RAID ON U. S.

BAKER CHARGES VILLA PLOT IS
ATTEMPT TO TURN ELEC-
TION SENTIMENT.

NO AMERICANS INVOLVED

Information Reaches War Department
That Villistas Will Attack Americans
Between Now and November 7—
Funston and Pershing Warned.

Washington, Oct. 28. — Secretary Baker issued a formal statement on Thursday saying that definite information had been received by the war department that a bandit attack upon American troops in Mexico or on an American border town had been arranged to take place between now and election day to create sentiment against the administration's Mexican policy. It added that Generals Funston and Pershing were forewarned and in readiness for such an attack.

The statement follows:

"The war department has received definite information, confirmed from other sources, that enemies of the administration's policy toward Mexico, in co-operation with Villa or other bandits in Mexico, have arranged a spectacular attack to be made either upon some part of the American forces or upon some American community on the border between now and the date of the election for the purpose of turning the tide of sentiment against the policy which the administration has adopted for the protection of the border."

"It is significant in this connection that both the state and war departments were advised that the bandit forces operating at the present time in Mexico are being paid in silver coin."

"Full particulars have been transmitted to General Funston and General Pershing. All American forces are therefore forewarned and in readiness for such an attack."

BLOW UP DANUBE BRIDGE

$8,000,000 Structure Dynamited to Halt
Teutons—Check Drive on Capital.

Paris, Oct. 28. — Field Marshal von Hindenburg's gigantic plan to crush Roumania has received a check. Bucharest announced on Thursday that Roumanian troops have stopped Von Falkenhayn's advance and driven him across the Transylvanian border. In the Dobruja, Petrograd reports, the advance of Von Mackensen's forces toward the north has been slowed up. The bridge across the Danube at Czernavoda has been blown up by the Roumanians.

The bridge is the largest in all Europe. It was completed in 1896 at a cost of $8,000,000. Its total length across both branches of the Danube and the swampy and frequently impassable terrain, is 12 miles.

CAUSES OF HIGH LIVING COST

Restricted Production and Consumption Greatly Increased in Warring Countries.

Washington, Oct. 28. — Twenty million men fighting in Europe, producing nothing, while consuming enough food for 30,000,000 men and enough clothing for 30,000,000, are behind the high cost of living in this country—not Wall Street—Secretary of Commerce Redfield said on Tuesday.

"It is further true," he said, "that factories in all the belligerent countries that ordinarily produce goods for general use are busy on war munitions. The same is true in a smaller degree in our own country. The result is that at the time of the greatest consumption the production is greatly reduced."

20 DIE IN HOSPITAL FIRE

Children Perish When Blaze Sweeps
Quebec Structure—Inmates
Asleep at Time.

Farnham, Que., Oct. 28. — Twenty persons are known to be dead and 15 others are missing as the result of a fire which destroyed St. Elizabeth hospital and laundry on Wednesday night. Scores of children were injured by jumping through windows. Three hundred and fifty inmates were asleep in the building when the fire broke out, and many of these are unaccounted for. The fire is believed to have started from a defective chimney.

The property loss is estimated at $200,000, with insurance of about $30,000.

Flyers Raid Turk Railroad.

London, Oct. 27. — Attacks on the Constantinople-Saloniki railroad by British naval aeroplanes have inflicted considerable damage, the admiralty announced.

U. S. Will Kill Seals Again.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 30. — The seal herds on the Pribilof islands in Berling sea have increased so rapidly since killing of seals was prohibited that the government will begin killing seals regularly next year.

Deport 5,000 Belgians.

Amsterdam, Oct. 30. — Another 5,000 Belgians were sent from Ghent to Germany Monday, according to the Telegraaf. About 10,000 more at other points have received orders to prepare for their departure.

Russ Lose 1,797,522 Men.

Berlin, Oct. 27. — There have been 1,797,522 casualties in the Russian army since Jan. 1, according to the latest reports made public by the central identification office at Kiev, says an Overseas News agency statement.

New York Subway Bombed.

New York, Oct. 27. — Two persons were injured and the station at One Hundred and Tenth street was wrecked by the explosion of a dynamite bomb in the subway. The police put the blame on strikers.

Britain to Lift Tobacco Ban.

Washington, Oct. 28. — Representations to the benefit of American tobacco shippers, who have had 1,600,000 worth of leaf tied up, have resulted in action by Britain which will bring relief.

To Trade Interned Captives.

TO ERADICATE BEDBUGS

Practical Information on Dealing with This Household Pest

Those who are troubled by bedbugs will find practical information as to how to deal effectively with these pests in Farmers' Bulletin 751, "Bedbugs," recently published by the department. In this bulletin C. L. Mariott of the Bureau of Entomology makes clear the habits of these insects which have a haunting effect on their eradication and suggests a number of simple household measures, as well as more radical methods of getting rid of them. The author calls attention especially to the fact that these insects will migrate from an infested place to an uninfested one, and points out that the fact that they ordinarily hide in the daytime makes it necessary to apply the insecticide in cracks in walls and floor and crevices under wall paper, where the insects are likely to be found. The bulletin also gives directions for fumigation with sulphur or other chemicals, which will be found economical and effective in cases of general infestation.

Those who have been bitten will find applications of peroxide of hydrogen useful in allaying irritation. Fumigation with sulphur is also a good remedy for use in cases of fleas, mosquitoes, bedbugs or other insect bites. Iodine however should be used with caution on the tender skin of small children and on those who are affected with or disposed to eczema or other skin diseases.

The bulletin will be supplied free by the department as long as the supply lasts.

RUDOLPH.

(Too late for last week)

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur DeWitt and two children called at the home of Mrs. Howard's father last Wednesday afternoon. Wilbur had brought a load of furniture up for Mark Johnson and they took the opportunity to visit for a few hours.

Liden Corder, who has spent the past couple of years with his father in law, Anton DeWitt, has now moved onto a farm near the Warren cheese factory in the town of Cusson.

The Star Band of Rudolph gave a dance last Thursday evening which was very largely attended and a fine time reported.

Jack Johnson has sold his farm to parties from DePere. Mr. Johnson will move his family to Grand Rapids for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clark spent last week in Fond du Lac.

Nick Rattelle sold another lot 50x182 feet to R. A. Wagers the past week which makes Mr. Wager's property 182x182 feet.

Edw. Philie of Grand Rapids was doing some surveying here the past week. It seems that all surveys now make out that our main road is not properly laid out, and therefore makes a difference to the property owners.

The 8th, 9th and 10th grades of the consolidated school met at the school house on last Wednesday evening and formed a reading circle which will meet every Wednesday evening hereafter. Arthur Piltz was elected president and Miss Gladys Rattelle secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Croteau of Avon, South Dakota arrived this week and will live on the Valer farm.

George W. Baker and sons Royal and Vinal of Grand Rapids were here Sunday rabbit hunting with Lloyd Rattelle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Delbuech and four children of Stevens Point are here Saturday noon. Mr. De Delbuech and children are here spending the week at the Peter Akey home. They will shortly move to Fond du Lac.

Mr. Jones of Park Falls spent the latter part of last week with his daughter, Mrs. R. A. Wagers.

Henry Piltz of Mukwonago is visiting relatives here.

JOSEPH WHEIR, Jr.

Candidate for County Treasurer on the Democrat Ticket

Mr. Wheir was born in Wood county and has been a resident of this city practically all his life. He is one of the business men of Grand Rapids and has held the office of City Treasurer, and is standing on his record.

He will appreciate your vote on election day, November 7th.

HENRY EBBE

For Register of Deeds.

In the town where he lived for more than thirty (30) years there is no man better known or appreciated for his social and business qualities than Henry Ebbe. Born and raised on a farm in the town of Lincoln, he has always been found a leader in the ranks of progressive citizenship. He has served his town as a town chairman and his record is an open book. Mr. Ebbe possesses every qualification necessary to discharge his duties efficiently and added to this is a sound business training and a man who, if elected, will run the office of Register of Deeds for the benefit of the people of the county.

THE CHANGE OF TIME

Attorney General W. C. Owen, in his campaign speeches for re-election is urging the republicans of Wisconsin to vote for Gov. Philipp for re-election.

Mr. Owen either has a poor memory or he is a hypocrite and is trying to deceive the voters of the state, or he is trying to have the voters support Mr. Philipp to be assured of his own re-election.

It looks bad on the face of it, for the utterances made by the attorney general during the last political campaign.

Speaking at Black River Falls during the recent primary Mr. Owen said: "I have to tell you the Governor, Philipp stands before the people of the state as a false prophet, and one whose political word has gone to the ground."

This is a very serious charge from the words of the attorney general. It is a charge that the voters of the state are to be deceived by voting for the present governor. But there is nothing strange in this attempt to hoodwink the trusting voters of Wisconsin. Mr. Philipp is using the same line of argument as the other republicans to obtain by any means possible, the votes of the people. Hypocrisy is the keynote of the address made by Mr. Philipp and Mr. Owen and if the voter chooses to vote for such men to put them back in office rather than for the candidate on the democratic ticket, it is the lookout of the voter.

In another address last February in speaking of the appointment by Mr. Philipp of M. D. Rosenberry to the Supreme Court, Mr. Owen said: "The (Gov. Philipp) used the power of appointment not in the interest of the people of the state but to promote his individual political fortunes. The appointment was conceived in secret and given birth in the dead of night. The people awoke in the morning to find that over night a future of the Supreme Court had resigned and his successor had been appointed. The people were ignorant."

Of course they were ignorant. Mr. Owen never spoke truer words in his life. Even if now he asks the voters to forget those words and to vote for Mr. Philipp to "save" the state from the "tyranny" of the democratic candidate.

But there are voters in Wisconsin who have awakened to the deceit and hypocrisy not only of Mr. Philipp but also to that of the attorney general.

Sometimes it takes a long time before the people wake up—before their eyes are opened to the fact that they are being "smoothed over" with the silver of deception and treachery—that they are used as the cat's paw to pull the chestnuts out of the fire. So that Mr. Philipp and his staunch adherents, the traitors and corporations can cut them. But the cat's paw will prove, and it won't be long before the democratic party that will be scratched.

Mr. Owen said further: "One would naturally suppose that the great question of insurance regulation would enlist the serious consideration of a legislature pretending to be interested for the overburdened and tax-ridden citizenship of this state. A bill was introduced into the legislature providing for the regulation of fire insurance rates, charged in this state and that bill was defeated and voted down by the very men who loudly protested their sympathy for the people of this state. But at the expense of certain special interests which are always able to command the sympathy and aid of those men."

Is this sufficient for the voter or must he be struck with a club to wake him up?

These are the truthful utterances of Attorney General W. C. Owen who now asks that the voters of Wisconsin to have faith in him and Philipp, and to re-elect them both so that the worst state of Wisconsin may be "saved" from a democratic administration.

Mr. Owen went on further to state that the same men who opposed the bill to regulate and reduce rates of fire insurance companies voted to re-nounce the Northwestern Mutual Fire Insurance Company of a portion of its taxes. "But these works shall know them, and by their attitude of these various matters of legislation it shall be judged whether the people of the state of Wisconsin want them to dominate and control government affairs."

If these facts were true last February they certainly must be true in November. Now what is the voter going to do about it? Does he want Philipp and his cohorts at Madison to dominate and control government affairs?

No wonder Mr. Philipp, at the time refused to have anything to do with Mr. Owen. The question is, will Mr. Philipp have anything to do with Mr. Owen now? Of course he will, for is not the republican party in need of help at this time?

Burt Williams, the democratic candidate for governor, and William F. Wolfe, candidate for United States senator, are making a campaign, the greatest and most efficient ever made in the state. They are speaking with honesty, manliness and sincerity and they are winning over the voters to their cause. Their campaign is being attended with so much success that the republicans have become alarmed. Of course Messrs. Philipp and Owen will shake hands with a success in the election at least—because the republican bosses have sent out the word to do so. Of course Mr. Owen, from now on, will enslave Mr. Philipp and vice versa, Mr. Philipp no longer to Mr. Owen. It makes no difference to them whether they are sincere to each other so long as they can capture the voter and get his vote. If they are elected Mr. Owen may experience another quality of conscience and tell the truth once more about Mr. Philipp. And the truth hurts.

It is a long time since there has been a man in the state who has crossed the Rubicon and has burned his bridges behind him.

W. Melvin Ruckle, M. D.
Practice Limited To
EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT
Glasses fitted correctly. Ear and eye
Surgeon, Riverview Hospital, Office in Wood County Bank Building, Telephone No. 254.

Office of County Clerk
September 26th, 1916.

TO THE ELECTORS OF WOOD COUNTY:
NOTICE is hereby given that a General Election is to be held in the several towns, wards, villages and election precincts in the county of Wood, on the 7th day of November, 1916, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, together with the question submitted to a vote, in the sample ballot below.

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters:

(a) A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have endorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

(b) If a voter wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party he shall make a cross (X) or other mark under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the circle made for that purpose. A ballot so marked and having no other mark will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased by a name shall be written in or a cross mark be placed in the square at the right of the name or names of candidates in another column. If the voter does not wish to vote for all the candidates nominated by one party, he shall mark his ballot by making a cross or mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote, or by inserting or writing in the name of the candidate.

(c) A voter may vote for an entire group of candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the party column, or he may vote for the candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the name of each candidate for elector for whom he wished to vote. If a voter does not wish to vote for any one or more candidates for presidential electors in the group, he may erase the name of such candidate or candidates and may write in the space provided therefor, the name or names of the person, or persons for whom he desires to vote, and the cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) at the head of the party column shall count as a vote for each of the candidates in such column. If a voter does not wish to vote for any candidates for president or vice president or for any presidential electors, whose names appear upon the ballot, he may insert or write in the names of the candidates for president and vice president, and presidential electors to a number equal to the number of electors to be elected, in the appropriate spaces in the blank column at the right of the ballot.

(d) A voter may vote upon a question submitted to a vote of the people by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the answer which he intends to give.

(e) The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memoranda to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.

(f) After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen but so that the printed endorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen.

Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.

(g) A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.

(h) The following is a facsimile of the official ballot:

ELECTION NOTICE

Official Presidential Ballot

If you desire to vote for all of the presidential electors of one party, make a cross (X) or other mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the party column. If you desire to vote for particular persons without regard to party, mark in the square after the name of the elector for whom you desire to vote, or write any name that you wish to vote for in the proper place.

DEMOCRAT	PROHIBITION	REPUBLICAN	SOCIAL DEMOCRAT	SOCIAL LABOR	INDEPENDENT
For President— WOODROW WILSON	For President— J. FRANK HANLY	For President— CHARLES E. HUGHES	For President— ALLAN BENSON	For President—	For President—
For Vice President— THOMAS R. MARSHALL	For Vice President— IRA LANDRITH	For Vice President— CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS	For Vice President— GEORGE KIRKPATRICK	For Vice President—	For Vice President—
Electors for President and Vice-President.	Electors for President and Vice-President.	Electors for President and Vice-President.	Electors for President and Vice-President.	Electors for President and Vice-President.	Electors for President and Vice-President.
JUDGE JOHN C. KAREL	ANTHONY J. BENJAMIN	L. K. BAKER	OSCAR AMERINGER
JUDGE J. E. DODGE	FRANK R. DERRICK	JOHN S. MEDARY	EDWARD SIEGLER
HENRY MOEHLENPAH	CHAS. SCHLAEPER	WILLIAM W. STORMS	JAMES VINT
CHAS. H. WEISSE	JASPER DEXTER	WALTER J. KOHLER	ED. D. DEUSS
JUDGE ALDRO JENKS	HERBERT S. SIGGELKO	FRANK SMITH	JOHN CHILSON
W. J. KERSHAW	LOUIS M. SAGEN	JAMES T. DROUGHT	A. J. MELMS
VINCENT J. SCHOENECKER	WM. R. NETHERCUT	FRED C. PRITZLAFF	JOHN DOERFLER, SR.
OTTO C. WERNECKE	ALMON F. COLLINS	H. D. LAUSON	ROBERT SCHUTTLER
J. H. CERNAHAN	OLIVER NEEDHAM	O. G. MUNSON	D. V. LAWELL
L. J. PASTERNECKI	PLINY F. MEYERS	L. M. ALEXANDER	CURTIS A. BOORMAN
ANDREW R. McDONALD	CHARLES E. BADGER	G. A. WALTER, JR.	G. M. SCHMITZ
JOHN R. MATTHEWS	WALDEMAR AGER	O. K. HAWLEY	CHARLES H. OLSON
J. A. HOBE	DAVID W. EMERSON	A. H. STANGE	OTTO F. EICK

OFFICIAL BALLOT

If you desire to vote an entire party ticket for state, congressional, legislative and county offices make a cross (X) or other mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the ballot. If you desire to vote for particular persons without regard to party, mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom you desire to vote if it be there, or write any name that you wish to vote for, in the proper place.

DEMOCRAT	PROHIBITION	REPUBLICAN	SOCIAL DEMOCRAT	SOCIAL LABOR	INDEPENDENT
Governor—	Governor—	Governor—	Governor—	Governor—	Governor—
BURT WILLIAMS	GEORGE McKERROW	EMANUEL L. PHILIPP	RAE WEAVER
Lieutenant Governor—	Lieutenant Governor—	Lieutenant Governor—	Lieutenant Governor—	Lieutenant Governor—	Lieutenant Governor—
JOHN CUDAHY	CHARLES H. MOTT	EDWARD F. DITHMAR	ELLIS B. HARRIS
Secretary of State—	Secretary of State—	Secretary of State—	Secretary of State—	Secretary of State—	Secretary of State—
EDWIN C. JONES	WILL E. MACK	MERLIN HULL	GEORGE HAMPEL
State Treasurer—	State Treasurer—	State Treasurer—	State Treasurer—	State Treasurer—	State Treasurer—
JOHN G. REUTEMAN	JOHN A. BERG	HENRY JOHNSON	CLARENCE A. SACKETT
Attorney-General—	Attorney-General—	Attorney-General—	Attorney-General—	Attorney-General—	Attorney-General—
THOMAS H. RYAN	BYRON E. VAN KEUREN	WALTER C. OWEN	GERRIT T. THORN
United States Senator—	United States Senator—	United States Senator—	United States Senator—	United States Senator—	United States Senator—
WM. F. WOLFE	CHARLES L. HILL	ROBERT M. LaFOLLETTE	RICHARD ELSNER
Member of Congress—	Member of Congress—	Member of Congress—	Member of Congress—	Member of Congress—	Member of Congress—
JOHN KALMES		EDWARD E. BROWNE	CHARLES KIESNER
State Senator—	State Senator—	State Senator—	State Senator—	State Senator—	State Senator—
CARL C. HOEHNE		ISAAC P. WITTER
Member of Assembly—	Member of Assembly—	Member of Assembly—	Member of Assembly—	Member of Assembly—	Member of Assembly—
LAMBERT MICHAELS		BYRON WHITTINGHAM
County Clerk—	County Clerk—	County Clerk—	County Clerk—	County Clerk—	County Clerk—
WM. T. NOBLES		SAM CHURCH
County Treasurer—	County Treasurer—	County Treasurer—	County Treasurer—	County Treasurer—	County Treasurer—
JOSEPH P. WHEIR		CLAUS JOHNSON
Sheriff—	Sheriff—	Sheriff—	Sheriff—	Sheriff—	Sheriff—
FRED BEELL		JOHN NORMINGTON
Coroner—	Coroner—	Coroner—	Coroner—	Coroner—	Coroner—
		HERMAN H. HELKE
Clerk of the Circuit Court—	Clerk of the Circuit Court—	Clerk of the Circuit Court—	Clerk of the Circuit Court—	Clerk of the Circuit Court—	Clerk of the Circuit Court—
CHARLES KRASKE		A. B. BEVER
District Attorney—	District Attorney—	District Attorney—	District Attorney—	District Attorney—	District Attorney—
C. B. EDWARDS		JOHN ROBERTS
Register of Deeds—	Register of Deeds—	Register of Deeds—	Register of Deeds—	Register of Deeds—	Register of Deeds—
JOHN HOFFMAN		HENRY EBBE
Surveyor—	Surveyor—	Surveyor—	Surveyor—	Surveyor—	Surveyor—
		JOHN SEVERNS

TIPPECANOE

By SAMUEL MCCOY

Recounting the adventures and love which came into the lives of David Lawrence and Antoinette O'Bannon, in the days when pioneers were fighting red savages in the Indiana wilderness.

(Copyright, 1914, by Bobbe Merrill Co.)

LOVE-MAKING

Do you enjoy the spectacle of a pretty girl coquetting with a man who loves her devotedly and is cut to the heart by her teasing? Then you'll find stirring interest in this installment.

It is the year 1811, and David Lawrence, exiled English weaver, comes to Corydon, Indiana territory, intending to kill an old enemy. He makes friends with Antoinette O'Bannon and charming "Toinette," his daughter, and with Job Crammer and his daughter, Lydia, recently from England. He learns that Crammer is a spy against the United States when he overhears a war plot. Crammer disappears. The settlement organizes a militia. David's regard for "Toinette" becomes very warm.

CHAPTER VI.

Moonlight.

David was thoughtful, while the light banter ran on.

"Governor Harrison," he said, "may I have a word with you alone? I have some information that I wish to lay before you."

The young governor bowed assent and led the way to a quiet corner. David told the story of the meeting between the girl, Crammer and Scull, Harrison's first grave.

"Why did you not report this sooner?" he asked sharply.

"I wrote at once to John Tipton, at Vincennes," David answered. "I asked him to tell you immediately. I have had no reply from him, but I have supposed that he gave you the message. John's handler with his rifle than with a pen, Governor Harrison, as you know."

"Yes," smiled Harrison, "it's agony for him to write. But I fear that he has not received your letter yet. He has been away on a hunting and scouting trip for weeks. I myself am going away for a while, but I shall inform General Gibson, who is in charge of the territory in my absence, and shall direct him to have his rangers make a thorough search for these men. As for Tecumseh, rumors that his brother, Elskatawa, the Prophet, is stirring the warriors to discontent have reached my ears. Rest assured, Mr. Lawrence, that we shall keep careful watch over these matters. I thank you for what you have told me."

David felt that a load had been lifted from his mind. He had done his duty to the land that had received him with such simple hospitality.

"I know Crammer," the governor went on, "but I never suspected so honest-appearing a fellow. You say he went to Vincennes? I am certain that he has not been there of late. Let me know if he returns to Corydon. The whole Northwest has reason to know that renegade Girty, but I fear it is useless to hope for his capture now. He knows the wilderness like an Indian. As well hope to find a wild bird in the tree tops. By now he is doubtless back in the British posts above Erie. You say that the third man was one known to you as Scull? The name is a new one. Strange, how he disappeared. We'll watch for him."

He returned to his friends with an added word of thanks. David's face darkened as he thought once more of Scull. Where was he? How could he hide himself so completely? The memory of the man's betrayal of David's father rose up in David now; and he thought once more of the oath that he had sworn, over the "purple" of the weaver's brotherhood, to avenge that wrong.

When the party had broken up at last in laughing "good nights," Toinette, Blackford and David strolled toward Toinette's home together. He began humming a song as they walked along:

Could you to battle march away,
And leave me here complaining—

"A mighty fine evening, wasn't it?"

"I'm sure 'twould break my heart to say
When you were gone campaigning."

"Trust a woman to suit her own sweet will."

"What's the song, Iko?"

"That? Oh, a catch that we used to sing at Princeton. Poor old Billy Paterson wrote it years ago, rest his soul!"

The late attorney general—class of 1788—had uttered explanatory. His rich tenor swung on into the lilts of the chorus:

"Ah, non, non, non, pauvre Madelon
Non, non, non, pauvre Madelon
Ah, non, non, non, pauvre Madelon
Would go with you the wide world over!"

He broke off abruptly: "Wouldn't it be fine to have a wench hanging to your coat as you marched?"

He said good night abruptly at Toinette's door and went on.

When he had gone, they two, David and Toinette, lingered on; they knew not why, under the moon-drenched trees.

"And now," she said, leaning toward him in the moonlight, "tell me how you like Corydon—as much as you know of us."

He was so happy at seeing her that it was easy for him to fall into her own lightness of speech.

"Ah, I fell in love with America years ago—on the day I reached Corydon. Now I am only bothered to know if America likes me."

"Why, of course she likes you—look what she has done for you already. Her glance rested on his healthy, vigorous form approvingly.

"Yes; but her favors reproach me now; I am afraid I can never accomplish what this country expects of her young men."

She pretended to look at him thoughtfully. "No, I don't suppose you can ever climb very high."

She laughed teasingly. "How do you like your work?"

"Selling toys to the Indians and laces to the ladies? Not very romantic."

"I should think the ladies would be romantic, even if the Indians are not."

dame Recamier spoke, and he it was Toinette:

"Why don't you say how you like it?"

It was evidently the gown of cobwebs that was meant.

"Exceedingly well. . . . Excuse me, but is that all of it?"

"Imbecile! The latest from Paris! It's too bad to waste it on you."

"Well, well!" David pretended a dry indifference.

Toinette turned up her nose. "Why weren't you at the wedding?"

"Couldn't. I was off on a hunt."

"Lucky?"

"No—only a couple of deer."

"The brides were sweet."

She sat down at her needlework once more and David, seated in the dimly lighted room, his high lined collarband gleaming palely between his dark face and the somber blacks of his cravat and his coat, watched her in silence. When he spoke it was to introduce a new subject:

"Congress has voted to increase the army by twenty-five thousand men," he said abruptly, "and has provided for the enlistment of fifty thousand volunteers in addition."

She let her hands fall to her lap. "Does that mean war is sure?"

"Not yet. But they talk of it freely. England will yield to none of our requests."

She smiled proudly to herself at his use of the word "our." He went on with his news:

"Mr. Clay wants a stronger navy. Curious—Isn't it?—that Kentucky should be in harmony with the seaboard states in this."

"Yes—they called us 'the wild men on the Ohio' last winter."

He smiled at her flash of resentment. "Are you still as eager for war as you were once?"

Toinette shuddered. "It was unnecessary to reply to the thrust."

David went on evenly:

"Well, the whole time of the congress is taken up with the debates. Things are at a breaking point. The president seems likely to get what his message asked for in the way of timber for shipbuilding—Toinette, look at me!"

She looked up, startled at the change in his voice, and saw what he had feared—and vaguely longed for—was about to come. David had risen to his feet. The room seemed suddenly filled with a tremendous tensile force. Her heart beat uncontrollably; she could hardly breathe a needle now.

"Do you know what culture is?" he flung at her. The torrent of his heart rushed out with the words. "I have struggled," he said harshly, "but I give up now. I work from daylight to dark. I read at night at the law. I weary myself with arguing with the Blackford. These things ought to make up my mind for me. But they don't. There isn't any world for me unless you are here."

He began now. "I think about myself. I go back over my life—all its poverty—every miserable line of its starved existence. And then—I think about you. . . . I want to know what right you have to make part of my world. It's not your world. It don't belong there. Why do you come into mine? You ought not to be in my thoughts. But you are. I can't drive you out of my mind. You have been since I first saw you, ever since."

His voice broke.

From the first wild challenge of his gaze she had averted her face and had listened with bowed head. As he paused she threw a frightened glance at him and saw that the knuckles of his clenched hands were whitened with the strain. She tried to speak but could think of nothing that she could say. Her hands picked aimlessly at the threads in her lap. After a moment he regained control of his lips and went on, passionately as before, but with an undercurrent of pleading that softened his words:

"I have been trying to believe that I could conquer all this in myself—that it was too preposterous to endure. But instead of that it has grown stronger. . . . so strong that it is now everything. You are in everything I do. I cannot keep silent."

"Exactly what do you want, David?"

It was a very cool little voice that broke in on him.

He was wounded to the heart. For a moment he hurt look in his eyes struck her with pity. But she steeled herself and went on:

"I'm afraid I don't know just what you're talking about. Do you mean that I am wronging you in any way?"

A wave of hot anger swept through him that she could choose to adopt so pitiful a misconception. But the cutting bullet out of the heart.

Dr. Maurice Bousset, who had already extracted a piece of granite from the right ventricle of a man's heart, told the French Academie des Sciences of a second similar operation performed with success.

A corporal wounded at Enghien had been treated for peritonitis and then had been operated on for appendicitis. He continued to suffer in various ways for more than a year, when a radioscope revealed the pressure of a shrapnel ball, moving in time to the beatings of his heart. Supposing this to be the pericardium or sac about the heart, Doctor Bousset "went in," as the surgeons actually in the right ventricle, near the lower end.

The heart was drawn out; its wall was cut open between two loops of wire; the ball was removed and the heart was sewn up again. Six months later the heart had healed so perfectly that there was not a sign of irregularity about its pulsations.

The Silver Lining.

The Tender-Hearted Cook—No had news, no, ma'am?

The Mistress—The master's been wounded.

The Cook—There now, ma'am, don't let that worry you. They tells me they can patch 'em up so's they're better than before.

Compromise.

"Never marry a man with a champagne appetite and a beer income."

"Certainly not," replied Maymie. "Ice cream soda for mine."

From the Stars to You.

"Somewhere beneath the stars there is something that you alone were meant to do. Never resentful you have found out what it is!"—John Brashers, in American Magazine.

Perpetual Brightness.

The sunshine of life is made up of very little beams that are bright all the time.—Aiken.

Do you think I am whining? You know I am not." He waved her words aside impatiently. "It is something else. He stopped, impatient to advance in the face of the travesty of his passion she had thrown in his path.

The room was very still. Outdoors the crickets chirped ceaselessly. For a long while they stood facing each other in silence that rested more and more heavily upon David's heart.

Toinette raised her eyes timidly. David's look had not changed; it seemed to enfold her with a mighty passion of wounded love, proud, suffering, pleading to be understood. She spoke again, falteringly:

"We shall always be friends, shall we not?"

There was no answer. She waited, not daring to raise her eyes from the ground. She heard him move slowly across the room, heard the latch lifted and the door opened; heard his deep, grave voice saying goodby, as in a dream; heard the door close.

There swept over her the realization of all that he had suffered and risked for her, all the fine manliness that lifted him above the poverty of his life. The dark room seemed to accuse her with a hundred inscrutable eyes. He had laid bare his love for her and she had dragged it in the dust of petty things. She stretched her hands out yearningly.

"David!" she called.

The room mocked her with its silence. He was gone.

CHAPTER VII.

Fear.

David went back to his dress-stuffs by day and his law books by night with a heavy heart. The days dragged by as slowly as they pass the beds of the sick, feverishly hot, inexplicably hostile; till at last he welcomed the necessity of a journey to replenish his stock of goods. Colonel Posey had once more postponed his return to Corydon and had asked David to buy whatever was needed to carry on the business. His supplies were to be ferried across the river from Louisville to Clarksville; and setting off at dawn one morning, he strode all day long through the silent woods. The sun was going down when he left the road, panted to the top of the Silver hills and flung himself down on the ground. Away to the south stretched the broad and majestic current of the Ohio till it passed out of sight among the blue hills of Kentucky; below him, in the lengthening shadows of the evening, rose the slender columns of smoke from the chimneys of Clarksville, a cluster of a dozen or so log farmhouses. Beyond, across the rushing waters of the Falls, he could distinguish the roofs of Louisville, bright in the sunset light.

He looked his fill upon the broad expanse of the great river—the beautiful river, as the Indians called it—its hurrying, tumultuous waters, the flatboat ferry, slowly crawling across, the green shores beyond—and then scrambled down the steep hillside to the village, where the smokes of kitchen fires sent up their friendly signals. At the inn where he rested that night the tavern keeper indicated a deserted cabin that stood near the river bank.

"That's the cabin 'whar General George Rogers Clark used to live—pore old critter!"

"He's dead, is he?"

"Him dead? Ye kahn't kill him with a ax. I seed him yistaday, over yan"—waving toward Louisville—"pore old critter—driv the Britishers outen

ing in the cabin nearest the inn, she said; and she begged David to come and talk with her till her father returned. It was late when they heard Crammer's voice lifted in a roaring ballad and distinguished his portly form moving uncertainly down the path that led to the cabin.

David felt himself grow hot with repugnance as the man drew nearer. He had not seen him since that night when he had watched the three conspirators in the smithy.

Crammer's heavy steps drew nearer; he started in surprise when he came on the two figures in the darkness and there was a note of relief in his laughter when he heard David speak.

"Why, it's young Lawrence! Sweet-hearts out here in the dark, you rogues? Well, when your mother was your age, Lydia!"

Do you believe that, in bitterness of spirit, David will marry a woman and become involved with Crammer in spying—much as he hates the spy now?

(TO BE CONTINUED)

HOW PEN MAY HELP FORGER

Habitually Used, It Is Said to Become Imbued With the Spirit of a Signature.

"Did it ever occur to you," said a treasury official, "that a forger has half his work done when he can get hold of the identical pen with which the owner of the signature habitually writes? A great many men, company directors and the like, use the same pen for their notes only, for a year or two, and then change."

A pen that has been used by a man in writing his name hundreds of times, and never used for anything else, will almost write the name of itself. It gets imbued with the spirit of the signature. In the hands of a fairly good forger it will preserve the characteristics of the original. The reason for this is that the point of the pen has been ground down in a peculiar way, from being used always by the same man, and for the same object, the rounded and flattened tip of the pen, which it would splutter if held at a wrong angle or forced on lines against its will. It almost guides the sensitive hand of the forger when he attempts to write the name."

Cutting Bullet Out of the Heart.

Dr. Maurice Bousset, who had already extracted a piece of granite from the right ventricle of a man's heart, told the French Academie des Sciences of a second similar operation performed with success.

A corporal wounded at Enghien had been treated for peritonitis and then had been operated on for appendicitis. He continued to suffer in various ways for more than a year, when a radioscope revealed the pressure of a shrapnel ball, moving in time to the beatings of his heart. Supposing this to be the pericardium or sac about the heart, Doctor Bousset "went in," as the surgeons actually in the right ventricle, near the lower end.

The heart was drawn out; its wall was cut open between two loops of wire; the ball was removed and the heart was sewn up again. Six months later the heart had healed so perfectly that there was not a sign of irregularity about its pulsations.

The Silver Lining.

The Tender-Hearted Cook—No had news, no, ma'am?

The Mistress—The master's been wounded.

The Cook—There now, ma'am, don't let that worry you. They tells me they can patch 'em up so's they're better than before.

Compromise.

"Never marry a man with a champagne appetite and a beer income."

"Certainly not," replied Maymie. "Ice cream soda for mine."

From the Stars to You.

"Somewhere beneath the stars there is something that you alone were meant to do. Never resentful you have found out what it is!"—John Brashers, in American Magazine.

Perpetual Brightness.

The sunshine of life is made up of very little beams that are bright all the time.—Aiken.

Do you think I am whining? You know I am not." He waved her words aside impatiently. "It is something else. He stopped, impatient to advance in the face of the travesty of his passion she had thrown in his path.

The room was very still. Outdoors the crickets chirped ceaselessly. For a long while they stood facing each other in silence that rested more and more heavily upon David's heart.

Toinette raised her eyes timidly. David's look had not changed; it seemed to enfold her with a mighty passion of wounded love, proud, suffering, pleading to be understood. She spoke again, falteringly:

"We shall always be friends, shall we not?"

There was no answer. She waited, not daring to raise her eyes from the ground. She heard him move slowly across the room, heard the latch lifted and the door opened; heard his deep, grave voice saying goodby, as in a dream; heard the door close.

There swept over her the realization of all that he had suffered and risked for her, all the fine manliness that lifted him above the poverty of his life. The dark room seemed to accuse her with a hundred inscrutable eyes. He had laid bare his love for her and she had dragged it in the dust of petty things. She stretched her hands out yearningly.

"David!" she called.

The room mocked her with its silence. He was gone.

these parts thirty year gone, an' sets that cross the river withouten a 'olence."

David heard him listlessly. His goods had arrived and were piled in the tavern lean-to; and as he turned toward the shack to see that they were in readiness for the homeward journey in the morning, he heard his name called by a girl's voice.

He wheeled and saw Lydia Crammer. The girl broke into a laugh at the expression of utter surprise.

"You here, Lydia?" he cried in amazement. "Did you come here from Corydon? Where's your father?"

"Why, yes, we've been here for weeks. Father's gone to see some friends at Port Steuben tonight, but he'll be back soon."

So this was where Crammer had gone, after that night in the smithy at Corydon. David saw in a flash that upon himself alone must depend Crammer's capture. Hiding his excitement, he pretended to listen to Lydia with eager delight at seeing David once more. They were liv-

operated on these days, and I'm always keeping myself in condition for it."

The day of the supper will never be over, for all the world's young, and will be young and to look young will be the whip over every woman until another race of being follows this one. But as much as is spoken on this subject, there are thousands of women who prefer to be stately than absurd and who have found the last three years excessively difficult for them, willy-nilly, upon even the strong-minded women who had resolved to look dignified at the expense of fashion.

Adapted Themselves to Fashion.

Short skirts in the evening were comfortable because dancing was the universal recreation, but when short skirts left the length demanded by the fox trot and almost reached the length demanded by the ballet, it was necessary to do something strange in the way of a new fashion.

America produced an entire race of women to meet these new gowns. It would seem, for the tall, Anglo-Saxon type has felt like a giant among Lilliputians, like a well-clad woman against a native Alavaiian, in the clothes which she selected. Where all the little women came from, gracious knows, and how they all reduced themselves to the consistency of planked shads and the sinuosity of French edis, is a matter for the student of the human race, and not the student of dress.

The first feature of the new fashions that causes the smile on the tall woman's face, is the introduction of the train. She is quite aware that

You see, the prices in Paris have never reached such a height in the history of women's clothes. That's a big statement, but on reading the itemized bills that were made by the women of Europe during the first and

Two Elements That Mark the New Fashions That Come From Paris.

DAY OF THE TALL WOMAN

She is No Longer Compelled to Wear the Extremely Abbreviated Skirt of the Last Three Years—Evening Gowns Have Dignity.

New York.—Any observant person glancing over the masses of women gathered in the large centers would not say that there was any lack of new autumn dressing. Hundreds of new gowns were worn, and winter hats made their appearance in mid-September, but the burden of the dressmakers' plaint was that these models were as a rule, bought from the shops at reasonable prices and that the expensive gowns which cost them such an amazing sum of money were neglected.

The early autumn was perplexing in regard to fashions. No expert who saw behind the scenes can deny it. If America had not been peculiarly prosperous, if the stock market had not been turning men into millionaires with a rapidity that took the breath away, the situation would have been tragic to the importers.

You see, the prices in Paris have never reached such a height in the history of women's clothes. That's a big statement, but on reading the itemized bills that were made by the women of Europe during the first and ing in the cabin nearest the inn, she said; and she begged David to come and talk with her till her father returned. It was late when they heard Crammer's voice lifted in a roaring ballad and distinguished his portly form moving uncertainly down the path that led to the cabin.

David felt himself grow hot with repugnance as the man drew nearer. He had not seen him since that night when he had watched the three conspirators in the smithy.

Crammer's heavy steps drew nearer; he started in surprise when he came on the two figures in the darkness and there was a note of relief in his laughter when he heard David speak.

"Why, it's young Lawrence! Sweet-hearts out here in the dark, you rogues? Well, when your mother was your age, Lydia!"

Do you believe that, in bitterness of spirit, David will marry a woman and become involved with Crammer in spying—much as he hates the spy now?

(TO BE CONTINUED)

HOW PEN MAY HELP FORGER

Habitually Used, It Is Said to Become Imbued With the Spirit of a Signature.

"Did it ever occur to you," said a treasury official, "that a forger has half his work done when he can get hold of the identical pen with which the owner of the signature habitually writes? A great many men, company directors and the like, use the same pen for their notes only, for a year or two, and then change."

A pen that has been used by a man in writing his name hundreds of times, and never used for anything else, will almost write the name of itself. It gets imbued with the spirit of the signature. In the hands of a fairly good forger it will preserve the characteristics of the original. The reason for this is that the point of the pen has been ground down in a peculiar way, from being used always by the same man, and for the same object, the rounded and flattened tip of the pen, which it would splutter if held at a wrong angle or forced on lines against its will. It almost guides the sensitive hand of the forger when he attempts to write the name."

Cutting Bullet Out of the Heart.

Dr. Maurice Bousset, who had already extracted a piece of granite from the right ventricle of a man's heart, told the French Academie des Sciences of a second similar operation performed with success.

A corporal wounded at Enghien had been treated for peritonitis and then had been operated on for appendicitis. He continued to suffer in various ways for more than a year, when a radioscope revealed the pressure of a shrapnel ball, moving in time to the beatings of his heart. Supposing this to be the pericardium or sac about the heart, Doctor Bousset "went in," as the surgeons actually in the right ventricle, near the lower end.

The heart was drawn out; its wall was cut open between two loops of wire; the ball was removed and the heart was sewn up again. Six months later the heart had healed so perfectly that there was not a sign of irregularity about its pulsations.

The Silver Lining.

The Tender-Hearted Cook—No had news, no, ma'am?

The Mistress—The master's been wounded.

The Cook—There now, ma'am, don't let that worry you. They tells me they can patch 'em up so's they're better than before.

Compromise.

"Never marry a man with a champagne appetite and a beer income."

"Certainly not," replied Maymie. "Ice cream soda for mine."

From the Stars to You.

In the town where he lived for more than thirty (30) years there is no man better known or appreciated for his social and business qualities than Henry Ebbe. Born and raised on a farm in the Town of Lincoln, he has always been found a leader in the ranks of progressive citizenship. He has been a member of the local chamber of commerce and his record is an open book. Mr. Ebbe possesses every qualification necessary to discharge his duties efficiently and added to this is a pleasant and courteous manner, a sense of humor and a ready smile. A man who, if elected, will run the office of Register of Deeds for the benefit of the people of the county.

Saturday Specials!

GERMAN KNITTING YARN 35c SKEIN
This is a very good quality worsted yarn that is worth more than we are asking for it—as yarn prices are advancing rapidly—but we are protected at the old price, as we bought this yarn months ago. Regular price 45c skein. Special for Saturday35c

BIRD ART FLOSS 1c SKEIN
Saturday we will offer you one lot of Bird Art Floss in white, blue, pink, yellow and green at per skein1c

A NICE WAIST FREE
Saturday, November 4th, we will give a nice waist FREE with each ladies' coat or suit sold in our Ladies' Department. 25c RIBBONS 19c

Good quality ribbons in pretty designs. Special for Saturday, per yard19c

INFANTS VANTA VESTS 25 PER CENT OFF
Infants Vanta Vests in a good assortment of styles and qualities, ranging in price from 25c to 95c. Special for Saturday at one-fourth off regular price.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' 25c HOSE 19c
Boys' and Girls' good grade heavy cotton ribbed hose, a good weight for fall and winter wear. Size 6 1/2 to 8. Regular price 25c. Special for Saturday per pair19c

MEN'S $1.00 SHIRTS 79c
Men's soft collar and banded shirts. A big lot to select from in plain and striped patterns. Regular price $1.00. Special for Saturday each79c

$1.00 LINEN TABLE RUNNERS 78c
Nice quality natural linen stamped table runners or library scarfs in conventional designs, regular $1.00 values, special for Saturday, each78c

10c OUTING FLANNEL 8c
A nice quality outing flannel that is really cheap at the regular price, 10c a yard. Special for Saturday per yd.8c

$1.50 SILK TAFFETA $1.19 YARD
A nice assortment of colors in a good quality taffeta, in short lengths. Regular price per yard $1.50. Special for Saturday, per yard$1.19

10c TOWELING 8 1/2c YARD
Good quality union linen bleached towel with red or blue border. Special for Saturday, per yard8 1/2c

$4.00 CORSETS $1.89
One lot of Redfern and Bonton Corsets that formerly sold at $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00. All sizes up to 28. Special for Saturday, each$1.89

CHILDREN'S HATS AND UNTRIMMED SHAPES AT 20 PER CENT DISCOUNT
Our entire stock of Ladies' untrimmed shapes and Children's Hats in our millinery department will be put on sale Saturday at one-fifth off the regular price.

SHELF OILCLOTH 5c PER YARD
Saturday we will offer shelf oilcloth in our carpet department at per yard5c

65c BOUDOIR CAPS 50c
Saturday we will offer one lot of regular 65c boudoir caps at each50c

39c DRUG SPECIALS
One box Jap Rose face powder, regular 50c value and one jar of Jap Rose cold cream, regular 25c value, 75c worth Saturday for39c

One box Jap Rose face powder, regular 50c value, and 2 cans Jap Rose talcum, regular 25c value. 75c worth Saturday for39c

One box Jap Rose face powder, regular 50c value and 3 bars Jap Rose soap, reg. 25c value. 75c worth Saturday. 39c Pebecco Tooth Paste, regular price 50c, Saturday only39c

$1.00 TOILET WATER 69c
Lotus Toilet Water, regular $1.00 size, Saturday only. 69c

$1.75 GUERNSEY SET 98c
10-piece, brown and white Guernsey Cooking Set, consisting of one covered casserole, one covered bean pot, one small low bowl, one medium low bowl, one large low bowl, one small deep bowl, one medium deep bowl, one large deep bowl. Regular $1.75 value. Saturday only, per set.98c

Not over one set to a customer.

65c VASES 45c
65c large green vases, special for Saturday each.45c

$1.25 CUT GLASS 98c
One large assortment of cut glass, consisting of sugar and cream sets, flower vases, salad bowls and celery trays. Regular $1.25 values. Special for Saturday, each.98c

Grocery Department

It seems that everything in the mercantile line is tied to a kite, for prices are going up.

If you want to make big interest on your money—then invest in groceries—buy enough to last you a few months.

We are always on the lookout for our customers. Here are a few specials for Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday.

A Few Snaps in Canned Goods
No. 2 Corn, per can10c
No. 2 Peas, per can10c
No. 3 Tomatoes, per can12 1/2c
No. 3 Sauer Kraut, per can10c
No. 3 sliced yellow Peaches, per can.19c

A few specials of very good bargains in 10c canned goods, to close out at per can.

Not over 6 cans to a customer.

4 packages of Corn Flakes19c
25c package Rolled Oats19c
25c package Matches19c

Soroso Coffee. You can not get a better 25c coffee anywhere. During this sale, per pound.21c

Good bulk coffee, per pound15c

SAVE YOUR STAMPS.

We give a stamp with every 10c cash purchase. During the month of December the crockery department will give you 80c worth of merchandise for every 100 stamps you bring.

Johnson & Hill Co.

THE MEN TO VOTE FOR NEXT TUESDAY

We are presenting this week some pictures of the democratic candidates for the county offices, and we feel that our readers should look them over carefully and see if it will not be possible to support them for office when election day comes. There has never been a time when the affairs of the county were taken better care of than when the democratic had charge of them, and it is safe to say that they will do as well in the future as they have done in the past.

There is no question but what all of the men that have been put up by the democratic this fall are particularly well qualified for the position which they seek, and in voting for them the public is not taking any chance of placing an incompetent man in office.

While politics do not enter particularly into county matters and the administration of county offices, still it is the effort of the party, and has been so in the past, to nominate men who are trustworthy in every way and who can be depended upon to give the people the service that is expected of a public servant.

WM. T. NOBLES

For County Clerk

Mr. Nobles is a candidate for reelection to the office of County Clerk of Wood County, an office which he has held for the past two years, or one term. He is a candidate for a second term and no more.

Owing to the efficient manner in which he has conducted the office for the past two years, we think it re-elected for a second term he would continue to conduct the affairs of his office along the same lines. A vote for Mr. Nobles on November 7th would be a vote for the right man and will surely be appreciated by him.

CHAS. KRASKE

For Clerk of the Circuit Court

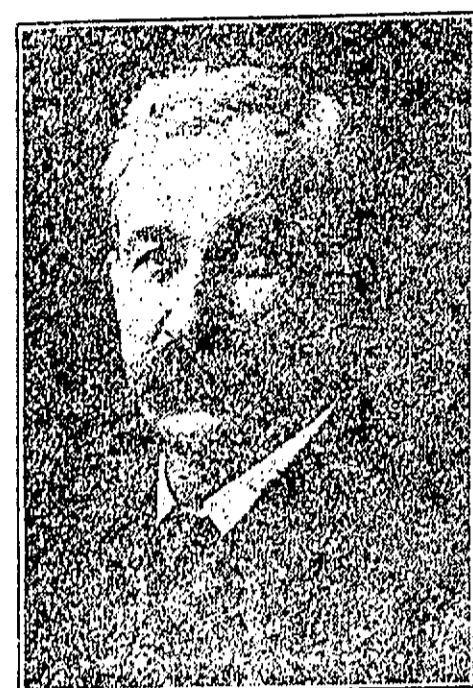

Mr. Kraske was born in West Prussia, Germany, October 15, 1888, and came with his parents the same year to Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, where he lived until he moved to Port Edwards in 1914. Mr. Kraske is a young man who stands very high in his community. He is a right, capable fellow; courteous and pleasant to all. His education and natural ability peculiarly fit him for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court. His opponent has held the office for many years and it would be only fair to give someone else a chance.

CLARENCE B. EDWARDS

For District Attorney

The democracy of Wood County

takes great pleasure in placing before the people as its candidate for District Attorney Mr. Clarence B. Edwards of Marshfield. The office of District Attorney is one of the most important offices of the county and should be filled by a man of integrity and ability; by a man who has no "strings" tied to him; who is not allied to any interest or faction, and who is free and ready to prosecute all wrongs without fear or favor. Mr. Edwards is such a man. He is a graduate of the Lancaster, Wisconsin high school, of the University of Wisconsin and the University law school. He came to Marshfield in 1909 and has practiced law in that city ever since. He served as City Attorney for four years, and is now a member of the board of education and has held minor positions of trust. He has never held county office. If elected, he will consider service to the county board and its members his first duty. His honesty, efficiency and a square deal to all will be his motto in the discharge of the duties of his office. Give him your vote and you will not regret it.

JOHN A. HOFFMANN

For Register of Deeds

One good term deserves another. Mr. Hoffmann has been a resident of Wood County for over 30 years. He has held the office of Register of Deeds for one term and is now asking support for a second term. He has made one of the best Registers the county has ever had. He is efficient, careful and accommodating and deserves a return to office.

LAMBERT MICHELS

For Member of Assembly

Mr. Michels is a particularly good man for Member of Assembly. He came to this county 40 years ago and cleared up a farm near Bakerville and has lived there ever since. He has a fair education, is prominent in his community, and has held many local offices. He understands the needs of farmers and has always been a true progressive. He will work for every measure that is for the interest of the common man. One law he will work for is a law to compel the owners of unoccupied land to build their share of line fences adjoining land that is being cleared up. All who believe in progressive legislation should vote for Mr. Michels.

JOE WHEELER, JR.

For County Treasurer

Mr. Wheeler is particularly well qualified for the office he seeks. He was born and raised in this county. He has held the office of City Treasurer of Grand Rapids for four years with entire satisfaction. He is absolutely honest and reliable in every way. The county may be sure that the people's funds will be perfectly safe if entrusted to his care, and the duties of the office faithfully attended to. He is courteous and obliging and will make a faithful public servant.

FRED BEELL

For Sheriff

The voters of the county ought to be glad to vote for Fred Beell for Sheriff. Though born in Germany, he is practically a home product, having come to Marshfield with his parents when he was only two years of age. Later he lived for eight years on a farm in the town of Cameron. Mr. Beell is a man of great physical strength and at one time was the champion wrestler of the world. He is a man of particularly clean moral character and good habits. He has never held office and well deserves the office he seeks. He is well qualified in every way, and deserves to be elected. He has put Wood County on the map. A resident of the county for 40 years.

Your vote will be appreciated.

Nov. 2 NOTICE FOR ADMINISTRATION AND NOTICE TO CREDITORS

State of Wisconsin, Wood County, in County Court.

In re Estate of John Schmitz, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that at the term of said court to be held on the first Tuesday of December, 1916, at the court house in the city of Grand Rapids, county of Wood and state of Wisconsin, there will be heard and considered the application of Lawrence Ward and Geo. W. Upham for the appointment of an administrator of the estate of John Schmitz, late of the town of Kensington, in said county, deceased.

AND NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN, that all such claims for examination and allowance must be presented to the said county court at the court house in the city of Grand Rapids, in said county and state, on and before the 5th day of March A. D. 1917, or be barred. Dated October 24th, 1916.

By the Court, W. J. CONWAY, County Judge.

Save Our Trading Stamps

EDITORIAL

Our acceptance of money is evidence of our faith that the customer is receiving a full round dollars worth of value for every dollar spent. If the goods we sell do not fill an honorable place in the mind of the purchaser, then they certainly fail to perform the duty for which they were intended, namely, to gratify and satisfy those who buy.

A fundamental principle of this business is that each article shall "pay its own way" for the future and today by rendering a true service to the customer and the store. Failure to do it means our failure to get ahead. Also it means that we have had "our labor for our pains."

Choose a Van Raalte Veil

WE offer super-selected styles in Veils. By this we mean, styles sponsored by Van Raalte and then selected by us. You cannot find an unbecoming one among the lot. And remember, Van Raalte Veils—stretch without tearing, wash without wearing, outlast three ordinary veils. Except those chemised, up-bloused or embroidered.

JOHNSON & HILL CO.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin

Save Our Trading Stamps

Individual Styles Characterize the New Coats Shown at this Store

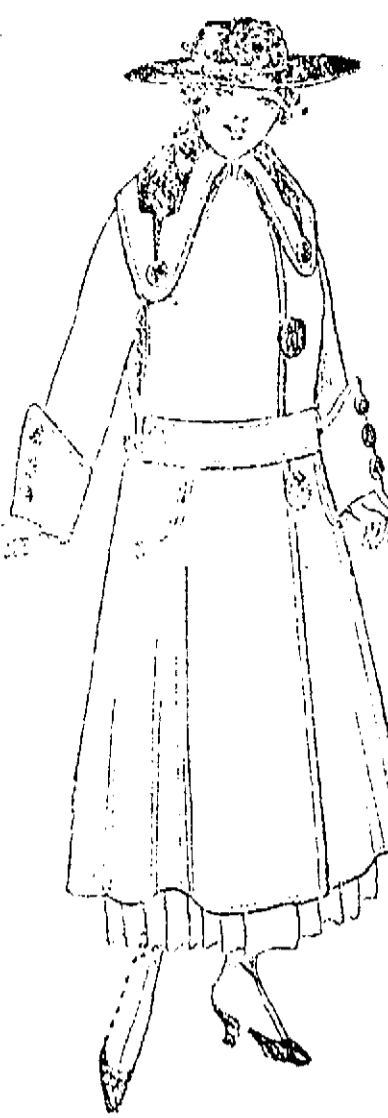

and though styles are individual, notable values predominate. An exorbitant price-ticket is never allowed to become attached to a coat in this store merely because styles are exclusive. Please bear this in mind at all times.

In regard to the new coats we might describe each one in detail, but even then you would be unable to picture just how smart and good looking they are. The better plan is to come into the store, see the coats, try them on and realize to your own satisfaction the individuality of the styles and exceptional values.

Special Showing of Attractive New Coats at $9.50

Other good values at $12.50, $15, $18 and $25.

Women's Tailored Suits at $20.00 Of Beauty, Find Workmanship and Quality

Judging from the enthusiasm of women who have been everywhere in their inspection of Suits at about this price or higher—and finally BOUGHT JOHNSON & HILL CO. Suits at $20.00—the merits of these Suits, as decided by the Metropolitan shoppers, are notable.

In point of style—every garment is the final word after most exhaustive selection—always with the demands of the woman of good taste in mind.

Every other quality that enters into their making is superior at this price. The varieties are almost endless:—

Plenty of Dressed and Semi-Dressed Styles
Plenty of Suits With 36-inch Coats
Plenty of Fur-Trimmed Suits

Plenty of Suits for Furs
Plenty of Tailored Fashions
Plenty of Three-Quarter Coats

Plenty of Serges, Poplins, Gabardines
Plenty of Blue and Black
Plenty of Velours, Broadcloths, Cheviots

Fashionable New Millinery

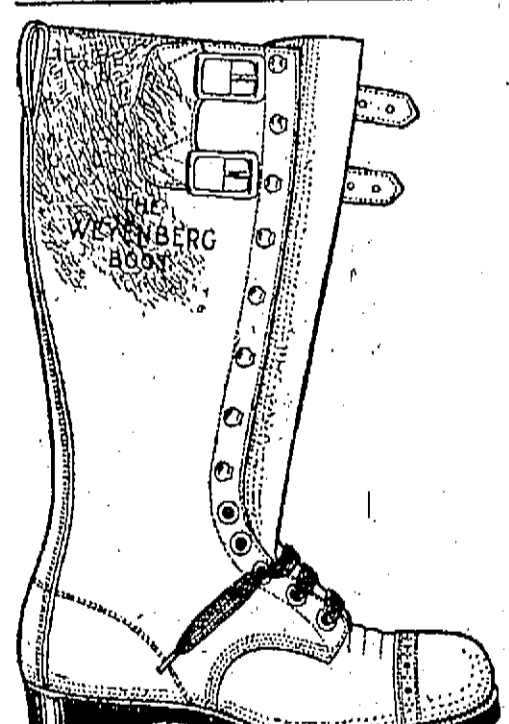

The scope of models in our Millinery Department is broad enough to satisfy every woman's preference.

It would seem as if our milliner made an unusual effort to provide a model suitable for each and every type; in consequence of which you will find hats that are not alone fashionable but smart in outline and above all else becoming. We lay emphasis, particularly, upon the manner in which the hats are trimmed, for it is the ability to know just where to place the ornament, a feather, or some other trimming idea that makes a hat fashionable, smart and becoming.

Every Hat Moderately Priced

GEORGETTE GAGE

Footwear For Hard Outdoor Winter Wear

Whether it's a Leather Boot or a Lumbermen Rubber—if you need footwear for hard service—for winter wear, you will find our assortment of footwear—the most complete from which to make your selection.

Right Now is a good time to make your selection—as prices are very uncertain, and we believe are going higher.

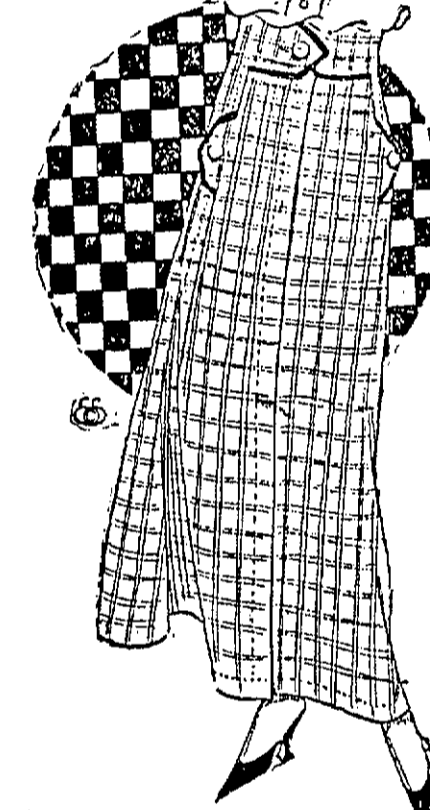

All Rubber Footwear is still at last seasons prices—except rubbers with leather tops.

Better get your supply of Winter Footwear NOW.

Let Us Fit Your FEET

Black, 16-in. top, sewed soles. $8.50
Black, 10-in. top, sewed soles. $5.50
Tan, 10-in. top, sewed soles. $5.50
Tan, 10-in. top, nailed soles. $4.00
Tan, 8-in. top, nailed soles. $3.50
Black or tan, regular height. $3.00

Choosing a Separate Skirt at this Store Brings to You the Assurance that it is in the Correct Style.

One secures as much satisfaction in knowing that their clothes are in styles favored by fashion as they do from the serviceability of the garment. Know, then, that the separate skirts here come from manufacturers whose styles have been approved by stylists who give the style question their serious attention. There are scores of new smart styles in separate skirts. Prices range from

$3.50, $5.00, $6.00, $7.50 and up

The New Silks and Dress Goods

The new Silks and Dress Goods are meeting with ALMOST the appreciation they deserve. By that we mean there will not be full appreciation till every woman in this vicinity views the rich and colorful fabrics for fall and winter.

Here is a stock that we have never before equalled for completeness of assortment—in fabrics rare, elegant and newest. Unusual care and study were given these materials this year, our expert gaining fullest information as to styles and fabrics and colors. Results speak for themselves. The fabrics are their own best advocates.

There are new Serges, Poplins, Broadcloths, Gabardines, Crepe Eplinge, Fancy Checks, Shepherd Checks, etc., in Dress Goods. All the new weaves and colors are shown in beautiful, radiant style, in clothing the scarce and hard to get Georgetowne Crepe.

(Silks and Dress Goods, Main Floor)

Bargain Basement

Women's and Misses' Winter Coats at $2.98

We are offering some wonderful values in Women's Coats in our bargain basement. These coats are not this seasons styles, but are good, serviceable garments. Come in and see them. Sizes 15, 16, and 18.

Women's and Misses' Coats and Suits $4.95

Women's and Misses Coats and Suits in a good line of colors, sizes 30 to 40. Good, serviceable garments, but not this seasons styles at the ridiculously low price of $4.95.

A Timely Word About "Styleplus" Clothes

—SAME POPULAR PRICE $17 —THE SAME GUARANTEE

This a remarkable achievement in view of the continual advance in costs of materials

"Styleplus" clothes for the men

Strictly for men—for the corpulent man—the short, heavy man—the tall, slender man—and the man of regular build. "Styleplus" suits and overcoats in a wide assortment of styles and patterns for men of conservative preference and men who like to "dress young." $17.

"Styleplus" clothes for young men

Young business men and college men find that "Styleplus" clothes are of the "niche above"—the fabrics and tailoring of the better kind—the styling done by a great fashion artist. Materials and models planned expressly for youth—a splendid assortment—at $17.

"Styleplus" full dress and tuxedo suits at $17

LOCAL ITEMS

Dr. Frank Kieckbusch visited in Wausau Sunday.

Mrs. Geo. Forrad sold two pianos at Mauston last week.

Miss Irene Sommers and Ed Smith spent Sunday with friends in Merrill.

Mrs. Wm. Hamm of Milwaukee is visiting with relatives and friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Schnabel have returned from a visit with relatives at Neenah.

Mrs. Peter Urbanowski of Stevens Point is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Klappa.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Sharkey of Junction City were among the business visitors in the city on last Friday.

—We handle Abstracts of Title, Loans, Collections, Real Estate and Fire Insurance. Come in and see us. Ed Pomainville. Office in the Mackinac block.

WANT COLUMN

MARLIN RIFLE.—30-30, 1898 model, new and in perfect condition. Will sell for $12. Also cartridges for sale. Phone 234.

FOR RENT.—House to 428 N. 12th St., by Peter Schuetz, R. 5, Grand Rapids, Wis.

FOUND.—Auto tire. Owner may have same by calling Tribune office.

WANTED.—Experienced girl for general housework in family of two. No washing. Mrs. R. M. Rogers. Phone 888.

FOR SALE.—Four-cylinder Hupmobile in good running order, for $125 if taken at once. Fred Sewick, City.

WANTED.—Young girl for candy case, Saturday only. Howard's Variety Store.

LOST.—Black and white fox terrier, Oct. 9, answers to the name of Babe. Finder notify John Schwenk, Phone 52.

FOR RENT.—Suite of modern offices over Daily's Drug Store.

FOR RENT.—Asuite of rooms suitable for office or living rooms, over Otto's Drug Store. Inquire of Ed Pomainville.

FOR SALE.—Registered Guernsey bull calf, 4 weeks old. Kronholm Bros. Stock Farm, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. R. D. 4.

LOST.—Four calves, 3 black and white and 1 black. Ed Verhulst, R. D. 5, Grand Rapids, Wis.

WANTED.—House and lot in exchange for 60-acre farm. Call Telephone 1018.

FOR RENT.—House at 1080 Washington Ave. by Peter Schuetz, R. 5, Grand Rapids, Wis.

—118 TO 217-ACRE FARM—With improvements for sale cheap and on easy payments. Will take some Grand Rapids property in exchange. L. Amundson.

FOR RENT.—Modern 5 and 6 room flats with bath. Janitor service and hot and cold water year round, steam heat. Apply to Taylor, Scott & Daily.

FOR SALE.—Driving horse. Emil Henke, 18th Ave. North.

W. E. WHELAN

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Office in Daly Block, East Side. Telephone No. 243. Grand Rapids, Wis.

GEO. L. WILLIAMS

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Office in Wood Block, over Postoffice. Telephone No. 91. Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

J. R. RAGAN

Licensed Embalmer and Undertaker. House phone No. 69, Store 313. Spafford's building, East Side. John Ermer, Residence phone No. 435.

DR. J. K. GOODRICH

OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN

Entrance west of Bank of Grand Rapids. Office hours 9-12, 2-6, 7-8. Phone 878. Consultation Free.

GOGGINS, BRAZEAU & GOGGINS

ATTORNEYS AT LAW

Office in the McKinnon Block on the West Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. Telephone No. 104.

J. J. JEFFREY

LAWYER

Loans and Collections. Commercial and Probate Law. Office across from Church's Drug Store. Personal Attention Given All Work. Office phone 251. Residence 186.

W. T. LYLE

Licensed Embalmer and Funeral Director. Store on West Side. Lady Attendant if desired. Night phone 885. Day phone 885.

A. J. CROWNS

ATTORNEY AT LAW

MacKinnon Block. Phone 836. Grand Rapids, Wis.

O. R. MOORE

PHOTOGRAPHER

Opposite Wood County National Bank. 25 years behind the camera but not a day behind the times.

Slump In Energy Stock

When you are nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, HEMO is a concentrated food from which you may derive the greatest amount of nutrition with the least effort of digestion. Assists digestion, relieves constipation. A food drink for meal time, between meals and upon retiring.

Makes a delicious food drink by simply adding water.

We suggest that you try a 50c package with our guarantee of satisfaction.

OTTO'S PHARMACY
Grand Rapids, Wis.

WELL DRILLING!

We are prepared to do your WELL DRILLING at reasonable prices. We have two modern machines and will operate year 'round.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

CARL KRONHOLM
Phone 3E3 Rudolph
Address Grand Rapids, Wis., R. 4

Miss Ethel Sutor entertained ten of her schoolmates at a Halloween party at her home on Monday evening.

Mrs. Jos. Weinberg and daughter departed on Saturday for Superior to visit for some time with her husband.

C. P. Gross, manager of the Grand Electric Company, made a business trip to Stevens Point on Wednesday.

Frank Henry has returned from Eau Claire where he spent several days the past week on business for L. A. Deguerre.

Rev. H. C. Logan was in Milwaukee on Friday to attend the funeral of his friend, John Moss, secretary of the Standard Paper Co.

Mrs. A. Bornick entertained a number of her friends at her home on Thursday afternoon at cards. Light refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Campbell of Chicago spent Monday in the city. Mr. Campbell giving an address before the Wilson club that evening.

Martin Jackson of the town of Seneca, carrier on R. R. No. 2, purchased a Cable-Nelson piano the past week from Mrs. Geo. Forrad.

Earl Hill, Paul Beane and Victor Bornick were among those here who attended the Elks Minstrel show at Stevens Point on Monday evening.

Arrangements have been made by the Elks lodge to have a private wire at the club rooms on the night of election to receive the election returns.

Wesley Eberhart who is employed in the Jeffrey automobile factory at Kenosha, was in the city this week to attend the funeral of his grandfather.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McCamley entertained a number of friends on Sunday afternoon, the occasion being the 37th anniversary of their wedding.

Fred Duncan has sold his interests in the firm of Geo. & Duncan to his partner, Harvey Geo. This consisted in a half interest in three farms and some city property.

Officer Wm. Berg picked up two Indian boys Sunday night who ran away from the school at Tomah. An officer arrived in the city Monday to take the lads back to the school.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Brazau were in Madison Saturday where they attended the football game between Chicago and Wisconsin, which resulted in a victory for Wisconsin by a score of 30 to 7.

—November Sale at the Ready-to-Wear Parlors. Handsome waists and petticoats at 95c, starting Nov. 1st. I. E. Wilcox.

Fred Mosher returned on Saturday night from Trout Lake where he spent several days hunting and fishing with his brother Andrew. Fred brought home five ducks and a number of fine lake trout.

Fred Nelson of Eau Claire, formerly proprietor of the Centralia House for a number of years, was in the city over Sunday visiting with friends. Fred reports everything booming up his way.

C. E. McKee, editor of the Pittsville Record, was in the city Friday afternoon to visit with his friends about town, and that evening he attended the political gathering at the Amusement Hall to hear Senator Clapp speak.

Mary Wagner, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wagner, was operated upon for appendicitis at the Riverview hospital on Monday. At last reports the little girl was getting along as well as can be expected.

Work on the Wood County Drainage District has been completed and the dredge that has been at work on the ditch has been taken down and will be shipped to Columbus, Ohio. The work was done by the Gilmore Construction Co.

The American Carbonic Machinery company of this city has submitted bids to furnish refrigerating plants for the battalions California and Tennessee, now under construction by the United States government. This company furnished the refrigerating plant for the battleship Texas which has since given the best of satisfaction.

Dave Woodruff, who has been making his home at Marshfield for some time past, was in the city on Monday calling on his friends, and looking after some business matters. Mr. Woodruff has returned to Vesper where he has again taken over the management of the Vesper Wood Co., a concern given over largely to the manufacture of silos.

Byron Whittingham, candidate for assemblyman on the republican ticket, was among the pleasant callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday. He was accompanied by Claus Johnson and Henry Bbbe, also republican candidates, who were interviewing the people in this section relative to their political bent and the possibility of supporting them at the coming election.

The public is herewith invited to attend the German Evangelical services in the G. A. R. hall next Sunday, November 5. Service in remembrance of the Church Reformation, with a corresponding sermon, 10 o'clock in the morning. After service is Sunday school. Come and let your children come. C. E. Paulowicz, Minister.

—The evident thing to do before your property burns is to eliminate worry by insuring in the right companies, with the right agent. Insist on one of our fire insurance policies. See Edward Pomainville, dealer in Real Estate and Insurance.

Mrs. Albert Waldvogel was called to Marshfield on Wednesday by the death of her father, Christ Hopp, who had reached the age of 76 years. Mr. Hopp was stricken with pneumonia some time ago and has since never fully recovered, and eventually contracted tuberculosis which caused his death. The funeral occurs tomorrow. John Hopp, a son of the deceased, also went up to attend the funeral of his father.

A good sized audience turned out on Friday evening to hear Moses E. Clapp speak on the political issues of the day. The speaker explained the situation from a republican standpoint, and those who heard him reported that he put up a good talk. The meeting was called to order by Atty. John Roberts and a short address was made by Isaac P. Witter, candidate for state senator.

Wm. Crossland of the town of Sigel was among the business callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday. Mr. Crossland says that there is a part of the road between his place and the village of Vesper where it is entirely impassable for automobiles, and that several that have tried to make the trip have become stuck in the mud and had to be pulled out. Mr. Crossland is strongly in favor of the idea of bonding the county for the building of good roads, and then build them in a manner that they will last for a number of years and give service at all seasons. The idea of a town building a mile a year for twenty years is all right as a slow method of improving the roads and keeping the people strapped while it is being done, but at the end of the time the country is still without roads, and those that were built first have passed out of existence.

Miss Lucy Ralid of Milwaukee is a guest at the A. B. Sutor home.

Frank Natwick has received a new Maxwell touring car the past week.

Miss Lillian Witte visited with relatives and friends in Merrill several days this week.

Henry Demitz and Wilbur Herschleb bagged thirty ducks in the west marsh on Sunday.

Mrs. Eva Turner of Neenah has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Boozie the past week.

According to the New Lisbon Times that city is preparing to stage a big becoming for next summer.

—See the new afternoon and evening dresses just received at the Ready-to-Wear Parlors. I. E. Wilcox.

Mrs. Wyman of Oshkosh arrived in the city on Tuesday evening for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Natwick.

Simon Stellmacher of the town of Sigel departed on Friday night for Milwaukee where he intends to spend the winter.

Mrs. M. A. Foote departed on Monday for Chicago where she will spend the winter with her sons, Charles and Frank.

Mrs. George W. Miller and daughter Georgiana of Stevens Point were guests at the home of Mrs. Frank Carey the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rebenstorf of Sigel departed on Friday night for Milwaukee where he intends to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Riley and daughter Nora returned on Saturday from a three weeks visit at Boston, New York and Washington.

According to a Washington dispatch of Friday's Milwaukee papers, C. R. Fuller has been appointed a railway mail clerk for Wisconsin.

Martin Jacobson has purchased two lots of R. S. Payne and Hugh Doles on Elm street, and commenced the erection of a new home the past week.

Monroe citizens will vote at the coming spring election on a $10,000 bond issue for the purchase of a site and the construction of a municipal swimming pool.

C. E. Kruger, motorman on the Grand Rapids Street Railway, has purchased two lots of Thos. Davis on 14th Ave. South, upon which he expects to build a home next year.

Mrs. Geo. R. Gardner and daughter Mabel left on Saturday for Louisville, Kentucky, where they will attend the tri-annual session of the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star.

Andrew Mosher and crew departed on Monday for Milladore where he has the contract for the erection of a school house. Carey concrete blocks will be the material used.

Mrs. Henry Knoll returned on Saturday from Green Bay where she had been for two weeks in a hospital, having undergone an operation for appendicitis.

Richard Dobbs, one of the enterprising young farmers of the town of Rudolph, was a pleasant caller at this office last Thursday, and before departing advanced his subscription to the Tribune for another year.

—Don't forget the November Cash Sale at the Ready-to-Wear Parlors, starting Nov. 1st to 4th. I. E. Wilcox.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Love left on Tuesday for Cincinnati, Ohio, where they will make their home in the future. Mr. and Mrs. Love have many friends in this city who are sorry to see them leave, but who will wish them the best success in their new home.

M. H. McSwain, master mechanic at the Biron mill, and Alex Haydock, one of the machine tenders, returned on Saturday from a week's trip to Port Francis, Ont., International Falls, Brainerd and Sartell, Minn., where they had been to inspect the paper mills at those points.

—We have farms to exchange for city property. If you want a loan on your farm or need some fire insurance, drop in and see us. Ed E. Pomainville, the Real Estate Dealer, 37 mainville, the Real Estate Dealer.

Hancock News: Mrs. Elmer Crockett and a guest visited here a week in the home of her sister, Mrs. Clyde Starks. She was accompanied home Tuesday by their mother, Mrs. H. McCooey, who spent the summer here in the Starks home. After a month's visit at Rudolph she intends to return to her own home at Avon, S. Dak.

Thomas Burr, one of the old soldiers of Grand Rapids, has gone to Milwaukee where he entered the Soldier's Home and expects to remain. Mr. Burr has been in very poor health of late and it is expected that he can be taken care of at the home better than he would be here. He was accompanied to Milwaukee by his son Elmer.

Fred Fiegl returned on Friday from Weyauwega where he had been to attend the funeral of his brother, Wm. Fiegl, who was buried on Thursday. Deceased was a retired merchant who was born in Adams county in 1857, and had lived in this section of the state all his life, having been engaged in the mercantile business at Strong's Prairie for a good many years.

—Special Sale at the Ready-to-Wear Parlors starting Wednesday, Nov. 1st, until Saturday, Nov. 4th. Coats, Dresses, Waists and Skirts. I. E. Wilcox.

Attorney General Owen has ruled that a divorced woman is not eligible to a pension as provided by the state law. Persons who benefit by the law must be bona fide widows and have at least one child under fourteen years of age. They must also prove that they are in real need. The pensions are paid for the support of the children and cannot exceed $14.

Merrill Herald: Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Mae Heineman, a 1918 graduate of the university and member of the Alpha Phi Delta sorority, to Arthur Hoffmeier, of Chicago. The wedding will take place December 19, at the Blackstone hotel, Chicago, where Miss Heineman and her mother are living.

Lee B. Margray of the town of Saratoga is among the pleasant callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday. Mr. Margray had with him a penny of the date of 1857 and a nickel dated 1858 that he dug up on his property some time ago. The penny is of the old eagle and of the variety and design that many of the present generation has never seen. Anybody that imagines that these Saratoga farms are not good producers should interview Mr. Margray on the matter, especially when potatoes are $1.35 per bushel.

Tomah Journal: Lieut. E. C. Van Wie arrived home from the border last Friday, looking well altho considerably lighter than when he left here last June. He came on a 30 day furlough to look after his business but on his arrival he found a telegram awaiting him, notifying him of the acceptance of his resignation which had been pending for some time. Consequently he will not be obliged to return to San Antonio. Mr. Van Wie will be remembered as having had charge of the Johnson & Hill Co's drug department for a number of years, but is now running a drug store at Tomah.

AYLWARD TO BE HERE.

John Aylward, who is one of the best known democrats in the state of Wisconsin, will be in the city of Grand Rapids a talk on the political situation. As Mr. Aylward is a first class speaker, there is no reason why he should not be favored with a large turnout. Daily's Theatre, Friday evening.

GERMAN SUBMARINE WITH VALUABLE CARGO

New London, Conn., Nov. 1.—The big German submarine, "The Deutschland" has completed its second successful trip across the Atlantic ocean, arriving in this port today. The Deutschland left Bremen on October 10th, making the trip in just twenty-one days.

A cargo of ten million dollars' worth of chemicals and dyestuffs was brought to the United States by the Deutschland.

It is admitted that the Bremen, another submarine that started for this country August 26th, has been lost.

DEATH OF A. EBERHARDT

Albert Eberhardt, one of the old residents of this section, died on Saturday at the age of 84 years, death being due to old age.

Deceased was a native of Germany, where he was born on the 15th of July, 1834, and was consequently in his 85th year at the time of his death.

Mr. Eberhardt came to this country with his parents when a child, the family settling in the southern part of the state. They came to the town of Grant in 1855 and engaged in farming, and deceased has followed that business practically all his life.

Mr. Eberhardt served during the Civil War and was a member of the Wood County Post.

He is survived by three sons, Henry Eberhardt of the town of Grand Rapids, and John and Fred Eberhardt of this city.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon from the east side Lutheran church, Rev. R. J. Pautz conducting the services.

The partidge season closed on the first of November. Less partidge were killed this season than for a good many years.

The banes of Miss Lulu Hayes and Dr. C. T. Foote were published for the first time at St. Peter and Paul church on Wednesday.

Miss Hilda Meier of Milwaukee spent the week at the J. E. Northington home at Byron. Miss Merton returns home today.

Miss Julia Lukasecki of Chicago arrived in the city Tuesday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Lukasecki for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. E. M. Stoddard of Merrill, a former resident of Grand Rapids, spent Friday in the city, having come down as a delegate to the W. K. C. convention.

Remember All Our Meats U. S. Inspected

New Meat Market

J. H. BRANDT, Prop.

COMMITTED TO ASYLUM

Anton Zwobinski, who was working on the section in this vicinity, was adjudged insane on Friday and taken to the asylum. Zwobinski's trouble was said to be due to drink. The man came here from Wautoma.

J. J. Northington of Stevens Point has purchased a lot on the corner of Clark and Third Streets on which he will erect a modern and up-to-date laundry, same to cost about $10,000.

Specials For Saturday, November 4th

Choice 1916 Spring Lamb

Hind Quarter Lamb.....15c
Loin Roast Lamb.....15c
Shoulder Roast Lamb.....14c
Lamb Stew.....12c

Choice Milk Fed Veal

Loaf Veal Roast.....15c
Loin Veal Roast.....14c
Shoulder Veal Roast.....13c
Veal Stew.....11c

Choice Native Beef Pot Roast 12c

Choice Native Beef Rib Roast 12c
Choice Boneless Beef Roled Roast.....15c
Rib Boiling Beef.....9c
Choice Tender Sirloin Steak.....14c
Choice Tender Porter House Steak.....14c
Choice Tender Round Steak.....14c
Fancy Beef Tenderloin.....22c
Hamburger.....12c

Loin Pork Roast.....16c

Shoulder Pork Roast.....16c
Fresh Pig Feet.....6c
Fresh Neck Rets.....6c
Fresh Spareribs.....12c
Fresh Hocks.....12c
Hog Liver.....7c
Link Pork Sausage.....15c
Bulk Pork Sausage.....14c
Very Best Boiled Ham.....28c
Mettworst.....15c
Summer Sausage.....18c
Frankfurters Weibers.....12c
Fresh Liver Sausage.....11c
Ray Blood Sausage.....11c
Polish Sausage.....13c
No. 1 Regular Smoked Hams 17c
Very Good Bacon.....19c
Very Best Bacon.....21c
Swift Premium Bacon by the slab.....27c
Swift Premium Ham.....22c

Remember All Our Meats U. S. Inspected

New Meat Market
J. H. BRANDT, Prop.

Authorized and paid for by Claus Johnson, to be paid for at the rate of $1.00 per issue.

A number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lutz were entertained at their home Thursday evening, the occasion being Mrs. Lutz's birthday. The evening was spent in a very pleasant manner, supper being served and a general good time had by all in attendance.

According to statistics there have been more than 1000 people killed in the United States since the first of January in automobile accidents. Also something over 8000 injured by the same method. As a means of killing and maiming the populace, the automobile in America has the Zeppelin backed off the map in the raids that have been made in England, and yet, we hardly take a second look at the casualties of the auto, but look with horror on the raids of the Zeppelin. It merely illustrates how different it is if we do the thing ourselves or whether somebody else steps in and does it for us.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fahrner of Joliet, Ill., are relying over the arrival of a boy baby at their home on Monday, October 30. Mrs. Fahrner was formerly Miss Grace Huntington of this city.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sutor at Milwaukee, October 27. Mrs. Sutor was formerly Miss Harriet Kluge of this city.

CLAUS JOHNSON

(Resident of Wood County 50 Years)

Candidate for COUNTY TREASURER AT THE GENERAL ELECTION

November 7, 1916

Your Vote will be Appreciated

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fahrner of Joliet, Ill., are relying over the arrival of a boy baby at their home on Monday, October 30. Mrs. Fahrner was formerly Miss Grace Huntington of this city.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sutor at Milwaukee, October 27. Mrs. Sutor was formerly Miss Harriet Kluge of this city.

Pay by Check

For Payment At All Times

Use a check-book.

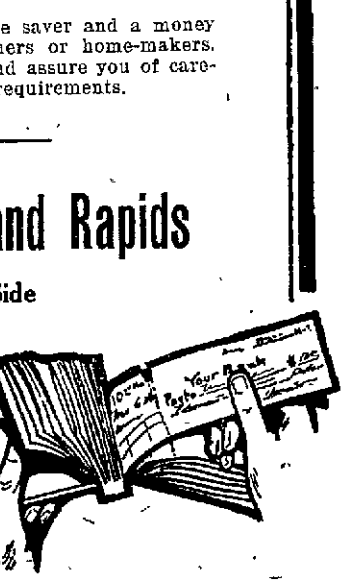

Whether you carry an account with the merchants of our city or make cash payments—the check-book offers the safest, easiest and most accurate method of payment.

A check at the end of the month or for each individual purchase gives you a legal receipt for the money paid.

A bank check is a time saver and a money saver to merchants, farmers or home-makers. We invite your account and assure you of careful attention to all your requirements.

Bank of Grand Rapids

West Side

THE ENLARGED HOMESTEAD ACT

The Interior Department at Washington designated 1,124,000 acres of new homestead land in August. These additions to lands, subject to homestead, are of what is known as non-irrigable land. Entry made thereunder entitles a homesteader to 320 acres instead of 160 acres as provided under the old homestead laws. If a settler already has 160 acres under the former homestead law, he may acquire an additional 160 acres under the "enlarged Homestead Act." A little energy on the part of local communities, may, in many cases, secure for the homesteader double the number of acres he now possesses.

LUKE MCLUKE SAYS

There are many kinds of music. One kind is when a joy rider almost runs you down and you hear one of his tires blow out after he passes you. Our idea of a Bad Egg is a fellow who isn't on speaking terms with his own conscience.

When Daughter gets a Natural photograph of herself she appears with a clean sheet draped around her torso and is gazing at the sky with a faraway look in her eyes. But a Natural picture of Mother would show her draped in a colorful wrapper and gazing at a dishpan heaped with unwashed plates and saucers.

A QUESTION

You may be constantly asking yourself this question: "Will I feel humiliated if I open a small bank account?"

In this bank you will not.

We would rather have you open a small account and see it grow, than have you start with a large amount and see it diminish.

ANY AMOUNT WILL DO FOR A START

Wood County National Bank

Grand Rapids, Wis.

SAFETY SERVICE

Beautiful Beacon Blankets

They give Wool Comfort at a Cotton Price. We've secured the agency of the world famous Beacon Blankets, Robes and Couch Throws, of which we are making the first showing and sale.

Robe blankets in handsome color combination including handsome Indian patterns, 72x90 inches at.....$2.98 and $2.50

Misses and childrens robe blankets, 56x80 in. at.....$2.35

Comfortables for bed or couch cover 70x84 at $2.75

Crib blankets at.....19, 25, 35, 50c and up to $1.50

Beacon baby blankets per pair $1.25, $1.50 up $2.25.

Beacon wool finish bed blankets, 11-4, per pair from.....$2.50 to $4.50

Cotton fleeced bed blankets from.....50c to $2.00

11-4 white fleeced blanket sheets per pair.....$1.45

Wool bed blankets, special value per pair.....$5.98 In red, blue, pink, tan and grey plaids

You may want one of these handsome Beacon Blankets or Robes for a Xmas gift. Make your choice now. See the Robes this week in our window. Our next window display will show the Bed Blankets.

W. C. WEISEL

What the HOOSIER Cabinet Will Do For You

- Places for 400 articles all within arm's reach.
- 40 labor-saving features, each like a helping hand.
- The Hoosier will cut your kitchen work in half.
- Will save you miles of steps.
- Will save you hours of weary toil.
- Will make it a pleasure to cook and bake.
- Will save your energy and beauty, and keep you feeling young and strong.
- Will help you get meals quickly.
- Will help you tidy up in just a few moments when the meal is over.

A Centralized Storehouse

THE VITAL PART OF YOUR CABINET

The picture above shows how the scientific arrangement of the Hoosier makes it a real helper. Storage space is above and below. There is plenty of unhampered room above and around the aluminum (or porcelain) work table.

There are no useless little partitions to chop up the space and leave no room for work. Your cabinet must have big table space to work on. The Hoosier gives it.

Come and see these six exclusive Hoosier features:

- 1—The all-metal glass front flour bin.
- 2—The gear-driven shaker flour sifter which makes flour light and fluffy.
- 3—Scientific arrangement—articles needed most frequently easiest reached.
- 4—Revolving caster (shown in center of illustration).
- 5—The ingenious, big-capacity sugar bin—holds more than twice as much as most other bins.
- 6—Finally, either doors with a handy rack for small utensils, or rolling doors.

PRICES AND TERMS

There are over 1,000,000 Hoosier Cabinets in use. Enormous factory output makes our low prices which now range from $24, $28, $30, $35 to $40 possible.

Have the Hoosier delivered at once by paying only $1.00. You may make payments at the rate of $1.00 per week, without extra cost or interest. And regardless of the room in your kitchen, there is a special Hoosier model to fit, at a price you can easily afford.

WE CAN TELL YOU ABOUT THE HOOSIER—BUT YOU MUST SEE IT

We can talk about these wonderful conveniences, but to really appreciate the great amount of time the Hoosier will save you, you must see and examine these features yourself in our store.

Just remember that tomorrow for only $1.00 you can start using these labor-saving features in your kitchen, and come in today.

Have a demonstration of its exclusive work-saving features. No obligation incurred if you don't want to buy now. But at least learn why over a million women can't do without a Hoosier.

W. T. LYLE, Furniture and Undertaking

West Side Grand Rapids, Wis.

LOCAL ITEMS

Dr. Frank Kieckbusch visited in Wausau Saturday.

Mrs. Geo. Fornand sold two pianos at Mauston last week.

Miss Irene Sommers and Ed Smith spent Sunday with friends in Merrill.

Mrs. Wm. Hannu of Milwaukee is visiting with relatives and friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Schnabel have returned from a visit with relatives at Neenah.

Mrs. Peter Urbanowski of Stevens Point is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Klappa.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Sharkey of Junction City were among the business visitors in the city on last Friday.

—We handle Abstracts of Title, Loans, Collections, Real Estate and Fire Insurance. Come in and see us. Ed Pomianville. Office in the MacKinnon block.

WANT COLUMN

WANTED RUMBLE—30-30, 1898 model, new and in perfect condition. Will sell for $12. Also cartridges for sale. Phone 234.

FOR RENT—House at 428 N. 12th St., by Peter Schuetz, R. 5, Grand Rapids, Wis.

FOUND—Auto tire. Owner will have same by calling Tribune office.

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework in family of two. No washing. Mrs. R. M. Rogers. Phone 368.

FOR SALE—Four-cylinder Hupmobile in good running order, for $125 if taken at once. Fred Sewick, City.

WANTED—Young girl for candy case, Saturday only. Howard's Variety Store.

LOST—Black and white fox terrier, Oct. 9, answers to the name of Babe. Finder notify John Schwenk, Phone 52.

FOR RENT—Suite of modern offices over Daily's Drug Store.

FOR RENT—Suite of rooms suitable for office or living rooms, over Otto's Drug Store. Inquire of Ed Pomianville.

FOR SALE—Registered Guernsey bull calf, 4 weeks old. Kronholm Bros., Stock Farm, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, R. D. 4.

LOST—Four calves, 3 black and white and 1 black. Ed Verhulst, R. 1, S. Grand Rapids, Wis.

WANTED—House and lot in exchange for 60-acre farm. Call Tribune office 1018.

FOR RENT—House at 1036 Washington Ave. by Peter Schuetz, R. 5, Grand Rapids, Wis.

—115 TO 217-ACRE FARM—With improvements for sale cheap and on easy payments. Will take some Grand Rapids property in exchange. L. Amundson.

FOR RENT—Modern 5 and 6 room flats with bath. Janitor service and hot and cold water year round, steam heat. Apply to Taylor, Scott & Daly.

FOR SALE—Driving horse. Emil Henke, 18th Ave. North.

W. E. WHEELAN

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Office in Daily Block, East Side. Telephone No. 243. Grand Rapids, Wis.

GEO. L. WILLIAMS

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Office in Wood Block, over Postoffice, Telephone No. 91. Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

J. R. RAGAN

Licensed Embalmer and Undertaker.

House 'phone No. 59. Store 313. Spafford's building, East Side. John Ragan, Residence 'phone No. 435.

DR. J. K. GOODRICH

OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN

Entrance west of Bank of Grand Rapids. Office hours: 9-12, 2-6, 7-8. Phone 873. Consultation Free

GOOGINS, BRAZEAU & GOGGINS

ATTORNEYS AT LAW

Office in the McKinnon Block on the West Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. Telephone No. 104.

J. J. JEFFREY

LAWYER

Loans and Collections. Commercial and Probate Law. Office across from Church's Drug Store. Personal Attention Given All Work. Office phone 251. Residence 185

W. T. LYLE

Licensed Embalmer and Funeral Director.

Store on West Side.

Lady Attendant if desired.

Night phone 886. Day phone 885

A. J. CROWNS

ATTORNEY AT LAW

MacKinnon Block. Phone 836 Grand Rapids, Wis.

O. R. MOORE

PHOTOGRAPHER

Opposite Wood County National Bank. 25 years behind the camera but not a day behind the times.

Slump In Energy Stock

When you are nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, HEMO is a concentrated food from which you may derive the greatest amount of nutriment. Assists digestion, relieves constipation. A food drink for meal time, between meals and upon retiring.

Makes a delicious food drink by simply adding water.

We suggest that you try a 50c package with our guarantee of satisfaction.

OTTO'S PHARMACY

Grand Rapids, Wis.

WELL DRILLING!

We are prepared to do your WELL DRILLING at reasonable prices. We have two modern machines and will operate year 'round.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

CARL KRONHOLM

Phone 3E3 Rudolph

Address Grand Rapids, Wis., R. 4

Miss Ethel Sutor entertained ten of her schoolmates at a Halloween party at her home on Monday evening.

Mrs. Jos. Weinberg and daughter departed on Saturday for the motor to visit for some time with her husband.

C. P. Gross, manager of the Grand Rapids Electric Company, made a business trip to Stevens Point on Wednesday.

Frank Henry has returned from Eau Claire where he spent several days the past week on business for L. A. Dugre.

Rev. H. C. Logan was in Milwaukee on Friday to attend the funeral of his friend, John Moss, secretary of the Standard Paper Co.

Mrs. A. Hornick entertained a number of her friends at her home on Thursday afternoon at cards. Light refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Campbell of Chicago spent Monday in the city. Mr. Campbell giving an address before the Wilson club that evening.

Martin Jackson of the town of Seneca, carrier on R. No. 2, purchased a Cable-Nelson piano the past week from Mrs. Geo. Fornand.

Carl Hill, Paul Bease and Victor Hornick were among those from here who attended the Elks Minstrel show at Stevens Point on Monday evening.

Arrangements have been made by the Elks lodge to have a private wire at the club rooms on the night of election to receive the election returns.

Wesley Eberhart who is employed in the Jeffrey automobile factory at Kenosha, was in the city this week to attend the funeral of his grandfather.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McCannley entertained a number of friends on Sunday afternoon, the occasion being the 37th anniversary of their wedding.

Fred Duncan has sold his interests in the firm of G. & D. Duncan to his nephew, Harvey Geo. This consisted of a half interest in three farms and some city property.

Officer Wm. Burg picked up two Indian boys Sunday night who ran away from the school at Fond du Lac, and in the city Monday to take the kids back to the school.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Brazeau were in Madison Saturday where they attended the football game between Chicago and Wisconsin.

—November Sale at the Ready-to-Wear Parlors. Handsome waists and petticoats at 95c, starting Nov. 1st. L. E. Wilcox.

Fred Mosher returned on Saturday night from a hunting and fishing trip with his brother Andrew. Fred brought home five ducks and a number of fine lake trout.

Fred Nelson of Eau Claire, formerly proprietor of the Centralia House, now in the city and working in the city over Sunday visiting with friends. Fred reports everything booming up his way.

C. E. McKee, editor of the Pittsville Record, was in the city Friday afternoon to visit with his friends about town, and that evening he attended the political gathering at the Amusement Hall to hear Senator Clapp speak.

Mary Wagner, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wagner, was operated upon for appendicitis at the Riverview hospital on Monday. At last reports the little girl was getting along as well as can be expected.

Work on the Wood County Drainage District has been completed and the dredge that has been at work on the ditch has been taken down and will be shipped to Columbus, Ohio. The work was done by the Glinoire Construction Co.

The American Carbonic Machinery company of this city have submitted bids to furnish refrigerating plants for the battleships under construction by the United States government. This company furnished the refrigerating plant for the battleship Texas which has since given the best of satisfaction.

Dave Woodruff, who has been making his home at Marshfield for some time past, was in the city on Monday calling on his friends, and looking after some business matters. Mr. Woodruff has returned to Vesper where he has again taken over the management of the Vesper Wood Mfg. Co., a concern given over largely to the manufacture of stoves.

Byron Whittingham, candidate for assessor, was in the city on Monday at the Tribune office on Tuesday. He was accompanied by Claus Johnson and Henry Ebbe, also interviewing candidates in this section relative to their political bent and the possibility of supporting them at the coming election.

The public is herewith invited to attend the German Evangelical service in the G. R. hall next Sunday, November 5. Service in remembrance of the Church Reformation, with a corresponding sermon.

At 10 o'clock in the morning. After service at the school. Come and let your children come. G. E. Paulowit, Minister.

—The evident thing to do before your property burns is to eliminate worry by insuring in the right companies, with the right agent. Insist on one of our fire insurance policies. See Edward Pomianville, dealer in Real Estate and Insurance.

Mrs. Albert Waldvogel was called to Marshfield on Wednesday by the death of her father, Christ Hopp, who had reached the age of 76 years. Mr. Hopp was stricken with pneumonia some time ago and has since never fully recovered, and eventually contracted tuberculosis which caused his death. The funeral occurs tomorrow. John Hopp, a son of the deceased, also went up to attend the funeral of his father.

A good sized audience turned out on Friday evening to hear Moses E. Clapp speak on the political issues of the day. The speaker explained the situation from a republican standpoint, and those who heard him reported that he put up a good talk.

The meeting was called to order by Atty. John Roberts and a short address was made by Isaac P. Witter, candidate for state senator.

Wm. Crossland of the town of Sigel was among the business callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday. Mr. Crossland says that there is a part of the road between his place and the village of Vesper where it is entirely impossible for automobiles, that several that have tried to make the trip have become stuck in the mud and had to be pulled out. Mr. Crossland is strongly in favor of the building of good roads, and then build them in a manner that they will last for a number of years and give service at all seasons. The idea of improving the roads and keeping the people strapped while it is being done, but at the end of the time the country is still without roads, and those that were built first have passed out of existence.

Miss Lucy Raidt of Minneapolis, is a guest at the A. B. Sutor home.

Frank Natwick has received a new Maxwell touring car the past week.

Miss Lillian White visited with relatives and friends in Merrill several days this week.

Henry Demitz and Wilbur Hereschke buzzed thirty ducks in the west marsh on Sunday.

Mrs. Eva Turner of Neenah has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Boze the past week.

According to the New Lisbon Times that city is preparing to stage a big fire according to next summer.

—See the new afternoon and evening dresses just received at the Ready-to-Wear Parlors. L. E. Wilcox.

Mrs. Wyman of Oshkosh arrived in the city on Tuesday evening for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Natwick.

Simon Stellmacher of the town of Sigel departed on Friday night for Milwaukee where he intends to spend the winter.

Mrs. M. A. Poote departed on Monday for Chicago where she will spend the winter with her sons, Charles and Frank.

Mrs. George W. Miller and daughter Georgiana of Stevens Point were guests at the home of Mrs. Frank Carey the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rebenstorf of Sprague visited at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Kowalski on Friday and Saturday.

Herman Pagel, one of the pioneer farmers of the town of Sigel, was the pleasant caller at the Tribune office on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Riley and daughter Nora returned on Saturday from a three weeks visit at Boston, New York and Washington.

According to a Washington dispatch in Friday's Milwaukee papers, G. H. Fuller has been appointed a railway mail clerk for Wisconsin.

Martin Jacobson has purchased two lots of R. S. Payne and commenced Boies on Elm street, and commenced the construction of a new home the past week.

Monroe citizens will vote at the coming spring election on a $10,000 bond issue for the purchase of a site and the construction of a municipal swimming pool.

C. E. Kruger, motorman on the Grand Rapids Street Railway, has purchased two lots of Thos. Davis on 10th Ave. South, upon which he expects to build a home next year.

Mrs. Geo. L. Gardner and daughter Melba left on Saturday for Louisville, Kentucky, where they will attend the tri-annual session of the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star.

Andrew Mosher and crew departed on Monday for a job where he has the contract for the erection of a new house. Carey concrete blocks will be the material used.

Mrs. Henry Knoll returned on Saturday from Green Bay where she had been for two weeks in a hospital, having undergone an operation for appendicitis.

Richard Dobbs, one of the enterprising young farmers of the town of Rudolph, was a pleasant caller at the Tribune office last Thursday and before departing advanced his subscription to the Tribune for another year.

—Don't forget the November Cash Sale at the Ready-to-Wear Parlors, starting Nov. 1st to 4th. L. E. Wilcox.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Love left on Tuesday for Cincinnati, Ohio, where they will make their home in the future. Mr. and Mrs. Love have many friends in this city who are sorry to see them leave, but who will wish them the best success in their new home.

—M. McSwain, master mechanic at the Biron mill, and Alex Haydock, one of the machine tenders, returned on Saturday from a weeks trip to Port Francis, Ont., International Falls, Brainerd and Sarnell, Minn., where they had been to inspect the paper mills at those points.

—We have farms to exchange for city property. If you want a loan on your farm or need some fire insurance, drop in and see us. Ed Pomianville, the Real Estate Dealer. 31

Hancock News: Mrs. Elmer Crockett of Rudolph, visited here a week in the home of her sister, Mrs. Clyde Starks. She was accompanied home Tuesday by their mother, Mrs. H. Tuesday, who spent the summer here in the Starks home. After a months visit at Rudolph she intends to return to her own home at Avon, S. Dak.

Thomas Burr, one of the old soldier residents of Grand Rapids, has gone to Milwaukee where he entered the Soldier's Home and expects to remain. Mr. Burr has been in very poor health of late and it is expected that he can be taken care of at the home better than he would be here. He was accompanied to Milwaukee by his son Elmer.

Fred Fiegl returned on Friday from Weyauwega where he had been to attend the funeral of his brother, Wm. Fiegl, who was buried on Thursday. Deceased was a retired merchant who was born in Adams county in 1857, and had lived in this section of the state all his life, having been engaged in the mercantile business at Strong's Prairie for a good many years.

—Special Sale at the Ready-to-Wear Parlors starting Wednesday, Nov. 1st, until Saturday Nov. 4th. Coats, Dresses, Waists and Skirts. L. E. Wilcox.

Attorney General Owen has ruled that a divorced woman is not eligible to a pension as provided by the state law. Persons who benefit by the law must be bona fide widows and have at least one child under fourteen years of age. They must also prove that they are in real need. The pensions are paid for the support of the children and cannot exceed $14.

Merrill Herald: Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Mae Heineman, a 1921 graduate of the university and member of the Alpha Phi Delta sorority, to Arthur H. Meier, of Chicago. The wedding will take place on December 19, at the Blackstone hotel, Chicago, where Miss Heineman and her mother are living.

Lee B. Margrey of the town of Saratoga was in the city on Tuesday, at the Tribune office on Tuesday. Mr. Margrey had with him a penny of the date of 1857 and a nickel dated 1858 that he dug up on his property some 100 years ago. The penny is of the old eagle variety and of a design that many of the present generation has never seen. Anybody that imagines that these Saratoga farms are not good producers should interview Mr. Margrey on the matter, especially when potatoes are $1.35 per bushel.

Tomah Journal: Lieut. E. C. Van Wie arrived Friday looking well although considerably lighter than when he left here last June. He came on a 30 day furlough to look after his business but on his arrival here found a telegram awaiting him, notifying him of the acceptance of his resignation which had been pending for some time. Consequently he will not be obliged to return to the Saratoga. Mr. Van Wie will be remembered as having had charge of the Johnson & Hill Co's drug department for a number of years, but is now running a drug store at Tomah.

AYLWARD TO BE HERE.

John Aylward, who is one of the best known democrats in the state of Wisconsin, will be in the city Friday evening to give the voters of Grand Rapids a talk on the political situation. As Mr. Aylward is a first class speaker there is no reason why he should not be favored with a large turnout. Daly's Theatre, Friday evening.

JERO-HOLMES

Miss Lillian Jero of New Rome and Robert Holmes of Big Flats were married Tuesday at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. H. B. Johnson, of this city performing the ceremony. Both of the young people are well and favorably known down in that country and will make their home near Big Flats, where the groom is engaged in farming.

GERMAN SUBMARINE WITH VALUABLE CARGO

New London, Conn., Nov. 1.—The big German submarine, the "Deutschland," has completed its second successful trip across the Atlantic ocean, arriving in this port today. The "Deutschland" left Bremen on October 10th, making the trip in just twenty-one days.

A cargo of ten million dollars' worth of chemicals and dyestuffs was brought to the United States by the "Deutschland."

It is admitted that the Bremen, another submarine that started for this country August 26th, has been lost.

DEATH OF A. EBERHARDT

Albert Eberhardt, one of the old residents of this section, died on Saturday at the age of 84 years, death being due to old age.

Deceased was a native of Germany, where he was born on the 15th of July, 1844, and was consequently in his 85th year at the time of his death. Mr. Eberhardt came to this country with his parents when a child, the family settling in the southern part of the state.

They came to the town of Grant in 1855 and engaged in farming, and decedent has followed that business practically all his life. Mr. Eberhardt was a member of the Civil War and was a member of the Wood County Post.

He is survived by three sons, Henry Eberhardt of the town of Grand Rapids, and John and Fred Eberhardt of this city.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon from the east side Lutheran church, Rev. R. J. Pantz conducting the services.

The partridge season closed on the first of November. Less partridge were killed this season than for a good many years.

The bans of Miss Lulu Hayes and Dr. C. T. Foot were published for the first time at St. Peter and Paul church on Wednesday.

Miss Hilda Merton of Milwaukee spent the past week at the J. E. Northington home at Bliton. Miss Merton returns home today.

Miss Julia Lukasek of Chicago arrived in the city Tuesday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Lukasek for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. E. M. Stoddard of Merrill, a former resident of Grand Rapids, spent Friday in the city, having come down as a delegate to the W. R. C. convention.

Mike Griffin of Marshfield was among the pleasant callers at the Tribune office this morning. Mr. Griffin was on his way to Port Edwili to look after some business matters.

Vesper State Center: A baby boy was born to Mrs. Claus Tjepkema on Wednesday morning. Mr. Tjepkema died about a month after their marriage which leaves the child fatherless at birth. It is an unusual occurrence.

A number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lutz were entertained at their home Thursday evening, the occasion being Mrs. Lutz's birthday. The evening was spent in a very pleasant manner, supper being served and a general good time had by all in attendance.

According to statistics there have been more than 1000 people killed in the United States since the first of January in automobile accidents. Also something over 8000 injured by the same method. At a means of killing and maiming the populace, the automobile in America has the Zeppelin backed off the map in the raids that have been made in England, and yet, we hardly take account of the casualties of the auto, but look with horror on the raids of the Zeppelin. It merely illustrates how different it is if we do the thing ourselves or whether somebody else steps in and does it for us.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fahrner of Joliet, Ill., are rejoicing over the arrival of a boy baby at their home on Monday, October 30. Mrs. Fahrner was formerly Miss Grace Huntington of this city.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sutor at Milwaukee, October 27. Mrs. Sutor was formerly Miss Harriet Kluge of this city.

COMMITTED TO ASYLUM

Anton Zwobinski, who was working on the section in this vicinity, was adjudged insane on Friday and taken to the asylum. Zwobinski's trouble was said to be due to drink. The man came here from Wautoma.

J. J. Northington of Stevens Point has purchased a lot on the corner of Clark and Third Streets on which he will erect a modern and up-to-date laundry, same to cost about $10,000.

Specials For

Saturday, November 4th

Choice 1916 Spring Lamb
Hind Quarter Lamb.....15c
Loin Roast Lamb.....15c
Shoulder Roast Lamb.....14c
Lamb Stew.....12c

Choice Milk Fed Veal
Leg Veal Roast.....15c
Loin Veal Roast.....14c
Shoulder Veal Roast.....13c
Veal Stew.....11c

Choice Native Beef Pot Roast 12c
Choice Native Beef Rib Roast 12c
Choice Boneless Beef Roasted Roast.....15c
Rib Boiling Beef.....9c
Choice Tender Sirloin Steak.....14c
Choice Tender Porter House Steak.....14c
Choice Tender Round Steak.....14c
Fancy Beef Tenderloin.....22c
Hamburger.....12c
Loin Pork Roast.....16c
Shoulder Pork Roast.....16c
Fresh Pig Feet.....6c
Fresh Neck Ribs.....12c
Fresh Spare Ribs.....12c
Fresh Hocks.....7c
Hog Liver.....15c
Link Pork Sausage.....14c
Bulk Pork Sausage.....28c
Very Best Boiled Ham.....15c
Mettwurst.....18c
Summer Sausage.....12c
Frankfurters Weiners.....11c
Fresh Liver Sausage.....11c
Ray Blood Sausage.....11c
Polish Sausage.....13c
No. 1 Regular Smoked Hams 17c
Very Good Bacon.....19c
Very Best Bacon.....21c
Swift Premium Bacon by the slab.....27c
Swift Premium Ham.....22c

Remember All Our Meats U. S. Inspected

New Meat Market

J. H. BRANDT, Prop.

Authorized and paid for by Claus Johnson, to be paid for at the rate of $1.00 per issue.

CLAUS JOHNSON

(Resident of Wood County 50 Years)

Candidate for COUNTY TREASURER

AT THE GENERAL ELECTION

November 7, 1916

Your Vote will be Appreciated

Pay by Check

For Payment At All Times

Use a check-book.

Whether you carry an account with the merchants of our city or make cash payments—the check-book offers the safest, easiest and most accurate method of payment.

A check at the end of the month or for each individual purchase gives you a legal receipt for the money paid.

A bank check is a time saver and a money saver to merchants, farmers or home-makers. We invite your account and assure you of careful attention to all your requirements.

Bank of Grand Rapids

West Side

What the HOOSIER Cabinet Will Do For You

—Places for 400 articles all within arm's reach.

—40 labor-saving features, each like a helping hand.

—The Hoosier will cut your kitchen work in half.

—Will save you miles of steps.

—Will save you hours of weary toil.

—Will make it a pleasure to cook and bake.

—Will save your energy and beauty, and keep you feeling young and strong.

—Will help you get meals quickly.

—Will help you tidy up in just a few moments when the meal is over.

A Centralized Storehouse

THE VITAL PART OF YOUR CABINET

The picture above shows how the scientific arrangement of the Hoosier makes it a real helper. Storage space is above and below. There is plenty of unobstructed room above and around the aluminum (or porcelain) work table.

There are no useless little partitions to chop up the space and leave no room for work. Your cabinet must have big table space to work on. The Hoosier gives it.

Come and see these six exclusive Hoosier features:

1.—The all-metal glass front flour bin.

2.—The gear-driven shaker flour sifter which makes flour light and fluffy.

3.—Scientific arrangement—articles needed most frequently easiest reached.

4.—Revolving caster (shown in center of illustration).

5.—The ingenious, big-capacity sugar bin—holds more than twice as much as most other bins.

6.—Finally, either doors with a handy rack for small utensils, or rolling doors.

PRICES AND TERMS

There are over 1,000,000 Hoosier Cabinets in use. Enormous factory output makes our low prices which now range from $24, $28, $30, $35 to $40 possible.

Have the Hoosier delivered at once by paying only $1.00. You may make payments at the rate of $1.00 per week, without extra cost or interest. And regardless of the room in your kitchen, there is a special Hoosier model to fit, at a price you can easily afford.

RAIL COMMISSION UPHELD BY COURT

AFFIRMS THAT STATE BODY HAS
RIGHT TO DETERMINE
DAM LEVELS.

WATER MUST BE LOWERED

Chippewa and Flambeau Improvement
Company Ordered to Reduce
Head at Henry Dam to
Eight and One-Half Feet.

Madison—The Wisconsin supreme court has affirmed the constitutionality of the water power law conferring on the Wisconsin railroad commission authority to issue orders fixing the level of water in dams in the state.

The question arose in the case of the Chippewa and Flambeau improvement company against the railroad commission. The company sought the reversal of the commission's order that the head of the Henry dam be lowered to eight and one-half feet. The company maintained the dam, so that the maximum head of water was fifteen feet. On complaint of owners of property near the lake, the commission issued an order providing that the maximum head of water should not, at any time, exceed eight and one-half feet. The company brought suit to have the order declared invalid. The circuit court upheld the commission and the supreme court affirmed that decision.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEE IS SHOT

"Raffles" Palmero of Janesville, Believed to Be Victim of Black Hand.

Janesville—"Raffles" Palmero, 38 years old, section foreman for the Milwaukee road, was riddled with bullets in the front yard of his home. Three shots pierced his heart, three hit his brain and two hit him in the body. Palmero predicted his own death. He had feared assassination for eighteen months, and repeatedly told the police "they will get me." His death is believed to be the penalty for aiding the police in trying to run down the murderer of a little girl who was killed last year. This man, who is believed to be an Italian, is still at large. A number of threatening letters were sent to Palmero by the "Black Hand" demanding that he refrain from further investigating the girl's murder, all of which he ignored. He had suspected a member of his section gang, who disappeared on the day of the girl's death.

Palmero acted as interpreter for Italians, and was a leader of the foreign colony here, although he was not Italian himself. He was married, and had two children.

The police are holding two suspects pending further investigation into the shooting.

Awarded Six Grain Prizes.

Beaver Dam—H. E. Krueger, whose farm is near this city, has received from Wichita, Kas., notice that each of six grain samples which he sent to the international wheat show at the Wichita fair and exposition were prize winners. He got first awards in the following: Hard red spring wheat, durum wheat, white wheat, two romed barley, six romed barley, and bullberry barley. He also got the international sweepstakes on six romed barley, his exhibit being Wisconsin pedigree barley.

Municipal Plant Lining.

Madison—Although it has been operating its electric light plant for less than a year and a half, the village of Black Creek, Outagamie county, applied to the state railroad commission for authority to increase its electric rate schedule 50 per cent. The present law rate is 10 cents per kilowatt hour. The council asks that it be allowed to raise this to 15 cents per kilowatt hour.

$157,000 for Normal School.

Superior—Approximately $157,000 will be expended on the Superior Normal school during 1917 and 1918 if the recommendations of the board of normal school directors are accepted by the state central board of education and the state legislature, according to President V. E. McCaskill of the school, who has just returned from a session of the board directors at Eau Claire.

To Test Jitney Law.

Kenosha—Trial of Kenosha jitneys which will be made test cases of the state jitney regulations, have been continued until Nov. 10.

Big Game Plentiful.

Winter—Beas and game birds offer good sport to hunters near here, although deer, partridges and other fowl are scarce.

No More "Treats."

Neenah—Local grocers state that after the first of November the practice of treating their patrons when they pay their accounts will be discontinued because of the high cost of operating.

New Bank Opens.

Cascade—The new Bank of Cascade opened with $50,000 on deposit. The officers are: Albert Fuenhied, president; Adolph Ruethel, vice-president; H. J. Darnell, cashier.

Thinks Fire Incendiary.

Kenosha—Charges of incendiaryism are made in connection with two fires in houses being erected by the Kenosha Homes company to meet the demand of working men for dwellings. State fire marshal's officers are investigating.

Raise Relief Fund.

Racine—More than $4,000 was raised by the citizens of Racine for the relief of the suffering Armenians and Syrians in Europe.

Neenah Faces Litigation.

Neenah—Neenah will have to fight in court if it wants to make any change in the present street car terminal. Business men near where the cars now stop have taken legal steps to halt the change.

Clammers Get Good Prices.

Monroe—Clammers along the Rock and Pecatonica rivers are getting $31 a ton for button material, which sold for $3 a ton before the war shut off its importation from Germany.

ORGANIZE HOSE SYNDICATE

Kenosha, Sheboygan and Vermont
Plants Merged, With Headquarters in State.

Kenosha—The Chicago-Kenosha Hosiery company, said to be the largest stocking plant in the world, the Sheboygan Knitting company and the Cooper Manufacturing company at Bennington, Vt., one of the largest makers of underwear in the country, have been purchased by the Black Cat Textile company, the organization of which was announced here. The company was capitalized for $3,000,000 and the stock taken by Kenosha manufacturers.

Financing of the company has been entirely in the hands of young Kenosha men, who have made a brilliant record in the manufacture of hosiery in the last few years. The new syndicate is said to be contemplating purchases in several parts of the country. The purchase price of the big company will be located in Kenosha. A large extension of the business of all the plants taken over is announced by the directors of the new company.

RACINE MAN CHOSEN HEAD

W. A. Walker NAMED President at
Convention of Unitarians and
Universalists at Oshkosh.

Oshkosh—At the fifth joint state convention of Unitarian and Universalist churches, the following officers were elected: President, W. A. Walker, Racine; vice-president, Judge A. N. Rice, Wausau; secretary, the Rev. A. W. Altenberg, Mukwonago; treasurer, F. F. Pratt, Racine; trustees, Karl Mathie, Wausau; E. E. Rogers, Oshkosh; R. L. Spicer, La Crosse; committee of fellowship, the Rev. N. E. McLaughlin, Monroe; Miss Alice Phelps, Markesan; the Rev. M. L. Aldridge, Markesan.

PLAN "U" CHURCH CENTER

Campaign Being Carried on to Raise Half Million Dollars to Cover
the Cost.

Madison—The campaign for a union religious center at the University to cost $500,000 is being carried on. Another $250,000 will be raised as an endowment for maintenance of the building and the carrying on of various activities. The purpose of the religious center will be to supply a place where all religious forces in the university may carry on their work. An auditorium which will seat 4,000 people will constitute the main part of the building. Class rooms, social rooms, offices for university pastors and quarters for the Y. M. C. A. also will be a part of the building.

Oneida Has Potato Show.

Rhineland—The third annual county "spud show" of Oneida county was held here. Talks were given by J. W. Hicks, secretary; J. G. Milward, president and president of the Wisconsin Potato Growers' association, and C. L. Fitch, Ames, Ia. Prize exhibits will be taken to the state potato show and institute.

Gets Three Year Sentence.

Racine—George Sanderhoff, alias Carl Rasmussen, 25 years of age, was sentenced to three years in the state reformatory at Green Bay for burglary. He was arrested for entering the saloon of Peter Hoguard, having previously advised a partner of his that he was "going to pull off a job."

Troops Enjoying Warm Weather.

Fort San Houston, Tex.—The Wisconsin troops are now enjoying ideal weather. The days are warm enough to make the olive drab, cotton uniforms feel slightly burdensome, and the evenings are only a little cooler. Brisk breezes from the gulf prevail almost every hour of the day.

New Buildings for Lawrence.

Appleton—Three new buildings for Lawrence college are contained in plans for the Methodist ministerial coming year, according to President Plantz. They are a new chapel, a gymnasium and laboratory building. There are already sixteen buildings.

U. of W. Professor Honored.

Madison—Prof. E. M. Lebar, formerly professor of romance languages at the University of Wisconsin, has been decorated with the French cross of France because of bravery.

Papers to Make Own Stock.

Merrill—A newspaper syndicate, headed by a Chicago German daily, has offered to purchase the plant of the Grandfather Pals company and manufacture its own print paper there.

Plan Basketball Tournament.

Neenah—Plans are being outlined for Neenah and Menasha's annual Sunday school basketball tournament to be started in November.

Fire Threatens Courthouse.

Manitowish—Its fireproof construction saved the $250,000 courthouse here. A short circuit ignited brooms, shelves and other inflammables in the basement. It was not known until the next morning. The damage was slight.

To Stay South Long.

Beloit—Capt. Chester A. West, home on leave from Camp Wilson, reported that indications are that Company L and other militia detachments will remain in Mexico for a long season.

Father of Nine Dies.

Neenah—Frank Hackstock, 50 years old, died after an operation which followed his being struck by a board thrown from a saw in the plant of the Menasha Woodmen plant. He left a wife and nine children.

Report Hunting Good.

Neenah—Local hunters returning from the upriver marshes report that hunting has improved following the recent cold weather and that the sport is at its best.

Find Rich Ores.

Hayward—Shortly after drilling for iron ore had been started on the Robert Robertson property, indications of copper and silver were discovered. Prospects of iron in this region are good.

Train Kills Team.

Kenosha—A team of horses valued at $300, belonging to J. William Miller, was killed at the Somers crossing of the Milwaukee road by a passenger train.

BADGER BRIGADE WINS NEW HONOR

STAGE FIRST OF SEMI-WEEKLY
PARADES PLANNED FOR THE TROOPS.

SELECTED BY GEN. GREEN

Wisconsin Boys Have Gala Day and
People Call Spectacle Best of
Year—Praised by Army
Officers.

Fort San Houston, San Antonio, Tex.—"The finest parade staged in San Antonio this year!"

This is the way residents of Fort San Houston and San Antonio described the brigade parade which the Wisconsin troops staged at the lower post when the first of semi-weekly brigade parades and reviews was given. When Gen. Frederick Funston asked Gen. Henry Green, division commander, to select a brigade to give the first of these semi-weekly spectacles, Gen. Green immediately called on Gen. Richardson's force, because, as army officers said, "he wanted a brigade on which he could depend on short notice."

In the reviewing stand were Brig. Gen. Lorrain T. Richardson and his staff, consisting of Maj. James McCully, Ashland, brigade adjutant; First Lieut. Fred C. Best, Milwaukee, and Peter Wirtz, Sheboygan, aides. Gen. Funston, Col. Dundas and Rogers and other members of Gen. Funston's staff observed the ceremony with much pleasure. Favorable comment upon the smartness of execution of manual of arms, the quick step with which the three regiments took the field, the stature of the men and the cleanliness of their uniforms and equipment was general.

It was a gala day for the Badgers. "They look like regulars," was an expression commonly heard on the sidelines, which were filled with officers and men of the National guards of Maryland, New Hampshire, Virginia, Florida, West Virginia, District of Columbia, Mississippi, Kansas, Missouri, Texas, Illinois.

Badgers took their selection as a compliment, since the Wisconsin brigade is the Third brigade of the Twelfth provisional division.

DAIRY COWS OUST STEERS

Wisconsin Dairy Cows Are Taking Place of Famous Long Horns
in Southern State.

Monroe—The famous long horned cattle of Texas are giving way to the Holstein milk cows and the hard riding cow boy of a few years ago is to be displaced by the dairymaid. Bankers of the various Texas cities are bringing about the metamorphosis. Four carloads of grade Holsteins have just been shipped from Green county, and six more carloads will follow within a few days, as a result of a tour of investigation by Dallas and Amarillo financiers. Under the co-operative plan which is being worked by the Texas State Bankers' association, these cattle will be sold to farmers who desire to engage in the dairying industry, three years being allowed in which to pay. There are about fifteen communities in Texas where this co-operative plan is being carried out.

Organize Big Tractor Company.

La Crosse—The largest business deal in the history of the city has been announced by the incorporators of the La Crosse Tractor company, which is incorporated under the laws of Delaware with a capitalization of $1,500,000, for which $1,000,000 is common and $500,000 is preferred stock.

Diphtheria Closes School.

Stevens Point—The schools at Amherst Junction have been closed because of an outbreak of diphtheria. Five cases are reported and the health department is considering extended quarantine.

Is Unconscious Sixteen Hours.

Sheboygan—William Witte, 72 years old, is recovering from a sudden attack of apoplexy of the brain due to high blood pressure after being unconscious for sixteen hours.

400 Get Raise in Pay.

Rhineland—A 10 per cent increase in wages, affecting all employees working by the day or in the mills for the Rhineland Paper company will go into effect Nov. 1. The increase will affect over 400 employees.

Eight Animals Burn.

Stevens Point—Three dogs, two horses and three cows were burned to death in the large barn of Mrs. Pauline Bartz, near Mosinee.

Remodel Parish Property.

Chilton—St. Augustine's church has remodelled entirely its school, equipping it with new modern furniture, at a total cost of $1,200. It is contemplated to erect a parish hall in near future.

Many to Vote by Mail.

Madison—Wisconsin residents at the national capital are taking advantage of the law to allow voting by mail. County Clerk Fjelstad has received applications for 100 ballots.

Pioneer Missionary Dies.

Beloit—Dr. Henry D. Porter, Beloit college graduate in the class of 1867, for nearly forty years a leading missionary in China until the strain of the Boxer rebellion broke his health, died at La Mesa, Cal.

Madison Has 8 Cent Milk.

Madison—Milk will sell in Madison for 8 cents a quart after Nov. 1, according to announcement made after farmers and dairymen decided to get $2 a hundredweight instead of $1.60.

Sheboygan Boy Killed in Battle.

Sheboygan—Word received here says that August Kastner, 28, son of Mrs. Adam Kastner of Sheboygan, and a lieutenant in the United States army in Hayti, was killed at the battle of San Domingo.

Industrial Teachers Convene.

Stevens Point—Forty industrial school teachers attended the district convention held here. The next meeting will be held in Wausau in December.

WOOLING HIM

FRENCH CAPTURE FORT PEOPLE FLEE MEXICO

ALSO TAKE VILLAGE OF DOUAMONT, SAYS PARIS STATEMENT.

Attack on Front of Four and One Third Miles—Pierce Poe's Lines Depth Two Miles.

Paris, Oct. 26.—In a powerful series of attacks on the Verdun front the French have captured the village and fort of Douamont, advancing beyond the Thiaumont work and farm, and occupied also the Haudromont quarries north of Verdun, according to the bulletin issued on Tuesday by the war office. The prisoners captured and counted thus far number 3,400, including 100 officers. The text reads:

"On the Verdun front, after intense artillery preparation, an attack on the right bank of the Meuse was launched at 11:40 a. m. The enemy line attacked on a front of seven kilometers (four and one-third miles) was broken through everywhere to a depth which, at the center, attained a distance of three kilometers (nearly two miles)."

"The village and fort of Douamont are in our hands."

"To the left our troops, advancing beyond the Thiaumont work and farm, rushed to Haudromont quarries and established themselves along the road from Brus to Douamont."

"On the right of the fort our line runs to the north of La Caillette wood along the western outskirts of the village of Vaux and the eastern border of Fumh wood, and continues to north of Chenevot wood and the Damloup battery."

"Prisoners are pouring in. So far 3,500, including about 100 officers, have been counted. The quantity of material captured cannot yet be estimated. Our losses were small."

WORLD IS SHORT OF WHEAT

December Soars to $1.85, Highest Since the Hutchinson Corner in 1888.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—The world-wide shortage of wheat has forced prices on the local board of trade above the market set in the latter corner of 1899 and close to the high mark in the history of the cereal since Civil war days. December wheat soared to $1.85 and May to $1.35 on Wednesday. When Joseph Leiter was cornering the grain he forced the price of wheat up to $1.35, which was the highest mark reached since 1867 except for a corner engineered by B. P. Hutchinson ("Old Hutch") in 1888, when the record-breaking figure of $2 a bushel was touched.

HAS GOLD TO MEET DEMAND

A. C. Miller of Reserve Board Tells Bankers Country Is Prepared for Difficulties After War.

Indianapolis, Oct. 26.—The managing of the gold supply of the country to meet the foreign drain which is expected after the close of the war was discussed by A. C. Miller of Washington, a member of the federal reserve board, before the Indiana State Bankers' association on Tuesday. He expressed the opinion that the United States will be able to meet all demands which will be made.

Two More Ships Lost.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Sinking of the British steamer Hentshall by a submarine and the burning of the Norwegian steamer Severa are added to the list of maritime disasters in the war zone by Lloyd's reports forwarded here.

British Steamer Sunk.

London, Oct. 30.—The British steaming ship Invernmore of 10,320 tons, has been sunk. Lloyd's announced. She carried a crew of 50 men and sailed from Baltimore October 14 with a general cargo.

Held for Killing Hunter.

Benidj, Minn., Oct. 28.—Having shot and killed Eugene Preston, whom he mistook for a deer, Richard Martin of Grant Valley, Beltrami county, Minnesota, is held under the charge of manslaughter.

Bank Official Is Arrested.

New York, Oct. 28.—Henry J. Dorcel, for years assistant cashier of the Coal and Iron National bank, was arrested by federal authorities charged with having robbed the bank of $92,000.

McNamara Parole Sought.

San Francisco, Oct. 27.—Parole for John J. McNamara, who was involved in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building in 1910 probably will be asked Saturday from the state board of prison directors.

Cotton Soars, Then Drops.

New York, Oct. 27.—A sensational break in the cotton market on Wednesday carried prices down $4.50 a bale, after an early advance above the 20-cent level, which was the highest price since the Civil war.

PLANS RAID ON U. S.

BAKER CHARGES VILLA PLOT IS
ATTEMPT TO TURN ELEC-
TION SENTIMENT.

NO AMERICANS INVOLVED

Information Reached War Department
That Villistas Will Attack Americans
Between Now and November 7—
Funston and Pershing Warned.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Secretary Baker issued a formal statement on Thursday saying that definite information had been received by the war department that a bandit attack upon American troops in Mexico or on an American border town had been arranged to take place between now and election day to create sentiment against the administration's Mexican policy. It added that Generals Funston and Pershing were forewarned and in readiness for such an attack.

"The war department has received definite information, confirmed from other sources, that enemies of the administration's policy toward Mexico, in co-operation with Villa or other bandits in Mexico, have arranged a spectacular attack to be made either upon some part of the American forces or upon some American community on the border between now and the date of the election for the purpose of turning the tide of sentiment against the policy which the administration has adopted for the protection of the border."

"It is significant in this connection that both the state and war departments were advised that the bandit forces operating at the present time in Mexico are being paid in silver coin."

"Full particulars have been transmitted to General Funston and General Pershing. All American forces are therefore forewarned and in readiness for such an attack."

BLOW UP DANUBE BRIDGE

$8,000,000 Structure Dynamited to Halt
Teutons—Check Drive on Capital.

Paris, Oct. 28.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg's grand plan to crush Roumania has received a check. Bucharest announced on Thursday that Roumanian troops have stopped Von Hindenburg's advance and driven him across the Transylvanian border. In the Dobruja, Petrograd reports, the advance of Von Hindenburg's forces toward the north has been slowed up. The bridge across the Danube at Cernavoda has been blown up by the Roumanians.

The bridge is the largest in all Europe. It was completed in 1906 at a cost of $8,000,000. Its total length across both branches of the Danube and the swampy and frequently impassable terrain, is 12 miles.

CAUSES OF HIGH LIVING COST

Restricted Production and Consumption Greatly Increased in War-torn Countries.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Twenty million men fighting in Europe, producing nothing, while consuming enough food for 30,000,000 men and enough clothing for 50,000,000, are behind the high cost of living in this country—$20 a week—Secretary of Commerce Redfield said on Tuesday.

20 DIE IN HOSPITAL FIRE

Children Perish When Blaze Sweeps
Quebec Structure—Inmates
Asleep at Time.

Farnham, Que., Oct. 28.—Twenty persons are known to be dead and 35 others are missing as the result of a fire which destroyed St. Elizabeth's hospital and laundry on Wednesday night. Scores of children were injured by jumping through windows. Three hundred and fifty inmates were asleep in the building when the fire broke out, and many of these are unaccounted for. The fire is believed to have started from a defective chimney.

Fliers Raid Turk Railroad.

London, Oct. 27.—Attacks on the Constantinople-Salonika railroad by British and German aeroplanes have inflicted considerable damage, the admiralty announced.

U. S. Will Kill Seals Again.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 30.—The seal herds on the Pribilof Islands in Bering sea have increased so rapidly since killing of seals was prohibited that the government will begin killing seals regularly next year.

Deport 5,000 Belgians.

Amsterdam, Oct. 30.—Another 5,000 Belgians were sent from Ghent to Germany Monday, according to the Telegram. About 10,000 more at other points have received orders to prepare for their departure.

Russ Lose 1,797,522 Men.

Berlin, Oct. 27.—There have been 1,797,522 casualties in the Russian army since June 1, according to the latest reports made public by the central identification office at Kiev, says an Overseas News agency statement.

New York Subway Bombed.

New York, Oct. 27.—Two persons were injured and the station at One Hundred and Tenth street was wrecked by the explosion of a dynamite bomb in the subway. The police put the blame on strikers.

Britain to Lift Tobacco Ban.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Representations to Britain in behalf of American tobacco shippers, who have had 1,500,000 worth of leaf tied up, have resulted in action by Britain which will bring relief.

To Trade Interned Captives.

London, Oct. 26.—Baron Newton, under-secretary for foreign affairs, announced in the house of lords that the British and German governments had agreed to exchange all interned prisoners over the age of forty-five.

Sportsman Robbed of $100,000.

New York, Oct. 27.—A robbery by "chloroform thieves" of jewelry valued at $100,000 from the Roslyn, L. I., home of Frank Gray Griswold, sportsman and race-horse owner, was reported to the police here on Tuesday.

WARSHIPS ARE SUNK

BRITISH AND GERMAN DESTROYERS
LOST IN RAID ON ENGLISH CHANNEL.

PART OF ONE CREW LOST

Berlin Says Eleven Guardships and Two Torpedo Boats Were Sunk—
London Says Few Lost Two Vessels
During Battle.

Berlin, Oct. 30.—No less than eleven British guardships and two or three torpedo-boat destroyers or torpedo boats were either sunk or destroyed in the English channel on Thursday night by a squadron of German torpedo boats operating between Folkestone and Boulogne. Official announcement to this effect was made here. The official statement adds that the German flotilla returned safely to its base without suffering any loss.

TIPPECANOE

By SAMUEL McCOY

Recounting the adventures and love which came into the lives of David Lawrence and Antoinette O'Bannon, in the days when pioneers were fighting red savages in the Indiana wilderness

(Copyright, 1914, by Bobba-Merrill Co.)

LOVE-MAKING

Do you enjoy the spectacle of a pretty girl coqueting with a man who loves her devotedly and is cut to the heart by her teasing? Then you'll find stirring interest in this installment.

It is the year 1814, and David Lawrence, exiled English weaver, comes to Corydon, Indiana territory, intending to kill an old enemy. He makes friends with Patrice O'Bannon and charming Antoinette, his daughter, and with Job Cramer and his daughter, Lydia, recently from England. He learns that Cramer is a spy against the United States when he overhears a war plot. Cramer disappears. The settler organizes a militia. David's regard for Antoinette becomes very warm.

CHAPTER VI.

Moonlight.

David was thoughtful, while the light banter ran on.

"Governor Harrison," he said, "may I have a word with you alone? I have some information that I wish to lay before you."

The young governor bowed assent and led the way to a quiet corner. David told the story of the meeting between Girty, Cramer and Scull. Harrison's face grew grave.

"Why did you not report this sooner?" he asked sharply.

"I wrote at once to John Tipton, at Vincennes," David answered. "I asked him to tell you immediately. I have had no reply from him, but I have supposed that he gave you the message. John's handling with his rifle than with a pen, Governor Harrison, as you know."

"Yes," smiled Harrison, "it's agony for him to write. But I fear that he has not received your letter even yet. He has been away on a hunting and scouting trip for weeks. I myself am going away for a while, but I shall inform General Gibson, who is to have charge of the territory in my absence, and shall direct him to have his rangers make a thorough search for these men. As for Tecumseh, rumors that his brother, Elskatawa, the Prophet, is stirring the warriors to discontent have reached my ears. Rest assured, Mr. Lawrence, that we shall keep careful watch over these matters. I thank you for what you have told me."

David felt that a load had been lifted from his mind. He had done his duty to the land that had received him with such simple hospitality.

"I know, Cramer," the governor went on, "but I never suspected so honest-seeming a fellow. You say he went to Vincennes? I am certain that he has not been there of late. Let me know if he returns to Corydon. The whole Northwest has reason to know that renegade Girty, but I fear it is useless to hope for his capture now. He knows the wilderness like an Indian. As well hope to find a wild bird in the tree tops. By now he is doubtless back in the British posts above Erie. You say that the third man was one known to you as Scull? The name is new one. Strange, how he disappeared. We'll watch for him."

He returned to his friends with an added word of thanks. David's face darkened as he thought once more of Scull. Where was he? How could he hide himself so completely? The memory of the man's betrayal of David's father rose up in David anew and he thought once more of the oath that he had sworn, over the "purple poxy" of the weaver's brotherhood, to avenge that wrong.

When the party had broken up at last in laughing "good nights," Antoinette, Blackford and David strolled toward Antoinette's home together. He began humming a song as they walked along:

Could you to battle march away,
And leave me here complaining—
"A mighty fine evening, wasn't it?"

I'm sure 'twould break my heart to see Where you were gone campaigning—
"Trust a woman to suit her own sweet will."

"What's the song, Kate?"
"That? Oh, a song that we used to sing at Princeton. Poor old Billy Paterson wrote it years ago, rest his soul! The late attorney general—class of 1763," he added explanatorily. His rich tenor swung on into the lilt of the chorus:

"Ah, non, non, pauvre Madelon,
Would never quit her lover,
Ah, non, non, pauvre Madelon,
Would go with you the wide world over."

He broke off abruptly. "Wouldn't it be fine to have a song hanging to your coat as you marched?"

He said good night abruptly at Antoinette's door and went on.

When he had gone, the two, David and Antoinette, lingered on, they knew not why, under the moon-drenched trees.

"And now," she said, leaning toward him in the moonlight, "tell me how you like Corydon—as much as you know of us."

He was so happy at seeing her that it was easy for him to fall into her own lightness of speech.

"Ah, I fell in love with America years ago—on the day I reached Corydon. Now I am only bothered to know if America likes me."

"Oh, but they all want soldiers; I'm only a weaver by trade."

"That reminds me, you've never told me about your life in England. Please do it now—wait, I'll tell you myself." She half closed her eyes and began reflectively:

"Let me see—I'm looking into the past. You may not know it, but I'm a real Irish soothsayer." She let the ghost of a delicious bit of brogue linger on her tongue. "I'm beginning to see your ancestral estates now. Gracious, a ducal palace takes shape!"

"There's no doubt about your being an Irish soothsayer," David commented sarcastically. "The ducal castle was certainly there, but unfortunately it belonged to the duke of Newcastle. Our ducal castle was behind St. John's palace in Bottle lane; it had one room in it and no floor."

"That's nothing to be ashamed of—half the cabins in the woods here are no larger, and their floors are earthen too."

"Ah, but every settler here has as much land as the duke of Newcastle! Alas to breathe freedom!"

"You interrupted me—be quiet, or I won't finish. You told about the estate all day long or you rode over the countryside with your bounds—"

"This name was Tipton, that one mongrel of mine; he had friends who lived on him—I beg your pardon."

"Horror! Will you be quiet! And at night you lay on silken cushions in front of the great fireplace, reading some tale of the court—"

"I know it was wrong, but one is naturally idle after twelve hours of the loom. I did read a good deal with Harry White."

"Who was Harry White?"

"Harry White was my best friend, Henry Kirke White, the son of Mr. White, the butcher. He was just my own age. We worked together at a stocking loom when we were fourteen, making stockings, but the next year his father apprenticed him to a firm of attorneys."

"And you kept on as a weaver?"

"I kept on as a weaver. But he sent me his books at night. He was as poor as I was, and he drove himself into his grave with study. He died when he was twenty-one, five years ago. But Mr. Southery, the poet laureate, collected all the poems Harry had written."

"A poet? A butcher's son?"

"He had won a scholarship at Cambridge when he was nineteen—he had got his first poems printed the year before. That was how he attracted Mr. Southery's attention."

"And he's dead! Oh, I'm so sorry!"

"He told me once that a friend he had made at Cambridge, a boy named George Gordon, Lord Byron, said that his poems would never die."

"He was a poet too?"

"I think so. He is living yet. He's only twenty-three."

"Why, you're only twenty-six, yourself. I feel like one."

"The sympathy in her voice was as sincere as that in her eyes. David had never known such a woman—had never known what it was to have the divine sympathy of womanhood. He began to tell her of his life, of his sufferings, and of his hopes for the future, of his aspirations; and through it all, the girl listened, a white rose in the moonlight, and poured the balm of her pure spirit upon his head."

CHAPTER VII.

The Course of True Love.

Corydon lay basking under the sun of August. Along the parched ground the waves of heat, the "lazy Lawrence," danced maddeningly. Antoinette was rejoicing in the arrival of a great box from New Orleans—sent by flatboat to Louisville, hauled thence on a clumsy ox-runner sledge, the patient oxen, Antoinette cried out, the patient oxen, the ratty road, by the patient oxen, she drew forth from the great chest walking dresses of white Jaconet muslin; a China robe of India twill; a preposterously inadequate cloak of sarsenet silk; tiny slippers of white kid and rose-colored silk and a precious packet containing a ferret, a headband of flat gold links with a great pendant of pearls hanging from its clasp down on the forehead. It was Patrice's birthday gift for his daughter, ordered through an old friend in New Orleans.

There were to be two weddings in town that morning—as the weekly newspaper put it, Mr. Philip Bell was to marry the agreeable Miss Rachel Harbison and Mr. Isham Stroud the agreeable Miss Patsy Sands—and Antoinette vacillated deliciously in her choice of a costume to grace the two occasions.

The wedding over, she made her way home in her silken slippers, swathed herself in an apron and prepared her dinner. David had not been at either wedding. She was thinking of him as she busied herself at the hearth, and old Patrice read happily from his beloved "Arcadia."

She drew the flat board on which the cornmeal had been baked to golden-brown out from the fire, set the roasted wild turkey on the table, pushed back a flying lock of hair from her flushed face and raised her father from his book. It was her happiest birthday feast in the new land.

In the evening the old gentleman jogged off on horseback to General Harrison's farm, to pay his respects and be served with a glass of Madeira. Antoinette preferred to remain at home—Mr. Blackford would call, perhaps David as well. She finished her work and sat down to amuse herself with some embroidery, a candle made of the wax of the myrtle berry throwing its light upon her flying fingers. The summer dusk fell rapidly around her. The night closed in, heavy, warm, full of sleepy sounds of bird and insect. Someone's feet at the doorstep, a hand rapped at the door. Antoinette lifted the latchpin. It was David.

She swept him a curtsy.

One of the functions of woman's dress is to snatch a man out of his dull shufflings upon earth and show him a world glorified. That function was performed in this case. David saw Madam's dress (he had heard of such a person) curtsying to him in the house of Patrice O'Bannon. Mad-dame Recamier spoke, and he! it was Antoinette.

"Why don't you say how you like it?"

It was evidently the gown of cobwebs that was meant.

"Exceedingly well. . . . Excuse my asking, but is that all of it?"

"Imbecile! The latest from Paris! It's too bad to waste it on you."

"Well, well," David pretended a dry indifference.

Antoinette turned up her nose. "Why weren't you at the wedding?"

"Couldn't. I was off on a hunt."

"No—only a couple of deer."

"The brides were sweet."

She sat down at her needlework once more and David, seated in the dimly lighted room, his high linen collarband gleaming palely between his dark face and the somber black of his cravat and his coat, watched her in silence. When he spoke it was to introduce a new subject:

"Congress has voted to increase the army by twenty-five thousand men," he said abruptly, "and has provided for the enlistment of fifty thousand volunteers in addition."

She let her hands fall to her lap. "Does that mean war is sure?"

"Not yet. But they talk of it freely. England will yield to none of our requests."

She smiled proudly to herself at his use of the word "our." He went on with his news:

"Mr. Clay wants a stronger navy. Curious—isn't it?—that Kentucky should be in harmony with the sea-board states in this."

"Yes," they called us the wild men on the Ohio last winter."

He smiled at her flash of resentment. "Are you still as eager for war as you were once?"

Antoinette shuddered. It was unnecessary to reply to the thrust.

David went on evenly:

"Well, the whole time of the congress is taken up with the debates. Things are at a breaking point. The president seems likely to get what he wants."

He looked up, startled at the change in her voice, and saw what she had feared—and vaguely longed for—was about to come. David had risen to his feet. The room seemed suddenly filled with a tremendous tension. Her heart beat uncontrollably; she calmly threaded a needle anew.

"Do you know what failure is?" he asked her. The torrent of his heart rushed out with the words. "I have struggled," he said harshly, "but I give up now. I work from daylight to dark. I read at night at the law. I weary myself with arguing with like Blackford. These things ought to make up my world for me. But they don't. There isn't any world for me unless you're here. He checked himself, then began anew. "I think about myself. I go back over my life—all its poverty—every miserable line of its starved existence. And then—I think about you."

"I want to know what right you have to make part of my world. It's not your world. I don't belong there. Why do you come into mine? You ought not to be in my thoughts. But you are. I can't drive you out of my mind. You have been there ever since I first saw you, ever since . . ."

His voice broke.

From the first wild challenge of his gaze she had averted her face and had listened with bowed head. As he paused she threw a frightened glance at him and saw that the knuckles of his clenched hands were whitened with the strain. She tried to speak but could think of nothing that she could say. Her hands picked aimlessly at the threads in her lap. After a moment he regained control of his lips and went on, passionately as before, but with an undercurrent of pleading that softened his words:

"I have been trying to believe that I could conquer all this in myself—that it was too preposterous to endure. But instead of that it has grown stronger . . . so strong that it is now everything. You are in everything I do. I cannot keep silent."

"Exactly what do you want, David? What is a very cool little voice that broke in on him.

He was wounded to the heart. For a moment he hurt look in his eyes struck her with pity. But she steeled herself and went on:

"I'm afraid I don't know just what you're talking about. Do you mean that I am wronging you in any way?"

A wave of hot anger swept through him that she could choose to adopt so pitiful a misconception. But the cutting bullet of "The Heart," Dr. Maurice Beaussonat, who had already extracted a piece of grenade from the right ventricle of a man's heart, told the French Academie des Sciences of a second similar operation performed with success.

A coronal wound at Eparghes had been operated on for appendicitis. He continued to suffer in various ways for more than a year, when a radioscope revealed the pressure of a shrapnel ball, moving in time to the beatings of his heart. Supposing this to be in the pericardium or sac about the heart, Doctor Beaussonat "went in," as the surgeons say, and saw that the ball was actually in the right ventricle, near the lower end.

The heart was drawn out; its wall was cut open between two loops of wire; the ball was removed and the heart was sewn up again. Six months later the heart had healed so perfectly that there was not a sign of irregularity about its pulsations.

The Silver Lining.

The Tender-Hearted Cook—No bad news, I hope, ma'am?

The Mistress—The master's been wounded.

The Cook—There now, ma'am; don't let that worry you. They tell me they can patch 'em up so's they're better than before.

know I am not." He waved her words aside impatiently. "It is something else—He stopped, impatient to advance in the face of the travesty of his passion she had thrown in his path.

The room was very still. Outdoors the crickets chirped incessantly. For a long while they stood facing each other in silence that rested more and more heavily upon David's heart.

Antoinette raised her eyes timidly. David's look had not changed; it seemed to enfold her with a mighty passion of wounded love, proud, suffering, pleading to be understood. She spoke again, falteringly:

"We shall always be friends, shall we not?"

There was no answer. She waited, not daring to raise her eyes from the dimly lighted room, his high linen collarband gleaming palely between his dark face and the somber black of his cravat and his coat, watched her in silence. When he spoke it was to introduce a new subject:

"Congress has voted to increase the army by twenty-five thousand men," he said abruptly, "and has provided for the enlistment of fifty thousand volunteers in addition."

She let her hands fall to her lap. "Does that mean war is sure?"

"Not yet. But they talk of it freely. England will yield to none of our requests."

She smiled proudly to herself at his use of the word "our." He went on with his news:

"Mr. Clay wants a stronger navy. Curious—isn't it?—that Kentucky should be in harmony with the sea-board states in this."

"Yes," they called us the wild men on the Ohio last winter."

He smiled at her flash of resentment. "Are you still as eager for war as you were once?"

Antoinette shuddered. It was unnecessary to reply to the thrust.

David went on evenly:

"Well, the whole time of the congress is taken up with the debates. Things are at a breaking point. The president seems likely to get what he wants."

He looked up, startled at the change in her voice, and saw what she had feared—and vaguely longed for—was about to come. David had risen to his feet. The room seemed suddenly filled with a tremendous tension. Her heart beat uncontrollably; she calmly threaded a needle anew.

"Do you know what failure is?" he asked her. The torrent of his heart rushed out with the words. "I have struggled," he said harshly, "but I give up now. I work from daylight to dark. I read at night at the law. I weary myself with arguing with like Blackford. These things ought to make up my world for me. But they don't. There isn't any world for me unless you're here. He checked himself, then began anew. "I think about myself. I go back over my life—all its poverty—every miserable line of its starved existence. And then—I think about you."

"I want to know what right you have to make part of my world. It's not your world. I don't belong there. Why do you come into mine? You ought not to be in my thoughts. But you are. I can't drive you out of my mind. You have been there ever since I first saw you, ever since . . ."

His voice broke.

From the first wild challenge of his gaze she had averted her face and had listened with bowed head. As he paused she threw a frightened glance at him and saw that the knuckles of his clenched hands were whitened with the strain. She tried to speak but could think of nothing that she could say. Her hands picked aimlessly at the threads in her lap. After a moment he regained control of his lips and went on, passionately as before, but with an undercurrent of pleading that softened his words:

"I have been trying to believe that I could conquer all this in myself—that it was too preposterous to endure. But instead of that it has grown stronger . . . so strong that it is now everything. You are in everything I do. I cannot keep silent."

"Exactly what do you want, David? What is a very cool little voice that broke in on him.

He was wounded to the heart. For a moment he hurt look in his eyes struck her with pity. But she steeled herself and went on:

"I'm afraid I don't know just what you're talking about. Do you mean that I am wronging you in any way?"

A wave of hot anger swept through him that she could choose to adopt so pitiful a misconception. But the cutting bullet of "The Heart," Dr. Maurice Beaussonat, who had already extracted a piece of grenade from the right ventricle of a man's heart, told the French Academie des Sciences of a second similar operation performed with success.

A coronal wound at Eparghes had been operated on for appendicitis. He continued to suffer in various ways for more than a year, when a radioscope revealed the pressure of a shrapnel ball, moving in time to the beatings of his heart. Supposing this to be in the pericardium or sac about the heart, Doctor Beaussonat "went in," as the surgeons say, and saw that the ball was actually in the right ventricle, near the lower end.

The heart was drawn out; its wall was cut open between two loops of wire; the ball was removed and the heart was sewn up again. Six months later the heart had healed so perfectly that there was not a sign of irregularity about its pulsations.

The Silver Lining.

The Tender-Hearted Cook—No bad news, I hope, ma'am?

The Mistress—The master's been wounded.

The Cook—There now, ma'am; don't let that worry you. They tell me they can patch 'em up so's they're better than before.

Compromise.

"Never marry a man with a champagne appetite and a beer income," said Maude.

"Certainly not," replied Maymie. "Ice cream soda for mine."

From the Stars to You.

"Somewhere beneath the stars there is something that you have meant to do. Never rest until you have found out what it is!"—John Brashers, in American Magazine.

Perpetual Brightness.

these parts thirty years gone, and acts that cross the river withouten a fo'ponce."

David heard him listlessly. His goods had arrived and were piled in the tavern lean-to; and as he turned toward the shack to see that they were in readiness for the homeward journey in the morning, he heard his name called by a girl's voice.

He wheeled and saw Lydia Cramer. The girl broke into a laugh at the expression of utter surprise.

"You here, Lydia?" he cried in amazement. "Did you come here from Corydon? Where's your father?"

"Why, yes, we've been here for weeks. Father's gone to see some friends at Fort Steuben tonight, but he'll be back soon."

So this was where Cramer had gone, after that night in the smithy at Corydon. David saw in a flash that upon himself alone must depend Cramer's capture. Hiding his excitement, he pretended to listen to Lydia with eager pleasure.

She ran on in naive delight at seeing David once more. They were living in the cabin nearest the inn, she said; and she begged David to come and talk with her till her father returned. It was late when they heard Cramer's voice lifted in a roaring ballad and distinguished his portly form moving uncertainly down the path that led to the cabin.

David felt himself grow hot with repugnance as the man drew nearer. He had not seen him since that night when he had watched the three conspirators in the smithy.

Cramer's heavy steps drew nearer; he started in surprise when he came on the two figures in the darkness and there was a note of relief in his laughter when he heard David speak.

"Why, it's young Lawrence! Sweet-hearts out here in the dark, you say? Well, when your mother was your age, Lydia, I . . ."

Do you believe that, in bitterness of spirit, David will marry Lydia and become involved with Cramer in spying—much as he hates the spy now?

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

"I'm Afraid I Don't Know Just What You're Talking About."

ing in the cabin nearest the inn, she said; and she begged David to come and talk with her till her father returned. It was late when they heard Cramer's voice lifted in a roaring ballad and distinguished his portly form moving uncertainly down the path that led to the cabin.

David felt himself grow hot with repugnance as the man drew nearer. He had not seen him since that night when he had watched the three conspirators in the smithy.

Cramer's heavy steps drew nearer; he started in surprise when he came on the two figures in the darkness and there was a note of relief in his laughter when he heard David speak.

"Why, it's young Lawrence! Sweet-hearts out here in the dark, you say? Well, when your mother was your age, Lydia, I . . ."

Do you believe that, in bitterness of spirit, David will marry Lydia and become involved with Cramer in spying—much as he hates the spy now?

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

HOW PEN MAY HELP FORGER

Habitually Used, It Is Said to Become Imbued With the Spirit of a Signature.

"Did it ever occur to you," said a treasury official, "that a forger has half his work done when he can get hold of the identical pen with which the owner of the signature actually writes? A great many men, company directors and the like, use the same pen for their change."

A pen that has been used by a man in writing his name hundreds of times, and never used for anything else, will almost write the name of itself. It gets imbued with the spirit of the signature. In the hands of a fairly good forger it will preserve the characteristics of the original. The reason for this is that the point of the pen has been ground down to a peculiar shape, from being used so much the same hand and for the same combination of letters."

Cutting Bullet Out of the Heart.

Dr. Maurice Beaussonat, who had already extracted a piece of grenade from the right ventricle of a man's heart, told the French Academie des Sciences of a second similar operation performed with success.

A coronal wound at Eparghes had been operated on for appendicitis. He continued to suffer in various ways for more than a year, when a radioscope revealed the pressure of a shrapnel ball, moving in time to the beatings of his heart. Supposing this to be in the pericardium or sac about the heart, Doctor Beaussonat "went in," as the surgeons say, and saw that the ball was actually in the right ventricle, near the lower end.

The heart was drawn out; its wall was cut open between two loops of wire; the ball was removed and the heart was sewn up again. Six months later the heart had healed so perfectly that there was not a sign of irregularity about its pulsations.

The Silver Lining.

The Tender-Hearted Cook—No bad news, I hope, ma'am?

The Mistress—The master's been wounded.

The Cook—There now, ma'am; don't let that worry you. They tell me they can patch 'em up so's they're better than before.

Compromise.

"Never marry a man with a champagne appetite and a beer income," said Maude.

"Certainly not," replied Maymie. "Ice cream soda for mine."

From the Stars to You.

"Somewhere beneath the stars there is something that you have meant to do. Never rest until you have found out what it is!"—John Brashers, in American Magazine.

Perpetual Brightness.

TIPPECANOE

By SAMUEL MCCOY

Recounting the adventures and love which came into the lives of David Lawrence and Antoinette O'Bannon, in the days when pioneers were fighting red savages in the Indiana wilderness.

(Copyright, 1916, by Bobbe Merrill Co.)

LOVE-MAKING

Do you enjoy the spectacle of a pretty girl coquetting with a man who loves her devotedly and is cut to the heart by her teasing? Then you'll find stirring interest in this installment.

It is the year 1811, and David Lawrence, exiled English weaver, comes to Corydon, Indiana territory, intending to kill an old enemy. He makes friends with Patrice O'Bannon and charming Antoinette, his daughter, and with Job Crammer and his daughter, Lydia, recently from England. He learns that Crammer is a spy against the United States when he overheard a war plot. Crammer disappears. The settlement organizes a militia. David's regard for Antoinette becomes very warm.

CHAPTER VI.

Moonlight.

David was thoughtful, while the light banter ran on. "Governor Harrison," he said, "may I have a word with you alone? I have some information that I wish to lay before you."

The young governor bowed assent and led the way to a quiet corner. David told the story of the meeting between Crammer and Scull. Harrison's face grew grave.

"Why did you not report this sooner?" he asked sharply. "I wrote at once to John Tipton, at Vincennes," David answered. "I asked him to tell you immediately. I have had no reply from him, but I have supposed that he gave you the message. John's brother, who is to have charge of the territory in my absence, and shall direct him to have his rangers make a thorough search for these men. As for Tipton, I am sure that his brother, Edmund, will not discountenance my search. Rest assured, Governor Harrison, that we shall keep careful watch over these traitors. I thank you for what you have told me."

"Yes," smiled Harrison. "It's agony for him to write. But I fear that he has not received your letter even yet. He has been away on a hunting and scouting trip for weeks. I myself will go away for a while, but I shall inform Tipton of the situation in my absence, and shall direct him to have his rangers make a thorough search for these men. As for Tipton, I am sure that his brother, Edmund, will not discountenance my search. Rest assured, Governor Harrison, that we shall keep careful watch over these traitors. I thank you for what you have told me."

"You," smiled Harrison. "It's agony for him to write. But I fear that he has not received your letter even yet. He has been away on a hunting and scouting trip for weeks. I myself will go away for a while, but I shall inform Tipton of the situation in my absence, and shall direct him to have his rangers make a thorough search for these men. As for Tipton, I am sure that his brother, Edmund, will not discountenance my search. Rest assured, Governor Harrison, that we shall keep careful watch over these traitors. I thank you for what you have told me."

David felt that a load had been lifted from his mind. He had done his duty to the land that had received him with such simple hospitality.

"I know, Governor," the governor went on. "The governor suspected you were appearing a fellow. You say he went to Vincennes? I am certain that he has not been there of late. Let me know if he returns to Corydon. The whole Northwest has reason to know that renegade Crammer, but I fear it is useless to hope for his capture now. He knows the wilderness like an Indian. As well hope to find a wild bird in the tree tops. By now he is doubtless back in the British posts above Erie. You say that the third man was once known to you as Scull? The name is a new one. Strange, how he disappeared. We'll watch for him."

He returned to his friends with an added word of thanks. David's face darkened as he thought once more of Scull. Where was he? How could he hide himself so completely? The memory of the man's betrayal of David's father rose up more of the truth that he had sworn, over the "purple post" of the woman's brotherhood, to avenge that wrong.

When the party had broken up at last in laughing "good nights," Antoinette, Blackford and David strolled toward Tipton's home together. He began humming a song as they walked along.

Could you to battle march away, And leave me here complaining— "A mighty fine evening, hasn't it?" "I'm sure 'twould break my heart to say. When you were gone complaining—"

"Trust a woman to suit her own sweet will!" "What's the song, Ike?" "That's O, a catch that we used to sing at Princeton. Poor old Billy Patterson wrote it years ago, rest his soul! The late attorney general—class of 1793," he added explanatorily. His rich tenor swung on into the list of the chorus:

"Ah, non, non, non, pauvre Madelon! Never quit her Rover. Ah, non, non, pauvre Madelon! Would you give her the wide world over?"

He broke off abruptly: "Wouldn't it be fine to have a wench hanging to your coat as you marched?" "He said good night abruptly at Antoinette's door and went on."

When he had gone, they two, David and Antoinette, lingered on, they knew not why, under the moon-drenched trees.

"And now," she said, leaning toward him in the moonlight, "tell me how you like Corydon—as much as you know for him to fail into his own lightness of speech."

"Ah, I fell in love with America years ago—on the day I reached Corydon. Now I am only bothered to know if America likes me."

"Why, of course she likes you—look what she has done for you already—her glance rested on his healthy, vigorous form approvingly."

"Yes; but her favors recompense me now; I am afraid I can never accomplish what this country expects of her young men."

She pretended to look at him thoughtfully. "No, I don't suppose you can ever climb very high." She laughed teasingly. "How do you like your work?"

"Selling tobacco to the Indians and laces to the ladies? Not very romantic."

"I should think the ladies would be romantic, even if the Indians are not."

dame Recanther spoke, and to it was Antoinette: "Why don't you say how you like it?"

It was evidently the gown of cobwebs that was meant. "Excuse me, but is that all of it?" "Imbecile! The latest from Paris! It's too bad to waste it on you."

"Well, well," David pretended a dry indifference. "Antoinette turned up her nose. 'Why weren't you at the wedding?'" "Couldn't I. I was off on a hunt."

"No—only a couple of deer." "The brides were sweet." "She sat down, and her needlework once more and David, seated in the dimly lighted room, his high lined collarband gleaming palely between his dark face and the somber blacks of his cravat and his coat, watched her in silence. When he spoke it was to introduce a new subject:

"Congress has voted to increase the army by twenty-five thousand men," he said abruptly. "and has provided for the enlistment of fifty thousand volunteers in addition."

She let her hands fall to her lap. "Does that mean war is sure?" "Not yet. But they talk of it freely. England will yield to none of our requests."

She smiled proudly to herself at his use of the word "our." He went on with his news: "Mr. Clay wants a stronger navy. Curious—Isn't it—that Kentucky should be in harmony with the seaboard states in this?"

"Yes—they called us the wild men on the Ohio last winter." He smiled at her flash of resentment. "Are you still as eager for war as you were once?"

Antoinette shuddered. It was unnecessary to reply to the thrust. David went on evenly: "Well, the whole time of the congress is taken up with the debates. The things are so likely to get what is for shipbuilding—Antoinette, look at me!"

She looked up, startled at the change in his voice, and saw what she had feared—and vaguely longed for—was about to come. "But I refused to his feet. His countenance suddenly filled with a tremendous tenderness, his heart beat uncontrollably; she calmly threaded a needle anew."

"Do you know what failure is?" he flung at her. The torrent of his heart rushed out with the words. "I have making stockings, but the next year his feet represented him to a firm of attorneys."

"Who was Harry White?" "Harry White was my best friend. Henry Kike White—the son of Mr. White, the butcher. He was just my own age. We worked together until he was twenty-one. He was fourteen, and I was twenty-one. He was a poet laureate, collected all the poems Harry had written."

"And you kept on as a weaver?" "I kept on as a weaver. But he lent me his books at night. He was as poor as I was, and he drove him as poor as I was. He was fourteen, and I was twenty-one. He was a poet laureate, collected all the poems Harry had written."

"A poet? A butcher's son?" "He had won a scholarship at Cambridge when he was thirteen. He got his first poem published the year before that. He was how he attracted Mr. Southern's attention."

"He told me once that a friend he had made at Cambridge, a boy named George Gordon, Lord Byron, said that his poems would never die."

"He was a poet too?" "I think so. He is living yet. He's only twenty-three."

"Why? You're only twenty-six, you say? Don't talk like a grandfather!" "I feel like one."

"Why?" "The sympathy in her voice was as sincere as that to her eyes. David had never known such a woman—had never known that it was to have the divine sympathy of womanhood. He divine sympathy in her voice, of his sufferings, of his hopes for the future, of his aspirations; and through it all the girl listened, a white rose in the moonlight, and poured the balm of her pure spirit upon his head."

CHAPTER VII.

The Course of True Love.

Corydon lay basking under the sun of August. Along the parched ground the waves of heat, the "Inzy Lawrence," danced maddeningly. The memory of the man's betrayal of David's father rose up more of the truth that he had sworn, over the "purple post" of the woman's brotherhood, to avenge that wrong.

When the party had broken up at last in laughing "good nights," Antoinette, Blackford and David strolled toward Tipton's home together. He began humming a song as they walked along.

Could you to battle march away, And leave me here complaining— "A mighty fine evening, hasn't it?" "I'm sure 'twould break my heart to say. When you were gone complaining—"

"Trust a woman to suit her own sweet will!" "What's the song, Ike?" "That's O, a catch that we used to sing at Princeton. Poor old Billy Patterson wrote it years ago, rest his soul! The late attorney general—class of 1793," he added explanatorily. His rich tenor swung on into the list of the chorus:

"Ah, non, non, non, pauvre Madelon! Never quit her Rover. Ah, non, non, pauvre Madelon! Would you give her the wide world over?"

He broke off abruptly: "Wouldn't it be fine to have a wench hanging to your coat as you marched?" "He said good night abruptly at Antoinette's door and went on."

When he had gone, they two, David and Antoinette, lingered on, they knew not why, under the moon-drenched trees.

"And now," she said, leaning toward him in the moonlight, "tell me how you like Corydon—as much as you know for him to fail into his own lightness of speech."

"Ah, I fell in love with America years ago—on the day I reached Corydon. Now I am only bothered to know if America likes me."

"Why, of course she likes you—look what she has done for you already—her glance rested on his healthy, vigorous form approvingly."

"Yes; but her favors recompense me now; I am afraid I can never accomplish what this country expects of her young men."

She pretended to look at him thoughtfully. "No, I don't suppose you can ever climb very high." She laughed teasingly. "How do you like your work?"

"Selling tobacco to the Indians and laces to the ladies? Not very romantic."

"I should think the ladies would be romantic, even if the Indians are not."

know I am not." He waved her words aside impatiently. "It is something else." He stopped, impatient to escape the face of the lady of his passion she had thrown in his path.

The room was very still. Outdoors the crickets chirped incessantly. For a long while they stood facing each other in silence that rested more and more heavily upon David's heart.

"Well, well," David pretended a dry indifference. "Antoinette turned up her nose. 'Why weren't you at the wedding?'" "Couldn't I. I was off on a hunt."

"No—only a couple of deer." "The brides were sweet." "She sat down, and her needlework once more and David, seated in the dimly lighted room, his high lined collarband gleaming palely between his dark face and the somber blacks of his cravat and his coat, watched her in silence. When he spoke it was to introduce a new subject:

"Congress has voted to increase the army by twenty-five thousand men," he said abruptly. "and has provided for the enlistment of fifty thousand volunteers in addition."

She let her hands fall to her lap. "Does that mean war is sure?" "Not yet. But they talk of it freely. England will yield to none of our requests."

She smiled proudly to herself at his use of the word "our." He went on with his news: "Mr. Clay wants a stronger navy. Curious—Isn't it—that Kentucky should be in harmony with the seaboard states in this?"

"Yes—they called us the wild men on the Ohio last winter." He smiled at her flash of resentment. "Are you still as eager for war as you were once?"

Antoinette shuddered. It was unnecessary to reply to the thrust. David went on evenly: "Well, the whole time of the congress is taken up with the debates. The things are so likely to get what is for shipbuilding—Antoinette, look at me!"

She looked up, startled at the change in his voice, and saw what she had feared—and vaguely longed for—was about to come. "But I refused to his feet. His countenance suddenly filled with a tremendous tenderness, his heart beat uncontrollably; she calmly threaded a needle anew."

"Do you know what failure is?" he flung at her. The torrent of his heart rushed out with the words. "I have making stockings, but the next year his feet represented him to a firm of attorneys."

"Who was Harry White?" "Harry White was my best friend. Henry Kike White—the son of Mr. White, the butcher. He was just my own age. We worked together until he was twenty-one. He was fourteen, and I was twenty-one. He was a poet laureate, collected all the poems Harry had written."

"And you kept on as a weaver?" "I kept on as a weaver. But he lent me his books at night. He was as poor as I was, and he drove him as poor as I was. He was fourteen, and I was twenty-one. He was a poet laureate, collected all the poems Harry had written."

"A poet? A butcher's son?" "He had won a scholarship at Cambridge when he was thirteen. He got his first poem published the year before that. He was how he attracted Mr. Southern's attention."

"He told me once that a friend he had made at Cambridge, a boy named George Gordon, Lord Byron, said that his poems would never die."

"He was a poet too?" "I think so. He is living yet. He's only twenty-three."

"Why? You're only twenty-six, you say? Don't talk like a grandfather!" "I feel like one."

"Why?" "The sympathy in her voice was as sincere as that to her eyes. David had never known such a woman—had never known that it was to have the divine sympathy of womanhood. He divine sympathy in her voice, of his sufferings, of his hopes for the future, of his aspirations; and through it all the girl listened, a white rose in the moonlight, and poured the balm of her pure spirit upon his head."

CHAPTER VII. The Course of True Love. Corydon lay basking under the sun of August. Along the parched ground the waves of heat, the "Inzy Lawrence," danced maddeningly. The memory of the man's betrayal of David's father rose up more of the truth that he had sworn, over the "purple post" of the woman's brotherhood, to avenge that wrong.

When the party had broken up at last in laughing "good nights," Antoinette, Blackford and David strolled toward Tipton's home together. He began humming a song as they walked along.

Could you to battle march away, And leave me here complaining— "A mighty fine evening, hasn't it?" "I'm sure 'twould break my heart to say. When you were gone complaining—"

"Trust a woman to suit her own sweet will!" "What's the song, Ike?" "That's O, a catch that we used to sing at Princeton. Poor old Billy Patterson wrote it years ago, rest his soul! The late attorney general—class of 1793," he added explanatorily. His rich tenor swung on into the list of the chorus:

"Ah, non, non, non, pauvre Madelon! Never quit her Rover. Ah, non, non, pauvre Madelon! Would you give her the wide world over?"

He broke off abruptly: "Wouldn't it be fine to have a wench hanging to your coat as you marched?" "He said good night abruptly at Antoinette's door and went on."

When he had gone, they two, David and Antoinette, lingered on, they knew not why, under the moon-drenched trees.

"And now," she said, leaning toward him in the moonlight, "tell me how you like Corydon—as much as you know for him to fail into his own lightness of speech."

"Ah, I fell in love with America years ago—on the day I reached Corydon. Now I am only bothered to know if America likes me."

"Why, of course she likes you—look what she has done for you already—her glance rested on his healthy, vigorous form approvingly."

"Yes; but her favors recompense me now; I am afraid I can never accomplish what this country expects of her young men."

She pretended to look at him thoughtfully. "No, I don't suppose you can ever climb very high." She laughed teasingly. "How do you like your work?"

"Selling tobacco to the Indians and laces to the ladies? Not very romantic."

"I should think the ladies would be romantic, even if the Indians are not."

"I should think the ladies would be romantic, even if the Indians are not."

"I should think the ladies would be romantic, even if the Indians are not."

"I should think the ladies would be romantic, even if the Indians are not."

these parts thirty years gone, and set that cross the river without a 'sot' penalty."

David heard him listlessly. His goods had arrived and were piled in the tavern lean-to; and as he turned toward the shack to see that they were in readiness for the homeward journey in the morning, he heard his name called by a girl's voice.

He wheeled and saw Lydia Crammer. The girl broke into a laugh at the expression of utter surprise. "You here, Lydia?" he cried in amazement. "Did you come here from Corydon? Where's your father?"

"Why, yes, we've been here for weeks. Father's gone to see some friends at Fort Snellen tonight, but he'll be back soon."

So this was where Crammer had gone, after that night in the smithy at Corydon. David saw in a flash that upon himself alone must depend Crammer's capture. Hiding his excitement, he pretended to listen to Lydia with eager pleasure.

She came on naïve delight at seeing David once more. They were living in the cabin nearest the inn, she said; and she begged David to come and talk with her till her father returned. It was late when they heard Crammer's voice lifted in a roaring ballad and distinguished his portly form moving uncertainly down the path that led to the cabin.

David felt himself grow hot with repugnance as the man drew nearer. He had not seen him since that night when he had watched the three conspirators in the smithy.

Crammer's heavy steps drew nearer; he started in surprise when he came on the two figures in the darkness and there was a note of relief in his laughter when he heard David speak.

"Why, it's young Lawrence! Sweethearting out here in the dark, you rogues? Well, when your mother was your age, Lydia!"

Do you believe that, in bitterness of spirit, David will marry Lydia and become involved with Crammer in spying—much as he hates the spy now?

CHAPTER VIII. Fear. David went back to his dress-stuffs by day and his law books by night with a heavy heart. The days dragged by as slowly as they passed the night of the sick, feverish days of the necessity of a journey to replenish his stock of goods. Colonel Posey had once more postponed his return to Corydon and had asked David to buy whatever was needed to carry on the business. His supplies were on the river from the south.

He looked his fill upon the broad expanse of the great river—the beautiful river, as the Indians called it—its hurrying, tumultuous waters, its flatboat ferry, slowly crawling across, the green sere beyond—and then he scrambled down the steep hillside to the village, where the snokes of the kitchen fires sent up their friendly signals. At the inn where he rested that night the tavern keeper indicated a deserted cabin that stood near the river bank.

"That's the cabin whar General George Rogers Clark used to live—pore old critter!"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

"He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?" "He's not dead, is he?"

Both Costly and Stately

Two Elements That Mark the New Fashions That Come From Paris.

DAY OF THE TALL WOMAN

She is No Longer Compelled to Wear the Extremely Abbreviated Skirt of the Last Three Years—Evening Gowns Have Dignity.

New York.—Any observant person glancing over the masses of women gathered in the large centers would not say that there was any lack of new autumn dressing. Hundreds of new gowns were worn, and winter hats made their appearance in mid-September, but the burden of the dressmakers' plaint was that these models were, as a rule, bought from the shops at a price which cost them such an amazing sum of money were neglected in regard to fashions. No expert who saw behind the scenes can deny it. If America had not been peculiarly prosperous, if the stock market had not been turning men into millionaires with a rapidity that took the breath away, the situation would have been tragic to the importers.

You see, the prices in Paris have never reached such a height in the history of women's clothes. That's a big statement, but on reading the itemized bills that were made by the women of Europe during the first and operated on these days, and I'm always keeping myself in condition for it."

The day of the flapper will never be over, for all the world loves youth, and to be young and to look young will be the whip over every woman until another race of being follows this one. But as much as is spoken on this subject, there are thousands of women who prefer to be stately than absurd and who have found the last three years exceedingly difficult for them, willy-nilly, upon even the strongest-minded women who had resolved to look dignified at the expense of fashion.

Adapted Themselves to Fashion. Short skirts in the evening were comfortable because dancing was the universal recreation, but when short skirts left the length demanded by the fox trot and almost reached the length demanded by the ballet, it was necessary to do something strange in the way of a new fashion.

American produced an entire race of women to meet these new gowns, it would seem, for the tall, Anglo-Saxon type has felt like a giant among Lilliputians, like a well-dressed woman against a native Hottentot, in the little women came from grand olden days, and how they all reduced themselves to the consistency of planked boards and the sinuosity of French eels, is a matter for the student of the human race, and not the student of dress.

The first feature of the new fashions that caused the smile on the tall woman's face, is the introduction of the train. She is quite aware that

On the left is a black panne velvet made by Worth, which hangs in a straight line from bust to ankles, and is made gorgeous by a deep, unfitted girdle of rhinestones arranged in a lattice work and edged at the top with a narrow band of small pink roses. A suggestion of the First Empire is given in the Napoleonic wreaths of pink roses on the skirt, with the dripping tangle of crystals.

On the right is an early Italian gown by Bernard called Madonna. It is as straight as a mummy case and is made of metal gauze over green chiffon. The huge flowers are of stamped silver. The deep girdle placed below the waistline is of jet beads, and there is a deep necklace made from a jet rope, which forms the shoulder strap.

second empire, and also before the French revolution under the reigns of Louis XV and Louis XVI, it is quite possible that the statement can stand without argument.

Cite Higher Cost of Materials. France excused herself on the plea that material was so costly to produce that the designers had to put out an immense amount of capital to secure the right fabrics to create gowns that the Americans would buy. She insists that she did not make more than ten percent of the cost of the more than two thousand models which she offered to the American public in August.

If you wonder why the matrons in the country are smiling as they come out of the dressmaking places and shops, it is because their day in dress has come. We will now be stately in the evening.

This does not mean that one shall instantly relax vigilance over the flesh. Double chins, a pad at the back of the neck, rounded hips and a thickened diaphragm, are no more desirable now than they were six months ago.

The doctors have made so much of this fight against flesh, approving of it in its moderate form and urging it upon every woman in the name of health, that it is not probable that we shall let the figure grow old merely because the fashions have changed.

There are so many reasons for keeping slim these days that every woman is provided with a good one. It is fashionable, or it may be the extreme reason advanced by one woman at a dinner the other night, who said: "The doctors say that it is necessary to keep slim because, if one is operated on, the less fat the knife has to go through Saturday Specials!

GERMAN KNITTING YARN 35c SKEIN
This is a very good quality worsted yarn that is worth more than we are asking for it—as yarn prices are advancing rapidly—but we are protected at the old price, as we bought this yarn months ago. Regular price 45c skein. Special for Saturday35c

BIRD ART FLOSS 1c SKEIN
Saturday we will offer you one lot of Bird Art Floss in white, blue, pink, yellow and green at per skein1c

A NICE WAIST FREE
Saturday, November 4th, we will give a nice waist FREE with each ladies' coat or suit sold in our Ladies' Department. 25c RIBBONS 19c

Good quality ribbons in pretty designs. Special for Saturday, per yard19c

INFANTS VANTA VESTS 25 PER CENT OFF
Infants Vanta Vests in a good assortment of styles and qualities, ranging in price from 25c to 95c. Special for Saturday at one-fourth off regular price.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' 25c HOSE 19c
Boys' and Girls' good grade heavy cotton ribbed hose, a good weight for fall and winter wear. Size 6 1/2 to 8. Regular price 25c. Special for Saturday per pair19c

MEN'S $1.00 SHIRTS 79c
Men's soft collar and banded shirts. A big lot to select from in plain and striped patterns. Regular price $1.00. Special for Saturday each79c

$1.00 LINEN TABLE RUNNERS 78c
Nice quality natural linen stamped table runners or library scarfs in conventional designs, regular $1.00 values, special for Saturday, each78c

10c OUTING FLANNEL 8c
A nice quality outing flannel that is really cheap at the regular price, 10c a yard. Special for Saturday per yd.8c

$1.50 SILK TAFFETA $1.19 YARD
A nice assortment of colors in a good quality taffeta, in short lengths. Regular price per yard $1.50. Special for Saturday, per yard$1.19

10c TOWELING 8 1/2c YARD
Good quality union linen bleached towelings with red or blue border. Special for Saturday, per yard8 1/2c

$4.00 CORSETS $1.89
One lot of Redfern and Bonton Corsets that formerly sold at $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00. All sizes up to 28. Special for Saturday, each$1.89

CHILDREN'S HATS AND UNTRIMMED SHAPES AT 20 PER CENT DISCOUNT
Our entire stock of Ladies' untrimmed shapes and Children's Hats in our millinery department will be put on sale Saturday at one-fifth off the regular price.

SHELF OILCLOTH 5c PER YARD
Saturday we will offer shelf oilcloth in our carpet department at per yard5c

65c BOUDOIR CAPS 50c
Saturday we will offer one lot of regular 65c boudoir caps at each50c

39c DRUG SPECIALS
One box Jap Rose face powder regular 50c value and one jar of Jap Rose cold cream, regular 25c value, 75c worth Saturday for39c

One box Jap Rose face powder, regular 50c value, and 2 cans Jap Rose talcum, regular 25c value, 75c worth Saturday for39c

One box Jap Rose face powder, regular 50c value and 3 bars Jap Rose soap, reg. 25c value, 75c worth Saturday. 39c
Pebeco Tooth Paste, regular price 50c, Saturday only39c

$1.00 TOILET WATER 69c
Lotus Toilet Water, regular $1.00 size, Saturday only. 69c

$1.75 GUERNSEY SET 98c
10-piece, brown and white Guernsey Cooking Set, consisting of one covered casserole, one covered bean pot, one small low bowl, one medium low bowl, one large low bowl, one small deep bowl, one medium deep bowl, one large deep bowl. Regular $1.75 value. Saturday only, per set98c

Not over one set to a customer.
65c VASES 45c
65c large green vases, special for Saturday each45c

$1.25 CUT GLASS 98c
One large assortment of cut glass, consisting of sugar and cream sets, flower vases, salad bowls and celery trays. Regular $1.25 values. Special for Saturday, each98c

Grocery Department

It seems that everything in the mercantile line is tied to a kite, for prices are going up.
If you want to make big interest on your money—then invest in groceries—buy enough to last you a few months.
We are always on the lookout for our customers. Here are a few specials for Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday.

A Few Snaps in Canned Goods
No. 2 Corn, per can10c
No. 2 Peas, per can10c
No. 3 Tomatoes, per can12 1/2c
No. 3 Sauer Kraut, per can10c
No. 8 sliced yellow Peaches, per can19c

A few specials of very good bargains in 10c canned goods, to close out at per can7c
Not over 6 cans to a customer.

4 packages of Corn Flakes19c
25c package Rolled Oats19c
25c package Matches19c

Soroso Coffee. You can not get a better 25c coffee anywhere. During this sale, per pound21c
Good bulk coffee, per pound15c

SAVE YOUR STAMPS.

We give a stamp with every 10c cash purchase. During the month of December the grocery department will give you 30c worth of merchandise for every 100 stamps you bring.

Johnson & Hill Co.

THE MEN TO VOTE FOR NEXT TUESDAY

We are presenting this week some pictures of the democratic candidates for the county offices, and we feel that our readers should look them over carefully and see if it will not be possible to support them for office when election day comes. There has never been a time when the affairs of the county were taken better care of than when the democratic had charge of them, and it is safe to say that they will do as well in the future as they have done in the past.

There is no question but what all of the men that have been put up by the democrats this fall are particularly well qualified for the position which they seek, and in voting for them the public is not taking any chance of placing an incompetent man in office.

While politics do not enter particularly into county matters and the administration of county offices, still it is the effort of the party, and has been so in the past, to nominate men who are trustworthy in every way and who can be depended upon to give the people the service that is expected of a public servant.

WM. T. NOBLES For County Clerk

Mr. Nobles is a candidate for reelection to the office of County Clerk of Wood County, an office which he has held for the past two years, or one term. He is a candidate for a second term and no more.

Owing to the efficient manner in which he has conducted the office for the past two years, we think it reasonable to expect that he would continue to conduct the affairs of his office along the same lines. A vote for Mr. Nobles on November 7th would be a vote for the right man and will surely be appreciated by him.

CHAS. KRASKIE
For Clerk of the Circuit Court

Mr. Kraskie was born in West Prussia, Germany, October 15, 1888, and came with his parents the same year to Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, where he lived until he moved to Port Edwards in 1914. Mr. Kraskie is a young man who stands very high in his community. He is a bright, capable fellow; courteous and pleasant to all. His education and natural ability peculiarly fit him for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court. His opponent has held the office for many years and it would be only fair to give someone else a chance.

CLARENCE B. EDWARDS
For District Attorney

The democracy of Wood county

takes great pleasure in placing before the people as its candidate for District Attorney Mr. Clarence B. Edwards of Marshfield. The office of District Attorney is one of the most important offices of the county and should be filled by a man of integrity and ability; by a man who has no "strings" tied to him; who is not allied to any interest or faction, and who is free and ready to prosecute all matters without fear or favor. Mr. Edwards is such a man. He is a graduate of the Lancaster, Wisconsin high school, of the University of Wisconsin and the University law school. He came to Marshfield in 1900 and has practiced law in the city ever since. He served as City Attorney for four years, and is now a member of the board of education and has held minor positions of trust. He has never held county office. If elected, he will consider service to the county board and its members his first duty. Honesty, efficiency and a square deal to all will be his motto in the discharge of the duties of his office. Give him your vote and you will not regret it.

JOHN A. HOFFMAN
For Register of Deeds
One good term deserves another. Mr. Hoffman has been a resident of Wood County for over 30 years. He has held the office of Register of Deeds for one term and is now asking support for a second term. He has made one of the best Registers the county has ever had. He is efficient, careful and accommodating and deserves a return to office.

LAMBERT MICHEL
For Member of Assembly
Mr. Michels is a particularly good man for Member of Assembly. He came to this county 40 years ago and cleared up a farm near Bakerville and has lived there ever since. He has a fair education, is prominent in his community, and has held many social offices. He understands the needs of farmers and has always been a true progressive. He will work for every measure that is for the interest of the common man. One law he will work for is a law to compel the owners of unoccupied land to build their share of line fences adjoining land that is being cleared up. All who believe in progressive legislation should vote for Mr. Michels.

JOE WHEELER, JR.
For County Treasurer
Mr. Wheeler is particularly well qualified for the office he seeks. He was born and raised in this county. He has held the office of City Treasurer of Grand Rapids for four years with entire satisfaction. He is absolutely honest and reliable in every way. The county may be sure that the county funds will be perfectly safe if entrusted to his care, and the duties of the office faithfully attended to. He is courteous and obliging and will make a faithful public servant.

FRED BEELL
For Sheriff
The voters of the county ought to be glad to vote for Fred Beell for Sheriff. Though born in Germany, he is practically a home product, having come to Marshfield with his parents when he was only two years of age. Later he lived for eight years on a farm in the town of Cameron. Mr. Beell is a man of great physical strength and at one time was the champion wrestler of the world. He is a man of particularly clean moral character and good habits. He has never held office and well deserves the office he seeks. He is well qualified in every way, and deserves to be elected. He has put Wood County on the map. A resident of the county for 40 years. Your vote will be appreciated.

You may have had some real call-downs in your career. But did you ever have a girl tell you that you were NO GENTLEMAN?

Nov. 2 Nov. 23
NOTICE FOR ADMINISTRATION AND NOTICE TO CREDITORS

State of Wisconsin, Wood County, in County Court.
In re Estate of John Schmitz, deceased.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that at the term of said court to be held on first Tuesday of December, 1916, at the county of Wood and state of Wisconsin, there will be heard and considered the application of Lawrence Ward and Geo. W. Upham for the appointment of an administrator of the estate of John Schmitz, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN, that at the term of said court to be held on first Tuesday of December, 1916, at the county of Wood and state of Wisconsin, there will be heard and considered all claims against said John Schmitz, deceased. AND NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN, that all claims against said John Schmitz, deceased, must be presented to the said county court at the court house in the city of Grand Rapids, in said county and state, on and before the 5th day of March A. D. 1917, at which time, and place, all claims will be heard.

Dated October 31st, 1916.
By the Court: J. CONWAY, County Judge.

Save Our Trading Stamps

JOHNSON & HILL CO.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Save Our Trading Stamps

EDITORIAL

Our acceptance of money is evidence of our faith that the customer is receiving a full round dollar worth of value for every dollar spent. If the goods we sell do not fill an honorable place in the mind of the purchaser, then they certainly fail to perform the duty for which they were intended, namely, to gratify and satisfy those who buy.

A fundamental principle of this business is that each article shall "pay its own way" for the future and today by rendering a true service to the customer and the store. Failure to do it means our failure to get ahead. Also it means that we have had "our labor for our pains."

Choose a Van Raalte Veil
WE offer super-selected styles in Veils. By this we mean, styles sponsored by Van Raalte and then selected by you. You cannot find an unbecoming one among the lot. And remember, Van Raalte Veils—stretch without tearing, wash without wearing, exact these ordinary veils. Except those trimmed, appliqued or embroidered.

Individual Styles Characterize the New Coats Shown at this Store

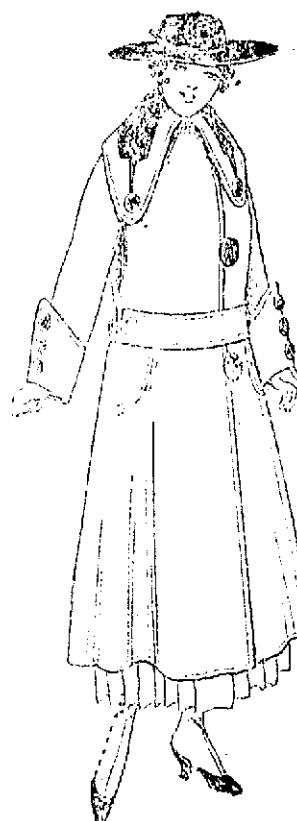

and though styles are individual, notable values predominate. An exorbitant price-ticket is never allowed to become attached to a coat in this store merely because styles are exclusive. Please bear this in mind at all times.

In regard to the new coats we might describe each one in detail, but even then you would be unable to picture just how smart and good looking they are. The better plan is to come into the store, see the coats, try them on and realize to your own satisfaction the individuality of the styles and exceptional values.

Special Showing of Attractive New Coats

at $9.50

Other good values at $12.50, $15, $18 and $25.

Women's Tailored Suits at $20.00 Of Beauty, Find Workmanship and Quality

Judging from the enthusiasm of women who have been everywhere in their inspection of Suits at about this price or higher—and finally BOUGHT JOHNSON & HILL CO. Suits at $20.00—the merits of these Suits, as decided by the Metropolitan shoppers, are notable.

In point of style—every garment is the final word after most exhaustive selection—always with the demands of the woman of good taste in mind.

Every other quality that enters into their making is superior at this price. The varieties are almost endless:—
Plenty of Dressy and Semi-Dressy Styles
Plenty of Suits With 36-inch Coats
Plenty of Fur-Trimmed Suits
Plenty of Suits for Furs
Plenty of Tailored Fashions
Plenty of Three-Quarter Coats
Plenty of Serges, Poplins, Gabardines
Plenty of Blue and Black
Plenty of Velours, Broadcloths, Cheviots

Fashionable New Millinery

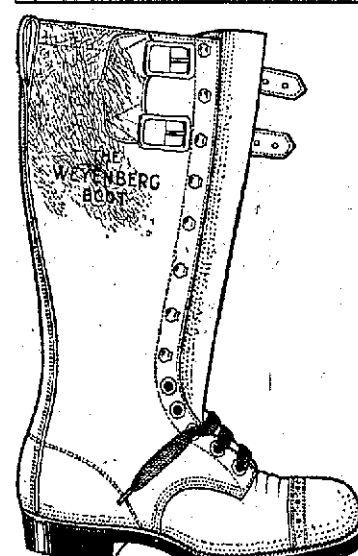

The scope of models in our Millinery Department is broad enough to satisfy every woman's preference.

It would seem as if our milliner made an unusual effort to provide a model suitable for each and every type, in consequence of which you will find hats that are not alone fashionable but smart in outline and above all else becoming. We lay emphasis, particularly, upon the manner in which the hats are trimmed, for it is the ability to know just where to place the ornament, a feather, or some other trimming idea that makes a hat fashionable, smart and becoming.

Every Hat Moderately Priced

GEORGETTE GAGE

Black, 16-in. top, sewed soles, $8.50
Black, 10-in. top, sewed soles, $5.50
Tan, 10-inch top, sewed soles, $5.50
Tan, 10-inch top, nailed soles, $4.00
Tan, 8-inch top, nailed soles, $3.50
Black or tan, regular height, $3.00

Footwear For Hard Outdoor Winter Wear

Whether it's a Leather Boot or a Lumbermen Rubber—if you need footwear for hard service—for winter wear, you will find our assortment of footwear—the most complete from which to make your selection.

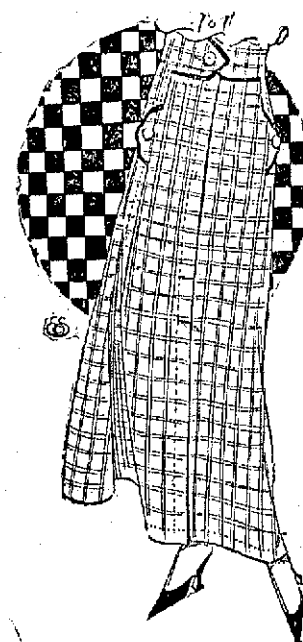

Right Now is a good time to make your selection—as prices are very uncertain, and we believe are going higher.

All Rubber Footwear is still at last seasons prices—except rubbers with leather tops.

Better get your supply of Winter Footwear NOW.

Let Us Fit Your FEET

Choosing a Separate Skirt at this Store Brings to You the Assurance that it is in the Correct Style.

One secures as much satisfaction in knowing that their clothes are in styles favored by fashion as they do from the serviceability of the garment. Know, then, that the separate skirts here come from manufacturers whose styles have been approved by stylists who give the style question their serious attention. There are scores of new smart styles in separate skirts. Prices range from

$3.50, $5.00, $6.00, $7.50 and up

The New Silks and Dress Goods

The new Silks and Dress Goods are meeting with ALMOST the appreciation they deserve. By that we mean there will not be full appreciation till every woman in this vicinity views the rich and colorful fabrics for fall and winter.

Here is a stock that we have never before equalled for completeness of assortment—in fabrics rare, elegant and newest.

Unusual care and study were given these materials this year, our expert gaining fullest information as to styles and fabrics and colors. Results speak for themselves. The fabrics are their own best advocates.

There are new Serges, Poplins, Broadcloths, Gabardines, Crepe Epingles, Fancy Checks, Shepherd Checks, etc., in Dress Goods. All the new weaves and colors are shown in beautiful, radiant silks, including the scarce and hard to get Georgette Crepe.

(Silks and Dress Goods, Main Floor)

Bargain Basement

Women's and Misses' Winter Coats at $2.98

We are offering some wonderful values in Women's Coats in our bargain basement. These coats are not this seasons styles, but are good, serviceable garments. Come in and see them. Sizes 15, 16, and 18.

Women's and Misses' Coats and Suits $4.95

Women's and Misses Coats and Suits in a good line of colors, sizes 30 to 40. Good, serviceable garments, but not this seasons styles, at the ridiculously low price of $4.95.

A Timely Word About "Styleplus" Clothes

—SAME POPULAR PRICE $17
—THE SAME GUARANTEE

This a remarkable achievement in view of the continual advance in costs of materials

"Styleplus" clothes for the men

Strictly for men—for the corpulent man—the short, heavy man—the tall, slender man—and the man of regular build. "Styleplus" suits and overcoats in a wide assortment of styles and patterns for men of conservative preference and men who like to "dress young." $17.

"Styleplus" clothes for young men

Young business men and college men find that "Styleplus" clothes are of the "niche above"—the fabrics and tailoring of the better kind—the styling done by a great fashion artist. Materials and models planned expressly for youth—a splendid assortment—at $17.

"Styleplus" full dress and tuxedo suits at $17

Saturday Specials!

GERMAN KNITTING YARN 35c SKEIN
This is a very good quality worsted yarn that is worth more than we are asking for it—as yarn prices are advancing rapidly—but we are protected at the old price, as we bought this yarn months ago. Regular price 45c skein. Special for Saturday35c

BIRD ART FLOSS 1c SKEIN
Saturday we will offer you one lot of Bird Art Floss in white, blue, pink, yellow and green at per skein1c

A NICE WAIST FREE
Saturday, November 14th, we will give a nice waist FREE with each ladies' coat or suit sold in our Ladies' Department. 25c RIBBONS 19c

Good quality ribbons in pretty designs. Special for Saturday, per yard19c

INFANTS VANTA VESTS 25 PER CENT OFF
Infants Vanta Vests in a good assortment of styles and qualities, ranging in price from 25c to 95c. Special for Saturday at one-fourth off regular price.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' 25c HOSE 19c
Boys' and Girls' good grade heavy cotton ribbed hose, a good weight for fall and winter wear. Size 6 1/2 to 8. Regular price 25c. Special for Saturday per pair19c

MEN'S $1.00 SHIRTS 79c
Men's soft collar and banded shirts. A big lot to select from in plain and striped patterns. Regular price $1.00. Special for Saturday each79c

$1.00 LINEN TABLE RUNNERS 78c
Nice quality natural linen stamped table runners or library scarfs in conventional designs, regular $1.00 values, special for Saturday, each78c

10c OUTING FLANNEL 8c
A nice quality outing flannel that is really cheap at the regular price, 10c a yard. Special for Saturday per yd.8c

$1.50 SILK TAFFETA $1.19 YARD
A nice assortment of colors in a good quality taffeta, in short lengths. Regular price per yard $1.50. Special for Saturday, per yard$1.19

10c TOWELING 8 1/2c YARD
Good quality union linen bleached toweling with red or blue border. Special for Saturday, per yard8 1/2c

$4.00 CORSETS $1.89
One lot of Redfern and Bonton Corsets that formerly sold at $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00. All sizes up to 28. Special for Saturday, each$1.89

CHILDREN'S HATS AND UNTRIMMED SHAPES AT 20 PER CENT DISCOUNT
Our entire stock of Ladies' untrimmed shapes and Children's Hats in our millinery department will be put on sale Saturday at one-fifth off the regular price.

SHELF OILCLOTH 5c PER YARD
Saturday we will offer shelf oilcloth in our carpet department at per yard5c

65c Boudoir Caps 50c
Saturday we will offer one lot of regular 65c boudoir caps at each50c

39c DRUG SPECIALS
One box Jap Rose face powder, regular 50c value and one jar of Jap Rose cold cream, regular 25c value, 75c worth Saturday for39c

One box Jap Rose face powder, regular 50c value, and 2 cans Jap Rose talcum, regular 25c value. 75c worth Saturday for39c

One box Jap Rose face powder, regular 50c value and 3 bars Jap Rose soap, reg. 25c value. 75c worth Saturday. 39c Pebecco Tooth Paste, regular price 50c, Saturday only39c

$1.00 TOILET WATER 69c
Lotus Toilet Water, regular $1.00 size, Saturday only. 69c

$1.75 GUERNSEY SET 98c
10-piece, brown and white Guernsey Cooking Set, consisting of one covered casserole, one covered bean pot, one small low bowl, one medium low bowl, one large low bowl, one small deep bowl, one medium deep bowl, one large deep bowl. Regular $1.75 value. Saturday only, per set98c

Not over one set to a customer.

65c VASES 45c
65c large green vases, special for Saturday each45c

$1.25 CUT GLASS 98c
One large assortment of cut glass, consisting of sugar and cream sets, flower vases, salad bowls and celery trays. Regular $1.25 values. Special for Saturday, each98c

Grocery Department

It seems that everything in the mercantile line is tied to a kite, for prices are going up.

If you want to make big interest on your money—then invest in groceries—buy enough to last you a few months.

We are always on the lookout for our customers. Here are a few specials for Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday.

A Few Snaps in Canned Goods
No. 2 Corn, per can10c
No. 2 Peas, per can10c
No. 3 Tomatoes, per can12 1/2c
No. 3 Sauer Kraut, per can10c
No. 3 sliced yellow Peaches, per can19c

A few specials of very good bargains in 10c canned goods, to close out at per can7c

Not over 6 cans to a customer.
4 packages of Corn Flakes19c
25c package Rolled Oats19c
25c package Matches19c

Sorasso Coffee. You can not get a better 25c coffee anywhere. During this sale, per pound21c
Good bulk coffee, per pound15c

SAVE YOUR STAMPS.
We give a stamp with every 10c cash purchase. During the month of December the crockery department will give you 30c worth of merchandise for every 100 stamps you bring.

Johnson & Hill Co.

THE MEN TO VOTE FOR NEXT TUESDAY

We are presenting this week some pictures of the democratic candidates for the county offices, and we feel that our readers should look them over carefully and see if it will not be possible to support them for office when election day comes. There has never been a time when the affairs of the county were taken better care of than when the democrats had charge of them, and it is safe to say that they will do as well in the future as they have done in the past.

There is no question but what all of the men that have been put up by the democrats this fall are particularly well qualified for the positions which they seek, and in voting for them the public is not taking any chance of placing an incompetent man in office.

While politics do not enter particularly into county matters and the administration of county offices, still it is the effort of the party, and has been so in the past, to nominate men who are trustworthy in every way and who can be depended upon to give the people the service that is expected of a public servant.

WM. T. NOBLES
For County Clerk

Mr. Nobles is a candidate for reelection to the office of County Clerk of Wood County, an office which he has held for the past two years, or one term. He is a candidate for a second term and no more.

Owing to the efficient manner in which he has conducted the office for the past two years, we think it is reasonable to expect that he would continue to conduct the affairs of his office along the same lines. A vote for Mr. Nobles on November 17th would be a vote for the right man and will surely be appreciated by him.

CHAS. KRASKE
For Clerk of the Circuit Court

Mr. Kraske was born in West Prussia, Germany, October 15, 1888, and came with his parents the same year to Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, where he lived until he moved to Port Edwards in 1914. Mr. Kraske is a young man who stands very high in his community. He is a bright, capable fellow; courteous and pleasant to all. His education and natural ability peculiarly fit him for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court. His opponent has held the office for many years and it would be only fair to give someone else a chance.

CLARENCE B. EDWARDS
For District Attorney

The democracy of Wood County

takes great pleasure in placing before the people as its candidate for District Attorney Mr. Clarence B. Edwards of Marshfield. The office of District Attorney is one of the most important offices of the county and should be filled by a man of integrity and ability; by a man who has no "strings" tied to him; who is not allied to any interest or faction, and who is free and ready to prosecute all matters without fear or favor. Mr. Edwards is such a man. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, of the University of Wisconsin and the University law school. He came to Marshfield in 1900 and has practiced law in that city ever since. He served as City Attorney for four years, and is now a member of the board of education and has held minor positions of trust. He has never held county office. If elected, he will consider service to the county his duty and his members of the board of education, efficiency and a square deal to all will be his motto in the discharge of the duties of his office. Give him your vote and you will not regret it.

JOHN A. HOFFMAN
For Register of Deeds

One good term deserves another. Mr. Hoffman has been a resident of Wood County for over 30 years. He has held the office of Register of Deeds for one term and is now asking support for a second term. He has made one of the best Registers the county has ever had. He is efficient, careful and accommodating and deserves a return to office.

LAMBERT MICHELS
For Member of Assembly

Mr. Michels is a particularly good man for Member of Assembly. He came to this county 40 years ago and cleared up a farm near Bakerville and has lived there ever since. He has a fair education, is prominent in his community, and has held many local offices. He understands the needs of farmers and has always been a true progressive. He will work for every measure that is for the interest of the common man. One law he will work for is a law to compel the owners of unoccupied land to build their share of line fences adjoining land that is being cleared up. All who believe in progressive legislation should vote for Mr. Michels.

JOE WHEELER, JR.
For County Treasurer

Mr. Wheeler is particularly well qualified for the office he seeks. He was born and raised in this county. He held the office of City Treasurer of Grand Rapids for four years with entire satisfaction. He is absolutely honest and reliable in every way. This county may be sure that the county funds will be perfectly safe if entrusted to his care, and the duties of the office faithfully attended to. He is courteous and obliging and will make a faithful public servant.

FRED BEELL
For Sheriff

The voters of the county ought to be glad to vote for Fred Beell for Sheriff. Though born in Germany, he is practically a home product, having come to Marshfield with his parents when he was only two years of age. Later he lived for eight years on a farm in the town of Cameron. Mr. Beell is a man of great physical strength and at one time was the champion wrestler of his world. He is a man of particularly clean moral character and good habits. He has never held office and well deserves the office he seeks. He is well qualified in every way, and deserves to be elected. He has put Wood County on the map. A resident of the county for 40 years. Your vote will be appreciated.

You may have had some real call-owns in your career. But did you ever have a girl tell you that you were NO GENTLEMAN?

Nov. 2 NOTICE FOR ADMINISTRATION AND NOTICE TO CREDITORS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that at the term of said court to be held on the first Tuesday of December, 1916, at the court house in the city of Grand Rapids, County of Wood, and State of Wisconsin, there will be heard and considered the application of Lawrence Ward and Geo. W. Clark for the appointment of an administrator of the estate of John Schmitz, late of said county, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN, that at the term of said court to be held at said court house on the first Tuesday of March, 1917, there will be heard, considered and adjusted all claims against said estate.

AND NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN, that all such claims for examination and allowance must be presented to the said county court at the court house in the city of Grand Rapids, in said county and state, on and before the 5th day of March A. D. 1917, or be barred.

Dated October 10, 1916.
By the Court: W. CONWAY, County Judge.

Save Our Trading Stamps

EDITORIAL

Our acceptance of money is evidence of our faith that the customer is receiving a full round dollar's worth of value for every dollar spent. If the goods we sell do not fill an honorable place in the mind of the purchaser, then they certainly fail to perform the duty for which they were intended, namely, to gratify and satisfy those who buy.

A fundamental principle of this business is that each article shall "pay its own way" for the future and today by rendering a true service to the customer and the store. Failure to do it means our failure to get ahead. Also it means that we have had "our labor for our pains."

Chose a Van Raalte Veil

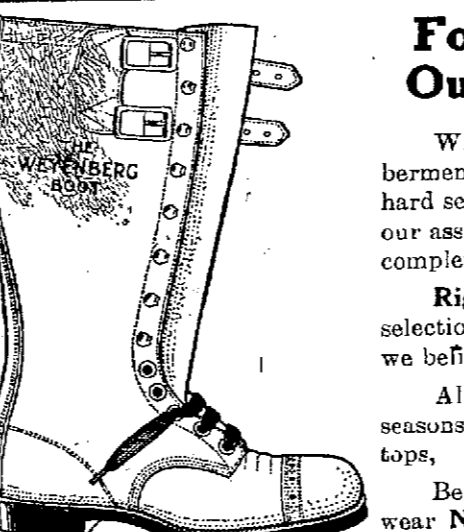

WE offer super-selected styles in Veils. By this we mean, styles sponsored by Van Raalte and then selected by us. You cannot find an unbecoming one among the lot. And remember, Van Raalte Veils—stretch without tearing, wash without wearing, outlast three ordinary veils. —Except those trimmed, up-blended or embroidered.

Fashionable New Millinery

The scope of models in our Millinery Department is broad enough to satisfy every woman's preference.

It would seem as if our milliner made an unusual effort to provide a model suitable for each and every type, in consequence of which you will find hats that are not alone fashionable but smart in outline and above all else becoming. We lay emphasis, particularly, upon the manner in which the hats are trimmed, for it is the ability to know just where to place the ornament, a feather, or some other trimming idea that makes a hat fashionable, smart and becoming.

Every Hat Moderately Priced

Black, 16-in. top, sewed soles . . $8.50
Black, 10-in. top, sewed soles . . $5.50
Tan, 10-inch top, sewed soles . . $5.50
Tan, 10-inch top, nailed soles . . $4.00
Tan, 8-inch top, nailed soles . . $3.50
Black or tan, regular height . . $3.00

Let Us Fit Your FEET

Bargain Basement

Women's and Misses' Winter Coats at $2.98

We are offering some wonderful values in Women's Coats in our bargain basement. These coats are not this seasons styles, but are good, serviceable garments. Come in and see them. Sizes 15, 16, and 18.

Women's and Misses' Coats and Suits $4.95

Women's and Misses Coats and Suits in a good line of colors, sizes 30 to 40. Good, serviceable garments, but not this seasons styles, at the ridiculously low price of $4.95.

JOHNSON & HILL CO.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Save Our Trading Stamps

Individual Styles Characterize the New Coats Shown at this Store

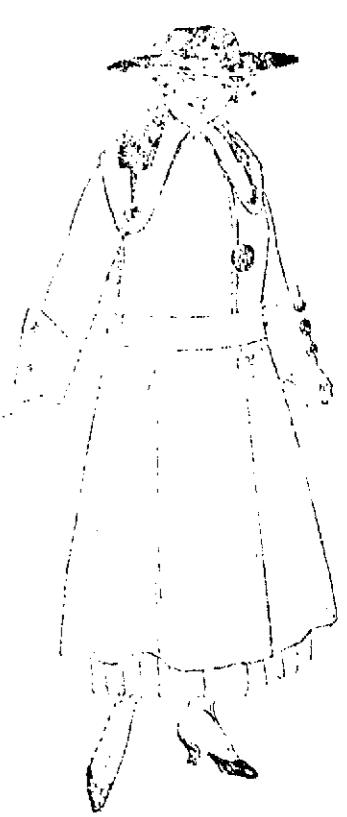

and though styles are individual, notable values predominate. An exorbitant price-ticket is never allowed to become attached to a coat in this store merely because styles are exclusive. Please bear this in mind at all times.

In regard to the new coats we might describe each one in detail, but even then you would be unable to picture just how smart and good looking they are. The better plan is to come into the store, see the coats, try them on and realize to your own satisfaction the individuality of the styles and exceptional values.

Special Showing of Attractive New Coats at $9.50

Other good values at $12.50, $15, $18 and $25.

Women's Tailored Suits at $20.00 Of Beauty, Find Workmanship and Quality

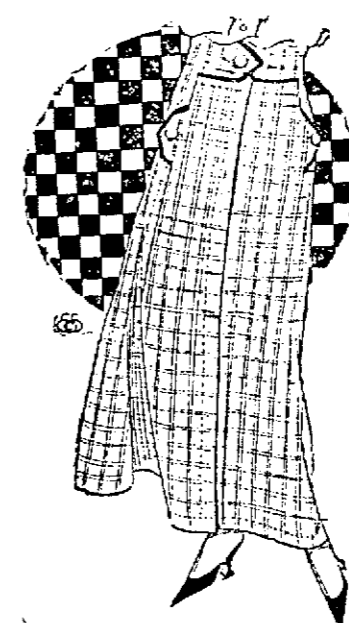

Judging from the enthusiasm of women who have been everywhere in their inspection of Suits at about this price or higher—and finally BOUGHT JOHNSON & HILL CO. Suits at $20.00—the merits of these Suits, as decided by the Metropolitan shoppers, are notable.

In point of style—every garment is the final word after most exhaustive selection—always with the demands of the woman of good taste in mind.

Every other quality that enters into their making is superior at this price. The varieties are almost endless: Plenty of Dressy and Semi-Dressy Styles
Plenty of Suits With 36-inch Coats
Plenty of Fur-Trimmed Suits

Plenty of Serge, Poplins, Gabardines
Plenty of Tailored Fashions
Plenty of Three-Quarter Coats
Plenty of Blue and Black
Plenty of Velours, Broadcloths, Cheviots

Choosing a Separate Skirt at this Store Brings to You the Assurance that it is in the Correct Style.

One secures as much satisfaction in knowing that their clothes are in styles favored by fashion as they do from the serviceability of the garment. Know, then, that the separate skirts here come from manufacturers whose styles have been approved by stylists who give the style question their serious attention. There are scores of new smart styles in separate skirts. Prices range from

$3.50, $5.00, $6.00, $7.50 and up

The New Silks and Dress Goods

The new Silks and Dress Goods are meeting with ALMOST the appreciation they deserve. By that we mean there will not be full appreciation till every woman in this vicinity views the rich and colorful fabrics for fall and winter.

Here is a stock that we have never before equalled for completeness of assortments—in fabrics rare, elegant and newest.

Unusual care and study were given these materials this year, our expert gaining fullest information as to styles and fabrics and colors. Results speak for themselves. The fabrics are their own best advocates.

There are new Serges, Poplins, Broadcloths, Gabardines, Crepe Epaulet, Fancy Checks, Shepherd Checks, etc., in Dress Goods. All the new weaves and colors are shown in beautiful, radiant silks, including the lustrous and hard to get Georgette Crepe.

(Silks and Dress Goods, Main Floor)

A Timely Word About "Styleplus" Clothes

—SAME POPULAR PRICE $17
—THE SAME GUARANTEE

This a remarkable achievement in view of the continual advance in costs of materials

"Styleplus" clothes for the men

Strictly for men—for the corpulent man—the short, heavy man—the tall, slender man—and the man of regular build. "Styleplus" suits and overcoats in a wide assortment of styles and patterns for men of conservative preference and men who like to "dress young." $17.

"Styleplus" clothes for young men

Young business men and college men find that "Styleplus" clothes are of the "niche above"—the fabrics and tailoring of the better kind—the styling done by a great fashion artist. Materials and models planned expressly for youth—a splendid assortment—at $17.

"Styleplus" full dress and tuxedo suits at $17

